PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

MERCHANDISE IN BONDED WAREHOUSE

By the President of the United States of America

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS section 318 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (46 Stat. 696) provides:

"Whenever the President shall by proclamation declare an emergency to exist by reason of a state of war, or otherwise, he may authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to extend during the continuance of such emergency the time herein prescribed for the performance of any act * * *";

AND WHEREAS section 557 of the said Act (46 Stat. 744) provides:

"Any merchandise subject to duty, with the exception of perishable articles and explosive substances other than firecrackers, may be entered for warehousing and be deposited in a bonded warehouse at the expense and risk of the owner, importer, or consignee. Such merchandise may be withdrawn, at any time within three years (or ten months in the case of grain) from the date of importation, for consumption upon payment of the duties and charges accruing thereon at the rate of duty imposed by law upon such merchandise at the date of withdrawal * * * Provided, That the total period of time for which such merchandise may remain in bonded warehouse shall not exceed three years (or ten months in the case of grain) from the date of importation * * *";

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, acting under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the foregoing provision of section 318 of the Tariff Act of 1930, do by this proclamation declare an emergency to exist.

And I do hereby authorize the Secretary of the Treasury, until further notice:

(1) In the case of merchandise imported between January 11 and December 31, 1930 (both dates inclusive), and entered for warehousing under section 557 of the Tariff Act of 1922 (42 Stat. 977) or section 557 of the Tariff Act of 1930, except grain imported on or after June 18, 1930, to extend the warehousing period for not more than one year from and after the expiration of the three-year period prescribed in sections 557 and 559 of the Tariff Acts of 1922 and 1930, as extended for two years under the authority of Proclamation No. 2023, dated December 23, 1932, and further extended for one year under the authority of Proclamation No. 2109, dated December 21, 1934, and further extended for one year under the authority of Proclamation No. 2154, dated January 11, 1936.

(2) In the case of merchandise (except grain) imported between January 11 and December 31, 1931 (both dates inclusive), and entered for warehousing under section 557 of the Tariff Act of 1930, to extend the warehousing period for not more than one year from and after the expiration of the three-year period prescribed in sections 557 and 559 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as extended for one year under the authority of Proclamation No. 2069, dated December 30, 1933, and further extended for one year under the authority of Proclamation No. 2110, dated December 21, 1934, and further extended for one year under the authority of Proclamation No. 2154, dated January 11, 1936.

(3) In the case of merchandise (except grain) imported between January 11 and December 31, 1932 (both dates inclusive), and entered for warehousing under section 557 of the Tariff Act of 1930, to extend the warehousing period for not more than one year from and after the expiration of the three-year period prescribed in sections 557 and 559 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as extended for one year under the authority of Proclamation No. 2111, dated December 22, 1934, and further extended for one year under the authority of Proclamation No. 2154, dated January 11, 1936.

(4) In the case of merchandise (except grain) imported between January 11 and December 31, 1933 (both dates inclusive), and entered for warehousing under section 557 of the Tariff Act of 1930, to extend the warehousing period for not more than one year from and after the expiration of the three-year period prescribed in sections 557 and 559 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as extended for one year under the authority of Proclamation No. 2154, dated January 11, 1936.

Provided, however, That in each and every case the Secretary of the Treasury shall require that the principal on the warehouse-entry bond, in order to obtain the benefits under the extension granted, shall either furnish to the collector of customs for the district in which the merchandise is warehoused the agreement of the sureties on such bond to remain bound under the terms and provisions of the bond to the same extent as if no extension were granted, or furnish an additional bond with acceptable sureties to cover the period of extension: And provided further, That the extensions of one year herein authorized shall not apply to any merchandise imported during the years 1930, 1931, 1932 and 1933 as to which the periods of extension authorized by Proclamation No. 2154, dated January 11, 1936, have expired, or to any merchandise imported during the calendar year 1934 as to which the three-year period prescribed in sections 557 and 559 of the Tariff Act of 1930 has expired.

SECTION 1. Soil-building Allowance for Farms Which May Earn a Class I Payment.—On any farm for which a cotton, tobacco, peanut, or sugarcane base is or can be established or on which the general base exceeds the home-consumption needs for the farm, or in connection with which a rice allocation is made, the soil-building allowance will be the sum of the following items or $10.00, whichever is the greater:

(a) $1.00 for each acre of the soil-conserving base plus $1.00 for each acre diverted for payment in 1937;

(b) $1.00 for each acre in commercial orchards on the farm on January 1, 1937;

(c) $1.00 for each acre of cropland on which only one crop of commercial vegetables was grown in 1936;

(d) $2.00 for each acre of cropland on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown in 1936; and

(e) Twenty-five (25) cents for each acre of fenced noncrop open pasture land which is in excess of one-half of the cropland and which has a carrying capacity during the normal pasture season of at least one animal unit for each five acres.

SECTION 2. Soil-building Allowance for Farms Which May Not Earn a Class I Payment.—On any farm for which no cotton, tobacco, peanut, or sugarcane base can be established and on which the acreage of food and feed crops for home-consumption needs is as great or greater than the general base which is or can be established for the farm and in connection with which no rice allocation is made, the soil-building allowance will be the sum of the following items or $20.00, whichever is the greater:

(a) Sixty-five (65) cents for each acre of cropland or $1.00 for each acre in the soil-conserving base, whichever amount is the greater;

(b) $1.00 for each acre in commercial orchards on the farm on January 1, 1937;

(c) $1.00 for each acre of cropland on which only one crop of commercial vegetables was grown in 1936;

(d) $2.00 for each acre of cropland on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown in 1936; and

(e) Twenty-five (25) cents for each acre of fenced noncrop open pasture land which is in excess of one-half of the cropland and which has a carrying capacity during the normal pasture season of at least one animal unit for each five acres.

Part III. Rates and Conditions of Payment

Payments will be made in connection with the utilization in 1937 of the land on any farm in the Southern Region, at the rates and subject to the conditions set forth herein,[1] provided that no payment will be made for any change in the use of such land which involves the destruction in 1937 of any food, fiber, or feed grain.

SECTION 11. Cotton.—(a) A class I payment will be made for each acre diverted from the cotton base on any farm in 1937 at the rate of 5 cents for each pound of the normal per acre cotton yield as adjusted for the farm on an acreage not to exceed 35 percent of such base, except that if such base is 5.7 acres or less payment may be made for diverting all or any part of such base not to exceed 2 acres.

(b) But if the acreage of cotton on any farm in 1937 exceeds the cotton base for such farm a deduction will be made in an amount equal to the result obtained by multiplying the number of such excess acres by the rate per acre determined for the farm under subsection (a) of this section 11.

SECTION 12. Tobacco.—(a) A class I payment will be made for each acre diverted from the tobacco base on any farm in 1937 at the rate per pound of—

(1) 5 cents for flue-cured or Burley,

(2) 6 cents for Georgia-Florida Type 62,

(3) 3 cents for Georgia-Florida Type 45 or any other kind of tobacco, for each pound of the normal per acre tobacco yield as adjusted for the farm on an acreage not to exceed 30 percent of the base in the case of Georgia-Florida Type 62 and 25 percent of the base in the case of any other kind of tobacco.

(b) But if the acreage of any kind of tobacco on any farm in 1937 exceeds the tobacco base for that kind of tobacco on such farm, a deduction will be made in an amount equal to the result obtained by multiplying the number of such excess acres by the rate per acre for such kind of tobacco determined for the farm under subsection (a) of this section 12.

SECTION 13. Commercial Peanuts.—(a) A class I payment will be made for each acre diverted from the peanut base on any farm in 1937 at the rate of 1¼ cents for each pound of the normal per acre yield of commercial peanuts as adjusted for the farm on an acreage not to exceed 15 percent of such base.

(b) But if the acreage of commercial peanuts on any farm in 1937 exceeds the peanut base for such farm, a deduction will be made in an amount equal to the result obtained by multiplying the number of such excess acres by the rate per acre determined for the farm under subsection (a) of this section 13.

SECTION 14. Sugarcane for Sugar.—(a) A class I payment will be made with respect to any farm on which sugarcane for sugar is grown in 1937 not in excess of the acreage allotment of sugarcane for sugar for the farm in an amount per acre equal to 12½ cents for each 100 pounds, raw value, of sugar commercially recoverable from the normal yield per acre of sugarcane for sugar for the farm.

The acreage allotment of sugarcane for sugar for any farm will be the sugarcane base for such farm, unless the estimated total acreage of sugarcane for sugar in 1937 exceeds the acreage determined by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to be required with normal yields to produce 260,000 short tons, raw value, of sugar. If the estimated total acreage of sugarcane for sugar in 1937 exceeds the acreage so determined to be required to produce

[1] The rates and conditions and any other provisions, with respect to rice, are included in part VII of this Bulletin 101 and will be printed separately.

260,000 short tons, raw value, of sugar, the acreage allotment for the farm shall be that percentage of the sugarcane base for such farm which is computed by dividing the acreage so determined to be required to produce 260,000 short tons, raw value, of sugar by the estimated total of the acreage of sugarcane for sugar in 1937 and multiplying such result by 100. Such percentage of the sugarcane base for the farm shall become the acreage allotment of sugarcane for sugar for such farm.

SECTION 15. General Soil-Depleting Base.—(a) A class I payment will be made for each acre diverted from the general base on any farm in 1937, subject to the following provisions:

(1) Such payment will be made for diverting such part of such base as is in excess of the home-consumption needs for the farm but in no case will such payment be made on an acreage in excess of 15 percent of such base.

(2) The rate of such payment per acre shall be $9.00 on the average for the United States, varying among States, counties, and individual farms as the productivity of the cropland used for the production of the crops in such base varies from the average productivity of all such cropland in the United States.

(b) If the 1937 acreage of crops in the general base for any farm exceeds such base or the acreage of such crops needed to meet home-consumption needs for the farm, whichever is the greater, a deduction will be made in an amount equal to the result obtained by multiplying the number of such excess acres by the rate per acre established for the farm pursuant to subsection (a) of this section 15.

SECTION 16. Soil-Building Practices.[2]—A class II payment will be made for carrying out any one or more of the following soil-building practices in 1937 at the rates and upon the conditions listed in this section 16, provided (1) in no event will the total of the class II payments respecting any farm exceed the soil-building allowance for the farm; (2) none of the labor, seed, or materials for such practice is furnished or paid for by any Federal or State agency; and (3) the practice is carried out by such methods and with such kinds and quantities of adapted seed, trees, and other materials as conform to good farming practice.

Practice Number—Practices and Conditions—Rate

1—Alfalfa or Kudzu planted on cropland in 1937: $2.50 per acre.

2—Red, mammoth, sweet, alsike, white, bur or crimson clover, lespedeza, Austrian winter peas, vetch, or other locally adapted winter legume, or legume mixture,[3] seeded on cropland in 1937: $1.50 per acre.

3—Soybeans, velvet beans, cowpeas, crotalaria, beggar weed, or other locally adapted summer legume excluding lespedeza, grown on cropland in 1937 and the leaves, stems, and vines plowed under, provided a reasonably good growth is attained: $2.00 per acre.

5—Green manure crop, including rye, oats, barley, wheat, Italian rye grass, or mixtures of two or more of these plowed under as green manure after making a reasonable growth (not less than two months' growth) in the spring of 1937, provided that such crop has not gone through the dough stage: $1.00 per acre.

6—Annual grasses, or a mixture of one or more annual grasses with one or more legumes, turned under in 1937 as green manure following truck or vegetable crops, or turned under in 1937 in orchards or vineyards; provided such green manure crop attained a reasonably good growth (not less than two months' growth): $1.00 per acre.

13—Manganese sulphate applied in 1937 on soil-conserving crops, but payment will not be made on an amount in excess of 50 pounds per acre: $2.00 per 100 pounds.

14—Terracing land in 1937 in accordance with good terracing practices for the land: $0.40 per 100 feet.

SECTION 17. Minimum Acreage of Soil-Conserving Crops.[6]—If the total acreage of soil-conserving crops on cropland on any farm in 1937 does not equal or exceed the sum of—

(a) The soil-conserving base[7] established for the farm, and

(b) The sum of the acreages diverted for payment from the cotton, tobacco, peanut, and general bases, a deduction will be made in an amount obtained by multiplying $3.00 by the number of acres by which the total acreage of soil-conserving crops on cropland on the farm in 1937 is less than such sum.

SECTION 18. Division of Payments.—Class I and class II payments made with respect to any farm shall be divided as follows:

(a) Class I Payment.—The class I payment except as indicated in the remaining subsections of this section 18 shall be divided—

(1) Thirty-seven and one-half (37½) percent to the producer who furnishes the land;

(2) Twelve and one-half (12½) percent to the producer who furnishes the workstock and equipment;

(3) Fifty (50) percent to be divided among the producers who are parties to the lease or operating agreement in the proportion that such producers are entitled to share in 1937 in those soil-depleting crops, or the proceeds of such crops, in connection with which the class I payment is made.

(b) Tobacco.—The class I payment made with respect to the tobacco base shall be divided as follows:

(1) Fifteen (15) percent to the producer who furnishes the land;

(2) Fifteen (15) percent to the producer who furnishes the workstock and equipment;

(3) Seventy (70) percent to be divided among the producers who are parties to the lease or operating agreement in the proportion that such producers are entitled to share in 1937 in the tobacco crop, or the proceeds of such crop, in connection with which the class I payment is made.

(c) General Crops in Designated Counties.—In counties in western Texas and western Oklahoma designated by the Secretary, the class I payment made in connection with the general base on any farm shall be divided among the interested producers in the same proportion as the crops in such base or the proceeds of such crops are divided under the lease or operating agreement on such farm.

(d) Sugarcane for Sugar.—The class I payment made in connection with the sugarcane base on any farm shall be divided among the interested producers in the same proportion as the crop or the proceeds of such crop are divided under the lease or operating agreement on such farm.

(e) Class II Payment.—The class II payment with respect to the acreage on which any approved soil-building practice is carried out on any farm shall be made to the eligible producer who the county committee determines under instructions issued by the Secretary has incurred the expense in 1937 of carrying out such soil-building practice; if the County Committee determines that two or more producers have shared in the expense incurred in carrying out such practice on the farm, the class II payment calculated for the particular acreage with respect to which such producers shared in such expense shall be divided equally among them.

(f) Reckoning Payments Without Regard to Claims.—Any share of the class I or class II payments shall be computed and paid without regard to questions of title under State law, without deductions of claims for advances and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of the owner or any other creditor.

(g) Changes in Leasing or Cropping Arrangement.—If the Secretary, upon the basis of an investigation by the State Committee, finds that any person has for 1937 made any change from the 1936 leasing or cropping arrangement for the farm or has adopted any other device for the purpose of, or which would have the effect of, diverting to such person any payment to which tenants or share-croppers would be entitled if the 1936 leasing or cropping arrangement were in effect for 1937, the amount of any payment which otherwise would be made to such person may be withheld in whole or in part.

(h) Division of Class I Payment Where Diversion Was Not Made Ratably.—On farms where there are two or more producers, that portion of the Class I payment made with respect to any soil-depleting base which is to be divided among producers on a crop-share basis shall be divided among the producers entitled to share in the soil-depleting crop(s) in such base in the proportion that the acreage share of each such producer bears to the total acreage of such crop(s) grown on the farm in 1937; except that if no acreage of the crop(s) in any such base was planted in 1937 or if the County Committee finds (such finding shall be indicated by approval of the application for payment setting forth one of the methods of division of payment provided below) that diversion has not been made ratably by all producers on the farm, such portion of such payment to be made to any such producer shall be—

(1) in that proportion which his contribution to the difference between such base and the 1937 acreage of crop(s) in such base bears to the total difference between such base and the 1937 acreage of crop(s) in such base; or

(2) in that proportion which his acreage share of the soil-depleting base with respect to which such payment is made bears to such base for the farm.

The County Committee shall recommend, subject to the approval of the State Committee and the Director of the Southern Division, as each such person's share of such payment that portion computed in accordance with paragraph (1) or paragraph (2) of this subsection (h), whichever is found to be the more equitable, and support its recommendation by an accompanying letter setting forth fully the facts upon which such recommendation is based.

(i) Abandonment, Foreclosure, Death, Etc.—If prior to harvest a producer voluntarily ceases to cultivate, sells, abandons, or through his own fault or neglect loses control of any soil-depleting crop in connection with which a class I payment may be made, such producer shall not be entitled to such payment or any share therein and whoever succeeds him and as such successor is entitled to such crop or to share in it or its proceeds shall be entitled to such payment or to share therein, as the case may be, provided that by agreement of such producer and such successor person or persons (such agreement to be indicated or confirmed by their signatures on the application for payment) the acreage of such crop may be divided between them and such payment may be divided between them accordingly. In no case shall any person who as a result of attachment, foreclosure, or other legal process comes into possession of any soil-depleting crop in connection with which a class I payment may be made or the land on which such crop was planted be entitled to any share in such class I payment if the producer previously entitled to such crop or to share in it or its proceeds did not voluntarily abandon such crop, and the producer so dispossessed shall be entitled to such payment or to share therein, as the case may be. In case of the death or incompetency of a producer occurring during the period of performance under the 1937 program, class I and class II payments shall be made or withheld in accordance with rules to be prescribed by the Secretary.

(j) Lease or Operating Agreement Expiring During Growing Season.—No person who, upon the expiration of a lease or operating agreement which expires in 1937 after the season for planting begins and before harvest, succeeds to the land or crop covered by the lease or operating agreement shall be entitled to any class I payment or share thereof respecting such land or crop, except that, if the County Committee finds that both the producer who farmed under such lease or operating agreement and his successor have contributed to performance in 1937 and they have agreed upon a division between them of the acreage which otherwise would go to the producer who farmed under such lease or operating agreement, such acreage shall be divided between them according to such agreement (indicated or confirmed by their signatures on the application for payment) and the County Committee's finding shall be evidenced by its approval of the application setting forth such division.

SECTION 19. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes of the Program.—No person shall be entitled to receive or retain any part of any payment if such person has adopted any practice which the Secretary determines tends to defeat the purposes of the 1937 program.

Part IV. Classification of Land Use and Crops[8]

Farm land when devoted to the crops and uses indicated below shall, except for such additions or modifications as may be approved by the Secretary, be classified as follows:

SECTION 31. Soil-depleting.—Land on which any of the following crops are harvested shall, except as provided in section 33 of this part IV, be regarded as devoted to the production of soil-depleting crops for the year in which such crops are harvested. In establishing soil-depleting bases and in the checking of performance the acreage of land which is devoted to two or more soil-depleting crops shall be counted only once.

(a) Corn (field, sweet corn, or popcorn).
(b) Cotton.
(c) Tobacco.
(d) Potatoes (Irish or sweet).
(e) Rice.
(f) Sugarcane.
(g) Truck and vegetable crops, including melons and strawberries.
(h) Peanuts harvested for nuts.
(i) Grain sorghums, sweet sorghums, millets, broomcorn, or Sudan grass, harvested for grain, seed, or forage.
(j) Small grains harvested for grain or hay (wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, or any mixture of any of these).

SECTION 32. Soil-conserving.—Land devoted to any of the following crops or uses shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-conserving crop except that any land from which a soil-depleting crop is harvested in the same year shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-depleting crop in such year, except as provided in section 33 of this part IV. Any acre on which two or more soil-conserving crops are grown in the same year shall not be counted as more than one acre of soil-conserving crops.

(a) Legumes, including vetch, winter peas, clovers, alfalfa, kudzu, lespedeza, soybean, velvet beans, crotalaria, and cowpeas.

[2] The provisions of this section 16 do not apply to counties in western Oklahoma and western Texas designated by the Secretary, respecting which separate provisions will be made.

[3] Mixtures of legumes listed in practice No. 2 and nonlegumes will be eligible for a payment of $1.50 per acre, provided such legumes are seeded at a rate equal to at least fifty (50) percent of the normal rate for such legumes.

[4] For example, five hundred pounds of burnt lime or 700 pounds of hydrated lime is the equivalent of 1,000 pounds of ground limestone.

[5] For example, one hundred pounds of 49 percent superphosphate is the equivalent of 300 pounds of 16 percent superphosphate.

[6] The requirement of soil-conserving crops with respect to rice will be in addition to the requirements under this section 17.

[7] For any farm having a sugarcane base in 1937 the soil-conserving base shall not be less than 30 percent of the sugarcane base for such farm.

[8] The provisions of this part IV do not apply to counties in western Oklahoma and western Texas designated by the Secretary, respecting which separate provisions will be made.

(b) Peanuts, if pastured.

(c) Grasses, including Dallis, Natal, rye grass, timothy, orchard, Bermuda, and carpet, or grass mixtures.

(d) Grain sorghums (seeded solid), sweet sorghums, millets, or Sudan grass, not harvested for grain, seed, or forage, or grain sorghums planted in rows and plowed under.

(e) Cover crops, including rye, barley, oats, wheat, and grain mixtures, not cut for grain or hay, provided a reasonably good growth is left on the land or plowed under.

(f) Forest trees, planted on cropland since January 1, 1934.

SECTION 33. Soil-conserving Crops Grown in Combination With or Following Soil-depleting Crops.—Land devoted to soil-conserving crops grown in combination with or following soil-depleting crops shall be classified as follows:

(a) All the acreage of soil-depleting row crops interplanted or grown in combination with summer legumes (classified in section 32 of this part IV as soil-conserving) shall be classified as soil-depleting, and

(1) One-half (½) of the acreage shall also be classified as soil-conserving, provided the legume occupies at least one-half (½) of the land and attains a reasonably good growth, or

(2) One-third (⅓) of the acreage shall also be classed as soil-conserving, provided the legume occupies at least one-third (⅓) but less than one-half (½) of the land and attains a reasonably good growth.

(b) All the land from which a soil-depleting crop is harvested in 1937 and followed by legumes (classified in section 32 of this part IV as soil-conserving) or perennial grasses (whether seeded in or following such crop) shall, in addition to being classified as soil-depleting, be classified as soil-conserving.

(c) All the land on which green manure crops are seeded following commercial vegetable crops and plowed under as green manure after having attained at least two months' growth shall, in addition to being classified as soil-depleting, be classified as soil-conserving.

SECTION 34. Neutral Uses.—Land devoted to the following uses shall be regarded as not used for the production of a soil-depleting crop or a soil-conserving crop unless otherwise provided:

(a) Cropland.—

(1) Vineyards, tree fruits, bush fruits, and nut trees (any portion of such land which is interplanted shall carry the classification and actual acreage of such interplanted crop).

(2) Idle cropland.

(b) Noncropland.—

(1) Nonerop pasture and range land.

(2) Waste land, roads, lanes, lots, yards, and other similar noncropland.

(3) Woodland other than cropland planted to forest trees since January 1, 1934.

Part V. Determination of Cropland and Establishment of Bases

SECTION 41. County Limits and Quotas.—For each county a ratio of the total acreage in soil-depleting crops (excluding rice) to all cropland will be established by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration from available statistics, such ratio to be referred to as the county limit. The ratio of the aggregate of the total soil-depleting bases (excluding any rice base) established in a county to all cropland in the farms for which such bases are established shall not exceed the county limit for such county unless a variation therefrom is recommended by the State Committee and approved by the Administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. County quotas of acreage and production for cotton, tobacco, and commercial peanuts will be established by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration from available statistics, and in addition an acreage quota of soil-conserving crops will be so established.

SECTION 42. Recommendation of Bases.—For each farm for which a work sheet is filed in 1937 the County Committee will recommend to the State Committee, for approval by the Secretary, the total acreage of cropland, a total soil-depleting base, and a soil-conserving base. As a part of the total soil-depleting base the County Committee will recommend a general base and also wherever applicable a cotton base, a tobacco base, a peanut base, and a sugarcane base.

SECTION 43. Total Cropland.—(a) If the total acreage of cropland for the farm was established by accurate measurement in 1936, such acreage will be the 1937 acreage of cropland for the farm. If the total acreage of cropland for the farm was not so established in 1936, such acreage for the farm shall be established either by measurement in 1937, or on a basis which will result in an acreage of cropland comparable with that for farms on which such land was established by measurement.

(b) If the total acreage of cropland established for the farm in 1937 as provided in subsection (a) of this section 43 varies from the cropland reported for the farm on the work sheet submitted for such farm in connection with the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program or varies from the cropland reported for the farm on the work sheet submitted for such farm for the first time in connection with the 1937 program, adjustments shall be made in accordance with this section 43, and the total acreage in soil-depleting crops, soil-conserving crops, and the acreage of cropland classed as neutral shall be adjusted on a pro rata basis to conform with the adjustments made in the total cropland.

SECTION 44. 1937 Total Soil-Depleting Base.—(a) Farms For Which a Total Soil-Depleting Base Was Established in 1936.—The County Committee will recommend to the State Committee, for approval by the Secretary, a total soil-depleting base (excluding any rice base) for each farm covered by a work sheet in 1937 and for which a total soil-depleting base was established in 1936. Such base shall be the 1936 total soil-depleting base for the farm (excluding any rice base) subject to the adjustments set forth in section 43 of this part V and in acordance with the following:

(1) Necessary adjustments shall be made based on land measurements made in connection with the 1936 and 1937 Agricultural Conservation Programs and other available information.

(2) There shall be included in the total soil-depleting base for the farm for 1937 the acreage of small grains for grain or hay followed by legumes; the acreage of corn interplanted with legumes classed as soil-conserving; and the acreage of Sudan grass harvested for seed or forage and classed as soil-conserving in establishing the total soil-depleting base for the farm for 1936.

(3) If the total soil-depleting base for any farm is materially greater or less than such bases for farms in the same community which are similar with respect to size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, type of farming and farming practices, adjustments shall be made that will result in a total soil-depleting base for the farm which is comparable with the total soil-depleting bases for other similar farms.

(b) Farms For Which a Total Soil-Depleting Base Was Not Established in 1936.—The County Committee will recommend to the State Committee, for approval by the Secretary, a total soil-depleting base (excluding any rice base) for each farm covered by a work sheet in 1937 and for which a total soil-depleting base was not established in 1936. Such base shall be the planted acreage of all soil-depleting crops for harvest in 1936 for the farm (excluding any rice acreage) subject to the adjustments set forth in section 43 of this part V and in accordance with the following:

(1) To the acreage of all soil-depleting crops planted in 1936 there shall be added the acreage diverted for payment under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, provided that no soil-depleting crop was planted on such diverted acreage.

(2) Necessary acreage adjustments shall be made based on land measurements made in connection with the 1936 and 1937 Agricultural Conservation Programs and other available information.

(3) If, because of flood, drought, or other abnormal weather conditions, the number of acres of soil-depleting crops planted in 1936 was greater or less than the acreage of such crops usually planted on the farm, such number of acres shall be adjusted to an acreage which is comparable with the acreage of such crops planted on the farm under normal conditions.

(4) If the total soil-depleting base for any farm is materially greater or less than such bases for farms in the same community which are similar with respect to size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, type of farming, and farming practices, adjustments shall be made that will result in a total soil-depleting base for the farm which is comparable with the total soil-depleting bases for other similar farms.

SECTION 45. Cotton Base and Yield Per Acre.—(a) Cotton Base.—

(1) The cotton base for the farm in 1937 shall be the cotton base which was or could have been established for the farm under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, subject to necessary acreage adjustments based on land measurements made in connection with the 1936 and 1937 Agricultural Conservation Programs and further adjustments that will result in a cotton base for the farm which is comparable with cotton bases for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, type of farming, and farming practices.

(2) If, for causes other than flood, drought, or other abnormal weather conditions or because of substantial changes in the base acreage by the County Committee in 1936 after planting time, the acreage planted to cotton on the farm in 1936 was less than 50 percent of the cotton base for the farm in 1936, the cotton base for 1937 shall be adjusted downward by the County Committee but not lower than 154 percent of the 1936 planted acreage.

(3) For farms on which cotton was grown in 1936 for the first time since 1933, a cotton base may be established on the basis of the acreage planted to cotton in 1936 subject to necessary adjustments based on land measurements made in connection with the 1936 and 1937 Agricultural Conservation Programs and further adjustments that will result in a cotton base for the farm which is comparable with cotton bases for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, type of farming, and farming practices.

(4) The sum of the cotton bases for the farms covered by work sheets in any county or other specified area shall not exceed their proportionate share of the quota of cotton acreage established for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

(b) Determination of Yield Per Acre.—

(1) The yield per acre of lint cotton for the farm shall be designated by the appropriate Community Committee, subject to such adjustment by the County Committee as is necessary in order that the sum of the base cotton production for farms covered by work sheets in 1937 in any county or other specified area shall not exceed their proportionate share of the quota of cotton production established for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

(2) Each farm covered by a work sheet will have been inspected by at least one member of the Community Committee, serving for the community in which the farm is located, who shall report the facts to the Community Committee before the yield is designated for the farm.

(3) The yield designated for any farm shall be that yield, subject to adjustments indicated in this subsection (b), which the Community Committee finds from all available facts to be the yield which could reasonably be expected from the land devoted to the production of cotton on the farm. In designating the yield due consideration shall be given by such committee to the trend of yield per acre as well as to the type of soil, drainage, erosion, production practices, and general fertility of the land. Other facts bearing on the yield which might reasonably be expected, including abnormal weather conditions, shall also be given due consideration. Such findings shall be examined by the County Committee in the light of all available facts and approved or modified by it accordingly.

SECTION 46. Tobacco Base and Yield Per Acre.—(a) Tobacco Base.—

(1) The tobacco base for the farm in 1937 shall be the tobacco base which was or could have been established for the farm under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, subject to necessary acreage adjustments based on land measurements made in connection with the 1936 and 1937 Agricultural Conservation Programs and further adjustments that will result in a tobacco base for the farm which is comparable with tobacco bases for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, type of farming, and farming practices.

(2) If, for causes other than flood, drought, or other abnormal weather conditions or plant diseases, the acreage planted to tobacco on the farm in 1936 was less than 55 percent of the tobacco base for the farm in 1936, the tobacco base for 1937 shall be adjusted downward by the County Committee but not lower than 133 percent[*] of the 1936 planted acreage.

(3) For farms on which tobacco was grown in 1936 (or in 1935 if no tobacco was grown on the farm in 1936 due to abnormal weather conditions or plant diseases) for the first time since 1930, a tobacco base may be established on the basis of the acreage planted to tobacco in 1936 (or 1935, if applicable), subject to necessary adjustments based on land measurements made in connection with the 1936 and 1937 Agricultural Conservation Programs and further adjustments that will result in a tobacco base for the farm which is comparable with tobacco bases for other farms in the same community, which are similar with respect to size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, type of farming and farming practices.

(4) The sum of the tobacco bases for farms covered by work sheets in any county or other specified area shall not exceed their proportionate share of the quota of tobacco acreage established for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

(b) Determination of Yield Per Acre.—

(1) The yield per acre of tobacco for the farm shall be designated by the appropriate Community Committee, subject to such adjustment by the County Committee as is necessary in order that the sum of the base tobacco production for the farms covered by work sheets in 1937 in any county or other specified area shall not exceed their proportionate share of the quota of tobacco production established for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

(2) Each farm covered by a work sheet will have been inspected by at least one member of the Community Committee, serving for the community in which the farm is located, who shall report the facts to the Community Committee before the yield is designated for the farm.

(3) The yield designated for any farm shall be that yield, subject to adjustments indicated in this subsection (b), which the Community Committee finds from all available facts to be the yield which could reasonably be expected from the land devoted to the production of tobacco on the farm. In designating the yield due consideration shall be given by such committee to the trend of yield per acre as well as to the type of soil, drainage, erosion, production practices, and general fertility of the land. Other facts bearing on the yield which might reasonably be expected, including abnormal weather conditions, shall also be given due consideration. Such findings shall be examined by the County Committee in the light of all available facts and approved or modified by it accordingly.

SECTION 47. Peanut Base and Yield Per Acre—(a) Peanut Base.—

(1) For farms growing commercial peanuts prior to 1935 the peanut base in 1937 shall be the base which was or could have been established for the farm under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, subject to necessary acreage adjustments based on land measurements made in connection with the 1936 and 1937 Agricultural Conservation Programs, and further adjustments that will result in a peanut base for the farm which is comparable with peanut bases for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, type of farming, and farming practices.

(2) If, for causes other than flood, drought, or other abnormal weather conditions, the acreage planted to commercial peanuts on the farm in 1936 was less than 70 percent of the peanut base for the farm in 1936, the peanut base for 1937 shall be adjusted downward by the County Committee but not lower than 118 percent of the 1936 acreage planted to commercial peanuts.

(3 For farms on which commercial peanuts were grown in 1936 for the first time or for which a peanut base could not have been established under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program and one whole acre or more of peanuts was grown on the farm for commercial purposes in 1935 for the first time since 1930 or in 1936 for the first time since 1932, a peanut base may be established on the basis of the acreage planted to commercial peanuts in 1936 (or in 1935 if no commercial peanuts were grown on the farm in 1936) subject to necessary adjustments based on land measurements made in connection with the 1936 and 1937 Agricultural Conservation Programs and further adjustments that will result in a peanut base for the farm which is comparable with peanut bases for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, type of farming, and farming practices.

(4) The sum of the peanut bases for farms covered by work sheets in 1937 in any county or other specified area shall not exceed their proportionate share of the quota of peanut acreage that is established for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

(b) Determination of Yield Per Acre.—

(1) The yield per acre of peanuts grown for commercial purposes on the farm shall be designated by the appropriate Community Committee, subject to such adjustment by the County Committee as is necessary in order that the sum of the base commercial peanut production for farms covered by work sheets in 1937 in any county or other specified area shall not exceed their proportionate share of the quota of commercial peanut production established for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

(2) Each farm covered by a work sheet will have been inspected by at least one member of the Community Committee serving for the community in which the farm is located, who shall report the facts to the Community Committee before the yield is designated for the farm.

(3) The yield designated for any farm shall be that yield, subject to adjustments, indicated in this subsection (b), which the Community Committee finds from all available facts to be the yield which could reasonably be expected from the land devoted to the production of commercial peanuts on the farm. In designating the yield due consideration shall be given by such committee to the trend of yield per acre as well as to the type of soil, drainage, erosion, production practices, and general fertility of the land. Other facts bearing on the yield which might reasonably be expected, including abnormal weather conditions, shall also be given due consideration. Such findings shall be examined by the County Committee in the light of all available facts and approved or modified by it accordingly.

SECTION 48. Sugarcane Base and Yield Per Acre.—(a) Sugarcane Base.—The sugarcane base for the farm in 1937 shall be the acreage used for the growing of sugarcane for sugar in 1937, provided that such base shall not exceed the total cropland for the farm less the general base or that part of the general base necessary for the production of food and feed crops required for home-consumption needs, whichever is the smaller. If the sugarcane base plus all other soil-depleting bases, including the rice base, exceeds the total cropland for the farm, all such other soil-depleting bases, including only that part of the general base in excess of home consumption needs, shall be adjusted downward to eliminate such excess.

(b) Determination of Yield Per Acre.—The yield per acre of sugarcane for sugar for the farm for 1937 shall be determined upon the basis of the average yield per acre of sugarcane for sugar grown on the farm for the years 1935 and 1936 except that, if sugarcane for sugar was not grown on such farm in both such years, the yield per acre for the farm shall be determined upon the basis of the average yield of sugarcane for sugar for such years on similar farms in the same community. In determining such yield, due consideration shall be given to the type of soil, drainage, erosion, production practices, and general fertility of the land.

SECTION 49. General Base and Productivity Index.—(a) Farms For Which a General Base was Established in 1936.—

(1) The general base for the farm in 1937 shall be the general base which was established for the farm under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, subject to necessary acreage adjustments based on land measurements made in connection with the 1936 and 1937 Agricultural Conservation Programs and further adjustments that will result in a general base for the farm which is comparable with general bases for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, type of farming, and farming practices.

(2) There shall also be included in the general base for 1937—

i. The normal acreage of small grains for grain or hay followed by legumes and classed as soil-conserving in establishing the general base for 1936;

ii. The normal acreage of corn interplanted with legumes and classed as soil-conserving in establishing the general base for 1936;

iii. The acreage of Sudan grass harvested for seed or forage and classed as soil-conserving in establishing the general base for 1936; and

iv. The normal acreage of peanuts harvested for nuts, rice, or tobacco, if grown for home use only.

(b) Farms For Which a General Base Was Not Established in 1936.—The general base for the farm in 1937 shall be the planted acreage of all crops in the general base for harvest in 1936, less such part of this acreage as was diverted in 1936 for payment from bases other than the general base, subject to necessary acreage adjustments based on land measurements made in connection with the 1936 and 1937 Agricultural Conservation Programs and further adjustments that will result in a general base for the farm which is comparable with general bases for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, type of farming, and farming practices.

(c) Individual Farm Adjustments.—In making adjustments in the general base for individual farms, such base cannot be adjusted below the farm's proportionate share of the total general base acreage for all farms in the county.

(d) Productivity Index.—The productivity index for the farm shall be determined upon the basis of the yield per acre established for the farm in 1937 for the crop(s) used in the county for this purpose under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program. The weighted average of the productivity indices for all farms diverting from the general base in the county shall not exceed 100, unless a variation therefrom is recommended by the State Committee and approved by the Director of the Southern Division.

SECTION 50. Soil-Conserving Base.—The soil-conserving base for the farm for 1937 shall be that acreage which is determined to be the acreage of soil-conserving crops grown on the farm under normal conditions as compared with the total soil-depleting base established for the farm, except that for any farm having a sugarcane base in 1937 the soil-conserving base shall not be less than 30 percent of the sugarcane base for such farm. The sum of the soil-conserving bases established for farms covered in 1937 by work sheets shall not exceed their proportionate share of the soil-conserving acreage quota for the county.

SECTION 51. Other Provisions.—No community or county committeeman shall have a voice in designating or approving any acreage or yield for any farm which he owns, operates, or controls; which is owned, operated, or controlled by his brother, sister, parent, child, or other near relative; or upon which he has a loan or other financial interest.

Part VI. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 61. Persons Who May Make Applications For Payment.—(a) An application for payment may be made by (1) an owner, (2) an operator, and (3) such other persons as may be designated by the Secretary.

(b) Payment will only be made upon application filed with the County Committee within the prescribed time. Each person applying for payment will be required to show that work sheets have been filed with the County Committee covering all land in the county owned or operated by him in 1937. Any person applying for payment who owns or operates farms in more than one county in the same State may be required to file with the State Committee a list of all such farms.

(c) A time limit for filing work sheets and applications for payment in each county will be designated by the State Committee subject to the approval of the Director of the Southern Division, and when so approved at least two weeks' public notice shall be given in advance of the expiration of such time limit.

SECTION 62. Land Which May Be Covered by a Work Sheet and Application for Payment.—(a) A work sheet shall cover all of one farm only, except as provided in the following subsections of this section 62.

(b) If two or more farms in the same county are under the same ownership and are operated by the same person, such farms may be covered by one work sheet.

(c) If two or more tracts of land in the same county are under different ownerships, even though they are operated by the same person, each such separately owned tract shall be covered by a separate work sheet.

(d) Tracts of land under the same ownership located in two or more adjoining counties and operated as a single farm in 1937 shall be regarded as located in the county in which the principal dwelling on such farm is located, or, if there is no dwelling on such farm, as located in the county in which the major portion of such farm is located.

(e) Except as provided in subsection (f) of this section 62 the land covered by an application for payment shall be the land covered by a single work sheet. The application for payment filed with respect to any land shall show the name and the extent of the interest of each person entitled to share in the payment with respect to such land. The amount of payment to any person with respect to the land covered by the application for payment shall, subject to the provisions of section 63 of this part VI, be determined by the performance on such land.

(f) If any person operates more than one farm in a county, such person may, subject to the conditions of this subsection (f), make one application for payment with respect to all such farms or several applications each covering one or more of such farms.

(1) An application for payment covering two or more farms in a county which are operated by the same person may be made only with the consent (indicated by signatures on the application for payment) of all persons who, as owner, share-tenant, or share-cropper, have an interest in the crops (or the proceeds thereof) grown in 1937 on any farm covered by the application; except that the signature of any person shall not be required in order to permit a grouping of such farms if such person would not receive a payment if each such farm were covered by a separate application for payment.

(2) In making determinations with respect to the amount of payment to be made under such application (in accordance with the provisions of this subsection (f)) all farms covered by one application for payment shall be considered as one farm.

SECTION 63. Multiple Farm Holdings.—If any person making application for payment in a county has an interest as owner or operator in one or more farms in the same county which is not covered by an application for payment under which payment may be made, such person is required to furnish the County Committee a showing as to the acreage of soil-depleting crops grown in 1937 on each such farm. If the County Committee finds from evidence submitted to it and such measurement of such farms as is deemed necessary that any such person has materially increased the 1937 acreage of crops in any soil-depleting base above such base on any such farm, performance shall be checked on all such farms. The procedure shall be as follows:

(a) For each such farm multiply the 1937 acreage of cotton, tobacco, commercial peanuts, sugarcane for sugar, and crops in the general base by the respective rate per acre (determined pursuant to sections 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15, part III) and multiply each such result by the percentage (determined pursuant to the provisions of section 18, part III) due such person. Total the results thus obtained.

(b) For each such farm multiply the cotton, tobacco, peanut, sugarcane, and general bases by the respective rate per acre (determined pursuant to sections 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15, part III) and multiply each such result by the percentage (determined pursuant to the provisions of section 18, part III) due such person. Total the results thus obtained.

(c) If the total obtained under subsection (a) of this section 63 exceeds the total obtained under subsection (b) of this section 63, such excess shall be deducted first from any payment which otherwise would be made to such person with respect to farms in such county covered by an application for payment, and the remainder from any payment which otherwise would be made to such person with respect to rice in the State.

(d) The procedure outlined in this section 63 shall at the option of the Secretary be applied to all farms owned or operated by the same person in the State.

SECTION 64. Appeals.—Any person who has reason to believe that any recommendation of his County Committee concerning his farm in any matter of the kind set forth below is not equitable may request the County Committee to reconsider its recommendation. If such person fails to agree with the final recommendation of the County Committee, such person may appeal to the State Committee in accordance with instructions to be issued by the Secretary.

(a) Eligibility of person(s) to submit a work sheet or an application for payment.

(b) Eligibility of land to be covered by a work sheet and/or application.

(c) Any base, yield per acre, productivity index, or soil-building allowance.

(d) Division of payment among interested persons.

SECTION 65. Deductions for Expenses.—There shall be deducted pro rata from the payment to any person with respect to a farm or farms all or such part, as the Secretary shall prescribe, of the estimated administrative expenses incurred and to be incurred in the field in carrying out the 1937 program.

There shall be credited for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 for each application for a farm on which the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) as estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 66. Applicability to Farms Under Special Programs.—The Secretary may designate one or more counties in any State for which special programs for 1937 will be developed under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. In the event that any such county is designated the allowances, rates, and conditions of payment for such county will be set forth in a special bulletin and the provisions of this bulletin shall not be applicable in such county.

On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration payment will be made only for such diversion and for carrying out such soil-building practices as are approved for the farm prior to performance by the County Committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

In testimony whereof, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, has hereunto set his hand and caused the official seal of the Department of Agriculture to be affixed in the City of Washington, District of Columbia, this 31st day of December 1936.

BULLETIN 101

Amendment 1

Section 33, part IV of Southern Region Bulletin 101 is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following new subsection:

(d) Each acre of Georgia-Florida type 62 tobacco will be classified as eight-tenths (8/10) of an acre used for the production of type 62 tobacco and two-tenths (2/10) of an acre diverted to the production of soil-conserving crops if—

(1) An average of at least four top leaves are left on each stalk on all acreage of type 62 tobacco on the farm and all such stalks are cut and either left on the land or plowed under within seven days after the harvesting of the other tobacco leaves is completed, and

(2) A cover crop of sorghum, cowpeas, velvet beans, or crotolaria, or any mixture of these is seeded in 1937 before or following the completion of harvesting the tobacco on all land planted to type 62 tobacco and a reasonably good stand of such cover crop is attained and is plowed under or disked in before December 31, 1937, and after it has obtained at least three months' growth, provided that neither the seeding nor plowing under or disking in of any such cover crop shall qualify for a class II payment or contribute toward the soil-building allowance.

RESETTLEMENT ADMINISTRATION.

[Administration Order 40 (Rev. 2) (Suppl. 2)[2]]

INSPECTION OF CONSTRUCTION ON PROJECTS UNDER THE JURISDICTION OF COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATIONS

DECEMBER 31, 1936.

1. Purpose.—(a) The purpose of this Supplement is to inform all personnel concerned of the responsibilities of the IS Division for the inspection of construction on projects under the jurisdiction of cooperative associations or other bona fide group agencies hereafter referred to as cooperative associations, whether such construction is done by an agency which is part of the RA, by contract with an agency not part of the RA, or by direct force account by employees of the cooperative associations.

2. General.—(a) Inasmuch as the property of cooperative associations is the physical basis for such liens as are posted as collateral for RA loans to cooperative associations, inspection of the construction under the jurisdiction of cooperative associations is necessary and will be made by engineer inspectors of the IS Division.

3. Responsibilities.—(a) The responsibility of the IS Division will be the same for the inspection of construction undertaken by or within the jurisdiction of cooperative associations as for the inspection of construction undertaken by the RA. The procedure established for inspection of construction on RA projects will apply to such construction. This will include the inspection of all construction work so undertaken coming within the scope of the MA and RS Divisions. All such construction coming within the scope of the RR Division will be inspected only as the Administrator may require.

4. Preliminary Steps When Construction Is Contemplated.—(a) The Director of the MA, RS, or RR Division, as the case may be, will notify the Director of the IS Division when a loan involving construction requiring inspection pursuant to paragraph 3a of this Supplement has been approved by the Administrator.

(b) After a loan involving such construction has been approved by the Administrator, the division involved will furnish the IS Division with copies of plans, specifications, contracts or other documents necessary for proper inspection.

(c) The letter of approval issued in connection with any RR loan, which provides for construction to be performed with proceeds of the loan, will state whether inspection will be required, but failure to make such requirement at that time does not preclude a later requirement to that effect. If inspection is required, the Loan Agreement will contain a statement to that effect, and construction contracts entered into by the cooperative association must contain appropriate provisions for inspection.

5. Instructions for Inspection.—(a) Upon receipt of notification of contemplated construction, the Director of the IS Division will provide for regular inspection.

(b) If a resident engineer inspector is not assigned to the project, the Director of the IS Division will arrange to have such periodic inspections as are necessary, but in all cases at least once each calendar month. Copies of the inspection reports will be forwarded to the regional director, Budget Section of the FC Division, director of the division involved, the manager of the cooperative association and the agency or contracting party performing the construction.

6. Final Inspection.—(a) A final inspection and acceptance of all construction undertaken by a cooperative association which requires inspection pursuant to paragraph 3a of this Supplement will be made before the cooperative association makes the final payment on any construction contract entered into with any individual, partnership, corporation, or other contracting party. All MA and RS Loan Agreements and such RR Loan Agreements as the Administrator may require shall provide for such final inspection, and shall also provide that all construction contracts entered into by the cooperative associations shall make similar provision.

(b) Such final inspection will be made according to the procedure established for final inspections. A copy of the final inspection report and certificate of acceptance will be furnished to the regional director, director of the division concerned, Budget Section of the FC Division, the manager of the cooperative association, the agency or contracting party performing the construction for the cooperative association (if there be such an agency or contracting party), and the regional loan approving office to file with other documents concerning the project.

7. Inspection Costs.—(a) All costs incidental to inspection of construction under the jurisdiction of a cooperative association will be paid from administrative funds of the RA.

R. G. TUGWELL, Administrator.

[Administration Order 188 (Suppl. 1)[1]]

DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY TO GRANT EASEMENTS AND RIGHTS-OF-WAY ON LAND USE PROJECTS

GRANTING EASEMENTS ON LANDS ACQUIRED AND IN THE PROCESS OF BEING ACQUIRED

DECEMBER 30, 1936.

1. Purpose.—(a) This Supplement outlines the procedure for approving and granting easements for lands acquired or in the process of being acquired within land use projects.

2. General.—(a) All requests for easements will be referred to the regional director.

(b) Whenever a public agency, corporation or an individual makes a request for an easement for the purpose of constructing highways, power lines, telephone lines, irrigation and drainage ditches, or for any other purpose on land within a land use project, the regional director will have an investigation made to determine the effect of the easement upon the completion of the development work and upon the proposed use and future administration of the land within the project. The regional director will also determine the probable effect of the easement upon the surrounding community.

(c) If the granting of the proposed easement will result in a benefit to the project, a financial consideration need not be required.

(d) If the granting of the proposed easement will not result in a benefit to the project, a financial consideration shall be required which, however, may be nominal.

3. Request for an Easement Before the Account in Payment for the Land Has Been Submitted to the General Accounting Office or to the Treasury Department.—(a) When an easement is requested on land for which the account in payment for the land has not been sent to the G. A. O. or to the Treasury Department, the regional director will submit to the Administrator, Resettlement Administration, Washington, D. C., Refer to: Land Utilization Division, a statement which will show the effect of the easement on the project.

(b) If the Assistant Administrator in charge of LU determines that the easement will benefit the project, he will notify the regional director. Upon receipt of the notification, the regional director will:

(I) Approach the vendor of the land involved to determine whether or not the vendor is willing to grant the easement.

(II) If the vendor is willing to grant the easement, he will:

(A) Execute the easement on a form approved by the regional attorney.

(B) Execute a Form RA-LU 56, Rev., "Agreement for Cancellation of Contract", as outlined in FI-LU 26.

(C) Sign a new option. In the space on the option form for the description of the land, he will include a statement of the easement granted by the vendor.

(1) The person in the regional office authorized to execute Form RA-LU 56, Rev., "Agreement for Cancellation of Contract", will not execute this Form for the Government until the new option is obtained from the vendor. This is particularly important when the land involves a tract in the project purchase area which is essential to the completion of the project.

(III) If the vendor is not willing to grant the easement, action in regard to the request for the easement may be delayed until title to the lands involved is actually vested in the U. S. If it is necessary and advisable to take immediate action in regard to an easement on land which has not been acquired and which cannot be handled in accordance with the procedure outlined above, the advice of the Assistant Administrator in charge of LU should be obtained by the regional director through proper channels.

(c) If the Assistant Administrator in charge of LU determines that the easement will not benefit the project he will so notify the regional director.

4. Request for an Easement After the Account in Payment for the Land Has Been Submitted to the General Accounting Office or to the Treasury Department.—(a) When an easement is requested on land for which the account in payment for the land has been sent to the G. A. O. or to the Treasury Department, the regional director will submit to the Administrator, Resettlement Administration, Washington, D. C., Refer to: Land Utilization Division, the following information for administrative action:

(I) The name and number of the project in connection with which such an easement is requested.

(II) The name of the public agency, corporation or individual requesting the easement, together with a statement regarding the purpose and nature of the easement.

[1] Supersedes FI-LU 34—3/9/36 Supplements AO 188—8/13/36.

(III) The tract numbers and the names of the vendors of the land to be covered by the easement.

(IV) A map of the purchase area of the project showing the relationship of the land to be covered by the easement to the project area as a whole and to the surrounding community.

(V) An ownership map covering the particular tract of land for which an easement is requested and showing the exact area to be covered by the easement.

(VI) Detailed description of the benefits to the project and surrounding communities which will be derived through the easement.

(VII) The amount of the financial consideration to be paid for the easement.

(VIII) Specific recommendations of the project manager and the regional director regarding the granting of the easement.

(IX) A statement by the regional director of any other facts pertinent to the case which he may have obtained from the investigation made in accordance with paragraph 2b of this Supplement.

(X) A proposed form of easement prepared by the regional attorney, provided that the regional director approved the grant of the easement.

(b) The above information will be bound in a manila folder which will be labeled as follows:

(I) If a financial consideration is involved, he will transmit the original executed copy and the two unexecuted copies to the Administrative Audit Section, Finance and Control Division, Washington, D. C. The second executed copy will be returned to the regional director for the public agency, corporation, or person to whom is granted the easement; and the third executed copy will be retained in the fire resisting files of the LE Division, with other conveyances on the same project, for the proper protection of important original documents. The Chief of the LE Division files will make appropriate cross-reference sheets within the LE files and for the vendors' files, Vendors' Subunit, BM Division.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.

General Land Office.

[Circular No. 1415]

REGULATIONS GOVERNING MINING UNDER THE ACT APPROVED JUNE 22, 1936

DECEMBER 28, 1936.

SIR: The act of June 22, 1936, Public No. 750, 74th Congress, an act to extend the mining laws of the United States to the Glacier Bay National Monument in Alaska, provides as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That in the area within the Glacier Bay National Monument in Alaska, or as it may hereafter be extended, all mineral deposits of the classes and kinds now subject to location, entry, and patent under the mining laws of the United States shall be, exclusive of the land containing them, subject to disposal under such laws, with right of occupation and use of so much of the surface of the land as may be required for all purposes reasonably incident to the mining or removal of the minerals and under such general regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Interior.

Under this act, the lands in the Glacier Bay National Monument, reserved by proclamation of February 26, 1925 (43 Stat. 1988), or as it may be extended hereafter, are open to prospecting for the kinds of mineral now subject to location under the United States mining laws, and, upon discovery of any such mineral, locations may be made in accordance with the provisions of the mining laws and regulations thereunder. Such locations, duly made, will carry all the rights and incidents of mining locations, except that they will give to the locator no title to the land within their boundaries or claim thereto except the right to occupy and use so much of the surface of the land as required for all purposes reasonably necessary to mine and remove the minerals, such occupation and use to be under general regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Interior.

The owner of a mining location may cut such timber within the boundaries of his claim as is necessary for mining purposes. Prospectors may cut timber for their necessary mining and domestic uses only with the permission of the custodian of the monument or his representative who will designate the timber to be cut. All slash, brush or debris resulting from the cutting of timber upon mining claims or by prospectors shall be disposed of by the claimant or prospector in such manner and at such time as may be designated by the National Park Service officer in charge so as to prevent the creation of fire hazards, or conditions conducive to the development of infestation by timber-destroying insects.

Prospectors or miners shall not open or construct roads or vehicle trails without first obtaining a permit from the Director of the National Park Service. Applications for such permits may be made through the officer in charge of the monument upon submitting a map or sketch showing the location of the mining property to be served and the location of the proposed road or vehicle trail. The permit may be conditioned upon the permittee maintaining the road or trail in a passable condition so long as it is used by the permittee or his successors.

Occupation and use of the surface of an unpatented mining claim is restricted by the general law to such as is reasonably incident to the exploration, development and extraction of the minerals in the claim. Accordingly, any locator or patentee of a mining claim located under this act will be entitled to such right. Upon written permission of the Director of the National Park Service or his representative, the surface of such claim may be used for other specified purposes, the use to be on such conditions and for such period as may be prescribed when permission is granted.

Prospectors and miners shall at all times conform to any rules now prescribed or which may be made applicable by the Director of the National Park Service to the national monument.

Attention is called to the park regulation for the protection of wild life which provides:

> The national monument is a sanctuary for wild life of every sort, and all hunting, or the killing, wounding, frightening, capturing or attempting to capture at any time of any wild bird or animal, except dangerous animals when it is necessary to prevent them from destroying human lives or inflicting personal injury, is prohibited.
> Firearms, traps, seines, and nets are prohibited within the boundaries of the monument, except upon written permission of the custodian or his representative.

The right of occupation and use of the surface of the land embraced in the boundaries of a location, entry or patent pursuant to this act will terminate when the minerals are mined out or the claim is abandoned. Any owner of an unpatented location who fails to perform annual assessment work on his claim for any assessment period will be assumed to have abandoned his claim, and his right of occupation and use of the surface of the claim considered at an end.

Applications for patents and final certificates issued thereon for mining claims in this monument should be noted "Glacier Bay National Monument Lands", and all patents issued for claims under the act will convey title to the minerals only, and contain appropriate reference to the act and these regulations.

Very respectfully,

FRED W. JOHNSON, Commissioner.

I concur:

ARNO B. CAMMERER,
Director, National Park Service.

Approved, December 28, 1936.

IN THE MATTER OF AN OFFERING SHEET OF A ROYALTY INTEREST IN THE SINCLAIR-PRAIRIE-HOLMES FARM, FILED ON DECEMBER 28, 1936, BY W. R. CURRY, RESPONDENT

SUSPENSION ORDER, ORDER FOR HEARING (UNDER RULE 340 (A)), AND ORDER DESIGNATING TRIAL EXAMINER

The Securities and Exchange Commission, having reasonable grounds to believe, and therefore alleging, that the offering sheet described in the title hereof and filed by the respondent named therein is incomplete or inaccurate in the following material respects, to wit:

(1) In that the estimation of recoverable oil, Division III, fails to show the similarity of the Simpson and Wilcox formations in the Moore and Oklahoma City Pools referred to under heading "Porosity and Saturation" respecting the Simpson formation.

(2) In that there is no explanation in Division III to show by whom or how the 14% porosity factor for the Simpson formation in the Oklahoma City Pool was established, nor has it been explained fully why this factor was used in combination with the other factors in estimating the recoverable oil.

(3) In that it is not clearly shown in Division III that the Simpson formation is productive in the Holmes lease.

(4) In that it has not been fully explained in Division III how the average normal recovery of 1,100 barrels per acre foot for the Wilcox formation was established.

(5) In that facts have not been presented in sufficient detail in Division III to warrant the conclusion that the structural location of the tract under consideration is similar to the location of the Continental-Young lease on the Edmond Pool structure.

It is ordered, pursuant to Rule 340 (a) of the Commission's General Rules and Regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, that the effectiveness of the filing of said offering sheet be, and hereby is, suspended until the 3rd day of February 1937 that an opportunity for hearing be given to the said respondent for the purpose of determining the material completeness or accuracy of the said offering sheet in the respects in which it is herein alleged to be incomplete or inaccurate, and whether the said order of suspension shall be revoked or continued; and

It is further ordered that Charles S. Moore, an officer of the Commission be, and hereby is, designated as trial examiner to preside at such hearing, to continue or adjourn the said hearing from time to time, to administer oaths and affirmations, subpoena witnesses, compel their attendance, take evidence, consider any amendments to said offering sheet as may be filed prior to the conclusion of the hearing, and require the production of any books, papers, correspondence, memoranda, or other records deemed relevant or material to the inquiry, and to perform all other duties in connection therewith authorized by law; and

It is further ordered that the taking of testimony in this proceeding commence on the 18th day of January 1937 at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, at the office of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D. C., and continue thereafter at such times and places as said examiner may designate.

COUNTERVAILING DUTY ON BUTTER FROM DENMARK

TREASURY DECISION 47896, MODIFIED

To Collectors of Customs and Others Concerned:

The Bureau is in receipt of official information that the transactions in connection with the exportation of Danish butter to the United States which occasioned the publication in Treasury Decision 47896, of September 28, 1935, that countervailing duties would be imposed on such commodity under section 303 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (U. S. C., title 19, sec. 1303), have been discontinued as to direct shipments to the United States and that the last direct shipment of Danish butter receiving the benefit of a bounty was exported from Denmark on October 25, 1935.

In the circumstances, Treasury Decision 47896 is hereby modified so as to restrict its application to Danish butter shipped direct to the United States prior to October 26, 1935, and imported on or after November 10, 1935, and to Danish butter imported indirectly on or after November 10, 1935.

Entries covering Danish butter which are not affected by Treasury Decision 47896, as modified by this decision, shall be liquidated as promptly as possible without the assessment of countervailing duties on such butter.

Bureau of Internal Revenue.

[T. D. 4722]

BOTTLING DISTILLED SPIRITS IN BOND

To District Supervisors and Others Concerned:

Section 306 of the Liquor Tax Administration Act (Public, No. 815, 74th Congress) provides as follows:

SEC. 306. (a) Section 1 of the Act entitled "An Act to allow the bottling of distilled spirits in bond", approved March 3, 1897, as amended (U. S. C., 1934 ed., title 26, sec. 1276), is further amended to read as follows:

That whenever any distilled spirits deposited in the Internal Revenue Bonded Warehouse have been duly entered for withdrawal, before or after tax-payment, or for export in bond, and have been duly gauged and the required marks, brands, and tax-paid stamps (if required) or export stamps, as the case may be, have been affixed to the package or packages containing the same, the distiller or owner of said distilled spirits, if he has declared his purpose so to do in the entry for withdrawal, which entry for bottling purposes may be made by the owner as well as the distiller, may remove such spirits to a separate portion of said warehouse which shall be set apart and used exclusively for that purpose, and there, under the supervision of a United States storekeeper-gauger in charge of such warehouse, may immediately draw off such spirits, bottle, pack, and case the same. For convenience in such process any number of packages of spirits of the same kind, differing only in proof, but produced at the same distillery by the same distiller, may be mingled together in a cistern provided for that purpose, but nothing herein shall authorize or permit any mingling of different products, or of the same products of different distilling seasons, or the addition or subtraction of any substance or material or the application of any method or process to alter or change in any way the original condition or character of the product except as herein authorized; nor shall there be at the same time in the bottling room of any Internal Revenue Bonded Warehouse any spirits entered for withdrawal upon payment of the tax and any spirits entered for export.

Every bottle when filled shall have affixed thereto and passing over the mouth of the same such suitable adhesive engraved strip stamp as may be prescribed, as hereinafter provided, and shall be packed into cases to contain six bottles or multiples thereof, and in the aggregate not less than two nor more than five gallons in each case, which, if taxpaid, shall be immediately removed from the warehouse premises. Each of such cases shall have affixed thereto a stamp denoting the number of gallons therein contained, such stamp to be affixed to the case before its removal from the warehouse, and such stamps shall have a cash value of ten cents each, and shall be charged at that rate to the collectors to whom issued, and shall be paid for at that rate by the distiller or owner using the same.

And there shall be plainly burned, embossed, or printed on the side of each case, to be known as the Government side, the proof of the spirits, the registered distillery number, the State and supervisory district in which the distillery is located, the real name of the actual bona fide distiller or of the individual, firm, partnership, corporation or association in whose name the spirits were produced and warehoused, the year and distilling season, whether spring or fall, of original inspection or entry into bond, and the date of bottling, and the same wording shall be placed upon the adhesive engraved strip stamp over the mouth of the bottle. It being understood that the spring season shall include the months from January to July, and the fall season the months from July to January.

"And no trade-marks shall be put upon any bottle unless the real name of the actual bona fide distiller, or the name of the individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or association in whose name the spirits were produced and warehoused, shall also be placed conspicuously on said bottle."

(b) Section 2 of the Act entitled "An Act to allow the bottling of distilled spirits in bond", approved March 3, 1897, as amended (U. S. C., 1934 ed., title 26, sec. 1277), is further amended by striking out the last clause following the words "Secretary of the Treasury", and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"but no spirits (except gin for export) shall be bottled in bond until they have remained in bond in wooden containers for at least four years from the date of original gauge as to fruit brandy, or original entry as to all other spirits: Provided, That nothing in this Act shall authorize the labeling of spirits in bottles contrary to the provisions of regulations issued pursuant to the Federal Alcohol Administration Act, or any amendment thereof."

Pursuant to this amendment of the statute, Sections 1, 5, 8, 12, and 16, of Regulations No. 6, Bottling of distilled spirits in bond, are amended to read as follows:

SECTION 1. Bottling warehouses.—Any proprietor of an Internal Revenue Bonded Warehouse who desires to bottle distilled spirits in bond, shall first set apart a portion of such warehouse for this purpose, and separate the same from the remainder of the warehouse by solid, secure, and unbroken partitions, with no interior communication whatever between the bottling room and other portions of the warehouse, except that, where spirits are bottled before tax-payment, which necessitates their return to the storage portion of the warehouse, a door to be secured on its warehouse side by Government lock will be permitted in the partition separating the bottling room from the storage portion of the warehouse. Such door must be kept locked at all times, with the key in the possession of the Government officer assigned to the warehouse, except when the door is necessarily opened to allow the transfer of spirits to the bottling room or their return to the storage portion of the warehouse. Where the bottling house is constructed as above provided and spirits are also bottled after tax-payment, a door must be provided through which such taxpaid spirits may be removed after bottling without being taken through the storage portion of the warehouse.

Should the proprietor desire to have an addition to his warehouse approved for use solely for bottling purposes, he will make application in the manner now provided by T. D. 4651, concerning Internal Revenue Bonded Warehouses. If the addition is not a separate structure on the bonded premises, it must be separated from the other portions of the warehouse as herein required. The application and District Supervisor's certificate should state that the addition is for bottling purposes.

The cabinet or case prescribed in T. D. 4527 and T. D. 4561 must be provided in each bottling house for the safe storage of case and strip stamps.

SEC. 5. Spirits which may be bottled.—Except in the case of gin which may be bottled for export at any time, only spirits which have remained in bond in wooden containers for at least four years can be withdrawn for bottling in bond. Spirits may be bottled in bond either before or after payment of the internal-revenue tax. Spirits bottled in bond before payment of the tax will be returned to the bonded warehouse for storage until tax-paid or until removed without payment of tax under the provision of law and regulations applicable thereto. Spirits bottled after tax-payment must be removed from the bottling warehouse immediately upon completion of the bottling, without being returned to the bonded warehouse.

The entry for withdrawal for bottling must bear date not less than four years after date of original gauge as to fruit brandy, or original enry as to all other spirits.

Spirits of two or more distillers, or spirits produced by the same distiller in the names of two or more individuals, firms, partnerships, corporations, or associations, may not be in the process of bottling in the same bottling room at the same time; nor may spirits of two or more seasons' production, or taxpaid and untaxpaid spirits, or spirits bottled for export and spirits bottled before tax-payment, be in the process of bottling in the same bottling room at the same time.

SEC. 8. Case and strip stamps.—Case stamps for distilled spirits bottled in bond for domestic sale or use will be printed in five denominations: 3 gallons for cases containing 12 bottles of 1 quart each; 2.4 gallons for cases containing 12 bottles of 4/5 quart (1/5 gallon) each; 3 gallons for cases containing 24 bottles of 1 pint each; 3 gallons for cases containing 48 bottles of ½ pint each; and 3 gallons for cases containing 240 bottles of 1/10 pint each.

The strip stamps will be marked "Bottled in Bond" and will bear the following data: The real name of the actual bona fide distiller or of the individual, firm, partnership, corporation or association in whose name the spirits were produced and warehoused; the registered distillery number; State and supervisory district in which the distillery is located; the proof of the spirits; the year and distilling season, whether Spring or Fall; the bottling season; and the number of the warehouse and supervisory district in which the spirits are bottled.

The stamps will be bound in books of 20 case stamps to which are attached the requisite number of strip stamps.

SEC. 12. Trade-marks and distiller's name upon bottles.—The provision of the law that no trade-marks shall be put upon any bottle unless the real name of the actual bona fide distiller or the name of the individual, firm, partnership, corporation or association in whose name the spirits were produced and warehoused, shall also be placed conspicuously on said bottle renders it absolutely necessary that either the label which contains the trade-mark or special name which the owner may see fit to give to his spirits, or some additional label equally conspicuous shall bear the real name of the actual bona fide distiller or the name of the individual, firm, partnership, corporation or association in whose name the spirits were produced and warehoused. Labels must conform to the provisions of regulations issued by the Federal Alcohol Administration.

SEC. 16. (a) Marks and brands on cases.—On the Government side of cases of distilled spirits bottled in bond there shall be plainly burned, embossed, or printed, in letters and figures not less than five-eighths of an inch in height, the real name of the actual bona fide distiller or of the individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or association in whose name the spirits were produced and warehoused, the number, State, and supervisory district of the distillery at which the spirits were produced, the quantity and proof of the spirits, and the season and year of production and bottling. Where spirits are bottled at a warehouse not on the premises of the distillery where produced, or contiguous thereto, the number and State of the warehouse at which the spirits are bottled shall also be plainly burned, embossed, or printed on the Government side of the case, but the name of the distiller or of the individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or association in whose name the spirits were produced and warehoused, the number, State, and supervisory district of the distillery at which the spirits were produced, and the season and year of production and bottling may be stenciled with permanent black ink. The serial number of the case and the date of bottling (inspection) shall also be marked on each case.

(b) The marks and brands will be placed on the cases in the following manner and order:

4. Discrimination.—(a) Workers who are qualified by training and experience for assignment to RA projects shall not be discriminated against for organizational activity, political belief, race, sex, or for any other reason.

(I) The use of espionage, "blacklists", or any other list which may serve to discriminate against individual workers, or against groups of workers, is expressly prohibited.

(II) Workers shall not be discriminated against or discharged because of any petition filed or complaints made to any person in the RA, Works Progress Administration (WPA) or in any other agency of the Federal Government.

(III) Project managers, community managers, or resident engineers will be expected to observe literally the regulations against discrimination outlined above. They may, however, average employment for all the projects in a given administrative area in such manner as will proportion employment on RA projects in the area, by race, sex, or other criteria upon which discrimination might arise, and within the several classes of work, to the numbers on relief rolls. The regional LR adviser or the LR representative will approve the manner of averaging in each specific instance.

(b) Regional LR advisers or LR representatives will make periodic comparisons of the employment rolls for projects, and the relief rolls from which the workers employed on projects were drawn, to determine whether or not any discrimination, within the several levels of skill, has occurred. They will report any conspicuous evidence of discrimination to the project manager, community manager, or resident engineer with a request for explanation or correction of the situation. They will also send copies of these reports to the Director of the LR Division and to the regional director or the director of the Washington division to which the project is assigned.

5. Private Employment.—(a) When demands for labor in private employment are such as to make desirable the release of workers assigned to RA projects, regional LR advisers and LR representatives in the course of their regular field trips will confer with local United States Employment Service (USES) officials with reference to individual projects, and will endeavor to estimate the probable demand for workers in private industry and the number of workers, if any, who will be required from each RA project to supplement the workers who are subject to prior call.

(b) Regional LR advisers and LR representatives will then consult the project managers, community managers and resident engineers on the projects to which they are assigned with regard to the practicable possibilities and the effect of releasing the required number of employees.

(c) In the event that considerable difficulty may be caused on any project by such a release of labor, the regional LR adviser or the LR representative will immediately bring the matter to the attention of either the regional director or the Director of the CN Division and to the attention of the Director of the LR Division.

(d) If a call for additional workers for private employment should be made without prior provision therefor, the regional LR adviser or the LR representative will investigate the situation without delay. If he determines that the release of project employees is necessary, he will notify the project manager, community manager, or resident engineer to that effect, and the release will be made at once.

(e) In releasing workers for employment in private industry, the project manager, community manager, or resident engineer will endeavor to determine, first, those who are willing to accept such employment. If it is necessary to release additional workers, he will exercise his discretion to release persons whose services are least needed on the project. Only persons competent to perform the work offered will be released. To that end, the project manager, community manager, or resident engineer may request the USES officer to designate the project workers who are qualified for the private employment offered.

(f) When the project manager, community manager or resident engineer has determined the workers to be released for private employment, he will record such release on WPA Form 403, "Notice of Change in Work Status", and will notify the workers involved to report to the USES or public employment office for referral to the applying employers. At the request of the USES or other employment office, the project manager, community manager or resident engineer will give to the released worker a copy of the said Notice and the "Referral Card" made out by the employment office, and direct him to the prospective employer.

(g) The demand for the release of project workers for employment in private industry must be made by the USES or other duly authorized public employment agency. Notification of demand for project workers in private industry will not be considered unless it is presented by such an agency.

(h) Persons who have been assigned to a project are expected to accept available private employment provided:

(I) That the private work offered, whether temporary or permanent, will consist of full-time jobs.

(II) That the work is within reasonable distance of the Workers' homes, or that reasonable provision is made for transportation or subsistence.

(III) That such work will be at a standard or going rate of wages which will provide, when computed on a monthly basis, approximately the net equivalent of the monthly security wage.

(IV) That such work will not have to be performed under unusual or severe working conditions.

(V) That such work will not be in conflict with established union relationships or performed during the existence of a labor dispute.

(VI) That workers will be assured of an opportunity to return to available jobs on RA projects upon the completion of the private employment.

6. Cause for Discharge.—(a) It is expected that workers on RA projects will discharge their duties with their available skill and diligence. When workers fail to apply themselves to their jobs in a reasonable manner, the project manager, community manager or resident engineer may discharge them after giving every worker adequate advice and warning and after allowing time to secure evidence that the workers involved are not discharging their duties to the best of their ability.

(b) In each case of discharge, a full statement of the reason for termination must be made on WPA Form 403, "Notice of Change in Work Status". No entry such as "agitator", or any other expression which may be construed to refer to organizational activity may be made on WPA Form 403. In every case of discharge, the worker is entitled to, and must be given, an explanation of why he is discharged. The worker must further be given opportunity to present to the project manager, community manager, resident engineer, regional LR adviser or LR representative, reasons, if any, why he should not be discharged.

7. Adjusting Complaints and Grievances.—(a) Workers may present complaints either individually or through their designated representatives. If satisfactory adjustment of a complaint cannot be secured through the foreman, or the project manager, community manager or resident engineer, the matter should be taken up with the regional LR adviser or the LR representative.

(b) In the event that the regional LR adviser or the LR representative cannot secure a satisfactory adjustment of the complaint or grievance, either the workers or their designated representative, the project manager, community manager or resident engineer, or the regional LR adviser or LR representative may appeal to the Director of the LR Division.

8. Strikes.—(a) If all or any portion of the workers on an RA project go on strike because of a labor dispute, the project manager, community manager or resident engineer will stop the work involved in the strike until the dispute is adjusted. New workers shall not be requisitioned to fill the jobs left vacant by the striking workers. If the entire project is affected by the strike or stoppage of work, the project shall be closed down until the dispute is adjusted. Work will not be continued on any RA project if it is necessary to use police or any other protection involving force.

(b) In case of a strike or stoppage of work on a project, the project manager, community manager or resident engineer shall notify immediately the regional LR adviser or the LR representative, assigned to the project, who is responsible for conducting negotiations to settle the dispute.

9. Posting Notices on Projects.—(a) Notices giving the wages, hours of work, and working conditions must be posted on every project in places easily accessible to all workers. Notices will be posted on Form RA-LR 21, Rev. 7-21-36, "Working Conditions", and Form RA-LR 21a, "Schedule of Wage Rates, Maximum Monthly Hours and Maximum Monthly Earnings", or on Form RA-LR 18, "Labor Conditions." The name and address of the regional LR adviser or the LR representative to whom workers may appeal complaints and grievances must be given on every notice posted.

(b) On projects financed from funds under the Emergency Relief Act of 1936, WPA Form 405, Rev., "Occupational Schedule of Hourly Wage Rates, Assigned Hours of Work per Month, and Monthly Earnings", may be substituted for Form RA-LR 21a. Copies of WPA Form 405, Rev., are to be prepared and signed by the district director of the WPA district Division of Employment and distributed by him for display at the site of the project. When it seems desirable to the project manager, community manager, or resident engineer, and to the regional LR adviser or the LR representative assigned to the project, copies of both WPA Form 405, Rev., and Form RA-LR 21a may be posted on the project.

EAST CENTRAL REGION

Whereas under the provisions of Section 3, Part II, of East Central Region Bulletin No. 1, Revised, as amended, the rates of payments specified in Section 2, Part II, of said bulletin are based upon an estimate of available funds and an estimate of approximately 80 percent participation by farmers in the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program in the East Central Region, and it is also provided in said Section 3 that, if participation in the East Central Region is less than or exceeds said 80 percent, the said rates of payment in the East Central Region may be increased or decreased pro rata, as the case may be, provided that in no event will the rates be increased or decreased by more than 10 percent; and

and,

Whereas farmers participating in the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program in the East Central Region have completed the practices in connection with which payments under the terms and conditions of said program are to be made; and

Whereas from the number of Applications for Payment, Form ECR 11, which have been submitted in the East Central Region and which it is estimated will be submitted in the future, it reasonably appears that participation by farmers in the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program in the East Central Region will be less than 80 percent to such extent and the payments to such participants at the rates specified in said bulletin will in the aggregate be such an amount that, taking into consideration the available funds, the rates specified in section 2, Part II of said bulletin may be increased 5 percent:

Now, therefore, I, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under Section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act as amended, do hereby order that—

(1) When the amount of the estimated administrative expenses incurred or to be incurred by the County Agricultural Association for any county in carrying out in such county the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program has been determined for such county, and the amount of such administrative expenses to be deducted pro rata from payments to members of such association has been determined, and the estimated total payments, prior to deduction of said administrative expenses, have also been determined, there shall be made with respect to each Application for Payment, Form ECR–11, duly executed in accordance with the applicable rules and instructions:

(a) To each person entitled thereto who has not previously received an initial payment pursuant to said order of the Secretary of Agriculture dated October 7, 1936, one full and final payment equal to 105 percent of the soil-conserving payment and 100 percent of the soil-building payment computed in accordance with the rates, and subject to the conditions, in effect under said program as of the date hereof less the amount of the administrative expenses applicable to such payment; and

(b) To each person who has received an initial payment pursuant to said order of the Secretary of Agriculture dated October 7, 1936, an additional and final payment which, with such initial payment, will be equal to 105 percent of the soil-conserving payment and 100 percent of the soil-building payment computed in accordance with the rates, and subject to the conditions, in effect under said program as of the date hereof less the amount of such administrative expenses applicable to the sum of such initial payment and such additional and final payment.

In testimony whereof, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, has hereunto set his hand and caused the official seal of the Department of Agriculture to be affixed in the City of Washington, District of Columbia, this 6th day of January, 1937.

ORDER WITH RESPECT TO PAYMENTS UNDER THE 1936 AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION PROGRAM

NORTH CENTRAL REGION

Whereas under the provisions of Section 6, Part II, of North Central Region Bulletin No. 1, Revised, as amended, the rates of payments specified in Sections 2, 3, and 4, Part II, of said bulletin are based upon an estimate of available funds and an estimate of approximately 80 percent participation by farmers in the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program in the North Central Region, and it is also provided in said section 6, that, if participation in the North Central Region exceeds or is less than said 80 percent, the said rates of payment in the North Central Region may be increased or decreased pro rata, as the case may be, provided that in no event will such rates be increased or decreased by more than 10 percent; and

Whereas under the provisions of section 5, Part II, of said bulletin the rate of payment with respect to rice in the North Central Region is subject to the provisions of the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program for the Southern Region with respect to rice; and

Whereas under the provisions of section 10, Part II, of said bulletin it is provided that, in computing payments under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program in the North Central Region, there shall be deducted from the payment to any person with respect to a farm or farms in a county all or such part as shall, under rules prescribed by the Secretary, be determined to be such person's pro rata share of the estimated administrative expenses incurred and to be incurred by the County Agricultural Conservation Association of the County in which such farm or farms are located, in cooperating in carrying out in such county the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program; and

Whereas the Secretary of Agriculture in an order dated October 7, 1936, entitled, "Order with Respect to Payments under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program—North Central Region" (see Federal Register, October 8, 1936, page 1544) as amended October 19, 1936 (see Federal Register, October 22, 1936, page 1646), ordered:

"(1) That pending determination by the Secretary of Agriculture of the adjustments, if any, to be made in the rates of the payments specified in sections 2, 3, and 4, Part II, of North Central Region Bulletin No. 1, Revised, as amended, and determination of the deductions for administrative expenses, there shall be made, as soon as practicable, with respect to each Application for Payment, Form NCR–12, Form NCR–15, or Form NCR–17, duly executed in accordance with the applicable rules and instructions, an initial payment equal to 90 percent of the total payment computed in accordance with the rates, and subject to the conditions, in effect under such program as of October 19, 1936, and

"(2) Subsequent to the date of such determinations, there shall be made with respect to each Application for Payment, Form NCR–12, Form NCR–15, or Form NCR–17, duly executed in accordance with the applicable rules and instructions:

"(a) To each person entitled thereto who has not previously received an initial payment pursuant to the paragraph numbered (1) above, one full and final payment; and

"(b) To each person who has received an initial payment pursuant to the paragraph numbered (1) above, the balance of the payment to which he may be entitled.";

and,

Whereas farmers participating in the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program in the North Central Region have completed the practices in connection with which payments under the terms and conditions of said program are to be made; and

Whereas from the number of Applications for Payment, Form NCR–12, Form NCR–15, and Form NCR–17, which have been submitted in the North Central Region and which it is estimated will be submitted in the future, it reasonably appears that participation by farmers in the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program in the North Central Region will be less than 80 percent to such extent and the payments to such participants at the rates specified in said bulletin will in the aggregate be such an amount that, taking into consideration the available funds and the fact that in the North Central Region (but not in the Southern Region) the payment to any person with respect to rice is subject to deduction for such person's pro rata share of the estimated administrative expenses of the county association of which such person is a member, the rates specified in sections 2, 3, 4, and 5, Part II of said bulletin may be increased 7 percent:

Now, therefore, I, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under Section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act as amended, do hereby order that—

(1) When the amount of the estimated administrative expenses incurred or to be incurred by the County Agricultural Association for any county in carrying out in such county the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program has been determined for such county, and the amount of such administrative expenses to be deducted pro rata from payments to members of such association has been determined, and the estimated total payments, prior to deduction of said administrative expenses, have also been determined, there shall be made with respect to each Application for Payment, Form NCR–12, Form NCR–15, or Form NCR–17, duly executed in accordance with the applicable rules and instructions:

(a) To each person entitled thereto who has not previously received an initial payment pursuant to said order of the Secretary of Agriculture dated October 7, 1936, as amended, one full and final payment equal to 107 percent of the soil-conserving payment and the payments with respect to sugar beets, flax, and rice, and 100 percent of the soil-building payment computed in accordance with the rates, and subject to the conditions, in effect under said program as of the date hereof less the amount of the administrative expenses applicable to such payment; and

(b) To each person who has received an initial payment pursuant to said order of the Secretary of Agriculture dated October 7, 1936, as amended, an additional and final payment which, with such initial payment, will be equal to 107 percent of the soil-conserving payment and the payments with respect to sugar beets, flax, and rice, and 100 percent of the soil-building payment computed in accordance with the rates, and subject to the conditions, in effect under said program as of the date hereof less the amount of such administrative expenses applicable to the sum of such initial payment and such additional and final payment.

In testimony whereof, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, has hereunto set his hand and caused the official seal of the Department of Agriculture to be affixed in the city of Washington, District of Columbia, this 6th day of January 1937.

Whereas farmers participating in the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program in the Southern Region have completed the practices in connection with which payments are to be made under the terms and conditions of said programs and

Whereas from the number of Applications for Payment, Form SR–9, which have been submitted in the Southern Region and which it is estimated will be submitted in the future, it reasonably appears that participation by farmers in the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program in the Southern Region will be approximately 80 percent;

EXCESS PROFITS ON NAVY CONTRACTS

REGULATIONS UNDER SECTION 3 OF THE ACT OF MARCH 27, 1934, AS ORIGINALLY ENACTED AND AS AMENDED—T. D. 4434 SUPERSEDED

To Officers and Employees of the Treasury Department, the Navy Department, and Others Concerned:

PARAGRAPH A.—Section 3 of the Act entitled "An Act to establish the composition of the United States Navy with respect to the categories of vessels limited by the treaties signed at Washington, February 6, 1922, and at London, April 22, 1930, at the limits prescribed by those treaties; to authorize the construction of certain naval vessels; and for other purposes", approved March 27, 1934, 48 Stat. L. 505 (U. S. C., title 34, sec. 496), provides:

SEC. 3. The Secretary of the Navy is hereby directed to submit annually to the Bureau of the Budget estimates for the construction of the foregoing vessels and aircraft; and there is hereby authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this Act: Provided, That no contract shall be made by the Secretary of the Navy for the construction and/or manufacture of any complete naval vessel or aircraft, or any portion thereof, herein, heretofore, or hereafter authorized unless the contractor agrees—

(a) To make a report, as hereinater described, under oath, to the Secretary of the Navy upon the completion of the contract.

(b) To pay into the Treasury profit, as hereinafter provided shall be determined by the Treasury Department, in excess of 10 per centum of the total contract price, such amount to become the property of the United States: Provided, That if such amount is not voluntarily paid the Secretary of the Treasury may collect the same under the usual methods employed under the internal revenue laws to collect Federal income taxes.

(c) To make no subdivisions of any contract or subcontract for the same article or articles for the purpose of evading the provisions of this Act, but any subdivision of any contract or subcontract involving an amount in excess of $10,000 shall be subject to the conditions herein prescribed.

(d) That the manufacturing spaces and books of its own plant, affiliates, and subdivisions shall at all times be subject to inspection and audit by any person designated by the Secretary of the Navy, the Secretary of the Treasury, and/or by a duly authorized committee of Congress.

(e) To make no subcontract unless the subcontractor agrees to the foregoing conditions.

The report shall be in form prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy and shall state the total contract price, the cost of performing the contract, the net income, and the per centum such net income bears to the contract price. A copy of such report shall be transmitted to the Secretary of the Treasury for consideration in connection with the Federal income tax returns of the contractor for the taxable year or years concerned.

The method of ascertaining the amount of excess profit to be paid into the Treasury shall be determined by the Secretary of the Treasury in agreement with the Secretary of the Navy and made available to the public. The method initially fixed upon shall be so determined on or before June 30, 1934: Provided, That in any case where an excess profit may be found to be owing to the United States in consequence hereof, the Secretary of the Treasury shall allow credit for any Federal income taxes paid or remaining to be paid upon the amount of such excess profit.

The contract or subcontracts referred to herein are limited to those where the award exceeds $10,000.

PAR. B. Section 3 (b) of the Act referred to above in paragraph A was amended by the Act of June 25, 1936 (Public, No. 804, 74th Cong.)[1], to read as follows:

SEC. 3. (b) To pay into the Treasury profit, as hereinafter provided shall be determined by the Treasury Department, in excess of 10 per centum of the total contract prices, of such contracts within the scope of this section as are completed by the particular contracting party within the income taxable year, such amount to become the property of the United States, but the surety under such contracts shall not be liable for the payment of such excess profit: Provided, That if there is a net loss on all such contracts or subcontracts completed by the particular contractor or subcontractor within any income taxable year, such net loss shall be allowed as a credit in determining the excess profit, if any, for the next succeeding income taxable year: Provided further, That if such amount is not voluntarily paid the Secretary of the Treasury shall collect the same under the usual methods employed under the internal-revenue laws to collect Federal income taxes: Provided further, That all provisions of law (including penalties) applicable with respect to the taxes imposed by Title I of the Revenue Act of 1934, and not inconsistent with this section, shall be applicable with respect to the assessment, collection, or payment of excess profits to the Treasury as provided by this section, and to refunds by the Treasury of overpayments of excess profits into the Treasury: And provided further, That this section shall not apply to contracts or subcontracts for scientific equipment used for communication, target detection, navigation, and fire control as may be so designated by the Secretary of the Navy, and the Secretary of the Navy shall report annually to the Congress the names of such contractors and subcontractors affected by this provision, together with the applicable contracts and the amounts thereof: And provided further, That the income-taxable years shall be such taxable years beginning after December 31, 1935, except that the above provisos relating to the assessment, collection, payment, or refunding of excess profit to or by the Treasury shall be retroactive to March 27, 1934.

Pursuant to the authority prescribed by section 3 of the Act of March 27, 1934, 48 Stat. L. 505 (U. S. C. title 34, sec. 496), as amended, the following regulations are hereby prescribed with respect to section 3 of such Act as originally enacted and as amended:

ARTICLE 1. Definitions.—As used in these regulations the term—

(a) "Act" means the Act of March 27, 1934, 48 Stat. L. 505 (U. S. C. title 34, sec. 496) as originally enacted and as amended by the Act of June 25, 1936 (Public, No. 804, 74th Cong.).[1]

(b) "Person" includes an individual, a corporation, a partnership, a trust or estate, a joint-stock company, an association, or a syndicate, group, pool, joint venture or other unincorporated organization or group, through or by means of which any business, financial operation or venture is carried on.

(c) "Contract" means an agreement made by authority of the Secretary of the Navy for the construction or manufacture of any complete naval vessel or aircraft, or any portion thereof.

(d) "Contractor" means a person entering into a direct contract with the Secretary of the Navy or his duly authorized representative.

(e) "Subcontract" means an agreement entered into by one person with another person for the construction or manufacture of a complete naval vessel or aircraft or any portion thereof, the prime contract having been entered into between a contractor and the Secretary of the Navy or his duly authorized representative.

(f) "Subcontractor" means any person other than a contractor entering into a subcontract.

(g) "Contracting party" means a contractor or subcontractor as the case may be.

(h) "Contract price" or "total contract price" means the amount or total amount to be received under a contract or subcontract as the case may be.

(i) "Income-taxable year" means the calendar year, the fiscal year ending during such calendar year, or the fractional part of such calendar or fiscal year, upon the basis of which the contracting party's net income is computed and for which its income tax returns are made for Federal income tax purposes.

ART. 2. Contracts and subcontracts under which excess profit liability may be incurred.—Except as otherwise provided with respect to contracts or subcontracts for certain scientific equipment (see article 3 of these regulations), every contract awarded for an amount exceeding $10,000 and entered into after the enactment of the Act of March 27, 1934 for the construction or manufacture of any complete naval vessel or aircraft, or any portion thereof, is subject to the provisions of the Act relating to excess profit liability. Any subcontract made with respect to such a contract and involving an amount in excess of $10,000 is also within the scope of the Act. If a contracting party places orders with another party, aggregating an amount in excess of $10,000, for articles or materials which constitute a part of the cost of performing the contract or subcontract, the placing of such orders shall constitute a subcontract within the scope of the Act, unless it is clearly shown that each of the orders involving $10,000 or less is a bona fide separate and distinct subcontract and not a subdivision made for the purpose of evading the provisions of the Act.

ART. 3. Contracts or subcontracts for scientific equipment.—No excess profit liability is incurred upon a contract or subcontract entered into after the amendment of section 3 (b) of the Act on June 25, 1936, if at the time or prior to the time such contract or subcontract is made it is designated by the Secretary of the Navy as being for scientific equipment used for communication, target detection, navigation, and fire control. The exemption of contracts or subcontracts for scientific equipment does not extend to any contract or subcontract entered into prior to the enactment of the amendment of section 3 (b) of the Act.

ART. 4. Manner of determining liability.—The first step in the determination of the excess profit to be paid to the United States is to ascertain the amount of excess profit under the applicable method which depends upon the date of completion of the contract or subcontract. See article 5 of these regulations. The second step is to ascertain the amount of credit allowed for Federal income taxes paid or remaining to be paid upon the amount of such excess profit. See article 10 of these regulations. The third step is to subtract from the amount of excess profit as computed in the first step the amount of credit for Federal income taxes as computed in the second step. The amount remaining after such subtraction is the amount of excess profit to be paid to the United States.

ART. 5. Measure of excess profit.—(a) Completion of contract defined.—The method of ascertaining the amount of excess profit in respect of a contract or subcontract coming within the scope of the Act depends upon the date of completion of the contract or subcontract (i. e. whether the contract or subcontract was completed prior to the contracting party's first income-taxable year beginning after December 31, 1935 or was completed within or subsequent to such income-taxable year). With the exception of those contracts which provide a method for determining the date of completion, the date of delivery of the vessel, aircraft or portion thereof covered by the contract or subcontract shall be considered the date of completion of the contract or subcontract unless otherwise determined by the Secretary of the Navy and the Secretary of the Treasury or their duly authorized representatives. As to a refund in case of adjustment due to subsequently incurred additional costs, see article 19 of these regulations. If a contract or subcontract is at any time cancelled or terminated, it is completed at the time of the cancellation or termination.

(b) Contracts or subcontracts completed prior to contracting party's income-taxable year beginning after December 31, 1935.—If a contract or subcontract is completed prior to the contracting party's first income-taxable year beginning after December 31, 1935, the excess profit shall be determined separately upon the completion of each such contract or subcontract. The amount of such excess profit shall be the amount of the profit on such contract or subcontract in excess of 10 percent of the total contract price. The amount of the profit on the contract or subcontract shall be the excess of the total contract price over the cost of performing the contract or subcontract. As to the cost of performance, see article 8 of these regulations.

(c) Contracts or subcontracts completed within contracting party's income-taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 1936.—In the case of contracts or subcontracts completed within, or subsequent to, the contracting party's first income-taxable year beginning after December 31, 1935, the excess profit shall be determined upon the basis of all contracts and subcontracts completed by the particular contracting party within each income-taxable year. The amount of such excess profit for an income-taxable year shall be the amount of the net profit upon all contracts and subcontracts completed by the contracting party within the income-taxable year (less the credit allowable for net loss, if any, sustained in the preceding income-taxable year) in excess of 10 percent of the total contract prices of all such contracts and subcontracts. As to the allowable credit for a net loss for the preceding income-taxable year, see article 9 of these regulations. The amount of the net profit on all contracts and subcontracts completed by a particular contracting party within the income-taxable year shall be the excess of the total contract prices of such contracts and subcontracts over the total costs of performing such contracts and subcontracts. As to the cost of performing a contract or subcontract, see article 8 of these regulations. As to the keeping of separate accounts with respect to each contract or subcontract, see article 13 of these regulations.

ART. 6. Computation of excess profit-liability. Examples.—The application of the provisions of articles 4 and 5 of these regulations may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1): On January 2, 1935 the A Corporation, which keeps its books and makes its Federal income tax returns on a calendar year basis, entered into a contract coming within the scope of the Act. The total contract price was $100,000. The contract was completed on August 5, 1935 at a cost of $85,000. A second contract for $20,000, entered into on April 15, 1935, was completed on June 10, 1935, at a cost of $21,000. For the year 1935 the A Corporation had a net income of $10,000 (including $10,000 of the profit upon the first contract), on which it paid a Federal income tax of $13,750. A loss having been incurred upon the second contract, there is no excess profit liability in respect of such contract. The excess profit liability upon the first contract is $5,000 computed as follows:

| Total contract price | $100,000 |
| Less: Cost of performing contract | 85,000 |
| Profit on contract | 15,000 |
| Less: 10 percent of total contract price (10 percent of $100,000) | 10,000 |
| Excess profit | 5,000 |
| Less: Credit for Federal income taxes | None |
| Excess profit liability | 5,000 |

Example (2): On September 1, 1935, the B Corporation which keeps its books and makes its Federal income tax returns on a calendar year basis entered into a contract coming within the scope of the Act, the total contract price of which was $200,000. On March 10, 1936, the corporation entered into another such contract, the total contract price of which was $40,000. Both contracts were completed within the calendar year 1936, the first at a cost of $155,000 and the second at a cost of $45,000. The net income of the B Corporation for the year 1936 amounted to $96,000, which included the total net profit of $40,000 upon the two contracts. For the year 1936 the B Corporation paid a Federal income tax of $13,240, no part of which was surtax imposed by section 14 of the Revenue Act of 1936. The excess profit liability is $13,600 computed as follows:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Total contract prices: | | |
| Contract No. 1 | $40,000 | |
| Contract No. 2 | 200,000 | |
| | | $240,000 |
| Less: Cost of performing contracts: | | |
| Contract No. 1 | 45,000 | |
| Contract No. 2 | 155,000 | |
| | | 200,000 |
| Net profit on contracts | | 40,000 |
| Less: 10 percent of total contract prices (10 percent of $240,000) | | 24,000 |
| Excess profit | | 16,000 |
| Less: Credit for Federal income taxes (normal tax on $16,000 at 15 percent) | | 2,400 |
| Excess profit liability | | 13,600 |

ART. 7. Total contract price.—The total contract price of a particular contract of subcontract (see article 1 of these regulations) may be received in money or its equivalent. If something other than money is received, only the fair market value of the thing received, at the date of receipt, is to be included in determining the amount received. Bonuses earned for bettering performance and penalties incurred for failure to meet the contract guarantees are to be regarded as adjustments of the original contract price. Trade or other discounts are also to be deducted in determining the true total contract price.

ART. 8. Cost of performing a contract or subcontract.—(a) General rule.—The cost of performing a particular contract or subcontract shall be the sum of (1) the direct costs, including therein expenditures for materials, direct labor and direct expenses, incurred by the contracting party in performing the contract or subcontract; and (2) the proper proportion of any indirect costs (including therein a reasonable proportion of management expenses) incident to and necessary for the performance of the contract or subcontract.

(b) Elements of cost.—No definitions of the elements of cost may be stated which are of invariable application to all contractors and subcontractors. In general, the elements of cost may be defined for purposes of the Act as follows:

(1) Manufacturing cost, which is the sum of factory cost (see paragraph (c) of this article) and other manufacturing cost (see paragraph (d) of this article);

(2) Cost of installation and construction (see paragraph (e) of this article); and

(3) General expenses, which are the sum of indirect engineering expenses, usually termed "engineering overhead" (see paragraph (f) of this article) and expenses of administration, usually termed "administrative overhead" (see paragraph (g) of this article).

(c) Factory cost.—Factory cost is the sum of the following:

(1) Direct materials.—Materials, such as those purchased for stock and subsequently issued for contract operations and those acquired under subcontracts, which become a component part of the finished product or which are used directly in fabricating, converting or processing such materials or parts.

(2) Direct productive labor.—Productive labor, usually termed "shop labor", which is performed on and is properly chargeable directly to the article manufactured or constructed pursuant to the contract or subcontract, but which ordinarily does not include direct engineering labor (see subparagraph (3) of this paragraph).

(3) Direct engineering labor.—The compensation of professional engineers and other technicists, and of draftsmen, properly chargeable directly to the cost of the contract or subcontract.

(4) Miscellaneous direct charges.—Items which are properly chargeable directly to the factory cost of performing the contract or subcontract but which do not come within the classifications in subparagraphs (1), (2) and (3) of this paragraph, as for example royalties which the contracting party pays to another party and which are properly chargeable to the cost of performing the contract or subcontract (but see paragraph (d) of this article).

(5) Indirect factory expenses.—Items, usually termed "factory overhead", which are not directly chargeable to the factory cost of performing the contract or subcontract but which are clearly incident to and necessary for the performance of the contract or subcontract and consist of the following:

(A) Labor.—Amounts expended for factory labor, such as supervision and inspection, clerical labor, time keeping, packing and shipping, stores supply, and services in the factory employment bureau, which are not chargeable directly to productive labor of the contract or subcontract.

(B) Material and supplies.—The cost of materials and supplies for general use in the factory, such as shop fuel, lubricants, plating, cleaning and anodizing supplies, stationery, such as time tickets and other forms, and boxing and wrapping materials.

(C) Service expenses.—Factory expenses of a general nature, such as those for power, heat and light (whether purchased or produced), ventilation and air-conditioning and operation and maintenance of general plant assets and facilities used in the performance of the contract or subcontract.

(D) Fixed charges.—Recurring charges with respect to property used for manufacturing purposes of the contract or subcontract, such as premiums for fire and elevator insurance, property taxes, rentals and allowances for depreciation of such property.

(E) Miscellaneous indirect factory expenses.—Miscellaneous factory expenses not directly chargeable to the factory cost of performing the contract or subcontract, such as employees' welfare expenses; premiums or dues on compensation insurance; employers' payments to unemployment, old age and social security Federal and State funds not including payments deducted from or chargeable to employees or officers; pensions and retirement payments to factory employees; factory accident compensation (as to self-insurance, see paragraph (g) of this article); but not including any amounts which are not incident to services, operations, plant, equipment or facilities used or employed in the performance of the contract or subcontract.

(d) Other manufacturing cost.—Other manufacturing cost as used in paragraph (b) of this article includes items of manufacturing cost which are not properly chargeable to factory cost (see paragraph (c) of this article), as for instance, "deferred" or "unliquidated" experimental and development charges if upon a complete showing of all pertinent facts they are properly to be included as a cost of manufacturing under the contract or subcontract; and payments of royalties and amortization of the cost of patent rights, the nature of which payments or amortization precludes a satisfactory charge to the classifications of factory cost (see paragraph (c) (4) of this article).

(e) Cost of installation and construction.—Cost of installation and construction which is an element of cost (see paragraph (b) of this article) includes the cost of materials, labor and expenses necessary for the erection and installation after the delivery of the product or material manufactured or constructed pursuant to the contract or subcontract.

(f) Indirect engineering expenses.—Indirect engineering expenses, usually termed "engineering overhead", which are treated in this article as a part of general expenses in determining the cost of performing a contract or subcontract (see paragraph (b) of this article), comprise the general engineering expenses which are incident to and necessary for the performance of the contract or subcontract, such as the following:

(1) Labor.—Compensation of employees for personal services to the engineering department, such as supervision, which is properly chargeable to the contract or subcontract, but which is not chargeable as direct engineering labor (see paragraph (c) (3) of this article).

(2) Material.—Supplies for the engineering department, such as paper and ink for drafting and similar supplies.

(3) Miscellaneous expenses.—Expenses of the engineering department, such as services purchased outside of the engineering department for blue printing, drawing, computing, and like purposes.

(g) Expenses of administration.—Expenses of administration, usually termed "administrative overhead", which are treated in this article as a part of general expenses in determining the cost of performing a contract or subcontract (see paragraph (b) of this article) do not include any selling or "distribution" expenses but comprehend the expenses incident to and necessary for the performance of the contract or subcontract, which are incurred in the general administration of the business, such as:

(1) Compensation for personal services of employees.—The salaries of the corporate and general executive officers and the salaries and wages of administrative clerical employees and of the office services employees (telephone operators, janitors, cleaners, watchmen and office equipment repairmen).

(2) Expenses.—Miscellaneous office and administrative expenses, such as stationery and office supplies, postage, repair and depreciation of office equipment employees' welfare expenses, premiums and dues on compensation insurance; employers' payments to unemployment, old age and social security Federal and State funds not including payments deducted from or chargeable to employees or officers; pensions and retirement payments to administrative office employees; accident compensation to office employees (except amounts for self-insurance); but including no items which are not incidental to activities necessary for the performance of the contract or subcontract.

If a party assumes its own insurable risks (usually termed "self-insurance") (a) with respect to losses arising from fire or other casualty, with respect to materials and supplies, (b) for compensation paid to employees for injuries received in the performance of their duties, or (c) for unemployment risks in States where insurance is required, such losses and payments will be allowed in the cost of performing a contract or subcontract only to the extent of the actual losses suffered or payments incurred during, and in the course of, the performance of the contract or subcontract.

Allowances for interest on invested capital are not allowable as costs of performing a contract or subcontract.

Among the items which shall not be included as a part of the cost of performing a contract or subcontract or considered in determining such cost, are the following: Selling expenses, including compensation of employees engaged in selling, operation and maintenance of sales offices, commissions, advertising and demonstrations, depreciation of sales equipment, gratis service, entertainment expenses; dues and memberships other than of regular trade associations; donations; commercial travelling expenses and the like; losses on other contracts; losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets; extraordinary expenses due to strikes or lockouts; fines and penalties; amortization of unrealized appreciation of values of assets; expenses and depreciation of idle plant; increases in reserve accounts for contingencies, repairs, compensation insurance and guarantee work; Federal and State income and excess profits taxes and surtaxes; cash discount earned up to one percent of the amount of the purchase, except that all discounts on subcontracts subject to the Act will be considered; interest incurred or earned; bond discount or finance charges; income from royalties; premiums for life insurance on the lives of officers; legal and accounting fees in connection with reorganizations, security issues, capital stock issues and the prosecution of claims against the United States (including income tax matters); taxes and expenses on issues and transfers of capital stock; losses on investments; bad debts; and expenses of collection and exchange.

In order that the cost of performing a contract or subcontract may be accounted for clearly, the amount of any excess profits repayable to the United States pursuant to the Act should not be charged to or included in such cost.

Excessive or unreasonable payments whether in cash, stock or other property ostensibly for salaries, bonuses or other compensation for personal services, may not be included in the cost of performing a contract or subcontract.

(h) Allocation of indirect costs.—No general rule applicable to all cases may be stated for ascertaining the proper proportion of the indirect costs to be allocated to the cost of performing a particular contract or subcontract. Such proper proportion depends upon all the facts and circumstances relating to the performance of the particular contract or subcontract. Subject to a requirement that all items which have no relation to the performance of the contract or subcontract shall be eliminated from the amount to be allocated, the following methods of allocation are outlined as acceptable in a majority of cases:

(1) Factory indirect expenses.—The allowable indirect factory expenses (see paragraph (c) (5) of this article) shall ordinarily be allocated or "distributed" to the cost of the contract or subcontract on the basis of the proportion which the direct productive labor (see paragraph (c) (2) of this article) attributable to the contract or subcontract bears to the total direct productive labor of the production department or particular section thereof during the period within which the contract or subcontract is performed.

(2) Engineering indirect expenses.—The allowable indirect engineering expenses (see paragraph (f) of this article) shall ordinarily be allocated or "distributed" to the cost of the contract or subcontract on the basis of the proportion which the direct engineering labor attributable to the contract or subcontract (see paragraph (c) (3) of this article) bears to the total direct engineering labor of the engineering department or particular section thereof during the period within which the contract or subcontract is performed. If the expenses of the engineering department are not sufficient in amount to require the maintenance of separate accounts, the engineering indirect costs may be included in the indirect factory expenses (see paragraph (c) (5) of this article) and allocated or distributed to the cost of performing the contract or subcontract as a part of such expenses, provided the proportion so allocated or distributed is proper under the facts and circumstances relating to the performance of the particular contract or subcontract.

(3) Administrative expenses (or "overhead").—The allowable expenses of administration (see paragraph (g) of this article) or other general expenses except indirect engineering expenses shall ordinarily be allocated or distributed to the cost of performing a contract or subcontract on the basis of the proportion which the sum of the manufacturing cost (see paragraph (b) of this article) and the cost of installation and construction (see paragraph (e) of this article) attributable to the particular contract or subcontract bears to the total manufacturing cost and cost of installation and construction during the period within which the contract or subcontract is performed.

ART. 9. Credit for net loss in computing excess profit.—The term "net loss" as used in the Act means the amount by which the total costs of performing all contracts and subcontracts completed by a particular contracting party within the income-taxable year exceeds the total contract prices of such contracts and subcontracts. As to the meaning of income-taxable year, see article 1 of these regulations.

A net loss for any income-taxable year beginning prior to January 1, 1936 is not allowable as a credit in computing excess profit for any succeeding income-taxable year.

A net loss sustained by a contracting party for any income-taxable year beginning after December 31, 1935 is allowable as a credit in computing the contracting party's excess profit for the next succeeding income-taxable year. Credit for such a net loss may be claimed in the contracting party's report of profit filed with the collector of internal revenue (see articles 15 and 16 of these regulations), but it should be supported by separate schedules for each contract or subcontract involved showing total contract prices, costs of performance and pertinent facts relative thereto, together with a summarized computation of the net loss. The net loss claimed is subject to verification and adjustment.

Net loss for one income-taxable year may not be considered in computing net loss for another income-taxable year.

The provisions of this article may be illustrated by the following example:

Example: The A Company, which keeps its books and makes its Federal income tax returns on a calendar year basis and which entered into contracts coming within the scope of the Act, sustained a net loss of $50,000 upon contracts completed within the calendar year 1936, but had a net profit of $40,000 upon contracts completed within the calendar year 1937 and a net profit of $30,000 upon contracts completed within the calendar year 1938. The net loss of $50,000 sustained in 1936 may be taken as a credit against the net profit of $40,000 for the year 1937, but the excess of $10,000 ($50,000 less $40,000) may not be taken as a credit for the year 1938.

ART. 10. Credit for Federal income taxes.—For the purpose of computing the amount of excess profit to be paid to the United States, a credit is allowable against the excess profit for the amount of Federal income taxes paid or remaining to be paid on the amount of such excess profit. The Federal income taxes in respect of which this credit is allowable are those imposed by Titles I and IA of the Revenue Act of 1934 and Titles I and IA of the Revenue Act of 1936. In case such a credit has been claimed and the amount of Federal income taxes imposed upon the excess profit is redetermined, the credit shall be accordingly adjusted.

ART. 11. Failure of contractor to require agreement by subcontractor.—Every contract or subcontract coming within the scope of the Act is required by the Act to contain, among other things, an agreement by the contracting party to make no subcontract unless the subcontractor agrees:

(a) To make a report, as described in the Act, under oath to the Secretary of the Navy upon the completion of the subcontract;

(b) To pay into the Treasury excess profit, as determined by the Treasury Department, in the manner and amounts specified in the Act;

(c) To make no subdivision of the subcontract for the same article or articles for the purpose of evading the provisions of the Act;

(d) That the manufacturing spaces and books of its own plant, affiliates, and subdivisions shall at all times be subject to inspection and audit as provided in the Act.

If a contracting party enters into a subcontract with a subcontractor who fails to make such agreement, such contracting party shall, in addition to its liability for excess profit determined on contracts or subcontracts performed by it, be liable for any excess profit determined to be due the United States on the subcontract entered into with such subcontractor. In such event, however, the excess profit to be paid to the United States in respect of the subcontract entered into with such subcontractor shall be determined separately from any contracts or subcontracts performed by the contracting party entering into the subcontract with such subcontractor.

ART. 12. Evasion of excess profit.—Section 3 of the Act provides that the contracting party shall agree to make no subdivisions of any contract or subcontract for the same article or articles for the purpose of evading the provisions of the Act. If any such subdivision or subcontract is made it shall constitute a violation of the agreement provided for in the Act, and the cost of completing a contract or subcontract by a contracting party which violates such agreement shall be determined in a manner necessary clearly to reflect the true excess profit of such contracting party.

ART. 13. Books of account and records.—It is recognized that no uniform method of accounting can be prescribed for all contracting parties subject to the provisions of the Act. Each contracting party is required by law to make a report of its true profit and excess profit. Such party must, therefore, maintain such accounting records as will enable it to do so. See article 8 of these regulations. Among the essentials are the following:

(1) The profit or loss upon a particular contract or subcontract shall be accounted for and fully explained in the books of account separately on each contract or subcontract.

(2) Any cost accounting methods, however standard they may be and regardless of long continued practice, shall be controlled by, and be in accord with, the objectives and purposes of the Act and of any regulations prescribed thereunder.

(3) The accounts shall clearly disclose the nature and amount of the different items of cost of performing a contract or subcontract.

In cases where it has been the custom priorly to use so-called "normal" rates of overhead expense or administrative expenses, or "standard" or "normal" prices of material or labor charges, no objection will be made to the use temporarily during the period of performing the contract or subcontract, if the method of accounting employed is such as clearly to reflect, in the final determination upon the books of account, the actual profit derived from the performance of the contract or subcontract and if the necessary adjusting entries are entered upon the books and they explain in full detail the revisions necessary to accord with the facts. As to the elements of cost, see article 8 of these regulations.

ART. 14. Report to Secretary of the Navy.—(a) General requirements.—Upon the completion of a contract or a subcontract coming within the scope of the Act, the contracting party is required to make a report, under oath, to the Secretary of the Navy. As to the date of completion of a contract or subcontract, see article 5 of these regulations. The Act requires that such report shall be in the form prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy and shall state the total contract price, the cost of performing the contract, the net income from such contract, and the per centum such income bears to the contract price. The contracting party shall also include as a part of such report a statement showing:

(1) the manner in which the indirect costs were determined and allocated to the cost of performing the contract or subcontract (see article 8 of these regulations);

(2) the name and address of every subcontractor with whom a subcontract was made, the object of such subcontract, the date when completed and the amount thereof; and

(3) the name and address of each affiliate or other organization, trade or business owned or controlled directly or indirectly by the same interests as those who so own or control the contracting party, together with a statement showing in detail all transactions which were made with such affiliate or other organization, trade or business and are pertinent to the determination of the excess profit.

(b) Copy of report to be transmitted to Secretary of the Treasury.—A copy of the report required to be made to the Secretary of the Navy is required to be transmitted by the contracting party to the Secretary of the Treasury. Such copy shall be filed by the contracting party with the collector of internal revenue for the collection district in which the contracting party's Federal income tax returns are required to be filed. In the case of a contract or subcontract completed prior to the contracting party's first income-taxable year beginning after December 31, 1935, a copy of the report to the Secretary of the Navy shall be filed with the collector of internal revenue at the time and as a part of the report required by article 15 of these regulations. In the case of a contract or subcontract completed within the contracting party's first income-taxable year beginning after December 31, 1935, or completed subsequent to such income-taxable year, copies of reports to the Secretary of the Navy with respect to contracts and subcontracts completed by the contracting party within the income-taxable year shall be filed as a part of the contracting party's annual report for such income-taxable year. As to the annual report to be filed, see article 16 of these regulations.

ART. 15. Report to be filed with collector upon completion of contract or subcontract.—In the case of a contract or subcontract completed prior to the contracting party's first income-taxable year beginning after December 31, 1935, a separate report on the prescribed form of the profit and excess profit on each such contract or subcontact shall be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the collection district in which the contracting party's Federal income tax returns are required to be filed. Any report thus required to be filed with the collector is due on or before the 15th day of the third month following the month within which the contract or subcontract is completed. If subsequent to the approval of these regulations and prior to the issuance of a prescribed form for such report the contracting party files with the collector of internal revenue a copy of the report to the Secretary of the Navy (see article 14 of these regulations) within the time prescribed by this article for filing a report, or if prior to the approval of these regulations the contracting party has filed with the collector of internal revenue a copy of the report to the Secretary of the Navy, in the form and manner prescribed by Treasury Decision 4434 (C. B. XIII–1, 540), such copy shall be treated as a report within the meaning of this article.

ART. 16. Annual reports for income-taxable years.—(a) General requirements.—Every contracting party completing a contract or subcontract within the contracting party's income-taxable year beginning after December 31, 1935 shall file with the collector of internal revenue for the collection district in which the contracting party's Federal income tax returns are required to be filed an annual report on the prescribed form of the profit and excess profit on all contracts and subcontracts coming within the scope of this Act. There shall be included as a part of such report a statement, preferably in columnar form, showing separately for each contract or subcontract completed by the contracting party within the income-taxable year the total contract price, the cost of performing the contract or subcontract and the resulting profit or loss on each contract or subcontract together with a summary statement showing in detail the computation of the net profit or net loss upon all contracts and subcontracts completed within the income-taxable year and the amount of the excess profit, if any, for the income-taxable year covered by the report. A copy of the report made to the Secretary of the Navy (see article 15 of these regulations) with respect to each contract or subcontract covered in the annual report, shall be filed as a part of such annual report. In case the income-taxable year of the contracting party is a period of less than twelve months (see article 1 of these regulations), the report required by this article shall be made for such period and not for a full year.

(b) Time for filing annual reports.—Annual reports of contracts and subcontracts completed by a contracting party within an income-taxable year beginning after December 31, 1935 must be filed on or before the 15th day of the third month following the close of the contracting party's income-taxable year. It is important that the contracting party render on or before the due date an annual report as nearly complete and final as it is possible for the contracting party to prepare. An extension of time granted the contracting party for filing its Federal income tax return does not serve to extend the time for filing the annual report required by this article. Authority consistent with authorizations for granting extensions of time for filing Federal income tax returns is hereby delegated to the various collectors of internal revenue for granting extensions of time for filing the reports required by this article. Application for extensions of time for filing such reports should be addressed to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the contracting party files its Federal income tax returns and must contain a full recital of the causes for the delay.

ART. 17. Payment of excess profit liability.—The amount of the excess profit liability to be paid to the United States shall be paid on or before the due date for filing the report with the collector of internal revenue. See articles 15 and 16 of these regulations. At the option of the contracting party, the amount of the excess profit liability may be paid in four equal installments instead of in a single payment, in which case the first installment is to be paid on or before the date prescribed for the payment of the excess profit as a single payment, the second installment on or before the 15th day of the third month, the third installment on or before the 15th day of the sixth month, and the fourth installment on or before the 15th day of the ninth month, after such date.

ART. 18. Liability of surety.—The surety under contracts entered into after the amendment of section 3 (b) of the Act on June 25, 1936 shall not be liable for payment of excess profit due the United States in respect of such contracts.

ART. 19. Determination of liability for excess profit, interest and penalties; assessment, collection, payment, refunds.—The duty of determining the correct amount of excess profit liability on contracts and subcontracts coming within the scope of the Act is upon the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Under section 3 (b) of the Act, as amended, all provisions of law (including the provisions of law relating to interest, penalties and refunds) applicable with respect to the taxes imposed by Title I of the Revenue Act of 1934 and not inconsistent with section 3 of the Act are applicable with respect to the assessment, collection, or payment of excess profits on contracts and subcontracts coming within the scope of the Act and to refunds of overpayments of profits into the Treasury under the Act. Claims by a contracting party for the refund of an amount of excess profit, interest, penalties, and additions to such excess profit shall conform to the general requirements prescribed with respect to claims for refund of overpayments of taxes imposed by Title I of the Revenue Act of 1934 and, if filed on account of any additional costs incurred pursuant to guarantee provisions in a contract, shall be supplemented by a statement under oath showing the amount and nature of such costs and all facts pertinent thereto.

Administrative procedure for the determination, assessment and collection of excess profit liability under section 3 of the Act and these regulations and the examination of reports and claims in connection therewith will be prescribed from time to time by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

ART. 20. Treasury Decision 4434 superseded.—Treasury Decision 4434 (C. B. XIII–1, 540) approved May 19, 1934, is hereby superseded.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

NER—B-101—Vermont Issued January 12, 1937.

BULLETIN NO. 101—VERMONT

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, payments will be made, in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of said Act for 1937 in accordance with the following provisions of this bulletin No. 101 for Vermont and such modifications or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has been developed in accordance with the provisions of sections 8, 15, and 16 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, but the payment of any benefits pursuant to the provisions of this bulletin is contingent upon such appropriation, if any, as the Congress of the United States may hereafter make for such purpose, and the amounts of such payments will be finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of participation in the program. The rates of payment and the allowances herein set forth are computed upon the basis of an appropriation of $500,000,000 and 85 percent participation by farmers in all regions. Such rates of payment and allowances may be increased or decreased, depending upon the extent of participation, but such variations will not be in excess of 10 percent.

Part I. Payment for Soil-Building Practices

Under the 1937 Conservation Program, Vermont farmers who carry out soil-building practices that they select from the list below will be repaid a part of the cost. The amount of payment for performing each practice is stated with the description of practices in this section.

Payment will be dependent upon the practice being performed in accordance with the generally accepted standards of good farming practice with the use of the kinds and quantities of seeds and other materials which are normally employed to obtain good results. Each farmer contemplating applying for payment for carrying out any of the soil-building practices listed below should ascertain in advance, from instructions issued through his county committee whether the intended practice can be certified as practical under the local conditions applicable to his farm. Such instructions will be applicable to particular areas or farms and will set forth which of such practices are economically justified in such areas or on such farms and the proper kinds and quantities of seeds or other materials or substitutes to be used in order properly to carry out the practice.

Payment under the 1937 Program will be restricted to practices carried out before December 1, 1937.

If a practice calls for the use of specific materials (such as limestone) a farmer may qualify for payment by substituting equivalent amounts of any other approved material which serves the same purpose.

No payment will be made for a practice carried out on any acreage if labor, seed, or other materials used in carrying out the practice are furnished free or paid for by a State or Federal Agency.

A farmer may earn soil-building payments up to the limit of his soil-building allowance. If the total of the payments qualified for is larger than his allowance, he will receive an amount equal to his allowance, which shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of part II of this bulletin.

3. Commercial vegetable land.—$1.00 for each acre of crop land on which only one crop of commercial vegetables was grown in 1936; $2.00 for each acre of crop land on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown on the same acreage in 1936.

4. Non-crop pasture land.—$0.40 for each acre of fenced non-crop open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of crop land on the farm.

Part III. Provisions Affecting Payments

SECTION 1. Association Expenses.—Under such rules as the Secretary may prescribe there shall be deducted from the payment to any person with respect to a farm or farms in a county all or such part as the Secretary may prescribe of such person's pro rata share of the estimated administrative expenses incurred and to be incurred by the County Agricultural Conservation Association of the county in which such farm or farms are located.

There shall be credited to each County Agricultural Conservation Association for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 per application for that number of applications submitted by members of such association under which it is estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 2. Increase in Acreage of General Soil-Depleting Crops.—The Secretary reserves the right in the case of any farm which in 1937 has an acreage of general soil-depleting crops in excess of 20 acres to make a deduction from any payment that would otherwise be made for such farm in the amount of $11.50 for each acre by which such 1937 acreage of general soil-depleting crops exceeds the general soil-depleting base which can be established for such farm. If in 1937 the Secretary exercises the right to make deductions reserved herein with respect to such farms, the procedure to be followed for the establishment of bases shall be in accordance with such instructions as may be issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 3. Applicability to Farms under Special Programs.—The Secretary may designate one or more counties or other areas for which special programs for 1937 will be developed under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. In the event that any such county or other area is designated, the allowances, rates, and conditions of payment for such county or other area will be set forth in a special bulletin and the provisions of the State bulletin shall not be applicable in such county or other designated area.

On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration, payment will be made only for carrying out such soil-building practices as are, prior to performance, approved for the farm by the county committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 4. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person may be withheld if any rotation, cropping or other practices are adopted by such person which the Secretary determines tend to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Part IV. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 1. In order for a farmer to be eligible for participation in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program he must execute such forms and submit such information as may be prescribed. Such forms and information shall be filed with the county committee within time limits established by the state committee with the approval of the Director of the Northeast Division.

SECTION 2. Land to be Included under an Application.—An application for payment shall cover neither more nor less than a single farm as defined in part V of this bulletin.

SECTION 3. Application and Eligibility for Payment.—(a) Payment will be made only upon application on the prescribed form, filed with the county committee within the time fixed by the Secretary, supported by such information regarding farming operation as may be required.

(b) An application for payment may be made by any producer who is entitled to receive all or a share of the crops produced on the farm in 1937 or of the proceeds thereof or who incurs all or any part of the expense of soil-building practices carried out on the farm.

(c) For the purpose of determining the eligibility of a producer for a payment where the farm operated by him includes land located in two or more adjoining counties, such farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the principal dwelling on such farm is located, or, if there is no dwelling on such farm, such farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the major portion of such farm is located.

SECTION 4. Division of Payments.—(a) The soil-building payment with respect to the farm covered by an application for payment shall be divided among the producers concerned, in the proportion that the county committee determines that the expense incurred by each in carrying out the soil-building practices bears to the total expense incurred by all such producers in carrying out such practices.

(b) Any payment for a farm shall be computed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deductions of claims for advances, and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of any creditor.

SECTION 5. Membership in Association.—Any person having an interest in the crops or the proceeds thereof produced on any farm in the county in 1937 shall become a member of the County Agricultural Conservation Association of the county whenever any form or information required in connection with the Agricultural Conservation Program for 1937 is submitted for such farm, or whenever in 1937 he attends a meeting called for the purpose of electing committeemen. Any person shall cease to be a member of the association if in 1937 an application for payment is not filed by him within the time specified by the Secretary for the filing of applications.

SECTION 6. Limits.—The sum of the commercial fruit acreages, the commercial vegetable acreages, the commercial double-cropped vegetable acreages, the acreages of non-crop open pasture land, and the acreages of total crop land, respectively, established for farms in any county or other specified area, shall not exceed the acreage of such crops and uses which the Agricultural Adjustment Administration may establish for such county or other specified area.

SECTION 7. Tobacco.—The statements in this bulletin apply to all farms in Vermont except those farms for which tobacco bases are established in 1937. Bulletin No. 101A for Vermont, to be issued separately, describes the program as it applies to those farms. For such farms the soil-building allowance and certain rates of payment will differ from those prescribed herein.

Injury.—Hurt or impairment from any cause except damage. Injured tobacco shall include dead, burnt, hail-cut, or ragged tobacco; or tobacco that has been torn or broken, frozen or frosted, sunburned or scalded, scorched or fire-killed, bulk burnt or steam-burnt, pole-burnt or house-burnt, bleached or bruised; or tobacco containing discolored or deformed leaves; or tobacco hurt by insects; or tobacco having an odor foreign to the type; or tobacco affected by wild-fire, rust, frog-eye, mosaic, frenching, sand-drown, or other similar diseases.

Nested.—Any lot of tobacco which has been so loaded, packed, or arranged as to conceal foreign matter or tobacco of inferior grade, quality, or condition, including lots of tobacco which contain damaged, injured, tangled, or other inferior tobacco which cannot be readily detected upon inspection on account of the way the lot was packed or arranged.

Nondescript.—Any nested or decayed tobacco; or muddy or extremely dirty tobacco; or tobacco containing an unusual amount of foreign matter; or tobacco containing over 40% of crude leaves; or tobacco infested with live tobacco beetles or other injurious insects; or wet tobacco; or uncured tobacco including fat-stems and wet-butts; or very inferior lots of tobacco of a quality that is not ordinarily marketed; or tobacco having characteristics distinctly foreign to the type.

Quality.—A division or group, forming the second factor of a grade, based upon the relative degree of one or more of the elements of quality in tobacco.

Resweated.—The condition of tobacco which has passed through a second fermentation under abnormally high temperatures, or refermented with a relatively high percentage of moisture, including tobacco which has been dipped or reconditioned after its first fermentation and put through a forced or artificial sweat.

Scrap.—A by-product from handling tobacco in both the unstemmed and stemmed forms, consisting chiefly of portions of tobacco leaves, except stems, which accumulate in warehouses, packing and conditioning plants, and stemmeries.

Side.—Any distinct characteristic of tobacco; or a certain phase of quality, color, or length as compared with some other phase of quality, color, or length.

Stouts.—A term used to designate tobacco of the heavy leaf or B group.

Strips.—The sides of tobacco leaves from which the stems have been removed.

Strip-scrap.—Stemmed scrap or stemless scrap, which is a by-product from stemming tobacco or handling strips consisting chiefly of portions of strips.

Subgrade.—Any grade modified by a special factor symbol.

Subgroup.—A group formed by the substitution of a different group symbol to denote a modification of the specifications or to indicate a certain side or characteristic of the tobacco.

Sweated.—The condition of tobacco which has passed through one or more fermentations natural to tobacco packed with a normal percentage of moisture.

Sweating.—The condition of tobacco in the process of fermentation.

Thins.—A term used to designate tobacco of the thin leaf or C group.

Type.—A division of a class of tobacco having certain common characteristics and closely related grades. Type 36.—That type of aircured tobacco commonly known as Green River, Green River Aircured, Henderson, and Owensboro Dark Aircured; and produced principally in the Green River section of Kentucky.

Undried.—The condition of unfermented tobacco which has not been airdried, or steamdried.

Uniformity.—One of the elements of quality in tobacco having reference to the consistency of a lot with respect to other elements of quality or color. The following are the specifications for the several degrees of uniformity showing for each degree the percentage of a lot that may be of a distinctly different group, quality, or color from the run of the lot: (a) Uniform, less than 5%; (b) Harmonizing, less than 10%; (c) Unmingled, less than 20%; (d) Unmixed or Mingled, less than 30%; and (e) Mixed, over 30%.

Variegated.—Having a diversity of contrasting colors or tints within a leaf; including leaves which are grey, mottled, bleached, or stained; or leaves which do not blend with the normal colors of the type.

RULES

The application of these official standard grades shall be in accordance with the following rules:

Rule 1.—Each grade shall be treated as a subdivision of a particular type and when the grade is stated in an inspection certificate, the type shall also be stated.

Rule 2.—The determination of grade shall be based upon a thorough examination of a lot of tobacco or an official sample of the lot.

Rule 3.—In determining the grade of a lot of tobacco, the lot as a whole shall be considered, and minor irregularities which do not affect over one per cent of the tobacco shall be overlooked.

Rule 4.—Unsound tobacco shall be treated as a subgrade by placing the special factor letter "U" after or above the grade mark. For example: If a lot of tobacco is under 20% damaged and otherwise meets the specifications of B4F, it shall be graded B4F–U.

Rule 5.—When a lot of unmixed tobacco is on the marginal line between two colors so that there is a question as to which is the predominant color, it shall be placed in the color with which the tobacco best corresponds with respect to body and maturity.

Rule 6.—Any lot of tobacco shall be regarded as meeting the specifications of a certain grade when the tobacco is not lower in any degree of quality than stated in the specifications of such grade. The degree of uniformity specified for a particular grade governs the percentage of a lot which must meet the specifications with respect to other degrees of quality

Rule 7.—Any lot of tobacco which clearly and fully meets the specifications of two or more grades shall be placed in the highest one of such grades; but any lot of tobacco which is on the marginal line between two or more grades so that the grade cannot be determined by applying other rules, shall be placed in the lowest grade in question.

Rule 8.—The grade assigned to any lot of tobacco shall be a true representation of the tobacco at the time of inspection and certification thereof.

Rule 9.—If, at any time, it is found that a lot of tobacco does not comply with the description and specifications of the grade previously assigned, it shall not thereafter be represented as being of such grade.

Rule 10.—Any special factor symbol, approved for the purpose by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, may be used after or above the grade mark to show a peculiar side or characteristic of the tobacco.

Rule 11.—Length shall be stated in connection with each grade of the B and C groups, and may be stated in connection with the grades of the X group. For this purpose tobacco sizes as approved by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics shall be used.

Rule 12.—Tips, including leaf and fillers under 16 inches long but otherwise of the qualities of B3, B4, and B5, in F, R, D, and G colors shall be made a subgroup by substituting the letter "T" for the group letter "B" in the grade symbols.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the official seal of the Department of Agriculture to be affixed in the City of Washington, this 13th day of January 1937.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

PREPAYMENT OF CUSTOMS DUTY ON MERCHANDISE FOR THE UNION OF SOVIET SOCIALIST REPUBLICS

JANUARY 9, 1937.

It has come to the attention of the Department that there is available to persons wishing to aid relatives and friends in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics a service which will assure delivery of American goods in the country named free of duty and transportation charges to the recipients.

Under the arrangement referred to the Amtorg Trading Corporation, 261 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y., has authority from the Soviet Government to issue licenses prepaying import duties on merchandise to be sent to the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. It is understood that, for the convenience of senders in this country, the duty prepaid licenses may be obtained through the following named firms and banks, who will attend to the matter of collecting the fee for the prepaid invoice license and the customs charges, as well as a fee for their own services:

Amalgamated Bank of New York, 11 Union Square, New York, N. Y.

Union Tours, Inc., 261 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

The Pennsylvania Co., Girard at Seventh St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Maurice Rifkin, Inc., 716 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Amalgamated Trust & Savings Bank, 111 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

Bank of America, Seventh & Olive Sts., Los Angeles, Calif.

The application for a prepaid invoice license from the Amtorg Trading Corporation must be accompanied by a detailed list of the merchandise to be sent, and by the original, receipted bill of sale for the merchandise involved.

Upon receipt of the prepaid invoice license by the prospective sender it must be enclosed in the parcel before the latter is presented for mailing, and the wrapper of the parcel marked, in English and Russian, to indicate that such prepaid invoice license is enclosed. That document, subject to the rules and regulations of the Soviet Customs, will clear the merchandise for delivery to the addressee.

Postmasters are instructed to bring the above mentioned arrangement to the attention of persons desiring to send merchandise subject to customs duty to relatives and friends in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, as it presents a means of aiding persons who might otherwise not be in a position to receive goods which are forwarded with the expectation that the customs duties will be paid at the time of delivery.

Postmasters will continue to accept parcels which are presented for mailing to the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics with the expectation that the addressees will pay the import duties.

Attention is called to the fact that parcels containing used clothing (which it is understood is subject to the same rate of customs duty as new clothing, which is very high) must be accompanied by medical certificates attesting that the articles involved have been subjected to disinfection, and the wrappers of the parcels concerned must be marked, in English and Russian, to indicate that the certificate of disinfection is enclosed. Parcels not accompanied by disinfection certificates are returned to origin.

Postmasters will cause due notice of the foregoing to be taken at their offices.

BULLETIN 101—PART VIII

Range Conservation Program for 1937

Southern Region Bulletin 101 is hereby supplemented by adding thereto the following Part VIII:

The provisions of this Part VIII of Southern Region Bulletin 101 shall apply only with respect to range lands in the western range area of Texas and Oklahoma as designated by the State Agricultural Conservation Committees, respectively, and approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Ranch means all range land, other than that owned or controlled by the United States Government or any agency thereof, in which an operator has such a legal estate or interest as to give him control thereof for the duration of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program, which is used by the operator in 1937 as a single unit in producing range livestock.

Range Livestock means beef cattle, sheep, goats, or horses grazed on range land.

Animal Unit means the unit of measurement of the number of livestock in terms of 1 cow, 1 horse, 5 sheep, 5 goats, or the equivalent thereof.

Range-Building Allowance for any ranch means the largest amount of money that may be earned for carrying out range-building practices on such ranch.

Grazing Capacity of a ranch means that number of animal units which the range land thereon will sustain (on a 12-months basis) over a period of years without decreasing the stand of grazing vegetation and without injury to the forage, tree growth, or watershed.

Deferred grazing means withholding from grazing a portion of the ranch during the period from the time range vegetation starts growth in the spring until seed has matured in the fall for the purpose of permitting the reseeding of the range land.

Ranch operator means a person who as owner or lessee (either cash or share) operates a ranch in 1937.

County range inspector (hereinafter referred to as range inspector) means a person selected by the county committee and approved by the State committee for the purpose of reporting on range conditions and the checking of performance.

Other definitions.—See Part I of SR-B-101, (F. R. Doc. 37-26, published January 5, 1937, p. 8).

SECTION 82. Grazing Capacity.—For each ranch for which an "Application for Determination of Grazing Capacity", Form SR. 151, has been received, the range inspector will submit a report to the county committee on Form SR. 152, "Report of Examination of Range Land", upon which said committee shall recommend to the State committee, for approval by the Secretary, the grazing capacity of the ranch. ## FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION.

[Order No. 43]

AMENDING UNIFORM SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTS PRESCRIBED FOR PUBLIC UTILITIES AND LICENSEES, AND ADOPTING AND ADDING THERETO APPENDIX III APPLICABLE TO CLASS C AND CLASS D PUBLIC UTILITIES AND LICENSEES

The following finding and order was adopted:

It appearing to the Commission:

(1) That the Commission, acting pursuant to authority granted by the Federal Power Act, adopted, on June 16, 1936, Order No. 42, prescribing and promulgating a Uniform System of Accounts for Public Utilities and Licensees Subject to the Provisions of said Act, effective January 1, 1937;

(2) That the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners at its annual convention in Atlantic City, New Jersey, on November 10 to 13, 1936, recommended for adoption by State regulatory commissions represented in its membership a uniform system of accounts substantially, but not entirely, the same in form and substance as that prescribed by the Federal Power Commission by its said Order No. 42;

(3) That certain public utilities, subject to the accounting requirements of the Federal Power Commission under the provisions of said Act, are also subject to the accounting requirements of State regulatory commissions, members of said Association;

(4) That the Uniform System of Accounts heretofore prescribed on June 16, 1936 by Order No. 42 did not define Class C and Class D Public Utilities and Licensees, or the application in detail of said Uniform System of Accounts to such public utilities and licensees;

Now, therefore, the Commission finds:

(a) That it is desirable and appropriate to carry out the provisions of the Act and to make more uniform the accounting requirements applicable to electric utilities, to revise and amend, in certain minor details, the Uniform System of Accounts Prescribed for Public Utilities and Licensees by Order No. 42;

(b) That it is necessary and appropriate for carrying out the provisions of the Act to adopt and add to said Uniform System of Accounts Appendix III entitled "Application of Uniform System of Accounts to Class C and Class D Public Utilities and Licensees."

Wherefore, it is hereby ordered:

(a) That the accompanying amendments to the Uniform System of Accounts [1] heretofore prescribed on June 16, 1936, by Order No. 42, be and the same are hereby adopted effective January 1, 1937;

(b) That the accompanying Appendix III [1] entitled "Application of Uniform System of Accounts to Class C and Class D Public Utilities and Licensees" be and the same is hereby prescribed and promulgated, effective January 1, 1938, as a part of said Uniform System of Accounts, provided that any Class C or Class D Public Utility or Licensee may at its option adopt and make effective prior to January 1, 1938 said Uniform System of Accounts;

(c) That Order No. 14 entered by the Commission on June 15, 1923, prescribing a condensed classification of accounts for the use of licensees who do not furnish a public service, be amended by changing the words (Class D Licensees) to: (Class I Licensees)

(d) That a copy of this order with accompanying amendments to the Uniform System of Accounts and Appendix III be forthwith served upon each public utility subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and each licensee or permittee holding a license or permit from the Commission.

Adopted by the Commission on December 31, 1936.

[SEAL] RUTH D. HOOK, Acting Secretary.

SR—B-5 Supplement (b), Revised

BULLETIN NO. 5

Supplement (b), Revised

Supplement (b) to Southern Region Bulletin No. 5 is hereby amended to read as follows:

Part II of Southern Region Bulletin No. 5 is hereby amended by adding, after Supplement (a) thereto, the following:

In the counties designated in Supplement (i), Second Revision to Southern Region Bulletin No. 1, Revised, the following instructions are substituted for those instruction outlined elsewhere in SR—B-5 which otherwise would apply:

Where only one person furnished the workstock and equipment used on the land covered by Form 9, the word "all" shall be entered in the left-hand side of column (F) opposite the name of the person furnishing the workstock and equipment.

Where two or more persons furnished the workstock and equipment (with respect to cotton or peanuts or both) on land covered by Form 9, the entries to be made in the left-hand side of column (F) opposite the name of such persons furnishing workstock and equipment are as follows:

A. If the entries in columns (B) and (D), line 5 and subsequent lines, are made pursuant to paragraph A, page 7, SR—B-5, enter that acreage which represents the sum of the 1936 planted acreages of crops in those soil-depleting bases (cotton and peanuts) with respect to which a class I payment is made and for which each such person furnished workstock and equipment. In such cases the sum of the acreages entered in the left-hand side of column (F) should equal the sum of the amounts in line 2, columns (B) and (D), for soil-depleting bases (cotton and peanuts) with respect to which a class I payment is made.

B. If the entries in columns (B) and (D), line 5 and subsequent lines, are made pursuant to paragraph B, page 7, SR—B-5, enter that acreage which represents the sum of the contributions to the difference between the soil-depleting bases (cotton and peanuts) with respect to which a class I payment is made and the 1936 acreages of the crops in such bases for which such person furnished workstock and equipment. In such cases the total of the acreages entered in the left-hand side of column (F) should equal the sum of the differences between lines 1 and 2, columns (B) and (D), for soil-depleting bases (cotton and peanuts) with respect to which a class I payment is made.

C. If the entries in columns (B) and (D), line 5 and subsequent lines, are made pursuant to paragraph C, page 8, SR—B-5, enter that acreage which represents the sum of the row crops on all producer units for which such person furnished workstock and equipment. In such cases the total of the acreages entered in the left-hand side of column (F) should equal the total acreage of row crops on the farm.

D. If the entries in columns (B) and (D), line 5 and subsequent lines, are made pursuant to paragraph D, page 8, SR—B-5, enter that acreage which represents the sum of the soil-depleting bases (cotton and peanuts) with respect to which a class I payment is made and for which such person furnished workstock and equipment. In such cases the total of the acreages entered in the left-hand side of column (F) should equal the sum of the amounts in line 1, columns (B) and (D), for the soil-depleting bases (cotton and peanuts) with respect to which a class I payment is made.

Where only one person furnished the land covered by Form 9, the word "all" should be written in the space provided in the right-hand side of column (F) opposite the name of the person furnishing such land.

Where two or more persons furnished the land covered by Form 9, the same method which is (or would be) used on that farm for dividing workstock and equipment payment must be used as the basis for dividing the land payment. For example, if the workstock and equipment payment is (or would be) divided on the basis of the planted acres, the sum of the entries to be made in the right-hand side of column (F) opposite the name of persons furnishing land should equal the sum of the 1936 planted acreages of crops in those soil-depleting bases (cotton and peanuts) with respect to which a class I payment is made.

In counties designated in Supplement (i), Second Revision, to Southern Region Bulletin No. 1, Revised, no part of the acreage of the crops in the general soil-depleting base should be entered in either side of column (F), Form 9.

Except as otherwise provided herein, Forms 9 covering farms in counties designated in said Supplement (i), Second Revision, should be executed in accordance with the procedure outlined elsewhere in part II of Southern Region Bulletin No. 5.

In testimony whereof, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, has hereunto set his hand and caused the official seal of the Department of Agriculture to be affixed in the city of Washington, District of Columbia, this 15th day of January, 1937.

CHANGES IN IMMIGRATION RULES OF JANUARY 1, 1930, AS AMENDED

JANUARY 15, 1937.

By virtue of and pursuant to the authority conferred by Section 23 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (Act of February 5, 1917, 39 Stat. 892; U. S. C., Ti. 8, Sec. 102), Section 24 of the Immigration Act of 1924 (Act of May 26, 1924, 43 Stat. 166; U. S. C., Ti. 8, Sec. 222), and Executive Order No. 6166, dated June 10, 1933, the following changes are hereby made in the Immigration Rules of January 1, 1930, as amended:

Paragraph 2, Subdivision J, Rule 1 is amended to read as follows:

PAR. 2. Head tax collected on account of aliens admitted in transit through the United States will be refunded to the person or transportation company so entitled upon the submission of satisfactory proof within 120 days after the date of alien's entry that he departed from the United States within 60 days after such date of entry. If an alien is permitted to remain in the United States as a transit for a period in excess of 60 days, satisfactory proof of departure from the United States within the time granted may be submitted within 60 days of the expiration of transit admission as extended. The submission of Form 514 properly executed and showing the alien departed from the United States within the time prescribed, shall be deemed satisfactory proof. The transit alien to whom Form 514 has been issued can obtain in many instances, upon completion of the form, a refund in cash from the purser of the trans-Atlantic or trans-Pacific steamship on which he departs from the United States; or if the alien is in transit from and to Canada, refund can be obtained from any of the railway ticket agents at stations in Canada enumerated on the Form 514, upon departure from the United States being properly certified as provided on said form.

Clause (i), Paragraph 1, Subdivision K, Rule 1 is amended to read as follows:

(i) Aliens in transit through the United States under the arrangement specified in Rule 6.

Paragraph 1, Subdivision K, Rule 1 is amended by adding the following clause:

(n) Aliens admitted to the United States as bona fide students under Subdivision (c) of Section 4, of the Act of 1924, who, without relinquishing such status, visit Canada, Newfoundland, Cuba, or Mexico for a temporary period in no instance exceeding six months.

Subdivision A, Rule 6 is amended by renumbering existing Paragraphs 5 and 6, Paragraphs 6 and 7, respectively, and by inserting a new Paragraph 5, to read as follows:

PAR. 5. Where an alien admitted as a transit finds that he will be unable to depart from the United States within the time prescribed because of changes of scheduled departures by the transportation agency, an application for extension of transit admission may be made by the alien under oath on Form 639, and presented to the officer in charge at the port of arrival. The officer in charge of the port of arrival may grant extensions of transit admissions if satisfied that inability to depart within the time of admission is due to changes of scheduled departures of the transportation agency and that the application is made in good faith. In no instance shall the stay of a transit be extended for a period in excess of 180 days from the date of original entry. Extensions granted under this subdivision shall be noted on Form 514, Head Tax Refund Certificate, where such certificate has been issued.

Paragraph 1, Subdivision C, Rule 25 is amended to read as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. Applications to extend the time of temporary admission granted pursuant to the provisions of Subdivision (2) of Section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1924, shall be made by the nonimmigrant alien under oath on Form 639, and shall state the name, age, and occupation of the alien, whether married or single; and, if married, the name and present address of the husband or wife and children, if any; country of alien's birth; country of aliens present allegiance; place of residence abroad; number, date, and place of issue of passport visa, date passport expires; time, place and manner of arrival in the United States; nonimmigrant class to which alien belongs as shown by passport visa; whether in possession of return passage or ticket; time originally fixed for departure from the United States; date and length of extensions previously granted, if any; residence in the United States; if visiting relatives or friends, names and addresses of such relatives or friends; if admitted for the transaction of business, the nature and character of such business; if employed, or engaged in business in the United States, when, where and by whom employed, or the nature and character of the business engaged in and the monthly salary or income derived from such employment or business; and reasons in detail why the time fixed for aliens departure shall be extended: Provided that a separate Form 639 (Application to extend time of temporary stay), shall be filed by each member of the family, with the exception that the father or mother may apply on the same form for children under sixteen years of age, if such children were accompanied by the father or mother at time of entry.

FOREWORD

Since the enactment of the Federal Water Power Act in 1920, it has been the practice of the Commission to promulgate rules and regulations through the medium of orders, numbered consecutively and adopted from time to time. Some of the orders amended or rescinded previous orders while others promulgated new rules and regulations.

In 1929 there was published a compilation of rules and regulations so promulgated, entitled: "Rules of Practice in Formal Proceedings under the Federal Water Power Act and Procedure in Formal and Informal Proceedings, First Issue, Effective May 1, 1929."

From time to time a compilation of other rules and regulations so promulgated has been published, entitled: "Rules and Regulations Governing the Administration of the Federal Water Power Act", the last publication in 1931 being the "Fourth Revised Issue (Contains all amendments to and including June 23, 1930)."

The following "Rules of Practice and Regulations, With Approved Forms, Revised to January 1, 1937", promulgated by Order No. 44, adopted December 31, 1936, supersedes all rules and regulations previously so promulgated by numbered orders, except those accounting and other regulations promulgated by the following orders, which, as of January 1, 1937, remain in effect according to their terms:

RULE 309–2. PARTIES.

SEC. 1. Classes.—The parties to proceedings before the Commission are applicants, complainants, petitioners, defendants, interveners, protestants and respondents, according to the nature of the proceedings and their relationship thereto.

All persons appearing in such proceedings must conform to the standards of ethical conduct required of practitioners before the courts of the United States and, where applicable, to the requirements of Sec. 12 (i) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935. Failure to conform to these standards will be ground for declining to permit appearance in any proceeding before the Commission.

SEC. 3. Applicants defined.—In proceedings involving applications by persons subject to the Act for permission or authorization which the Commission may give under the authority of the Act, the parties on whose behalf the applications are made are styled applicants.

SEC. 4. Complainants.—Parties who complain to the Commission of anything done or omitted to be done in violation of the provisions of the Act by any person subject to the Act, are styled complainants. (See Rule 309–4.)

SEC. 5. Petitioners.—Parties seeking relief, not otherwise designated herein, are styled petitioners. (See Rule 309–3.)

SEC. 6. Defendants.—Persons subject to the Act, against whom any complaint is filed, are styled defendants. (See Rule 309–4.)

SEC. 7. Interveners.—Parties permitted to intervene as hereinafter provided, are styled interveners. (See Rule 309–3.)

RULE 309–3. PETITIONS.

SEC. 1. Contents.—Petitions for relief under the Act should state clearly and concisely the interest of the petitioner in the subject matter of the petition and the relief sought and cite by appropriate reference the section, paragraph, etc., of the Act relied upon for relief and must conform to the requirements of Rule 309–8.

SEC. 2. Intervening petitions.—Anyone entitled under the Act to complain to the Commission in any pending proceeding may petition to intervene therein prior to or at the time it is called for hearing but not after, except for good cause shown. Petitions for intervention must set forth the grounds of the proposed intervention; the position and interest of the petitioner in the proceeding; and if affirmative relief is sought, must conform to the requirements of a formal complaint and must be subscribed and verified in the same manner as a formal complaint. If leave is granted, the petitioner thereby becomes an intervener and a party to the proceeding.

RULE 309–4. COMPLAINTS.

SEC. 1. Informal and formal.—Complaints may be informal or formal.

SEC. 2. Informal complaints.—Informal complaints may be made by letter or other writing, and will be filed as received. Matters informally presented will, if their nature so warrants, be taken up by correspondence or conference with the party or parties complained of in an endeavor to bring about satisfaction of the complaint without formal hearing.

SEC. 3. Substance of informal complaints.—No form of informal complaint is prescribed, but in substance the letter or other writing should contain the name and address of complainant, the name of the party against whom the complaint is made, and a brief statement of the facts forming the basis of such complaint. While the filing of an informal complaint is without prejudice to complainant's formal proceedings or to become a party to any proceedings already initiated, and only formal complaints will be admitted in the record of formal proceedings. It is desirable right to file formal complaint, only formal complaints submitted and prosecuted in the manner hereinafter prescribed will entitle any person, natural or artificial, to initiate that the informal complaint be accompanied by sufficient copies to enable the Commission to transmit one to each party named, and retain one for its own use, and it may be accompanied by supporting papers.

SEC. 4. Formal complaints; form and style.—Formal complaints must conform to the requirements of Rules 309–8 and 309–9. The names of all parties complainant and defendant must be stated in full without abbreviations, and the address of each complainant with the name and address of his attorney, if any, must appear.

SEC. 5. Joinder of complaints or complainants.—Two or more grounds of complaint involving the same purposes, subject, or state of facts, may be included in one complaint, but should be separately stated and numbered; and two or more complainants may join in one complaint if their respective causes of complaint are against the same defendant or defendants, and involve substantially the same purposes and subject, and a like state of facts.

SEC. 6. Substance of formal complaints.—Formal complaints should be so drawn as fully and completely to advise the parties defendant and the Commission, wherein the provisions of the Act have been or are violated by the acts or omissions complained of, or will be violated by a continuance of such acts or omissions, and should set forth briefly and in plain language the facts claimed to constitute such violations, and the relief sought.

SEC. 7. Subscription and verification.—Every formal complaint must be personally subscribed (1) by the complainant, or by one of the complainants if there be more than one, (2) by an officer of the complainant if it be a corporation, or (3) for the complainant by his attorney. In addition, the facts alleged must be verified under oath by a complainant, an officer of complainant, or by the attorney for the complainant. If the subscription and verification, or either thereof, be by anyone other than the complainant or an officer or attorney thereof as aforesaid, the reason it is so made must be stated, and the power of attorney or authority authorizing such affiant to prosecute the complaint or make the verification must be filed with the complaint.

SEC. 8. Supplemental complaints.—Supplemental complaints may be tendered for filing by the complainant against the defendant in the original complaint, setting forth any causes of action under the Act alleged to have accrued in favor of the complainant and against the defendant since the filing of the original complaint, and, upon leave granted, will be filed and served by the Commission as provided for original complaints, and heard, considered, and disposed of therewith in the same proceeding, if practicable.

RULE 309–5. ANSWERS.

SEC. 1. Answers to formal complaints.—Answers to formal complaints must be filed with the Commission within thirty (30) days after the day on which the complaint was served. This period may be shortened or extended by the Commission in its discretion. Any defendant failing to file answer within such period will be deemed in default, and issue as to such defendant will be thereby joined. All answers should be so drawn as fully and completely to advise the parties and the Commission as to the nature of the defense, and should admit or deny, specifically and in detail, each material allegation of the pleading answered and must conform to requirements of Rule 309–8.

SEC. 2. Answers to petitions.—Answers to petitions in intervention or amended complaints, filed and served upon leave granted, need not be separately made unless the defendants so elect, and their answers to the formal complaint will be deemed answers to the petition in intervention or amended complaint. Answers if separately made should be filed and served in the same manner as is provided for answers to the original complaint.

SEC. 3. Cross complaints.—Cross complaints alleging violations of the Act by other parties to the proceeding, or seeking relief against them under the Act, and involving substantially the same purposes and subject or a like state of facts, may be tendered for filing by defendants with their answers, and upon leave granted will be filed and served by the Commission in the manner provided for complaints. In such cases the cross complaints will be heard, considered and disposed of in the same proceeding with the original complaint.

SEC. 4. Answers to cross complaints.—Unless otherwise ordered by the Commission answers to cross complaints filed and served upon leave granted must be filed and served within twenty (20) days after service of the cross complaint.

SEC. 5. Satisfaction of complaints.—If the defendant satisfies a formal complaint either before or after answering, a statement to that effect signed by the opposing parties must be filed setting forth when and how the complaint has been satisfied.

RULE 309–6. PROTESTS.

RULE 309–7. AMENDMENTS TO PLEADINGS.

SEC. 1. Allowance or refusal discretionary.—Amendments to any pleading will be allowed or refused by the Commission in its discretion.

Such service shall be made by delivering in person or by mail, properly addressed with postage prepaid, one copy to each party. (See Form 309–9.[2])

[2] See Footnote 1 on page 83.

SEC. 3. Service upon attorneys.—When any party has appeared by attorney, service upon such attorney will be deemed service upon the party.

SEC. 1. Contents; time of filing.—Applications for continuances or for the extension of time in which to file any pleadings or briefs shall be by petition in writing stating the facts on which the application rests, and must be filed with the Commission at least seven days before the date set for hearing, or on or before the time for filing such pleadings or briefs, and must conform to the requirements of Rules 309–8 and 309–9.

SEC. 2. Discretion in granting or denying.—Continuances and extensions of time will be granted or denied at the discretion of the Commission.

RULE 309–11. DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE.

SEC. 1. Designation.—When relevant and material matter offered in evidence by any party is embraced in a book, paper or document containing other matter not material or relevant, the party offering the same must plainly designate the matter so offered. If other matter is in such volume as would necessarily cumber the record, such book, paper, or document will not be received in evidence, but may be marked for identification, and, if properly authenticated, the relevant or material matter may be read into the record, or, if the presiding Commissioner, examiner, or other representative so directs, a true copy of such matter, in proper form, shall be received as an exhibit, and like copies delivered by the party offering the same to opposing parties or their attorneys appearing at the hearing who shall be afforded an opportunity to examine the book, paper, or document, and to offer in evidence in like manner other portions thereof if found to be material and relevant.

SEC. 2. Commission's files.—In case any matter contained in a report or other document on file with the Commission is offered in evidence, such report or other document need not be produced or marked for identification, but in other respects the provisions of the foregoing Sec. 1 of this rule will apply.

SEC. 3. Records in other proceedings.—In case any portion of the record in any other proceeding is offered in evidence, a true copy of such portion shall be presented for the record in the form of an exhibit unless:

A. The party offering the same agrees to supply such copies later at his own expense, if and when required by the Commission; or

B. The portion is specified with particularity in such manner as to be readily identified; or

C. The parties represented at the hearing stipulate upon the record that such portion may be incorporated by reference, and that any portion offered by any other party may be incorporated by like reference subject to A and B; and

D. The presiding Commissioner, examiner or other representative directs such incorporation.

SEC. 4. Objections.—Any documentary evidence offered, whether in the form of exhibit or by reference, shall be subject to appropriate objection.

SEC. 5. Copies to opposing counsel.—When exhibits of a documentary character are offered in evidence, copies must be furnished to opposing counsel unless the presiding Commissioner, examiner or other representative otherwise directs.

SEC. 6. Size; form.—Whenever practicable, all exhibits of a documentary character received in evidence must be on paper of good quality and so prepared as to be plainly legible and durable, whether printed or typewritten; if typewritten, they must conform to the requirement of Rule 309–8.

SEC. 7. Copies for the Commission.—Unless the presiding Commissioner, examiner, or other representative shall otherwise direct, three copies of each exhibit of a documentary character must be furnished for the use of the Commission, in addition to the copies provided for under Sec. 5 hereof.

RULE 309–12. STIPULATIONS.

SEC. 1. How evidenced.—A party or parties may, in writing filed with the Commission or presented at the hearing, stipulate as to any facts involved in the proceeding; but such stipulation shall not bind the Commission.

SEC. 2. Form and style; service.—Stipulations must conform to the requirements of Rules 309–8 and 309–9.

RULE 309–13. WITNESSES AND SUBPENAS.

SEC. 1. Subpenas.—Subpenas for the attendance of witnesses or for the production of books, papers or documents, unless directed by the Commission upon its own motion, will issue only upon application in writing. Applications to compel witnesses to produce documentary evidence must be verified, and must specify as nearly as may be, the books, papers or documents desired and the facts to be proved by them.

SEC. 2. Fees of witnesses.—Witnesses who are summoned are entitled to the same fees as are paid for like services in the courts of the United States, such fees to be paid by the party at whose instance the testimony is taken, and the Commission before issuing subpena may require a deposit of an amount adequate to cover the fees and mileage involved.

SEC. 3. Subpenas; service: return.—If service of subpena is made by a United States Marshal or his deputy, such service shall be evidenced by his return thereon. If made by any other person, such person shall make affidavit thereof, describing the manner in which service is made and return such affidavit on or with the original subpena. In case of failure to make service, the reasons for the failure shall be stated on the original subpena. In making service, the original subpena shall be exhibited and read to the person served, and a copy thereof shall be left with him. The original subpena, bearing or accompanied by the required return, affidavit or statement, shall be returned forthwith to the Secretary of the Commission, or if so directed on the subpena, to the presiding Commissioner, examiner or other representative of the Commission before whom the person named in the subpena is required to appear.

RULE 309–14. DEPOSITIONS.

SEC. 1. When permissible.—The testimony of any witness may be taken by deposition, at the instance of a party to any proceeding pending before the Commission, at any time before the hearing is closed, upon approval by the Commission, in compliance with these rules of practice, but not otherwise.

SEC. 2. Officer before whom taken.—Such depositions may be taken before a Commissioner, examiner, or other authorized representative of the Commission, any judge, commissioner or clerk of any court of the United States, any chancellor, judge or justice of a State court, mayor or chief magistrate of a city, or any notary public not being of counsel or attorney to either of the parties or interested in the proceeding or investigation, according to such designation as the Commission may make in its order in the premises. Where such deposition is taken in a foreign country, it may be taken before an officer or person designated by the Commission or agreed upon by the parties by stipulation in writing to be filed with the Commission. The magistrate, person or officer so designated in this rule will be referred to as the officer.

SEC. 3. Notice of application; service; order for taking.—Reasonable notice of not less than 10 days, and when the deposition is to be taken in a foreign country, of not less than 15 days, must first be given in writing by the party or his attorney proposing to take such deposition to the opposing party or his attorney of record, and to the Commission. In such notice, there should be stated the name and post office address of the witness, the subject matter concerning which the witness is expected to testify, the time and place of taking the deposition, and the name and post office address of the officer before whom it is desired that the deposition be taken. The opposing party may, within the time stated above, make any appropriate response to such notice. Thereupon, if the application so warrants, the Commissioner will make and serve upon the parties or their attorneys an order, wherein the Commission will name the witness whose deposition is to be taken, and specify the time, place and the officer before whom the witness is to testify, but such time and place and the officer before whom the deposition is to be taken, so specified in the Commission's order, may or may not be the same as those named in said notice to the Commission.

SEC. 4. Oath; reduction to writing.—Every person whose deposition is so taken shall be sworn (or affirmed if he so requests) to testify to the whole truth and nothing but the truth concerning the matter about which he shall testify, and shall be carefully examined. His testimony shall be reduced to typewriting by the officer before whom the deposition is taken, or under his direction, after which the deposition shall be subscribed by the witness, and certified in usual form by the officer. After the deposition has been so subscribed and certified it shall, together with two copies thereof made by such officer or under his direction, be forwarded by such officer, in a sealed envelope addressed to the Commission at its office in Washington, D. C. with sufficient stamps for postage affixed. Upon receipt of the deposition and copies, the Commission will file the deposition in the record in said proceeding, and forward one copy to the party at whose instance the deposition has been taken or his attorney, and the other copy to the opposing party or his attorney. When the deposition is taken at the instance of more than one party, or there is more than one opposing party, the copies will be forwarded by the Commission to the parties or their attorneys designated for that purpose in advance.

SEC. 5. Fees of officers and witnesses.—Witnesses whose depositions are taken and the officers taking same, shall be entitled to the same fees as are paid for like services in the courts of the United States, which fees shall be paid by the party at whose instance the depositions are taken.

RULE 309–15. HEARINGS.

SEC. 1. How ordered.—Hearings may be ordered by the Commission in its discretion, either upon its own motion, or upon the motion of any party to the proceeding. Witnesses will be examined orally, unless the testimony is taken by deposition, as provided in Rule 309–14 or the facts are stipulated in the manner provided for in Rule 309–12.

SEC. 2. Notice of hearing.—Appropriate public notice of any hearing will be given. The notice will state the nature of the matters to be heard, the time and place of the hearing, and, if designated, the name of the Commissioner, examiner or other representative before whom the testimony is to be taken or the evidence produced. Such notice will be mailed to the parties to the proceeding, to State or other Governmental authorities having official interest in the proceeding, and to such individuals or organizations as may be deemed to have a substantial interest therein.

SEC. 3. Appearances.—The presiding Commissioner, examiner, or other representative before whom the hearing is held will enter upon the record all appearances, with a notation in whose behalf the appearance is made.

SEC. 4. Order of procedure.—At hearings on formal complaints, the complainant shall open and close. At hearings upon applications, the applicant shall open and close. At hearings on investigations, the presiding Commissioner, examiner, or other representative may direct who shall open and close. In hearings of several proceedings on a consolidated record the presiding Commissioner, examiner, or other representative shall designate who shall open and close. Interveners shall follow the parties in whose behalf the intervention is made, and in all cases where the intervention is not in support of either original party, the presiding Commissioner, examiner or other representative will designate at what stage such intervener shall be heard.

SEC. 5. Calling for further evidence.—At any stage of the hearing, or after the close of testimony, the presiding Commissioner, examiner, or other representative may call for further evidence upon any issue, and require such evidence to be presented by the party or parties concerned or by the staff of the Commission, either at that hearing or at a further hearing. At the hearing, the Commissioner, examiner, or other representative presiding, if he deems advisable, may authorize any party to the proceeding to file specific documentary evidence as a part of the record within a time to be fixed by him, but which shall expire not less than 10 days before the date fixed for filing and serving briefs.

SEC. 6. Closing of record.—Except as provided in Sec. 5 of this rule, the Commissioner, examiner, or other representative conducting the hearing will not receive in evidence or consider as part of the record any document, letter, or other writing submitted after the close of testimony, and will so advise the sender.

RULE 309–16. TRANSCRIPT OF TESTIMONY.

SEC. 1. Copies not furnished by the Commission.—The Commission will make provision for a stenographic record of the proceeding and for such copies of the transcript as it requires for its own purposes, but no copies will be furnished to parties by the Commission.

RULE 309–17. BRIEFS AND ORAL ARGUMENT.

SEC. 1. Oral argument.—If oral argument before the presiding Commissioner, examiner, or other representative is desired, he should be so notified before or at the hearing, and he may arrange to hear the argument at the close of the testimony. He may impose such limits of time on the argument as he may determine, having regard for other assignments for hearing before him. Such argument will be transcribed and bound with the transcript of testimony and will be available to the Commission for consideration in deciding the case.

SEC. 2. Forms and style of briefs.—Briefs must comply with the requirements of Rule 309–8. The date of each brief must appear on the front cover or title page. Each brief should contain an abstract of the evidence relied upon by the party filing it, preferably assembled by subjects with reference to the pages of the record or exhibit where the evidence appears. It should include requests for such specific findings as the party thinks the Commission should make.

SEC. 3. Arrangements of contents.—The brief should contain a concise statement of the case, which should precede the abstract of evidence. The abstract of evidence should precede the argument. Exhibits should not be reproduced in the brief, but if desired may be reproduced in the appendix of the brief. Analyses of such exhibits should be included in the abstract of evidence under the subjects to which they pertain. Every brief of more than twenty pages should contain on its front leaves a subject index with page references, and a list of all cases cited alphabetically arranged with references to the pages where the citations appear.

SEC. 4. Filing; service; number of copies.—At the close of the testimony in each case, the presiding Commissioner, examiner, or other representative will, within his discretion, fix the time for filing and service of the respective briefs, depending upon the magnitude of the issues involved. All briefs should be filed simultaneously. Only one initial brief shall be filed by each party. All briefs must be accompanied by notice showing service upon all parties or their attorneys who appeared at the hearing or on brief, and 15 copies of each brief shall be furnished for the use of the Commission.

SEC. 5. Reply briefs.—The presiding Commissioner, examiner, or other representative shall fix for all parties the same time within which to file their reply briefs. Parties who fail to file an opening or initial brief as required by this rule will not be permitted, except upon leave granted, to file reply to the brief of an opposing party.

RULE 309–18. APPLICATION FOR FURTHER HEARING, REHEARING, REARGUMENT, RECONSIDERATION OR MODIFICATION OF AN ORDER.

SEC. 1. Petition; filing; service.—An application for further hearing in a proceeding before final submission, for reopening a proceeding after final submission, or for rehearing, reargument, or reconsideration after decision, must be made by petition, stating specifically the grounds relied upon, filed with the Commission, and served by the petitioner upon all parties to the proceeding or their attorneys.

SEC. 2. Statement as to new evidence.—If the application be for further hearing before final submission, or for reopening the proceeding to take further evidence, the nature and purpose of the evidence to be adduced must be briefly stated, and it must appear not to be merely cumulative.

SEC. 3. Specification of errors.—If the application be for rehearing, reargument, or reconsideration, the matters claimed to have been erroneously decided must be specified, and the alleged errors briefly stated. If the order of the Commission is sought to be vacated, reversed or modified by reason of matters which have arisen since the hearing, or of a consequence which would result from compliance therewith, the matters relied upon by the petitioner must be set forth in the petition.

SEC. 4. Time of filing.—A petition for rehearing, reargument, reconsideration or modification of an order, must be filed within thirty (30) days after service of the order therein.

SEC. 5. Form and style; service.—Applications under this rule must conform to the requirements of Rules 309–8 and 309–9.

RULE 309–19. COMPUTATION OF TIME.

SEC. 1. When Sunday and holiday not included.—When the time prescribed by these rules for doing any act expires on a Sunday or legal holiday, such time shall extend to and include the next succeeding day that is not a Sunday or legal holiday.

RULE 4 (b)–1. DETERMINATION OF COST OF PROJECTS CONSTRUCTED UNDER LICENSE.

SEC. 1. Filing of claim.—When a project is constructed under a license issued under the Act, the licensee shall file under oath with the Commission at Washington, D. C., within one year after the original project is ready for service, a statement in duplicate showing the amount claimed by the licensee as the actual legitimate cost of construction of the original project and the price paid for water rights, rights-of-way, lands or interests in lands, in such detail and on such forms as the Commission may prescribe or approve for that purpose. Similar statements with respect to additions and betterments to the original project shall be filed annually as of December 31, unless the Commission shall otherwise direct. Prescribed forms will be furnished by the Commission upon application by the licensee.

SEC. 2. Substance.—Each statement so filed shall give full, adequate and complete information with respect to the cost of the original project or addition and betterment, as the case may be. Any statement which does not contain sufficient information will be returned to the licensee for such additional information as the Commission may deem necessary.

SEC. 3. Engineering and accounting reports.—When a statement in satisfactory form shall have been filed with the Commission, its representatives will make an audit and examination of the books, accounts, and records of the licensee supporting such statement, and an engineering analysis of the cost as claimed. Upon completion of the audit, examination and analysis, representatives of the Commission will prepare engineering and accounting reports setting forth in detail their findings and recommendations.

SEC. 4. Service of reports.—Copies of such reports will be served by registered mail upon said licensees, and copies will also be sent to the State Public Service Commission, or if the State has no regulatory agency, to the Governor of the State where such project is located, and to such other parties as the Commission shall prescribe, and the reports will be made public at the time of service upon the licensee.

SEC. 5. Time for filing protest.—Thirty (30) days after service thereof will be allowed to such licensee within which to file a protest to such reports (see Rule 309–6). If no protest is filed within the time allowed, the Commission will issue such order as may be appropriate. If a protest is filed, a public hearing will be ordered in accordance with Rule 309–15.

SEC. 6. Burden of proof.—The burden of proof to sustain each item of the statement of claimed cost as filed shall be upon the licensee and only such items as are in the opinion of the Commission supported by satisfactory proof may be entered in the electric plant accounts of the licensee.

SEC. 7. Findings.—Final action by the Commission will be in the form of a finding and order entered upon its minutes and served upon all parties to the proceeding. A duplicate of the statement prepared by licensee in conformity with such finding and order will be deposited with the Secretary of the Treasury.

RULE 4 (b)–2. DETERMINATION OF COST OF CONSTRUCTED PROJECTS NOT SUBJECT TO SECTION TWENTY-THREE OF THE ACT.

SEC. 1. Inventory and cost statement.—In all cases where licenses are issued for projects already constructed, but which are not subject to the provisions of Section 23 of the Act, the licensee shall, within six months after the date of issuance of license, file with the Commission an inventory in detail of all property included under the license, as of the effective date of such license. Such inventory shall also show, or shall be accompanied by a statement showing the actual legitimate, or if not known, estimated original cost of the property by items or units; an estimate of the accrued depreciation segregated as to each separate major item or unit of property; and such other detail as the Commission may require in any particular case. Such inventory and statement of cost and depreciation shall be submitted on forms to be supplied or approved by the Commission prior to such submission.

SEC. 2. Reports.—Representatives of the Commission will check the inventory and estimated depreciation, make an audit of the books, records and accounts of the licensee relating to the property under license, and prepare engineering and accounting reports of their findings with respect to the inventory, the original cost of the property and the estimated accrued depreciation thereon.

SEC. 3. Service of reports.—Copies of such reports will be served by registered mail upon said licensees, and copies will also be sent to the State Public Service Commission, or if the State has no regulatory agency, to the Governor of the State where such project is located, and to such other parties as the Commission shall prescribe, and the reports will be made public at the time of service upon the licensee.

SEC. 4. Time for filing protest.—Thirty (30) days after service thereof will be allowed to such licensee within which to file a protest to such reports (see Rule 309–6). If no protest is filed within the time allowed, the Commission will issue such order as may be appropriate. If a protest is filed, a public hearing will be ordered in accordance with Rule 309–15.

SEC. 5. Determination of cost.—The Commission, after receipt of the reports, or after the conclusion of the hearing if one is held, will determine the amounts to be included in the electric plant accounts of the licensee as the cost of the property and the accrued depreciation thereon.

SEC. 6. Finding.—Final action by the Commission will be in the form of a finding and order entered upon its minutes and served upon all parties to the proceeding. A duplicate of the statement prepared and filed by licensee in conformity with such finding and order will be deposited with the Secretary of the Treasury.

RULE 4 (e). APPLICATION FOR LICENSE—GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SEC. 1. Who may file.—An application for license may be filed by a permittee in accordance with the provisions of his preliminary permit, or if no permit has been issued, by any citizen, association of citizens, corporation, State, or municipality desirous of obtaining a license pursuant to the Act.

SEC. 2. Manner of filing.—Each application for license shall conform to the requirements of this rule and Rule 309–8. When an application which is complete and in satisfactory form is received, it will be given a filing number, receipt thereof will be acknowledged to the applicant, and notices will be given in accordance with the requirements of Section 4 of the Act. Notice will also be given to the General Land Office as to the public lands affected, if any, so that withdrawals from entry may be recorded, unless such action has been taken previously in connection with a preliminary permit. When an application is received which is not complete in all respects, but which contains all information essential for the issuance of public notice and other initial action, it may be accepted for filing but the applicant will be required to furnish the missing data prior to further consideration. Failure to furnish such data within a reasonable time will constitute grounds for rejection of the application.

SEC. 3. Hearing on application.—A hearing upon an application may be ordered by the Commission, in its discretion, either upon its own motion or upon the motion of any party in interest, and such proceeding shall be in accordance with the provisions of Rule 309–15.

SEC. 4. Issuance and acceptance.—When the Commission shall have authorized the issuance of a license, the same shall be forwarded to the applicant for acceptance. If not accepted within sixty days after receipt thereof, the application will be denied unless an extension of the period is granted by the Commission upon a showing of the necessity therefor.

RULE 4 (e)–1. APPLICATION FOR LICENSE FOR PROPOSED MAJOR PROJECT OR MINOR PART THEREOF.

SEC. 1. Each application for license for a complete project of more than 100 horsepower installed capacity, to be constructed, or for a minor part of such project shall be verified, shall conform to Form 4 (e)–1,[2] and shall set forth in appropriate detail the following information in the order indicated. A certificate from the proper State agency setting forth the extent and validity of the applicant's water rights shall be appended if practicable. In case the approval or permission of one or more State agencies is required by State law as a condition precedent to the applicant's right to take or use water for the operation of the project works, duly certified evidence of such approval or permission, or a showing of cause why such evidence cannot be reasonably submitted shall also be filed. When a State certificate is involved, one certified copy and three uncertified copies shall be submitted.

Exhibit J.—General map covering the entire project area, showing on a single sheet and to an appropriate scale the following:

(1) Principal structures and other important features of the project, including such roads, railways, tramways, and bridges as it is proposed shall become part of the project works and be placed under the license.

(2) All substations, switchyards, transmission lines, and telephone lines, which it is proposed shall become a part of the project works and be placed under license, as well as the entire or principal part of the transmission system, if any, with which the project may be connected, indicating prominently by appropriate symbol the portion or portions of the transmission lines or system covered by application for license.

(3) State and county lines, towns, streams, railroads, power plants, irrigation systems, and other features in the vicinity of the proposed development, information concerning which will aid in arriving at a general comprehension of the project.

(4) Reference to the detail map indicating by outline the portion shown on each sheet.

(5) If all features cannot be shown with sufficient distinctness on one sheet, two general maps may be furnished, one for the power plant and appurtenant works, and one for the transmission system (one tracing and 4 blue prints. See Specifications for Drawings).

[2] See Footnote 1 on page 83.

Exhibit K.—Detail map covering entire project area. Scale shall be such as to show clearly, but without unnecessary multiplicity of sheets, the essential details of surveys and of notes as to ownership or right of occupancy of lands within the project area. In general, a scale of approximately 400 feet to the inch is appropriate for features containing a relatively large amount of detail, and scales of 1,000 or 2,000 feet to the inch where there is little detail, as is frequently the case with respect to large reservoirs, transmission and telephone lines, roads, and railways. Elevations shall be tied to Government bench marks whenever available, and shall be referred to mean sea level except that in the case of projects in navigable waters having a datum accepted for local use by the Office of the Chief of Engineers, War Department, such local datum shall be used. If more than one sheet is used, the sheets shall be numbered consecutively, and each shall bear a small diagram showing the entire map and indicating the portions shown on each sheet. Several sections of a conduit, transmission line, telephone line, road, railway, etc., may be shown upon a single sheet, each so placed or limited as to avoid crowding or confusion. Except to the extent and in such particulars as the requirements may be expressly waived or modified by the Commission, the detail map to be filed as this exhibit shall conform to the specifications for drawings and the following requirements:

(1) It shall show the project area and the project boundary.

(a) Unless satisfactory reasons are given to the contrary, the project boundary shall not be more than 200 feet (horizontal measurement) from the exterior margin (in general, high-water level) of reservoirs, nor shall the width of the project area for canals, ditches, pipelines, transmission lines, roads, and other so-called continuous structures exceed 200 feet. The project boundary shall be shown on the map in such manner that it can be readily identified on the ground. There shall be shown the location and description of monuments and other marks with reference lines therefrom to permanent objects in accordance with good practice in land surveying.

(b) If the project boundary is located on lands covered by the public land survey there shall be shown a reference line from the initial point of the project boundary survey by distances and bearings to an established corner if one can be identified within a distance of two miles. At each intersection of the project boundary, with an identified line of the public land survey, there shal be shown the station number of such intersection on the project boundary, and the bearings and distance to the nearest identified corner in each direction on the public land survey line crossed, if such distance does not exceed one mile.

(c) Field notes or a description by metes and bounds of the final location survey of the project boundary shall be furnished either on the map or on separate sheets to be made a part of the exhibit, unless all courses and distances are fully and legibly shown along the plotted boundary.

(d) Such portions of the project area as will be used for continuous structures, such as transmission lines, telephone lines, canals, roads, etc., may be described by center or offset lines of survey specifying distances of the project boundary therefrom. Such lines of survey shall be referred to the public land survey and permanent objects in a manner similar to that prescribed for the project boundary.

(e) There shall be shown the status as to ownership, and the boundary lines and area of each parcel of land within the project area, designating separately lands owned by the applicant, lands for which the applicant holds rights of use and occupancy for purposes of the project, reservations (indicating separately each reservation), and public lands (indicating separately lands, full title to which remains in the United States, and lands in which the United States retains only an interest). Where the project works occupy lands not owned by the applicant, but as to which the applicant holds only an easement, franchise, lease, or other right of occupancy and use, the map shall show the nature of such right and shall give appropriate reference to "Exhibit F" for further details.

(2) The location shall be accurately shown of all project works, such as:

(a) Dams.
(b) Reservoirs
Show the flow lines for maximum and minimum water levels and for elevation of spillway crest, and give tables or diagrams of areas and capacities for maximum and minimum water levels and for each contour line.
(c) Water conduits.
Show center line, grade, and elevation of bottom at each change of grade, and designate lengths of each type of conduit, i. e., flume, ditch, tunnel, pipe, etc.
(d) Powerhouses, substations, and switchyards.
(e) Transmission lines and appurtenances, telephone lines, roads, railways, trails, tramways, and bridges.
(f) Navigation structures.
(g) Channel approaches to navigation structures.
Indicate elevation of bottom for distances of not less than 1,000 feet above and below the structures.

(3) Show contour lines with contour intervals of not more than 10 feet for the entire project area, except such portions as will be occupied only by such project works as are enumerated in (2) (e) above, or as will be included in reservoirs below the minimum elevation to which the water may be drawn down. Profiles of tunnel lines may be substituted for contours along such lines. (One tracing and 4 blue prints. See Specifications for Drawings.)

Exhibit L.—General design drawings showing plans, elevations, and sections of all principal structures and appurtenant works or other features of the project. These drawings shall be in sufficient detail and shall be accompanied by sufficient information relating to controlling factors (such as character of foundations and explorations thereof, materials, types of construction, important elevations, water levels, etc.) to enable the Commission to have a full understanding of the project and to check safety, adequacy, and desirability in the development of the resources involved.

Scales are not specified, but it is desired that they be no larger than necessary to show clearly the information required. Drawings should be simple. Details are desired only as necessary to show features of importance in determining safety, adequacy, and suitability of design. Working drawings are not desired as part of application, but should be prepared for purposes of construction and retained as a record of the work when completed. In this exhibit shall be included:

(1) Dams and appurtenances, such as spillways, fishways, outlet works, etc.
(2) Navigation structures and approaches thereto, including locks, lock-gates, operating machinery, etc.
(3) Conduits, including forebays, intake works, surge tanks, and other pressure relief devices, etc.
(4) Powerhouses and substations.
(One tracing and 4 blue prints. See Specifications for Drawings.)

Exhibit M.—General descriptions and general specifications of mechanical, electrical, and transmission equipment and their appurtenances in sufficient detail to enable the Commission to have a full understanding of the project and to determine the safety of the project works and their adequacy and suitability for the development and utilization of the resources involved.

Exhibit N.—Estimate of the cost of developing the project, segregated by principal features showing quantities, unit costs, etc., in sufficient detail for a full understanding of the elements of cost of the project. The estimate shall include all lands, flowage, and other rights, intangible, indirect, overhead, and contingent costs and shall show the total estimated cost of the complete development and of different parts thereof appropriately classified. The estimate shall also show by whom it was made.

Exhibit O.—Detailed statement of the time desired for completing construction of the project works. If the ultimate development is to be completed and put into operation in two or more parts, the time desired for beginning and completing the construction of each part shall be given.

RULE 4 (e)-2. APPLICATION FOR LICENSE FOR CONSTRUCTED MAJOR PROJECT OR MINOR PART THEREOF.

SEC. 1. Each application for license for a complete project of more than 100 horsepower installed capacity already constructed, or for a minor part of such project, shall be verified, shall conform to Form 4 (e)-1[4] and shall set forth in appropriate detail all information and exhibits prescribed in Rule 4 (e)-1 for applications for licenses for proposed major projects, except as hereinafter provided. Unless otherwise designated, 4 copies of the application and all accompanying exhibits shall be submitted. Exhibits shall be certified in accordance with Forms 4 (e)-2 and 4 (e)-3.[4]

Exhibits J, K, and L.—If the application covers project works in addition to those already constructed in addition to the requirements of Rule 4 (e)-1, the maps and plans shall distinguish clearly in some appropriate manner the project works or parts thereof which have been constructed from those to be constructed.

Exhibit N.—This exhibit shall be a statement of actual or approximate original cost of the constructed project in such detail as may be readily available and, if the application covers project works in addition to those already constructed, an estimate of the cost of such additional works. The statement of estimated cost of new construction should be segregated by principal features, showing quantities, etc., in sufficient detail for a full understanding of the elements of the cost thereof. Both statements shall include lands, flowage and other rights, intangible, indirect, overhead and contingent costs. The statement of cost of projects already constructed is for the information of the Commission and is not to be confused with the detailed inventory and statement of cost, depreciation, etc., to be filed later. (See Rules 4 (b)-2 and 23 (a).)

Exhibit O.—Detailed statement of the time desired for beginning and completing additional construction, if any. If the additional construction is to be completed and put in operation in two or more parts, the time desired for beginning and completing the construction of each part shall be given.

SEC. 2. The following additional exhibits shall be furnished:

Exhibit P.—A statement of the nature and character of the permit, right-of-way, or other authority, if any (see Sec. 23 of the Act), claimed to be held by the applicant. This statement shall be accompanied by copies of or appropriate references to the legislative authority, if any, by or under which such permit, right-of-way, or authority was acquired, and if granted by an instrument in writing, certified copy of such instrument, or in lieu thereof, if such a copy is of record in any department of the United States Government at Washington, a statement to that effect and reference thereto.

Exhibit Q.—A statement setting forth a brief history of the project works already constructed, giving time of commencement and of completion of construction of the several parts thereof, date of commencement of operation, and method of financing.

The project boundary shall be shown on the map in such manner that it can be readily identified on the ground. There shall be shown the location and description of monuments and other marks and reference lines therefrom to permanent objects, in accordance with good practice in land surveying.

(b) If the project boundary is located on lands covered by the public-land survey, there shall be shown a reference line from the initial point of the project boundary survey by bearings and distances to an established corner, if one can be identified within a distance of 2 miles. At each intersection of the project boundary with an identified line of the public-land survey, there shall be shown the station number of such intersection on the project boundary and the bearing and distance to the nearest identified corner in each direction on the public land survey line crossed, if such distance does not exceed 1 mile.

(c) Such portions of the project area as will be used only for continuous structures, such as transmission lines, telephone lines, canals, roads, etc., may be described by center or offset lines of survey, specifying distances of the project boundary therefrom. Such lines of survey shall be referred to the public land survey and permanent objects in a manner similar to that prescribed for the project boundary.

(d) There shall be shown the status as to ownership and the boundary lines and area of each parcel of land within the project area, designating separately lands owned by the applicant, lands for which the applicant holds rights of use and occupancy for purposes of the project, reservations (indicating separately each reservation), and public lands (indicating separately lands full title to which remains in the United States, and lands in which the United States retains only an interest). Where the project works occupy lands not owned by the applicant, but as to which the applicant holds only as easement, franchise, lease, or other right of occupancy and use, the map shall show the nature of such right.

(2) The location and general plan of all project works, such as dams, reservoirs, canals, flumes, pipe-lines, powerhouses, transmission lines, telephone lines, roads, trails, etc., indicate the flow line fixed by maximum water level and the area and storage capacity of each reservoir. SEC. 1. Who may file.—Any citizen, association of citizens, corporation, State or municipality desirous of obtaining a license pursuant to the Act for a project of more than 100 horsepower installed capacity may make application for the issuance of a preliminary permit for the purpose of enabling applicant to secure the data and perform the acts required by law for filing an application for the issuance of a license.

SEC. 2. Manner of filing.—Applications for license shall conform to the requirements of this rule and Rule 309–8. When an application which is complete and in satisfactory form is received, it will be given a filing number, receipt thereof will be acknowledged to the applicant, and notices will be given in accordance with the requirements of Section 4 of the Act. Notice will also be given to the General Land Office as to the public lands affected, if any, so that withdrawals from entry may be recorded. When an application is received which is not complete in all respects, but which contains all information essential for the issuance of public notice and other initial action, it may be accepted for filing but the applicant will be required to furnish the missing data prior to further consideration. Failure to furnish such data within a reasonable time will constitute grounds for rejection of the application.

SEC. 3. Contents of application.—Each application for preliminary permit shall be submitted on Form 4 (f)[5] and shall set forth in appropriate detail the following information in the order indicated. Unless otherwise designated, 4 copies of the application and all accompanying documents shall be submitted.

F. The lands of the United States which will be affected by the proposed project.

G. A concise general description of the project and the proposed scheme of development, including an estimate of the power available for 90 percent of the time and the proposed installed capacity expressed in horsepower.

H. The proposed use or market for the power to be developed, indicating whether applicant is a public utility or will become a public utility, and if so whether it is or will be subject to regulation by State agency. In case the applicant can give no positive assurance that there is or will be a demand for the power upon completion of construction of the project, and that it will be used or distributed by the applicant or sold to others for use or distribution, a full and complete statement and explanation shall be made of the applicant's expectations in this regard and of the basis therefor.

I. The location and capacity of all power plants owned or operated by the applicant; the market supplied thereby and the relation thereof to the project applied for, and a brief description of such other plants.

J. Such further data as the applicant may consider pertinent.

Exhibit H.—A general map showing the nature of the proposed project, its prinicpal features and their location, and the location of the project as a whole with reference to some well-known town or stream. On this map shall be placed a line indicating the approximate project boundary of the area to be occupied by the principal project works, such as, dams, reservoirs, forebays, waterways, and powerhouses, but excluding transmission lines, and if necessary in order to determine location of the project on the ground, there shall be shown on the map the approximate distances and bearings of points on the project boundary from natural objects or permanent monuments that can be readily found or recognized from descriptions thereof noted on the map, such points to be located at sufficiently frequent intervals to serve such purposes. If the project is on land covered by public land survey, such distances and bearings shall be shown from the nearest existing corners of such survey. (One tracing and 4 blue prints. See Specifications for Drawings.)

Exhibit I.—This exhibit shall be submitted only if public lands or reservations are affected and shall be a map of the proposed project showing principal project works in a manner similar to the preceding Exhibit H, except that such map shall show and shall be on a scale to present effectively the project boundary which shall be the line enclosing all quarter-quarter sections, lots and other smallest legal subdivisions of public land survey which are to be occupied or used in whole or in part by the project. SEC. 7. Construction work under permit.—Upon a satisfactory showing of reasons therefor, the Commission may authorize permittees to perform such construction work as may be necessary to maintain water rights under State law, or as may be desirable in preparation for the construction of project works; but the granting of such authority shall not be deemed to have created any equities or to have established any rights beyond what would have been created or established had such authority not been given.

RULE 6. SURRENDER OR TERMINATION OF LICENSE.

SEC. 1. Application for surrender.—Every application for surrender of a license shall state the reason therefor, shall be executed by the licensee with the same formality as the application for license, (See Rules 4 (e), 4 (e)–1, 4 (e)–2, 4 (e)–3, and 4 (e)–4) and shall be accompanied by the license and all amendments thereof.

SEC. 2. Surrender of license.—Licenses may be surrendered only upon the fulfillment by the licensee of such obligations under the license, as the Commission may prescribe, and, if the project works authorized under the license have been constructed in whole or in part, upon such conditions with respect to the disposition of such works as may be determined by the Commission.

SEC. 3. Termination of license.—Licenses may be terminated by a written order of the Commission after due notice, if there is failure to commence actual construction of the project works within the time prescribed in the license, or as extended by the Commission. Upon like notice, the authority granted under a license with respect to any separable part of the project works may be terminated if there is failure to begin construction of such separable part within the time prescribed or as extended by the Commission; but no part of the project works shall be deemed separable unless so specified in the license.

SEC. 4. Termination by implied surrender.—If any licensee holding a license subject to the provisions of Section 10 (1) of the Act shall cause or suffer essential project property to be removed or destroyed, or become unfit for use, without replacement, or shall abandon or discontinue good faith operation of the project for a period of three years, or refuse or neglect to comply with the terms of the license and the lawful orders of the Commission served in accordance with Rule 309–9 hereof, the Commission will deem it to be the intent of the licensee to surrender the license and after thirty days' public notice may in its discretion enter an order terminating the license.

SEC. 5. Annual charges.—Annual charges arising under a license surrendered or terminated shall continue until the effective date of surrender or termination fixed by the Commission.

RULE 8–1. APPLICATION FOR TRANSFER OF LICENSE.

SEC. 1. Filing.—Any licensee desiring to transfer a license or rights thereunder granted, and the person, association, corporation, State or municipality desiring to acquire the same, shall jointly or severally file an application for approval of such transfer and acquisition.

SEC. 2. Contents of application.—Every application for approval of such transfer and acquisition by the proposed transferee shall set forth in appropriate detail the qualifications of the transferee to hold such license and to operate the property under license, which qualifications shall be the same as those required of applicants for license.

SEC. 3. Transfer.—Approval by the Commission of Transfer of a license is contingent upon the transfer of title to the properties under license and the payment of annual charges to that date. The transferee shall be subject to all the conditions of the license and to all the provisions and conditions of the Act, as though such transferee were the original licensee. When the Commission shall have authorized the transfer of any license, the transferee shall file with the Commission, within thirty (30) days after such transfer a certified copy of the deed of conveyance or other instrument evidencing transfer of the property under license, together with evidence of the recording thereof, and within the same period annual charges to the date of transfer shall be paid, whereupon the instrument approving the transfer of license will issue.

RULE 8–2. APPLICATION FOR LEASE OF PROJECT PROPERTY.

SEC. 1. Filing.—Any licensee desiring to lease the project property covered by a license or any part thereof, whereby the lessee is granted the exclusive occupancy, possession, or use of project works for purposes of generating, transmitting, or distributing power, and the person, association, or corporation, State or municipality desiring to acquire such project property by lease, shall file a copy of such proposed lease together with an application for approval thereof. Such application and action thereon by the Commission will, in general, be subject to the provisions of Rule 8–1.

RULE 10 (b). APPLICATION FOR AMENDMENT OF LICENSE.

SEC. 1. Amendment of license.—Where a licensee desires to make a change in the physical features of the project or its boundary, and/or make an addition or betterment and/or an abandonment or conversion, of such character as to constitute an alteration of the license, application for an amendment of the license shall be filed with the Commission, fully describing the changes licensee desires to make. If, after consideration of an application for amendment of the license, the Commission is of the opinion that the contemplated changes are of such character as to constitute a substantial alteration of the license, public notice of such application shall be given by an advertisement made at least thirty (30) days prior to action upon the application. Four copies of applications for amendment of license shall be submitted in accordance with Form 10 (b)[1] and verified.

SEC. 2. Amendment of plans.—Application for amendment of plans for a project under license shall be filed with the Commission, fully describing the changes licensee proposes to make (see Note to Form 10 (b)[1]).

RULE 10 (e). ANNUAL CHARGES.

SEC. 1. Cost of administration.—A. In determining the amount of reasonable annual charges to be assessed against individual licensees for reimbursing the United States for the cost of administration of Part I of the Federal Power Act, the Commission will consider two factors:

(1) The horsepower capacity authorized to be installed by the license; and

(2) The amount of energy generated by each project during the preceding fiscal year ended June 30.

To enable the Commission to determine such charges annually, each licensee shall file with the Commission on or before September 1 of each year a statement under oath showing, in kilowatt hours, the amount of energy generated during the preceding fiscal year, or the equivalent if produced by non-electrical equipment.

B. Where licenses cover storage projects without installed capacity but which benefit a down-stream plant or plants by reason of headwater storage, the Commission will fix reasonable annual charges in each case based upon the benefit to such plant or plants by reason of such headwater storage.

SEC. 2. Use of Government lands, etc.—Reasonable annual charges for recompensing the United States for the use, occupancy, and enjoyment of its lands and other property, will be based upon the commercial value of the lands and other property for the most profitable use for which suited. The minimum annual charge for the use of lands of the United States for transmission lines only shall be at the rate of $5.00 per mile per annum, 100 feet or less in width, with proportional increase for additional width. The minimum annual charge under any license will be $5.00.

SEC. 3. Government dams.—Reasonable annual charges for recompensing the United States for the use of Government dams or other structures owned by the United States, and for the use, occupancy and enjoyment of the lands of the United States adjoining or pertaining thereto, will be based upon the estimated value for power purposes of the properties and privileges for which a license is issued.

SEC. 4. Exemption of minor projects, etc.—No exemption will be made from payment of annual charges for the use of Government dams or tribal lands within Indian reservations but licenses may be issued without other charge for the development, transmission, or distribution of power for domestic, mining, or other beneficial use in minor projects, or for minor parts of complete projects.

SEC. 5. Exemption of States and municipalities.—A. No State or municipal licensee shall be entitled to exemption from payment of annual charges on the ground that the power generated by the licensed project is sold to the public without profit, unless such licensee shall show:

(1) That it maintains an accounting system which segregates the operations of the licensed project and reflects with reasonable accuracy the cost of power generated by such project;

(2) That the revenues from the sale of power from such licensed project do not exceed the total amount of the following items:

(a) Project operating expenses, including operation, maintenance, depreciation, amortization, taxes, uncollectible revenues and rents;

(b) Payments of interest on indebtedness, including indebtedness to municipality or other department thereof, incurred by reason of the construction or operation of the licensed project.

B. When the power from the licensed project enters into the electric power system of the State or municipal licensee, in lieu of meeting the requirements set forth in paragraph A of this section, such licensee may furnish the same information with respect to the properties as a whole within said electric power system and the power produced therein and sold from such system.

C. A State or municipal licensee meeting the requirements of paragraph A of this section shall be entitled to exemption from payment of annual charges to the extent that power generated by the licensed project is sold for resale to or interchanged with a corporation not operated for profit.

D. Notwithstanding compliance by a State or municipal licensee with the requirements of paragraph A of this section, it shall be subject to the payment of annual charges to the extent that electric power generated by the licensed project is sold for resale to a corporation operated for profit.

E. Notwithstanding compliance by a State or municipal licensee with the requirements of paragraph A of this section, it shall be subject to the payment of annual charges to the extent that electric power generated by the licensed project is supplied under an interchange agreement to a person or to a corporation organized for profit, and is not offset by a similar amount of electric power received under such interchange agreement.

SEC. 6. Effective date.—All annual charges shall commence upon the date or dates fixed in the license.

SEC. 7. Adjustment of annual charges.—All annual charges fixed by the Commission shall continue in effect until changed as authorized by law, either upon application of licensee or upon motion of the Commission.

RULE 23 (a). DETERMINATION OF FAIR VALUE.

SEC. 1. Inventory and cost statement.—In every case arising under Section 23 of the Act requiring the determination of fair value of a project already constructed, the licensee shall, within six (6) months after the date of issuance of license, file with the Commission an inventory and appraisal in detail, as of the effective date of the license, of all property subject thereto and to be valued. Such inventory shall also show or shall be accompanied by a statement showing the actual legitimate, or if not known, the estimated original cost of the property, by items or units; an estimate of the accrued depreciation segregated as to each separate major item or unit of property; and such other detail as the Commission may require in any particular case. Such inventory and statement of cost and depreciation shall be submitted on forms to be supplied or approved by the Commission prior to such submission.

SEC. 2. Reports.—Representatives of the Commission will check the inventory and make an appraisal of the property and an audit of the books, records and accounts of the licensee relating to the property to be valued, and will prepare engineering and accounting reports of their findings with respect to the inventory, appraisal, original cost, accrued depreciation and fair value of the property.

SEC. 3. Service of reports.—A copy of such reports will be served by registered mail upon said licensee, and copies will also be sent to the State Public Service Commission, or if the State has no regulatory agency, to the Governor of the State where such project is located, and to such other parties as the Commission shall prescribe. The report will be made public at the time of service upon the licensee.

SEC. 4. Time for filing protest.—Thirty (30) days after service thereof will be allowed to the licensee within which to file a protest to such report (see Rule 309–6).

SEC. 5. Hearing upon reports.—After the expiration of the time within which a protest may be filed, a public hearing will be ordered in accordance with Rule 309–15. The Commission after the conclusion of the hearing will make a finding of fair value, accompanied by an order which will be served upon the licensee and all parties to the proceeding. A duplicate of the statement prepared and filed by licensee in conformity with such finding and order will be deposited with the Secretary of the Treasury.

RULE 23 (b). DECLARATION OF INTENTION.

SEC. 1. Filing.—Each declaration of intention under the provisions of Section 23 (b) of the Act shall be filed in triplicate in conformity with Rule 309–8 and shall be accompanied by:

SEC. 7. Authorization not exclusive.—No authorization granted pursuant to Section 202 (e) shall be deemed to prevent authorization being granted to any other person to transmit electric energy for the same use, or to prevent any other person from making application for such authorization.

SEC. 8. Form and style; number of copies.—Applications under this rule shall comply with Rules 309–8 and 309–9.

RULE 209. COOPERATIVE PROCEDURE WITH STATE COMMISSIONS.

NOTE.—Section 209 of the Federal Power Act authorizes cooperation between the Federal Power Commission and the State commissions of the several States in the administration of said Act. Subsection (a) authorizes the reference of any matter arising in the administration of Part II of the Act to a board to be composed of a member or members from the State or States affected or to be affected by particular matters pending before the Federal Power Commission. Subsection (b) authorizes conferences with State commissions regarding the relationship between rate structures, costs, accounts, charges, practices, classifications, and regulations of public utilities subject to the jurisdiction of such State commissions and of the Federal Power Commission, and joint hearings with State commissions in connection with any matter with respect to which the Federal Power Commission is authorized to act.

Obviously, it is impossible to determine in advance what matters should be the subject of a conference, what matters should be referred to a board, and what matters should be heard at a joint hearing of State commissions and the Federal Power Commission. It is understood, therefore, that the Federal Power Commission or any other State commission will freely suggest cooperation with respect to any proceeding or matter affecting any public utility subject to the jurisdiction of said Federal Power Commission and of a State commission, and concerning which it is believed that cooperation will be in the public interest.

To enable this to be done, whenever a proceeding shall be instituted before any commission, Federal or State, in which another commission is believed to be interested, notice should be promptly given each such interested commission by the Commission before which the proceeding has been instituted. Inasmuch, however, as failure to give notice as contemplated by the provisions of this plan will sometimes occur purely through inadvertence, any such failure should not operate to deter any commission from suggesting that any such proceeding be made the subject matter of cooperative action, if cooperation therein is deemed desirable.

SEC. 1. Notice of institution of proceeding.—A. Whenever there shall be instituted before the Federal Power Commission any proceeding under Part II of the Federal Power Act, the State commission or commissions of the State or States affected thereby will be notified immediately thereof by the Federal Power Commission, and each notice given a

State commission will request such commission if it deems the proceeding one which should be considered under the cooperative provisions of the Act, to notify the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in said matter, and to request a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint hearing, if desired, indicating its preference and the reasons therefor.

B. Upon the receipt of such request the Federal Power Commission will consider the same, and may confer with the Commission making the request and with other interested commissions, if any, in such manner as may be most suitable and, if cooperation shall appear to be practicable and desirable, shall so advise each interested State commission.

C. Each State commission should in like manner notify the Federal Power Commission of any proceeding instituted before it, the subject matter of which is also subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission.

SEC. 2. Procedure governing joint conferences.—The Federal Power Commission, in accordance with the indicated procedure, will confer with any State commission regarding any matter relating to the regulation of public utilities subject to the jurisdiction of either commission. The commission desiring a conference upon any such matter should notify the other without delay, and thereupon the Federal Power Commission will promptly arrange for a conference in which all interested State commissions will be invited to be represented.

SEC. 3. Procedure governing matters referred to a board.—Whenever the Federal Power Commission, either upon its own motion or upon the suggestion of a State commission or at the request of any interested party, shall determine that it is desirable to refer a matter arising in the administration of Part II of the Federal Power Act to a board to be composed of a member or members from the State or States affected or to be affected by such matter, the procedure shall be as follows:

The Federal Power Commission will send a request to each interested State commission to nominate a specified number of members to serve on such board. Whenever more than one State is involved, the representation of each State concerned shall be equal, unless one or more of the States affected chooses to waive such right of equal representation. When the member or members of any board have been nominated and appointed in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Power Act, the Federal Power Commission will make an order referring the particular matter to such board, and such order shall fix the time and place of hearing, define the force and effect the action of the board shall have, the manner in which its proceedings shall be conducted, and specify the allowances to be made for the expenses of the members of the board. The rules of practice and procedure, as from time to time adopted or prescribed by the Federal Power Commission, shall govern such board, as far as applicable. The board shall have authority to adjourn the hearing from day to day, subpena witnesses, rule on the relevancy, competency and materiality of evidence, and, after hearing all interested parties, submit its recommendations to the Federal Power Commission, together with its findings of fact and conclusions of law.

SEC. 4. Procedure governing joint hearings.—Whenever the Federal Power Commission, either upon its own motion or at the suggestion of any interested State commission, shall determine that a joint hearing is desirable in connection with any matter pending before the Federal Power Commission in which it is authorized to act, the procedure shall be as follows:

A. The Federal Power Commission will send a request to each interested State commission to name a specified number of members or representatives to sit with said Federal Power Commission or its member or representative in the joint hearing of said matter. Where more than one State is affected, the representation of each State concerned shall be equal, unless one or more of the States affected chooses to waive such right of equal representation, except that in cases where the number of States affected makes it impracticable for each State to be represented, the commissions of such States will be requested to name a representative committee not exceeding five in number to sit with the Federal Power Commission or its member or representative in the joint hearing of said matter. Where the joint hearing is upon a matter concerning which a proceeding is pending before a State commission in which action can be taken by said State commission, a joint record will be made.

B. Joint hearings will be followed by a conference to consider the facts developed of record, so as to provide opportunity for an exchange of views before final determination of the subject matter of the proceeding. Where a satisfactory exchange of views at such time proves impracticable, the State representative or representatives shall be afforded subsequent opportunity therefor in such manner as may be convenient.

C. When joint hearings are held, the rules of practice and procedure as from time to time adopted or prescribed by the Federal Power Commission shall govern, as far as applicable. The Federal Power Commission shall have authority to set the time and place of the hearing, subpena witnesses, rule on the relevancy, competency and materiality of evidence, and control in all other respects the conduct of such hearings.

SEC. 5. Special procedure may be prescribed in each case.—The foregoing sections of this rule are a general outline of procedure to be followed with respect to cooperation with State commissions under Section 209 of the Federal Power Act. In any particular case, an order may be entered setting forth the manner in which said proceeding shall be conducted.

RULE 301 (a). ADJUSTMENT OF ACCOUNTS AND PROFITS.

SEC. 1. Notice of deficiencies.—If, as the result of an examination by a representative of the Commission of the accounts of a person subject to the Act and to the Commission's accounting requirements, or of an examination of any statement or report submitted by such person, it appears that the accounts, or any books or records pertaining to or in support thereof, are not being kept and maintained as required by the Commission, or that the statements or reports prepared and submitted are not in proper form, the failure or deficiency will be called to the attention of such person either formally or informally as the circumstances appear to warrant.

SEC. 2. Response to notification.—If, as the result of such formal or informal notice, the matter is not adjusted within the time fixed by said notice, or within a reasonable time in case no date is specified, or if there is a disagreement between such person and the Commission or its representative respecting the application or interpretation of the Act or requirements of the Commission with respect to the matter at issue such person will be requested to advise the Commission in writing within a time to be specified whether it consents to the disposition of the questions involved under the shortened procedure hereinafter provided.

SEC. 3. Facts and argument.—If the person consents to the matter being handled under such shortened procedure, the person and any other parties interested, including representatives of the Commission, shall submit to the Commission, within thirty (30) days after the receipt of notice from the Commission to do so, a memorandum of the facts and, separately stated, of the argument relied upon to sustain the position taken respecting the matter in issue together with copies in sufficient number to enable the Commission to retain three copies for its own use and make service in accordance with Rule 309–9, upon all parties designated in said notice. Twenty (20) days will be allowed in which to file a reply by any party who filed an original memorandum.

SEC. 4. Form and style.—All memoranda must conform to the requirements of Rule 309–8, and each copy must be complete in itself. All pertinent data should be set forth fully, and each memorandum should set out the facts and argument as prescribed for briefs in Rule 309–17.

SEC. 5. Verification.—The facts stated in the memorandum must be sworn to by persons having knowledge thereof, which latter fact must affirmatively appear in the affidavit. Except under unusual circumstances, such persons should be those who would appear as witnesses if hearing were had, to testify as to the facts stated in the memorandum.

SEC. 6. Determination.—If no formal hearing is had the matter in issue will be determined by the Commission on the basis of the facts and arguments submitted.

SEC. 7. Assignment for oral hearing.—In case consent to the shortened procedure is not given, or if at any stage of the proceeding prior to the submission of the case to the Commission any party in interest requests a hearing, the proceeding will be assigned for hearing as provided for by Rule 309–15. The Commission may also in its discretion set the proceeding for hearing on its own motion at any stage thereof.

SEC. 8. Burden of proof.—The burden of proof to justify every accounting entry shall be on the person making, authorizing, or requiring such entry.

RULE 305 (b). APPLICATION FOR AUTHORITY TO HOLD INTERLOCKING POSITIONS—AUTHORIZATION.

SEC. 1. Who shall file.—An order authorizing the holding of positions as provided by Section 305 (b) of the Federal Power Act will be granted only upon application therefor made as hereinafter provided by the person seeking to hold such positions (hereinafter referred to as "applicant").

SEC. 2. Positions requiring authorization.—A. The term "public utility" as used in this rule means any person who owns or operates facilities for the transmission of electric energy in interstate commerce, or any person who owns or operates facilities for the sale at wholesale of electric energy in interstate commerce.[12]

B. The positions subject to this rule shall include those of any person elected or appointed to perform the duties or functions or any of the duties or functions ordinarily performed by a director, president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, comptroller, chief purchasing agent or officer, or any other person invested with executive authority in any company within the purview of Section 305 (b).

C. An assistant to such person shall not be deemed to be an "officer" as long as his duties are under the supervision of his superior officer or if he is acting in lieu of such officer while the latter is away on a temporary absence or brief vacation. Such assistant shall, however, be deemed to be an officer if his nominal superior is so inactive that the assistant is really performing the functions of the office.

D. Regardless of any action which may have been taken by the Commission upon a previous application under Section 305 (b), an application for approval under such section is required with reference to any position or positions not previously authorized whenever such position or positions in and of themselves or together with positions covered by such previous authorization are within the scope of said section.

SEC. 3. Time of filing application.—A. Anticipatory application.—An application may be made in anticipation of election or appointment to a position or positions within the purview of Section 305 (b).

B. Application after election or appointment.—Section 305 (b) provides that the holding of positions within the purview of that section shall be unlawful unless the holding shall have been authorized by order of the Commission. Nothing in this rule shall be construed as authorizing the holding of positions prior to the order of the Commission on application therefor. Applications shall be filed within 30 days after election or appointment to any position within the purview of Section 305 (b).

SEC. 4. Supplemental application.—A. New position.—In the event of a change or changes in the information set forth in an application, by the applicant's election or appointment to another position or other positions in companies within the purview of Section 305 (b), the application shall be supplemented by the applicant's setting forth all the data with respect to the new position or positions in accordance with the requirements of this order.

[12] See Sec. 201, 16 U. S. C. 824.

B. Old positions.—After applicant has been authorized to hold a particular position, further application in connection with each successive term so long as he continues in uninterrupted tenure of such position will not be required except as ordered by the Commission. If the term of office or the holding of any position for which authorization has been given shall be interrupted and the applicant shall subsequently be reelected or reappointed thereto, further authorization will be required.

SEC. 5. Supplemental information.—A. Required by Commission.—Applicants hereunder shall upon request of the Commission and within such time as may be allowed, supplement any application or any supplemental application with any information required by the Commission.

B. Notice of changes.—In the event of the applicant's resignation, withdrawal, or failure of reelection or appointment in respect to any of the positions for which authorization has been granted by the Commission, or in the event of any other material or substantial change therein, the applicant shall within thirty (30) days after any such change occurs, give notice thereof to the Commission setting forth the position, company and date of termination therewith, or other material or substantial change.

C. Reports.—All persons holding positions by authorization of the Commission under Section 305 (b) may be required to file such periodic or special reports as the Commission may deem necessary.

SEC. 6. Termination of authorization.—A. By Commission.—Orders of authorization under Section 305 (b) are subject to revocation by the Commission after due notice to applicant and opportunity for hearing and in such proceeding the burden of proof shall be upon the applicant to show that neither public nor private interests will be adversely affected by the holding of such positions.

B. By applicant.—Whenever a person shall cease to hold a position theretofore authorized to be held by the Commission or such position shall cease to be within the purview of Section 305 (b) of the Federal Power Act, the Commission's authorization to hold such position shall terminate without further action by the Commission. If upon such termination of authorization as aforesaid, such person does not continue to hold at least two positions authorized and then requiring authorization pursuant to said Section 305 (b), all authorization theretofore given by the Commission shall thereupon terminate.

SEC. 7. Form of application and number of copies.—A. An original and two copies of each application and each supplement required by this rule shall be filed with the Commission. Each copy shall bear the dates and signatures that appear on the original and shall be complete in itself, but the signature in the copies may be stamped or typed and the notarial seal may be omitted. ## FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANK BOARD.

Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

[Manual Amendment]

EXPENSES IN LOAN SERVICE OPERATIONS

Be it resolved, That pursuant to the authority vested in the Board by Home Owners' Loan Act of 1933 (48 Stat. 128, 129) as amended by Sections 1 and 13 of the Act of April 27, 1934 (48 Stat. 643-647) and particularly by Sections 4-a and 4-k of said Act as amended, Chapter II of the Consolidated Manual is hereby amended by adding thereto a section which shall be appropriately numbered and read as follows:

The General Manager may, except as otherwise expressly provided by the Board, incur and approve the amount and payment of any expenses incident to the performance of any duty or function of the Loan Service Division in connection with the investigation, preparation, and processing of applications for releases, waivers, consents, subordination agreements, substitution of security, division of indebtedness and security, and extensions of time for the making of payments to the Corporation; offers of additional security; cases involving the acquisition of property covered by the Corporation's lien, or any part thereof, by eminent domain; cases where the land or improvements covered by the Corporation's lien have been damaged or destroyed by fire, flood, windstorm, landslide, or other hazard where the loss is not covered by insurance; and cases apparently insoluble in which foreclosure or the acceptance of a voluntary conveyance is contemplated. Such officers, respectively, may determine, with the advice of the General Counsel, whether any expenses not paid by the home owner shall be charged to the home owner's account or to Corporation expense. All sums not exceeding $50.00 for these purposes shall be advanced or paid from such funds as the Comptroller may direct, in accordance with established Corporation policy. Any legal fees and expenses shall be incurred, approved and paid in the manner provided in Chapter VI of the Manual.

In cases where it appears to them to be for the best interests of the Corporation, the General Manager is likewise authorized to waive the requirement that funds for appraisal, credit report, or other expense in connection with loan service operations be deposited in advance or paid by the home owner upon consummation of such transaction.

Any Regional, State, or District Manager, with the advice or approval of Regional, State, or District Counsel, as may be required, may exercise the authority herein granted, under procedure and limitations prescribed and promulgated by the General Manager with the approval of the General Counsel; and

Be it further resolved, That the provisions of this resolution shall become effective twenty (20) days after this date, exclusive of Sundays and holidays.

Adopted by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board on January 19, 1937.

PART II. DRIVING OF MOTOR VEHICLES

Regulations prescribed under authority of the Motor Carrier Act, 1935, particularly section 204 (a), (1) and (2), with respect to the driving of motor vehicles operated in interstate or foreign commerce by common and contract carriers, except motor vehicles engaged in operations specified in section 203 (b) of said act. Regulations effective July 1, 1937

1. As used in these regulations—

(a) The term "motor vehicle" means any vehicle, machine, tractor, trailer, or semitrailer propelled or drawn by mechanical power and used upon the highways in the transportation of passengers or property, and any combination of such vehicles, but does not include any vehicle, locomotive, or car operated exclusively on a rail or rails.

(b) The term "vehicle" means any vehicle or combination of vehicles of any type whatsoever operated upon the highways.

(c) The term "driver" means any individual who drives in interstate or foreign commerce any motor vehicle as defined in paragraph 1 (a) above.

rier Act, 1935, in which event the definition therein given shall apply.

2. Nothing contained in these regulations shall be construed as prohibiting any motor carrier from enforcing additional rules and regulations relating to safety of operation, not inconsistent with these regulations, tending to a greater degree of precaution against accidents.

3. Every motor carrier and his or its officers, agents, employees, and representatives shall comply with the following regulations, and every such motor carrier shall require that his or its officers, agents, employees, and representatives shall become conversant with these regulations.

Reckless Driving

4. No motor vehicle shall be driven recklessly, or so as to endanger life, limb, or property.

5. No motor vehicle shall be driven by any driver while his ability or alertness is so impaired through fatigue, illness, or any other cause as to make it unsafe for him to drive or to continue to drive a motor vehicle, nor shall he be required or knowingly be permitted to drive while in such condition, except in case of grave emergency where the hazard to passengers would be increased by observance of the foregoing provisions.

6. No driver shall go on duty while under the influence of, nor drink while on duty, any alcoholic liquor or beverage; nor shall he knowingly be permitted so to do.

Speed

7. No motor vehicle shall be driven at a speed greater than is reasonable and prudent, having due regard to weather, traffic, intersections, width and character of the roadway, type of motor vehicle, and any other conditions then existing; but in no event shall a motor vehicle be driven in or through any State, legal subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia at a speed greater than that permitted by such State, legal subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia.

Before Driving

8. No motor vehicle shall be driven unless the driver thereof shall have satisfied himself that the following required parts and accessories are in good working order:

Lighting devices and reflectors.
Brakes, both service and hand.
Horn.
Windshield wiper.
Rear vision mirror.
Tires.
Steering mechanism.
Coupling devices.

9. No motor vehicle shall be driven unless the following required accessories are in place and ready for immediate use in case of emergency:

(a) On every bus, truck, or truck tractor—

At least one fire extinguisher.
One red lantern, when projecting loads are carried.
One red-cloth flag, when projecting loads are carried.

(b) On every bus, truck, or truck tractor operating outside the corporate limits of municipalities—

All items listed under (a) above, and in addition:
At least one spare electric bulb for each kind of electric lamp where such electric lamp is used for any of the lighting devices required by these regulations.
One set of tire chains (for all vehicles likely to encounter conditions requiring them).
At least three flares (pot torches) or red electric lanterns, unless motor vehicle is operated solely on streets or highways which are artificially lighted at night.
At least three fuses (if flares are used as warning signals), unless motor vehicle is operated solely on streets or highways which are artificially lighted at night.
At least two red-cloth flags with standards.

(c) On every bus having a seating capacity of 10 or more persons, and operating outside the corporate limits of municipalities:

All items listed under (a) and (b) above, and in addition:
One metal first-aid kit.
One hand axe.

10. No motor vehicle shall be driven unless the driver thereof shall have satisfied himself that the tailboard or tailgate, tarpaulins, chains (except ground or contact chains), ropes, stakes, poles, and the like, or any part of the load, are securely fastened to prevent dangling, flapping, swinging, or falling from side, end, or top of load.

11. No motor vehicle which is stopped, standing, or parked shall be set in motion until due caution has been taken to ascertain that the course is clear.

Driving

12. Every motor vehicle shall be driven as far to the right side of the traveled portion of the highway as is practicable.

13. Sufficient space shall be maintained, whenever conditions permit, between vehicles proceeding in the same direction so that an overtaking vehicle may enter and occupy such space without danger. Motor vehicles proceeding in convoy shall maintain, so far as possible, a distance of at least 300 feet between units of the convoy. This rule shall not be construed to prevent overtaking and passing another vehicle.

14. Every motor vehicle transporting passengers, high explosives, or poisonous or compressed inflammable gases, and every motor vehicle used for the transportation of inflammable or corrosive liquids in bulk, whether loaded or empty, shall, upon approaching any railroad grade crossing, be brought to a full stop within 50 feet, but not less than 10 feet, from the nearest rail of such railroad grade crossing, and shall not proceed until due caution has been taken to ascertain that the course is clear; provided, however, that such full stop shall not be required at a street-car crossing within a business or residence district, nor at a railroad grade crossing protected by a watchman or traffic officer on duty or by a traffic-control "stop and go" signal (not railroad flashing signal) giving positive indication to approaching vehicles to proceed. Any other motor vehicle shall, upon approaching a railroad grade crossing, reduce speed to a rate that shall enable a stop to be made before reaching the nearest rail of such crossing and shall proceed to cross only after due caution has been taken to ascertain that the course is clear. In all cases, crossing shall be made only in such gear that there shall be no necessity for changing gears while traversing such crossing. Nothing contained in this paragraph shall be so construed as to relieve the driver of the responsibility in any case of exercising due caution to ascertain that the course is clear before proceeding over such crossings.

15. Every motor vehicle transporting passengers shall, upon approaching any drawbridge, known or marked as such, be brought to a full stop, not less than 50 feet from the lip of the draw, and shall not proceed unless the draw is closed; provided, however, that such full stop shall not be required at any drawbridge protected by a watchman or traffic officer on duty, or by a traffic control "stop and go" signal giving positive indication to approaching vehicles to proceed. Any other motor vehicle upon approaching any drawbridge shall be driven at such speed as to permit it to be stopped before reaching the lip of the draw and shall proceed only if the draw is closed. Nothing contained in this paragraph shall be so construed as to relieve the driver of the responsibility in any case of exercising due caution to ascertain that the draw is closed.

16. Except in case of emergency, no motor vehicle shall be stopped, its speed suddenly decreased, nor its course or direction changed, unless the driver thereof shall have exercised due caution to ascertain that such acts can be performed without endangering other users of the highway.

17. Upon all highways any right turn shall be made from a position which is as close as practicable to the extreme right side of the traveled portion of the highway. Upon two-way highways any left turn shall be made from a position which is as close as practicable to the center of the traveled portion of the highway. Upon one-way highways and upon highways on which the opposing streams of traffic are separated by a dividing strip or zone, any left turn shall be made from a position which is as close as practicable to the extreme left side of the traveled portion of such highways. In all cases turns shall be made with due caution, having due regard to the length of the motor vehicle and any load thereon, the width of the roadway, and other traffic. Before making any turn the motor vehicle shall be driven into the proper lane well in advance of the intersection.

18. No motor vehicle shall be driven past a vehicle or vehicles proceeding in the same direction, unless there is ample visible space ahead to do so without endangering any other user of the highway; if necessary, an audible signal of intention to pass shall be sounded. After passing, the motor vehicle shall not be returned to the right side of the roadway until safely clear of the overtaken vehicle or vehicles.

19. The speed of a motor vehicle shall not be increased to prevent being overtaken by another vehicle attempting to pass.

20. No motor vehicle shall be driven upon a down grade with gears in neutral or clutch disengaged.

21. Any motor vehicle when meeting or overtaking any school or other bus discharging or taking on passengers shall proceed with extreme caution and only if the course ahead is known to be clear.

Stopping

22. No motor vehicle shall be stopped, parked, or left standing, whether attended or unattended, upon the traveled portion of any highway outside of a business or residence district, when it is practicable to stop, park, or leave the motor vehicle off the traveled portion of such highway. When conditions make it impracticable to move the motor vehicle from the traveled portion of the highway, every effort shall be made to leave all possible width of the highway opposite such standing motor vehicle for the free passage of other vehicles, and care taken to provide a clear view of such stopped motor vehicle as far as possible to the front and rear.

23. Whenever any motor vehicle is disabled upon the traveled portion of any highway or shoulder next thereto, except within the corporate limits of municipalities or upon streets or highways which are artificially lighted at night, the following requirements shall be complied with during the period of such disablement:

(a) During the time that lights are required (see paragraph 25), except as provided in subparagraphs (b) and (c) hereof, a lighted fusee shall be immediately placed on the roadway at the traffic side of the motor vehicle; as soon thereafter as possible and in any case within the burning period of the fusee, three lighted flares (pot torches) shall be placed on the roadway, as follows: One in the center of the lane of traffic occupied by the disabled motor vehicle and not less than 40 paces (approximately 100 feet) distant therefrom in the direction of traffic approaching in that lane, one not less than 40 paces (approximately 100 feet) from such vehicle in the opposite direction, and one at the traffic side of such vehicle, not closer than 10 feet from the front or rear thereof; provided, however, that if the motor vehicle is disabled within 300 feet of a curve, crest of a hill, or other obstruction to view, the flare in that direction shall be so placed as to afford ample warning to other users of the highway, but in no case less than 40 paces (approximately 100 feet) nor more than 120 paces (approximately 300 feet) from the disabled vehicle.

(c) During such time as lights are not required, red flags shall be used in place of flares or electric lanterns as specified in subparagraphs (a) and (b) above, except that no flag shall be required to be placed at the side of the vehicle; provided, however, that if such disablement continues into the period when lights are required, flares or red electric lanterns shall be placed as above set forth.

24. No motor vehicle shall be left unattended until after the parking (hand) brake has been securely set and all other reasonable precautions have been taken to prevent its movement while unattended.

Lights

25. On every motor vehicle operated upon the highways, all lamps required by the regulations of the Commission shall be lighted during the period from one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise, and at any other time when there is not sufficient light to render clearly discernible persons and vehicles on the highway at a distance of 500 feet ahead, except as provided in paragraph 29, and except that within the confines of municipalities where there is sufficient light to render clearly discernible persons and vehicles upon the highway at a distance of 500 feet ahead, clearance and side-marker lights shall not be required to be displayed; provided, however, that while any motor vehicle is stopped upon the highway, the headlights shall be dimmed or depressed.

26. When a motor vehicle is equipped with more than four lamps of the character of head lamps, auxiliary road-lighting lamps, or spot lamps, not more than four such lamps shall be lighted at any one time.

27. Whenever the road-lighting equipment on a motor vehicle is so arranged that the driver may select at will between two or more distributions of light from head lamps or auxiliary road-lighting lamps or combinations thereof, directed to different elevations, the following requirements shall apply while driving during the times when lights are required:

(a) When there is no oncoming vehicle within 500 feet, the driver shall use an upper distribution of light; provided, however, that a lower distribution of light may be used when fog, dust, or other atmospheric conditions make it desirable for reasons of safety, and when within the confines of municipalities where there is sufficient light to render clearly discernible persons and vehicles on the highway at a distance of 500 feet ahead, and when following another vehicle within 500 feet.

(b) When within 500 feet of an oncoming vehicle, the driver shall use a distribution of light so aimed that the glaring rays therefrom are not directed into the eyes of the oncoming driver.

28. At no time while driving during the times when lights are required shall any distribution of light be used which will not reveal a person or vehicle at a distance of at least 100 feet ahead under normal atmospheric conditions; provided, however, that dimmed headlights may be used in fog when they tend to promote safety.

29. Whenever motor vehicles are operated in combination during the time that lights are required, any lamp (except tail lamps) need not be lighted which, by reason of its location on a motor vehicle of the combination, would be obscured by another vehicle of the combination; provided, however, that nothing contained in this paragraph shall be construed to relieve from the requirement of displaying lighted clearance lamps on the front of the foremost motor vehicle required to have such clearance lamps, nor of displaying all lights required on the rear of the rearmost motor vehicle of any combination of motor vehicles.

30. In using a spot light, upon approaching another vehicle, it shall be so aimed that no part of the high-intensity portion of the beam therefrom is directed beyond the left side of the motor vehicle upon which the spot lamp is mounted, nor more than 100 feet ahead of such motor vehicle.

Hazardous Conditions

31. Extreme caution in the operation of motor vehicles shall be exercised under hazardous conditions, such as snow, ice, sleet, fog, mist, rain, dust, smoke, or any other condition which adversely affects visibility or traction, and speed shall be reduced accordingly.

In Case of Accident

32. The driver of any motor vehicle involved in an accident resulting in death, personal injury, or property damage, shall forthwith stop at the scene of the accident and remain there until he shall have (a) rendered all possible assistance to injured persons; and (b) given to any person demanding the same his name and address, the name and address of his employer, if any, and his vehicle registration number. He shall take all reasonable precautions to prevent further accidents at the scene. As soon as possible after the accident the driver (if not himself a motor carrier) shall report all details of the accident to his employer or supervisory official.

Miscellaneous

33. No motor vehicle shall be fueled or be permitted to be fueled with engine running, or in the presence of any open flame. Care shall be exercised to prevent the ignition of fuel by lighted cigars, cigarets, pipes, or other sources of ignition. The nozzle of the fuel hose shall be in contact with the intake of the fuel tank throughout the fueling process. No passenger-carrying motor vehicle shall be fueled in a closed building with passengers aboard. No reserve supply of gasoline shall be carried on any motor vehicle except in the main fuel tank or in a properly constructed and mounted auxiliary tank.

34. No motor vehicle shall be so loaded as to obscure the driver's view ahead or to either side, or to interfere with the free movement of his arms or legs, or to prevent his free and ready access to the accessories required for emergencies.

35. During the time when lights are required to be displayed, there shall be attached to the rearmost extremity of any load which projects 4 feet or more beyond the rear of the body of the motor vehicle, or to any tailboard or tailgate so projecting, or to the rearmost extremity of any load carried on a pole trailer, at least one red lantern securely fastened thereto, which will be visible from a distance of at least 500 feet to the sides and rear under normal atmospheric conditions. At all other times a red cloth flag shall be so displayed.

36. No motor vehicle shall be operated with the tailboard or tailgate in such position as to obscure any of the required rear lights or reflectors.

37. No person, except the carrier, employees of the carrier, representatives of the shipper when their presence is necessary for the safe care of livestock or perishable cargo, representatives of the Commission, or public officials in the proper performance of their duties, shall be transported upon any motor vehicle not designed and used for the transportation of passengers; provided, however, that each person permitted by this paragraph to be transported upon such motor vehicle, except those engaged in the actual operation of the motor vehicle, shall have printed or written authority therefor from the carrier; and provided further, that nothing contained in this paragraph shall be so construed as to prohibit the carrying of any person in case of an accident, or in other emergencies.

PART III. PARTS AND ACCESSORIES NECESSARY FOR SAFE OPERATION

Regulations prescribed under authority of the Motor Carrier Act, 1935, particularly section 204 (a), (1) and (2), with respect to parts and accessories on motor vehicles operated in interstate or foreign commerce by common and contract carriers, except motor vehicles engaged in operations specified in section 203 (b) of said act. Regulations effective July 1, 1937

1. As used in these regulations—

(a) The term "motor vehicle" means any vehicle, machine, tractor, trailer, or semitrailer propelled or drawn by mechanical power and used upon the highways in the transportation of passengers or property, and any combination of such vehicles, but does not include any vehicle, locomotive, or car operated exclusively on a rail or rails.

(b) The term "bus" means any motor vehicle designed and used for the carrying of passengers.

(c) The term "truck" means any motor vehicle designed and used exclusively for the carrying of property.

(d) The term "truck tractor" means any motor vehicle designed and used primarily for drawing other vehicles and not so constructed as to carry a load other than a part of the weight of the vehicle and load so drawn.

(e) The term "semitrailer" means any vehicle other than a "pole trailer", without motive power and designed to be drawn by another vehicle and so constructed that some part of its weight and that of its load rests upon, or is carried by, the towing vehicle.

(f) The term "full trailer" means any vehicle, other than a "pole trailer", without motive power, designed to be drawn by another vehicle and so constructed that no part of its weight rests upon the towing vehicle.

(g) The term "pole trailer" means any vehicle without motive power, possibly of variable wheel base, designed to be drawn by another vehicle, and attached to the towing vehicle by means of a "reach", or "pole", or by being "boomed" or otherwise secured to the towing vehicle, and ordinarily used for transporting long or irregular-shaped loads such as poles, pipes, or structural members capable, generally, of sustaining themselves as beams between the supporting connections.

(h) The term "gross weight" means the weight of the motor vehicle without load plus the weight of any load thereon.

(i) Any other term used in these regulations is used in its commonly accepted meaning, except where such other term has been defined in section 203 (a) of the Motor Carrier Act, 1935, in which event the definition therein given shall apply.

2. Nothing contained in these regulations shall be construed to prohibit the use of additional parts and accessories, not inconsistent with these regulations, tending to increase the safety of operation of motor vehicles, and to prevent accidents.

3. Every motor carrier shall comply with the following regulations.

4. On and after July 1, 1937, every motor vehicle, according to its type and classification, shall be equipped as prescribed hereinafter in Sections A to D, inclusive:

Section A. Lighting Devices and Reflectors

(1) (a) On every bus or truck, whatever its size, there shall be the following lighting devices and reflectors:

On the front, two head lamps, one at each side.
On each side, one reflector, at or near the rear.
On the rear, one tail lamp, one stop light, and two reflectors, one at each side.
(See diagram A.)

(b) On every bus or truck 80 inches or more in over-all width or 30 feet or more in over-all length, there shall be, according to its dimensions, the following lighting devices and reflectors in addition to those required by subparagraph (a) above:

If 80 inches or more in over-all width and less than 30 feet in over-all length—

On the front, two clearance lamps, one at each side.
On the rear, two clearance lamps, one at each side.
(See diagram B.)

If 30 feet or more in over-all length—

On the front, two clearance lamps, one at each side.
On each side, two side-marker lamps, one at or near the front, and one at or near the rear, and one reflector, at or near the front.
On the rear, two clearance lamps, one at each side.
(See diagram C. )

(c) On every truck tractor, there shall be the following lighting devices and reflectors:

On the front, two head lamps, one at each side; two clearance lamps, one at each side, if tractor cab is as wide as, or wider than, the widest part of any vehicle or vehicles being towed.
On each side, one side-marker lamp located at or near the front.
On the rear, one tail lamp.
(See diagrams D (1) and (2).)

(d) On every semitrailer or full trailer having a gross weight in excess of 3,000 pounds there shall be the following lighting devices and reflectors:

On the front, two clearance lamps, one at each side, if the trailer is wider in its widest part than the cab of the truck tractor towing it.
On each side, one side-marker lamp located at or near the rear; two reflectors, one at or near the front, and one at or near the rear.
On the rear, two clearance lamps, one at each side; one stop light; one tail lamp; and two reflectors, one at each side.
(See diagrams E (1) and (2).)

(e) On every pole trailer having a gross weight in excess of 3,000 pounds there shall be carried at each side one side-marker lamp and one clearance lamp; on the rear, one tail lamp; and on the rear of the pole trailer or load, two reflectors, one at each side. (See diagram F.)

(f) On the rear of every full trailer, semitrailer, or pole trailer having a gross weight of 3,000 pounds or less, there shall be one tail lamp and two reflectors, one at each side. If such semitrailer or full trailer is so loaded or is of such dimensions as to obscure the stop light on the towing vehicle, it shall also be equipped with one stop light. (See diagram G.)

(2) No lighting device of the character of head lamps, auxiliary road-lighting lamps, or spot lamps mounted on the front of any motor vehicle shall, when lighted, display any other color than white, yellow, or amber.

No red lighting device of any character shall be mounted on the front of any motor vehicle.

All lighting devices mounted on the rear of any motor vehicle shall display a red light, except the stop light, the color of which may be red, amber, or yellow.

(3) Front clearance lamps shall display an amber color when lighted; provided, however, that clearance lamps in present equipment otherwise complying with these regulations may display a green color until replacements are made.

Rear clearance lamps shall display a red color when lighted.

Side-marker lamps shall display the same color when lighted as the clearance lamps to which they are adjacent.

(4) Any reflector required to be mounted on the sides near the front of a motor vehicle shall reflect a color corresponding to the color of light displayed by the front clearance lamps of the motor vehicle or combination of motor vehicles. Any reflector required to be mounted on the sides near the rear of the motor vehicle shall reflect a red color. Any reflector mounted on the rear of any motor vehicle shall reflect a red color.

(5) Front clearance lamps, side-marker lamps, rear clearance lamps, and tail lamps, when lighted, shall be capable of being seen and distinguished under normal atmospheric conditions during the time when lights are required at a distance of 500 feet from the front, side, and rear of the motor vehicle, respectively.

6. Clearance lamps shall be mounted on the permanent structure of the motor vehicle in such a manner as to indicate its extreme width and as near the top thereof as practicable; provided, however, that where identification or bar lights (three lights in a row, mounted at the top of the cab or body) are located on the front of any motor vehicle, the requirement of this paragraph with regard to maximum height of mounting need not apply. [5] To be mounted as near the top as the permanent structure of the vehicle permits, unless identification lights (three bar lights in a row) are used, in which case front clearance lamps may be mounted at platform level.
[6] Front clearance lamps on new vehicles shall be amber. Where green is used for front clearance lamps on present equipment, its use is permitted, but any replacement shall be amber.
[7] Side marker lamps near the front shall be the same color as adjacent front clearance lamps.
[8] Side marker reflectors near the front shall be the same color as the front side marker lamps.
[9] Need not be mounted on, but in any case must show toward, the front.
[10] Rear reflectors may be mounted one on each side of bolster or load of a pole trailer.
[11] Stop light on small trailer required if stop light on towing vehicle is obscured.
[12] Same for full trailers and semitrailers of this type except that head lamps are not required.

(7) Stop lights shall be actuated upon application of the service (foot) brake, and shall be capable of being seen and distinguished from a distance of 100 feet to the rear of the motor vehicle in normal daylight; but shall not project a glaring or dazzling light. It is permissible that the stop light be incorporated with the tail lamp.

(8) No reflector required by these regulations shall be mounted upon the motor vehicle at a height to exceed 60 inches, nor less than 24 inches, above the ground upon which the motor vehicle stands; provided that, if the highest part of the permanent structure of a motor vehicle upon which a reflector is required to be mounted is less than 24 inches, the required reflector at such point or points shall be mounted as near the maximum height of that part as such permanent structure will permit. Every reflector shall be of such size and characteristics as to be readily visible at night from all distances within 500 feet to 50 feet from the motor vehicle when directly in front of a normal headlight beam. It is permissible that one of the required red reflectors on the rear of the motor vehicle be incorporated with the tail lamp.

(NOTE.—Any reflex reflector approved by any of the States listed below, or by any other State having equivalent or superior requirements, or any reflex reflector meeting the requirements as set forth in "S. A. E. Recommended Practice" for reflex reflectors, as promulgated by the Society of Automotive Engineers, shall be deemed to meet the requirements of paragraph (8) with respect to performance characteristics. The listed States are New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, and California.)

(9) The lighting devices or reflectors required by these regulations shall be mounted, so far as practicable, in such a manner as to reduce the likelihood of their being obscured by mud or dust thrown up by the wheels.

Section B. Brakes

(1) Every bus, truck, and truck tractor shall be equipped with brakes adequate to control the movement of, and to stop and to hold, such vehicle, including two separate means of applying the brakes. If these two separate means of applying the brakes are connected in any way, they shall be so constructed that failure of any one part of the operating mechanism shall not leave the vehicle without brakes adequate to stop and to hold such vehicle.

(2) Every combination of motor vehicles shall be equipped with brakes upon one or more of such motor vehicles, adequate to stop and to hold such combination of motor vehicles.

(3) Every motor vehicle or combination of motor vehicles, according to its type, shall be capable at all times and under all conditions of loading, of stopping on a dry, smooth, level road free from loose material, upon application of the service (foot) brake, within the distances specified below, or shall be capable of decelerating at a sustained rate corresponding to these distances:

| | Feet to stop from 20 miles per hour | Deceleration in feet per second per second [1] |
|---|---|---|
| Vehicles or combinations of vehicles having brakes on all wheels | 30 | 14 |
| Vehicles or combinations of vehicles not having brakes on all wheels | 45 | 9.5 |

[1] Equivalence with stopping distances listed only to the nearest half foot.

(Note.—The means used for enforcement purposes to determine if a motor vehicle or combination of motor vehicles is in compliance with the provisions of the above paragraph, will be by an instrument or a machine capable of being read in feet to stop from 20 miles per hour, deceleration in feet per second per second, or other equivalent units; the manner of use of these instruments or machines to be prescribed for each type of instrument or machine so used.)

(4) In any combination of motor vehicles, means shall be provided for applying the rearmost trailer brakes, of any trailer equipped with brakes, in approximate synchronism with the brakes on the towing vehicle and developing the required braking effort on the rearmost wheels at the fastest rate; or means shall be provided for applying braking effort first on the rearmost trailer equipped with brakes; or both of the above means capable of being used alternatively may be employed.

(5) Means of braking, the operating controls of which shall be independent of the operating controls of the service (foot) brake, shall be provided to hold any motor vehicle or combination of motor vehicles stationary on any up or down grade upon which it is to be operated.

Section C. Safety Glass

(1) Whenever glass is replaced in the windshield and in the window next to the driver, in a bus, truck, or truck tractor; or in the doors and rear windows of a bus; or in the rear window of the driving compartment of a truck or truck tractor, the replacement shall be made with safety glass, which shall conform to the requirements contained in the "American Tentative Standard. Safety Code for Safety Glass for Glazing Motor Vehicles Operating on Land Highways, Z 26.1–1935", approved December 30, 1935, by the American Standards Association; provided, however, that "tempered" or "case-hardened" glass shall not be used to meet the requirements of this paragraph.

Section D. Miscellaneous Parts and Accessories

(1) Every motor vehicle having a windshield shall be equipped with at least one device for cleaning rain, snow, or other moisture from the windshield in order to provide clear vision for the driver, which device shall be so constructed as to be controlled or operated by the driver.

(2) Every truck, bus, and truck tractor shall be equipped with at least one rear-vision mirror, firmly attached to the motor vehicle, and so located as to reflect to the driver a view of the highway to the rear.

(3) Every motor vehicle which is equipped with a windshield, when operating under conditions such that ice or frost would be likely to collect on the windshield, shall be equipped with a device or other means for preventing or removing such ice or frost.

(4) Every truck, bus, and truck tractor shall be equipped with a horn and actuating elements which shall be in such condition as to give an adequate and reliable warning signal.

(6) Any gasoline tank carried upon a motor vehicle, including any auxiliary tank, shall be of substantial construction, permanently attached to the motor vehicle in a manner similar to that which constitutes good practice in permanent installations.

(7) Every full trailer shall be equipped with a coupling device which shall be so designed and constructed that the trailer will follow substantially in the path of the vehicle drawing it without whipping or swerving from side to side. In addition, every such full trailer shall be coupled with stay chains or cables to the vehicle by which it is being drawn, which chains or cables shall be of sufficient size and strength to prevent parting from the drawing vehicle should the regular coupling device break or become otherwise disengaged.

(8) Every motor vehicle according to its type or character of operation as listed below, shall carry at all times the following emergency parts and accessories, which shall be in proper and effective working order and available for immediate use:

(a) On every bus, truck, or truck tractor—

At least three flares or three red electric lanterns, unless the motor vehicle is operated solely on streets or highways which are artificially lighted at night; each flare (liquid-burning pot torch) or red electric lantern shall be capable of being seen and distinguished at a distance of 500 feet under normal atmospheric conditions; each flare (pot torch) shall be capable of burning for not less than 12 hours in five miles per hour wind velocity, capable of burning in any air velocities from zero to 40 miles per hour, substantially constructed so as to withstand reasonable shocks without leaking, and shall be carried in a metal rack or box; each red electric lantern shall be capable of operating continuously for not less than 12 hours and shall be substantially constructed so as to withstand reasonable shock without breakage.
At least three red-burning fusees (if carrier elects to carry and use flares as warning signals), unless the motor vehicle is operated solely on streets or highways which are artificially lighted at night; each fusee shall be made in accordance with specifications of the Bureau of Explosives, 30 Vesey Street, New York, N. Y., and so marked, and shall be capable of burning at least 15 minutes.
At least two red-cloth flags, not less than 12 inches square, with standards.

(NOTE.—Flares (pot torches), fusees, or any signal produced by a flame, shall not be carried or used as warning signals for motor vehicles used in the transportation of inflammable liquids in bulk, and for motor vehicles transporting compressed inflammable gases; but in lieu of such flares and fusees, three red electric lanterns shall be carried and used as warning signals for such vehicles.)

Accident reports made by motor carriers in compliance with these regulations shall be for the information of the Commission, and shall not be open to public inspection.

1. Every motor carrier shall mail to the district director, Bureau of Motor Carriers, for the district in which such motor carrier is domiciled, a report in writing as to every accident in which any motor vehicle operated by him or it is involved and from which there results the death of any person, personal injury requiring medical attention, or property damage to an apparent extent amounting to $100 or more, within 10 days after the date of such accident.

Such report shall include the following information:

(a) Date, hour, and exact location of the accident.

(b) Name and address of the reporting carrier, with identifying number assigned to the carrier by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and signature and title of person making report.

(c) Type of motor vehicle involved.

(d) Number of persons killed or injured, with statement as to whether injuries are of serious or minor nature; and

(e) Estimated amount of property damage.

2. A further detailed report as to each reportable accident shall be furnished promptly by the motor carrier upon demand, using for this purpose a form to be sent to him by the Bureau of Motor Carriers.

3. Whenever the death of any person results from such accident after the time the motor carrier submits report of the accident to the district director, as required by paragraphs 1 and 2 of this section, notice of such death shall be given by the motor carrier in writing to the said district director, as soon as such death is known to the motor carrier, with sufficient information to identify the accident from which the death resulted.

4. Every motor carrier shall make available to the duly authorized representative or representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission all records which in any way pertain to any reportable accident and shall afford all reasonable assistance in the investigation of any such accident.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

NER—B-101—Maine — Issued, January 19, 1937

BULLETIN NO. 101—MAINE

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, payments will be made, in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of said Act for 1937, in accordance with the following provisions of this bulletin No. 101 for Maine, and such modifications or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has been developed in accordance with the provisions of sections 8, 15, and 16 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, but the payment of any benefits pursuant to the provisions of this bulletin is contingent upon such appropriation, if any, as the Congress of the United States may hereafter make for such purpose, and the amounts of such payments will be finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of participation in the program. The rates of payment and the allowances herein set forth are computed upon the basis of an appropriation of $500,000,000 and 85 percent participation by farmers in all regions. Such rates of payment and allowances may be increased or decreased, depending upon the extent of participation, but such variations will not be in excess of 10 percent.

Part I. Payment for Soil-Building Practices

Under the 1937 Conservation Program, Maine farmers who carry out soil-building practices that they select from the list below will be repaid a part of the cost. The amount of payment for performing each practice is stated with the description of practices in this section.

Payment will be dependent upon the practice being performed in accordance with the generally accepted standards of good farming practice with the use of the kinds and quantities of seeds and other materials which are normally employed to obtain good results. Each farmer contemplating applying for payment for carrying out any of the soil-building practices listed below should ascertain in advance, from instructions issued through his county committee, whether the intended practice can be certified as practical under the local conditions applicable to his farm. Such instructions will be applicable to particular areas or farms and will set forth which of such practices are economically justified in such areas or on such farms and the proper kinds and quantities of seeds or other materials or substitutes to be used in order properly to carry out the practice.

Payment under the 1937 Program will be restricted to practices carried out before December 1, 1937.

If a practice calls for the use of specific materials (such as limestone) a farmer may qualify for payment by substituting equivalent amounts of any other approved material which serves the same purpose.

No payment will be made for a practice carried out on any acreage if labor, seed, or other materials used in carrying out the practice are furnished free or paid for by a State or Federal Agency.

A farmer may earn soil-building payments up to the limit of his soil-building allowance. If the total of the payments qualified for is larger than his allowance, he will receive an amount equal to his allowance, which shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of part II of this bulletin.

Practice Number and Description of Practice

LIMING

1. Applying 500 to 4,000 lbs. of ground limestone, or its equivalent, per acre to crop or pasture land.

Payment.—In Area A, $1.00 per 500 lbs; In Area B, $1.25 per 500 lbs.

Area A includes: Waldo, Kennebec, Knox, Lincoln, Androscoggin, Sagadahoc, and Cumberland Counties.

Area B includes: Hancock, Oxford, Franklin, Somerset, Aroostook, Penobscot, Piscataquis, Washington, and York Counties.

FERTILIZING CONSERVING CROPS

Applying phosphoric acid, potash, or nitrogen or approved combinations of these materials in approved amounts, subject to such limitations as are stated herein or may be specified later, to established sod (in pastures, orchards, or hay lands) or in connection with the seeding of biennial or perennial legumes or green-manure crops. No payment will be made for nitrogen in any use in excess of 32 pounds per acre, or for nitrogen applied to hay land in excess of 24 pounds per acre. When phosphoric acid is applied in connection with a seeding made in a nurse crop which is harvested for grain, the payment will be made only for amounts of phosphoric acid in excess of 32 pounds per acre. Payments will also be made for phosphoric acid when added to farm manures as a preservative and reinforcement in approved amounts and when such farm manures are for use on established sod or in connection with the seeding of biennial or perennial legumes or green-manure crops.

2. Payment, For available phosphoric acid, 4¢ per lb.
3. For available potash, 3¢ per lb.
4. For available nitrogen, 4¢ per lb.

SEEDING

5. Seeding approved varieties of biennial or perennial legumes or mixtures containing such legumes, using at least 8 pounds per acre of approved medium red clover seed or its equivalent in other legume seed, on land prepared for seeding by the application of amounts of lime and fertilizer specified through the county committee, or on land without such application when soil tests satisfactory to the committee indicate that the application is not needed.

Payment, $2.00 per acre.

GREEN-MANURE AND COVER CROPS

6. Plowing or disking under small grains, annual grasses or mixtures of those with legumes after they have attained at least two months' or 12 inches' growth.

Payment, $1.50 per acre.

7. Plowing or disking under biennial or perennial legumes from which no crop has been harvested and for which no seeding payment will be, or has been, made under this or any previous program, and which have attained at least two months' or 12 inches' growth, or annual legumes which have attained such growth.

Payment, $2.50 per acre.

The rate of payment will be doubled for practices 6 and 7 above when carried out on land normally devoted to commercial vegetables (excluding potatoes) so that the green-manure crop replaces at least one crop of commercial vegetables in 1937.

Leaving the entire crop on the land during the winter may be substituted for the plowing or disking under in practice 6 or 7 if the crop is one that is normally winter tilled.

GREEN-MANURE AND COVER CROPS ON POTATO LAND

8. Plowing under after August 15, 1937, on land normally devoted to commercial potato production, from which no crop has been harvested in 1937, a second year crop of clover in its entirety (first and second crop).

Payment, $3.00 per acre.

ORCHARDS

9. Applying to orchards not less than 2 tons per acre of mulching material in addition to leaving in the orchard all materials produced therein during 1937 from grasses, legumes, or green-manure or cover crops.

Payment, $2.00 per ton on an amount not in excess of 5 tons per acre.

CONTOUR CULTIVATING AND STRIP CROPPING IN AROOSTOOK COUNTY ONLY

10. Cultivating on the contour when the slope is 5 percent or greater. This practice shall be carried out according to plans approved in advance by the county committee based upon the recommendation of the Soil Conservation Service.

Payment, $2.00 per acre so cultivated.

11. Establishing and maintaining contour strips of sod on fields with a slope of 5 percent or greater devoted to intertilled crops. This practice shall be carried out according to plans approved in advance by the county committee based upon the recommendation of the Soil Conservation Service.

Payment, $2.00 per acre of such sod strips.

12. Planting transplanted forest trees of approved varieties at the rate of at least 1000 trees per acre.

Payment, $10.00 per acre.

13. With prior approval of the county committee in accordance with instructions issued through the State committee, improving the stand of forest trees by cutting weed trees or thinning or pruning, to develop approximately 100 potential timber trees of desirable species well distributed over an acre of woodland.

Payment, $3.00 per acre.

14. Constructing fence consisting of not less than two strands of barbed wire with posts or other suitable supports not more than one rod apart, for the purpose of excluding livestock from farm woodland previously used for pasture.

Payment, $.15 per rod.

15. Constructing fence consisting of not less than three strands of barbed wire, or woven wire, at least 24 inches high, with not less than one strand of barbed wire, with posts or other suitable supports not more than one rod apart, for the purpose of excluding livestock from farm woodlots previously used for pasture.

Payment, $.20 per rod.

Part II. Soil-Building Allowance

The soil-building allowance for any farm is the maximum amount that may be paid for carrying out soil-building practices on that farm.

SECTION 1. The soil-building allowance for any farm not eligible to earn a diversion payment shall be the sum of such of the following items as are applicable to that farm, but shall not be less than $20.00 for any such farm.

(a) Crop land.—$1.00 for each acre of crop land, excluding commercial orchards, on the farm on January 1, 1937.

(b) Commercial orchards.—$2.00 for each acre of commercial orchards cultivated on the farm on January 1, 1937.

(c) Commercial vegetable land.—$1.00 for each acre of crop land on which only one crop of commercial vegetables was grown in 1936; $2.00 for each acre of crop land on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown on the same acreage in 1936.

(d) Non-crop pasture land.—$.40 for each acre of fenced non-crop open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of crop land on the farm.

SECTION 2. The soil-building allowance for any farm eligible to earn a diversion payment will be the sum of such of the following items as are applicable to such farm, but shall not be less than $10.00 for any such farm.

(a) Crop land.—$1.00 for each acre of crop land represented by the sum of

(1) The difference between the general soil-depleting base for the farm and the total acres of crop land, excluding commercial orchards, vineyards, and bush fruits, and

(2) the number of acres diverted from such base not in excess of the maximum diversion for the farm for which payment can be made.

(b) Commercial orchards.—$2.00 for each acre of commercial orchards cultivated on the farm on January 1, 1937.

(c) Commercial vegetable land.—$1.00 for each acre of crop land on which only one crop of commercial vegetables was grown in 1936; $2.00 for each acre of crop land on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown on the same acreage in 1936.

(d) Non-crop pasture land.—$0.40 for each acre of fenced non-crop open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of crop land on the farm.

Part III. Diversion Payment

SECTION 1. Payment for Diversion.—For each acre diverted from the general soil-depleting base for any farm eligible to earn a diversion payment not in excess of 15 percent of such base, payment will be made at a rate which will average $9.00 per acre for the United States varied among farms according to the relative productivity of crop land used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base.

SECTION 2. Farms Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment.—A farm shall be eligible to earn a diversion payment if it is located in an eligible diversion area and either (1) has a general soil-depleting base of 20 acres or more, or (2) is designated by the county committee as eligible to earn a diversion payment, such designation to be based upon the history of the production of soil-depleting crops on such farm or by the operator thereof.

SECTION 3. Eligible Diversion Areas.—Diversion payment as described in section 1 above will be made in the State of Maine only in Aroostook, Penobscot, Piscataquis, Somerset, and Waldo Counties and such other counties as may be designated by the Secretary after considering the facts and any recommendations made by the county and State committees.

Part IV. Provisions Affecting Payment

SECTION 1. Increase in Acreage of General Soil-Depleting Crops on Farms in Eligible Diversion Areas.—If the 1937 acreage of general soil-depleting crops exceeds the general soil-depleting base a deduction will be made from any payment otherwise earned for the farm for each acre of such excess at the rate per acre of the diversion payment for the farm; Provided, however, that in the case of any farm not eligible to earn a diversion payment, no deduction will be made with respect to the acreage of general soil-depleting crops grown in excess of the general soil-depleting base unless the acreage of such crops grown in 1937 exceeds 20 acres.

SECTION 2. Minimum Acreage of Soil-Conserving Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on a farm eligible for a diversion payment is less than the sum of the soil-conserving base and the acreage diverted for payment from the general soil-depleting base, a deduction will be made at the rate of $3.00 per acre of such deficiency.

SECTION 3. Increase in Acreage of General Soil-Depleting Crops on Farms Not in Eligible Diversion Areas.—The Secretary reserves the right in the case of any farm which in 1937 has an acreage of general soil-depleting crops in excess of 20 acres to make a deduction, from any payment that would otherwise be made for such farm, at the rate of $9.00 per acre adjusted to the productivity index for the county, for each acre by which such 1937 acreage of general soil-depleting crops exceeds the general soil-depleting base which can be established for such farm. If in 1937 the Secretary exercises the right reserved herein to make deductions with respect to such farms, the procedure to be followed for the establishment of bases shall be in accordance with such instructions as may be issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 4. Association Expenses.—Under such rules as the Secretary may prescribe there shall be deducted from the payment to any person with respect to a farm or farms in a county all or such part as the Secretary may prescribe of such person's pro rata share of the estimated administrative expenses incurred and to be incurred by the County Agricultural Conservation Association of the county in which such farm or farms are located.

There shall be credited to each County Agricultural Conservation Association for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 per application for that number of applications submitted by members of such association under which it is estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 5. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person may be withheld if any rotation, cropping, or other practice is adopted by such person, which the Secretary determines tends to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

SECTION 6. Applicability to Farms under Special Programs.—The Secretary may designate one or more counties or other areas for which special programs for 1937 will be developed under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. In the event that any such county or other area is designated, the allowances, rates, and conditions of payment for such county or other area will be set forth in a special bulletin and the provisions of the State bulletin shall not be applicable in such county or other designated area.

On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration, payment will be made only for carrying out such soil-building practices as are, prior to performance, approved for the farm by the county committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

Part V. Classification of Land Use and Crops

Farm land, when devoted to crops and uses indicated hereinafter, shall be classified as follows, except for such additions or modifications as may be approved by the Secretary.

SECTION 1. Soil-Depleting.—Land on which any of the following crops are grown shall, except as provided in section 3 below, be regarded as devoted to the production of soil-depleting crops for the year in which such crops are normally harvested. In establishing soil-depleting bases and in checking performance, the acreage of land which is devoted to two or more soil-depleting crops shall be counted only once.

(a) Corn (field corn, or popcorn) except sowed corn plowed under.

(b) Potatoes.

(c) Truck and vegetable crops, including sweet corn, melons, and strawberries.

(d) Grain sorghums, sweet sorghums, Italian ryegrass, millets, and Sudan grass, if harvested for grain, hay, or forage.

(e) Small grains—wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, and grain mixtures, for grain or hay.

(f) Bulbs and flowers.

(g) Annual legumes (soybeans, cowpeas, field peas, field beans) harvested for grain or hay.

(h) Rape, except when plowed or disked under.

SECTION 2. Soil-Conserving.—Land devoted to any of the following crops shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-conserving crop except that any land from which a soil-depleting crop is harvested in the same year shall be regarded as having been used for the production of a soil-depleting crop in such year, except as provided in section 3 below.

If two or more soil-conserving crops are grown on the same land during any year the acreage of such land counted as soil-conserving shall not exceed the acreage on which such crops are grown.

(a) Sweet, medium red, alsike, and mammoth red clover, alfalfa, and white clover.

(b) Vetch, winter peas, bur or crimson clover, annual varieties of lespedeza, and crotalaria.

SECTION 3. Soil-Conserving Crops Grown on Land Used for the Production of a Soil-Depleting Crop.—Land devoted to any of the combinations of soil-depleting and soil-conserving crops listed below shall, in addition to being regarded as being used for the production of a soil-depleting crop, also be regarded as being used for the production of a soil-conserving crop as follows:

(a) All the land from which a soil-depleting crop is harvested in 1937 and followed by legumes (classified in section 2 above as soil-conserving) or perennial grasses (whether seeded in or following such crop) shall, in addition to being classified as soil-depleting, be classified as soil-conserving.

(b) All the land on which green-manure crops are seeded following commercial vegetables and plowed under as green-manure after having attained at least two months' growth or 12 inches' growth shall, in addition to being classified as soil-depleting, be classified as soil-conserving.

(b) Idle crop land.

(c) Cultivated fallow land.

(d) Waste land, roads, lanes, lots, yards, and other similar non-crop land.

(e) Woodland other than crop land planted to forest trees.

Part VI. Establishment of Bases

SECTION 1. Soil-Depleting Bases.—The county committee will recommend for approval by the Secretary a general soil-depleting base for every farm in diversion areas which shall represent the acreage normally used for the production of general soil-depleting crops on such farms. There will also be recommended for approval a productivity index or rate per acre for the general soil-depleting base for each farm.

(a) Farms for which bases were established under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program.—The general soil-depleting bases established for farms under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program shall be the soil-depleting bases for such farms in 1937 with adjustments as provided in subsection (d) of this section 1.

(b) Farms for which no bases were established in 1936.—The farms for which no bases were established under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program shall, subject to adjustment as provided in subsection (d) of this section 1 be determined upon the basis of the acreage of soil-depleting crops grown on the farm in 1936.

(c) The productivity index or rate per acre for the general soil-depleting base shall be determined upon the basis of the yield of the general soil-depleting crops grown on the farm compared to the average yield of such crops for the participating farms in the county.

(d) Adjustment in Bases.—

(1) For Abnormal Bases.—Where the number of acres of crops in the general soil-depleting base, harvested in 1936, or any bases previously established, was greater or less than such crops usually harvested on the farm, the base shall be increased or decreased so as to be comparable to the base of such crops under normal conditions. Where the normal rotation of crops in the general soil-depleting base results in variations in the acreage of such crops on the farm the base shall be adjusted to conform to such variations.

(2) For Changes in Crop Classification.—For farms for which general soil-depleting bases were established under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program there shall be added to such base an acreage of small grains harvested for grain or hay which were classified as soil-conserving in establishing such base.

(3) For Unused Bases.—If the acreage of crops in the general soil-depleting base planted on the farm in the year 1936 was substantially less than the acreage which could have been planted on the farm and still qualify for the maximum diversion payment with respect to such crops, the base shall be adjusted by the county committee so as to represent the normal plantings on the farm and so as to be equitable as compared with other farms in the locality.

(e) Limit of Bases.—The sum of the general soil-depleting bases established for farms in any county or other specified area shall not exceed the acreage for such soil-depleting base which is established for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The weighted average of the rate per acre for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for all farms for which soil-depleting bases are established in any county or other specified area shall not exceed the respective rate per acre established for such crop(s) for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Part VII. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 1. In order for a farmer to be eligible for participation in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program he must execute such forms and submit such information as may be prescribed. Such forms and information shall be filed with the county committee within time limits established by the State committee with the approval of the Director of the Northeast Division.

SECTION 2. Land To Be Included Under an Application.—An application shall cover neither more nor less than a single farm as defined in Part VIII of this bulletin.

SECTION 3. Application and Eligibility for Payment.—(a) Payment will be made only upon application on the prescribed form filed with the county committee within the time fixed by the Secretary, supported by such information regarding farming operation as may be required.

(b) An application for payment may be made by any producer who is entitled to receive all or a share of the crops produced on the farm in 1937, or of the proceeds thereof, or who incurs all or any part of the expense of soil-building practices carried out on the farm.

(c) For the purpose of determining the eligibility of a producer for a payment where the farm operated by him includes land located in two or more counties, the farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the principal dwelling is located, or, if there is no dwelling on the farm, it shall be regarded as located in the county in which the major portion of the farm is located.

SECTION 4. Division of Payments.—(a) The soil-building payment with respect to a farm covered by an application for payment shall be divided among the producers concerned, in the proportion that the county committee determines that the expenses incurred by each in carrying out the soil-building practices bears to the total expense incurred by all such producers in carrying out such practices.

(b) The diversion payment with respect to a farm covered by an application for payment shall be divided among the producers concerned in the same proportion as the crops in the general soil-depleting base or divided under their lease or operating agreement.

(c) Any payment for a farm shall be computed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deductions of claims for advances, and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of any creditor.

SECTION 5. Membership in Association.—Any person having an interest in the crops or the proceeds thereof produced on any farm in the county in 1937 shall become a member of the County Agricultural Conservation Association of the county whenever any form or information required in connection with the Agricultural Conservation Program for 1937 is submitted for such farm, or whenever in 1937 he attends a meeting called for the purpose of electing committeemen. Any person shall cease to be a member of the Association if in 1937 an application for payment is not filed by him within the time specified by the Secretary for the filing of applications.

SECTION 6. Limits.—The sum of the commercial fruit acreages, the commercial vegetable acreages, the commercial double-cropped vegetable acreages, the acreages of non-crop open pasture land, and the acreages of total crop land, respectively, established for farms in any county or other specified area, shall not exceed the acreage of such crops and uses which the Agricultural Adjustment Administration may establish for such county or other specified area.

Diversion Payment means a payment for a diversion from the 1937 general soil-depleting base.

ORDER WITHDRAWING REGISTRATION OF SECURITIES ON A NATIONAL SECURITIES EXCHANGE

The Commission having instituted a proceeding, pursuant to Section 19 (a) (2) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, to determine whether the registration on the San Francisco Mining Exchange of 2,000,000 shares of Capital Stock, $1 Par Value, Non-Assessable, of National Silver Corporation shall be suspended or withdrawn; and

After appropriate notice, a hearing having been held in this matter on November 30, 1936, in San Francisco, California; and

The Commission finding, upon the evidence introduced at said hearing, that the issuer has failed to comply with the provisions of Section 12 (b) of said Act, as amended, and Rule JB1, Form 10 for Corporations and the Instructions supplemental thereto, prescribed under said section, in that the issuer has failed to file with the Commission the information required by Items 10 (a), 11, 12, 13 (a), 13 (b), 14, 15, 16, 17, 26, 30, 31, subdivisions (a), (b) and (c) of Item 34 in the manner and form therein provided; and that the issuer has failed to file with the Commission a balance sheet and applicable schedules for the registrant's fiscal year ended December 31, 1934, certified by an independent public or independent certified public accountant as required by Item 36 of said Form 10 and said Instruction Book; and that the issuer has also failed to comply with Section 13 of said Act, as amended, and Rules KA1 and KA2, Form 10–K and the Instructions supplemental thereto, prescribed under said section, in that the issuer has failed to file with the Commission its Annual Report for the year ending December 31, 1935; all as more fully set forth in the Trial Examiner's report in this matter, which is hereby adopted; and

IN THE MATTER OF AN OFFERING SHEET OF A ROYALTY INTEREST IN THE CENTRAL-BENSO "A" FARM, FILED ON JANUARY 14, 1937, BY KENT K. KIMBALL, RESPONDENT

SUSPENSION ORDER, ORDER FOR HEARING (UNDER RULE 340 (A)) AND ORDER DESIGNATING TRIAL EXAMINER

The Securities and Exchange Commission, having reasonable grounds to believe, and therefore alleging, that the offering sheet described in the title hereof and filed by the respondent named therein is incomplete or inaccurate in the following material respects, to wit:

1. In that the number of producing wells and the position of the tract in relation to the field is omitted from Item 13 of Division II;

2. In that there does not appear in Item 3 of Division III any real basis for the so-called "Potential Loss" and the "production per bbls. decline in potential" figures.

It is not shown that the combined potential of the three wells was 2,203 bbls. at any one time.

It is not shown that the production stated actually took place during the period of time that the combined potentials dropped from a total of 2,203 bbls. to a total of 1,676 bbls;

3. In that it is not shown that the difference between the total initial production of the three wells, completed at different times, and the total or combined potential of the three wells at some later date has any direct relationship to the ultimate recoverable oil from the three wells;

4. In that Item 3 of Division III calls for estimated recoverable oil in barrels for the tract and not for future production per royalty acre;

5. In that in the discussion of possible production of the Gorham Horizon, it is stated that: "After a thorough study of the structure map of the Gorham pool, * * * one can easily see that the Gorham horizon * * * has a chance to produce under this 40 acre lease." From an examination of the structure map and data presented, it would appear that the Gorham horizon has only a very slight chance, if any, to be found productive on this lease;

6. In that there appears to be no real basis at all for estimating recoverable oil from this lease by comparing it with the Mermis lease;

7. In that the text in Item 4 (c) of Division III does not follow the language prescribed by the schedule: "not" used for "now";

It is ordered, pursuant to Rule 340 (a) of the Commission's General Rules and Regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, that the effectiveness of the filing of said offering sheet be, and hereby is, suspended until the 20th day of February 1937 that an opportunity for hearing be given to the said respondent for the purpose of determining the material completeness or accuracy of the said offering sheet in the respects in which it is herein alleged to be incomplete or inaccurate, and whether the said order of suspension shall be revoked or continued; and

It is further ordered that Charles S. Lobingier, an officer of the Commission be, and hereby is, designated as trial examiner to preside at such hearing, to continue or adjourn the said hearing from time to time, to administer oaths and affirmations, subpoena witnesses, compel their attendance, take evidence, consider any amendments to said offering sheet as may be filed prior to the conclusion of the hearing, and require the production of any books, papers, correspondence, memoranda, or other records deemed relevant or material to the inquiry, and to perform all other duties in connection therewith authorized by law; and

It is further ordered that the taking of testimony in this proceeding commence on the 4th day of February 1937 at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon, at the office of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D. C., and continue thereafter at such times and places as said examiner may designate.

Upon the completion of testimony in this matter the examiner is directed to close the hearing and make his report to the Commission.

IN THE MATTER OF AN OFFERING SHEET OF A ROYALTY INTEREST IN THE SKELLY-HUMBLE-ADKINS FARM, FILED ON JANUARY 14, 1937, BY JAMES W. TAIT COMPANY, RESPONDENT

SUSPENSION ORDER, ORDER FOR HEARING (UNDER RULE 340 (A)) AND ORDER DESIGNATING TRIAL EXAMINER

The Securities and Exchange Commission, having reasonable grounds to believe, and therefore alleging, that the offering sheet described in the title hereof and filed by the respondent named therein is incomplete or inaccurate in the following material respects, to wit:

(1) In that the plat, Exhibit A, and the explanatory note following Item 16, Division II, both indicate that Item 2 (f), Division II, is incorrect.

(2) In that the note to Item 16 at the top of page 5, Division II, indicates that the participation set forth in Item 1 is incomplete respecting the well known as "Skelly-Humble #1".

(3) In that Item 2, Division II, says 300 acres are involved in the tract. Exhibit A indicates two tracts—one of 300 acres and one of 20 acres.

(4) In that the legal description of the tract involved is omitted from Exhibit B.

(5) In that the taxes stated in Item 11 (c), Division II, to which the interests are subject are incorrectly shown.

It is ordered, pursuant to Rule 340 (a) of the Commission's General Rules and Regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, that the effectiveness of the filing of said offering sheet be, and hereby is, suspended until the 20th day of February 1937 that an opportunity for hearing be given to the said respondent for the purpose of determining the material completeness or accuracy of the said offering sheet in the respects in which it is herein alleged to be incomplete or inaccurate, and whether the said order of suspension shall be revoked or continued; and

It is further ordered that Charles S. Lobingier, an officer of the Commission, be and hereby is designated as trial examiner to preside at such hearing, to continue or adjourn the said hearing from time to time, to administer oaths and affirmations, subpoena witnesses, compel their attendance, take evidence, consider any amendments to said offering sheet as may be filed prior to the conclusion of the hearing, and require the production of any books, papers, correspondence, memoranda, or other records deemed relevant or material to the inquiry, and to perform all other duties in connection therewith authorized by law; and

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO AMERICAN RED CROSS FOR FLOOD RELIEF

By the President of the United States of America

A PROCLAMATION

Disastrous floods in the Ohio and Mississippi River valleys already have driven 270,000 men, women and children from their homes. There is every likelihood that until the crest of the flood waters is reached, this number of homeless refugees will be largely increased. Snow, sleet and freezing weather have added to the suffering and made more hazardous the work of rescue.

The victims of this grave disaster are dependent upon the American Red Cross for food, shelter, fuel, medical care and warm clothing. I have instructed the various agencies of the Federal Government to cooperate to the fullest extent with the Red Cross authorities.

In order that the Red Cross may meet these immediate emergency needs and continue to care for these unfortunates until the waters have receded and they can be returned to their homes, it is imperative that a minimum relief fund of two million dollars be raised as speedily as possible. We are looking to this great national relief agency to act as our representative in this emergency.

As President of the United States and as President of the American Red Cross, I am, therefore, urging all of our people to contribute promptly and most generously to this relief fund so that adequate relief may be made instantly available for these thousands of our homeless and suffering fellow citizens.

I am confident the response everywhere will be immediate and generous.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 23rd day of January, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and [SEAL] thirty-seven and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-first.

ZION NATIONAL MONUMENT—UTAH

By the President of the United States of America

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS certain public lands in the State of Utah contain volcanic phenomena of unusual scientific value, and have situated thereon various other objects of geological and scientific interest; and

WHEREAS it appears that it would be to the public interest to reserve such lands as a national monument, to be known as the Zion National Monument:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, FRANKLIN D. SR—B-5—Supplement (d)

BULLETIN NO. 5, SUPPLEMENT (D)

Part II of Southern Region Bulletin No. 5 is hereby amended by adding, after Supplement (c) thereto, the following:

The instructions outlined elsewhere in SR—B-5 relative to the execution of Forms 9 covering farms on which sugarcane for sugar was grown in 1936 are hereby supplemented as follows:

Where only one person furnished the workstock and equipment used on the land covered by Form 9, the word "all" shall be entered in the left-hand side of column (F) opposite the name of the person furnishing the workstock and equipment.

Where two or more persons furnished the workstock and equipment (with respect to cotton or crops in general base or both) on land covered by Form 9, the entries to be made in the left-hand side of column (F) opposite the name of such persons furnishing workstock and equipment are as follows:

A. If the entries in columns (B) and (E), line 5 and subsequent lines, are made pursuant to paragraph A, page 7, SR—B-5, enter that acreage which represents the sum of the 1936 planted acreages of crops in those soil-depleting bases (cotton and general) with respect to which a class I payment is made and for which each such person furnished workstock and equipment. In such cases the sum of the acreages entered in the left-hand side of column (F) should equal the sum of the amounts in line 2, columns (B) and (E), for soil-depleting bases (cotton and general) with respect to which a class I payment is made.

B. If the entries in columns (B) and (E), line 5 and subsequent lines, are made pursuant to paragraph C, page 8, SR—B-5, enter that acreage which represents the sum of the row crops on all producer units for which such person furnished workstock and equipment. In such cases the total of the acreages entered in the left-hand side of column (F) should equal the total acreage of row crops on the farm.

C. If the entries in columns (B) and (E), line 5 and subsequent lines, are made pursuant to paragraph D, page 8, SR—B-5, enter that acreage which represents the sum of the soil-depleting bases (cotton and general) with respect to which a class I payment is made and for which such person furnished workstock and equipment. In such cases the total of the acreages entered in the left-hand side of column (F) should equal the sum of the amounts in line 1, columns (B) and (E), for the soil-depleting bases (cotton and general) with respect to which a class I payment is made.

Where only one person furnished the land covered by Form 9, the word "all" should be written in the space provided in the right-hand side of column (F) opposite the name of the person furnishing such land.

Where two or more persons furnished the land covered by Form 9, the same method which is (or would be) used on that farm for dividing workstock and equipment payment must be used as the basis for dividing the land payment. For example, if the workstock and equipment payment is (or would be) divided on the basis of the planted acres, the sum of the entries to be made in the right-hand side of column (F) opposite the name of persons furnishing land should equal the sum of the 1936 planted acreages of crops in those soil-depleting bases (cotton and general) with respect to which a class I payment is made.

In executing Form 9 covering a farm on which sugarcane for sugar was grown in 1936, no part of the acreage of sugarcane for sugar should be entered in either side of column (F), Form 9, except in cases where the acreage of row crops is used (pursuant to paragraph C, page 8, SR—B-5) as a basis for dividing the class I payment.

Except as otherwise provided herein, Forms 9 covering farms on which sugarcane for sugar was grown in 1936 should be executed in accordance with the procedure outlined elsewhere in part II of Southern Region Bulletin No. 5.

In testimony whereof, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, has hereunto set his hand and caused the official seal of the Department of Agriculture to be affixed in the city of Washington, District of Columbia, this 23rd day of January 1937.

Forest Service.

REGULATIONS TO GOVERN EXERCISE OF MINERAL RIGHTS RESERVED IN CONVEYANCES TO THE UNITED STATES

In conformity with the provisions of Section 9 of the Act approved March 1, 1911 (36 Stat. 961), I, Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, do hereby establish the following regulations to govern the extraction of minerals, oil, gas, and other inorganic resources from lands purchased by the United States under authority of said Act of March 1, 1911, as amended, in cases where the right to extract such mineral resources is to be reserved by the vendor by stipulation in the deed of conveyance to the United States.

Whoever begins such operations must, on demand, exhibit to the Forest Officer in charge satisfactory evidence of authority from the grantor so to do, and must comply with the following requirements:

1. Only so much of the surface of the land shall be used or disturbed as is necessary in the bona fide prospecting, mining, drilling or manufacturing of the minerals; but no right to so occupy, use or disturb such land shall be recognized unless the recorded owner of the reserved mineral, or his legally authorized representative, shall have applied for and received from the Forest Supervisor a permit authorizing such use or occupancy, for which permit advance payment shall be made annually at the rate of $6.00 per acre or fraction thereof.

All buildings, camps, equipment and other structures shall be removed from the land within one year from date of completion or abandonment of the operation which shall be construed as being the date when payment of the permit charges for the land terminates. Otherwise such buildings, camps, equipment, and other structures shall become the property of the United States.

2. If the exercise of the rights herein reserved will result in the stripping, collapse or other damage of the land or any improvements thereon, the recorded owner of the reserved rights, or his legally authorized representative, shall upon written notification by the Forest Supervisor pay to the designated fiscal officer of the United States, for deposit in a cooperative fund, the amount determined by the Forest Officer in charge of the area to be necessary to restore the land to a serviceable or safe condition or to repair or replace the improvements damaged or destroyed; such cooperative deposits to be available for expenditure by the United States for the purposes for which deposited.

3. All marketable timber and other timber products cut, destroyed, or damaged in prospecting, mining, drilling, or removing minerals, coal, oil and gas, or in manufacturing products therefrom, and in the location and construction of buildings or works of any kind for use in connection therewith, shall be paid for at the usual rates charged in the locality for sales of similar National Forest timber and timber products.

All slash resulting from such cutting or destruction shall be disposed of as directed by the Forest Officer. No timber or reproduction shall be unnecessarily cut, destroyed or damaged.

4. All mining operators shall in all developments and operations make all reasonable provisions for the disposal of tailings, dumpage and other deleterious materials or substances in such manner as to prevent obstruction, pollution or deterioration of the land, streams, ponds, lakes or springs.

5. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to exempt the operator or the mining operations from any requirements of the laws of the State in which situated; nor from compliance with or conformity to any requirements of any law or regulation which later may be enacted or promulgated, and which otherwise would be applicable.

6. While operations are in progress, the operators, contractors, sub-contractors, and employees of contractors and sub-contractors at work on the National Forest, shall use due diligence in the prevention and suppression of fire, and shall be available for service in the extinguishment and suppression of all fires within two miles of said operation. Provided that if such fire does not originate through any negligence on the part of the operators, contractors, sub-contractors, or their employees and does not threaten their structures, improvements or property, that they shall be paid for their services at the current rate of pay of fire fighters employed by the United States.

All regulations hitherto issued by the Secretary of Agriculture to govern the exercise of mineral rights reserved in conveyances to the United States are hereby superseded as to mineral rights hereafter reserved.

In testimony thereof I have hereunto set my hand and official seal at the City of Washington, this 23d day of January 1937.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION.

PRESCRIBING A LIST OF UNITS OF PROPERTY FOR USE IN CONNECTION WITH UNIFORM SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTS

It appearing to the Commission:

(1) That the Commission, acting pursuant to authority granted by the Federal Power Act, has prescribed a Uniform System of Accounts for public utilities and licensees subject to the provisions of said Act;

(2) That Electric Plant Instruction 12 of said Uniform System of Accounts, as revised to December 31, 1936, prescribes the accounting for additions to and retirements and replacements of electric plant and for that purpose divides electric plant into two general classes as follows:

(a) Units of property; and
(b) Minor items of property;

(3) That Electric Plant Instruction 12 B provides that each public utility or licensee may adopt its own list of units of property for the purpose of that instruction until such time as the Commission shall prescribe a list of units;

Now, therefore, the Commission finds:

That it is desirable and appropriate, in order to make more uniform and consistent the accounting practices of public utilities and licensees, to prescribe a list of units of property.

Wherefore, it is hereby ordered:

(a) That the accompanying list and description of units of property and instructions relating thereto be and the same are hereby prescribed and promulgated, effective February 1, 1937, to be observed by public utilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission and by licensees holding licenses issued by the Commission as provided in Electric Plant Instruction 12 B of the Uniform System of Accounts prescribed for public utilities and licensees, as revised to December 31, 1936, in accounting for additions to and retirements and replacements of electric plant; provided, however, that any public utility or licensee may make the same effective as of January 1, 1937, if it so elects;

(b) That a copy of this order and the accompanying list and description of the units of property and instructions relating thereto be forthwith served upon each public utility subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and each licensee or permittee holding a license or permit from the Commission.

Adopted by the Commission on January 13, 1937.

[SEAL] LEON M. FUQUAY, Acting Secretary.

INSTRUCTIONS

The units of property listed herein are prescribed and are to be accounted for in accordance with Electric Plant Instruction 12 of the Uniform System of Accounts for public utilities and licensees, as revised to December 31, 1936. Electric Plant Instruction 12 provides, in part, as follows:

12. Additions and Retirements of Electric Plant.—A. For the purpose of avoiding undue refinement in accounting for additions to and retirements and replacements of electric plant, all property shall be considered as consisting of (1) units of property and (2) minor items of property.

B. Units of property.—Each utility may adopt its own list of units for the purpose of this instruction until such time as the Commission shall prescribe a list of units.

(1) When a unit of property is added to electric plant, the cost thereof shall be added to the appropriate electric plant account, except that when units are acquired in the acquisition of any electric plant constituting an operating system, they shall be accounted for as provided in electric plant instruction 4.

(2) When a unit of property is retired from electric plant, with or without replacement, the book cost thereof shall be credited to the electric plant account in which it is included. * * *.

C. Minor items of property.—

(1) When a minor item of property which did not previously exist is added to plant, the cost thereof shall be accounted for in the same manner as for the addition of a unit of property, as set forth in paragraph B (1), above, if a substantial addition results, otherwise the charge shall be to the appropriate operating expense account.

(2) When a minor item of property is retired and not replaced, the book cost thereof shall be credited to the electric plant account in which it is included; * * * If, however, the book cost of the minor item retired and not replaced has been or will be accounted for by its inclusion in the unit of property of which it is a part when such unit is retired, no separate credit to the property account is required when such minor item is retired.

(3) When a minor item of depreciable property is replaced independently of the unit of which it is a part, the cost of replacement shall be charged to the maintenance account appropriate for the item, except that if the replacement effects a substantial betterment (the primary aim of which is to make the property affected more useful, more efficient, of greater durability, or of greater capacity), the excess cost of the replacement over the estimated cost at current prices of replacing without betterment shall be charged to the appropriate electric plant account.

* * * * * *

The list of units may be expanded by any public utility or licensee without other authorization from this Commission but it may not be condensed; thus, the units listed herein are of maximum size and while subdivision thereof, or the addition of other units, is permitted, the combination or the increase in size of such units is enjoined.

Wherever appropriate, the retirement of any unit of property in the structures or equipment accounts shall include all costs of associated items which pertain solely to that unit, such as the cost of foundations, supports, ladders, runways, enclosures, guards, driving mechanisms, indicating, recording and measuring devices with their mountings, starting, control, regulating, protective and safety devices, switchboards, special lighting conduits and wiring, pipes, ducts, spouts, chutes, hoppers, etc.

If, because of a contract previously entered into, adherence to the list of units contained herein would cause an undue hardship, such as the loss of revenue to a particular utility, a petition for relief, giving therein a full disclosure of the facts and a suggested modification of the list necessary to avoid the hardship during the period of the contract, should be submitted to the Commjssion.

It is contemplated that the list of units contained herein will be revised and amended from time to time as experience and conditions warrant.

RULES GOVERNING MEETINGS AND PROCEDURE OF JOINT BOARDS

JANUARY 22, 1937.

The Commission has adopted the following special rules governing meetings and procedure of Joint Boards under Section 205 of the Motor Carrier Act, 1935:

1. General.—A matter which the Interstate Commerce Commission, hereinafter called the Commission, refers to a Joint Board will be so referred by special order of the Commission. Correspondence concerning matters so referred to Joint Boards should be directed to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C.

2. Organization.—After a Joint Board has been created the Board shall select one of its members to act as chairman for all purposes concerning matters which may be referred to it. In the event the member so selected is absent from any meeting of such Board the members attending shall select one of such members temporarily to act as chairman.

[1] The report and the instructions therewith were filed with the Division of the Federal Register, The National Archives; copies are available upon application to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

3. Meetings.—Meetings of a Joint Board for hearings shall be called by the Commission, and due notice thereof given to all members of the Board. Where reasonably possible, meetings shall be called at the offices of a Commission in one of the States involved.

4. Hours for conduct of hearings.—The hearing in any proceeding before a Joint Board shall begin at the hour designated by the Commission in its notice of hearing, and thereafter shall continue for such time and in such manner as the Joint Board may determine.

5. Conduct of hearings.—With the understanding that the Joint Board will recommend the appropriate order, accompanied by the reasons therefor, a hearing assigned before a Joint Board may be conducted by any member or members thereof in the absence of the other member or members.

6. Designation of examiner.—The Commission will designate an examiner or examiners to advise with and assist the Joint Board in any referred matter to the extent that such Joint Board may desire.

7. Procedure in referred matters.—Procedure in referred matters shall be governed, when not specifically covered by these rules, by the Commission's Rules of Practice so far as applicable.

8. Pleadings part of record.—All pleadings in referred matters shall constitute part of the record before the Joint Board without special admission or incorporation therein. This rule shall not dispense with the necessity for proof of the facts alleged in a pleading when relied upon by the party who filed it.

9. Leave to amend or file pleadings, or to intervene, not to be granted in certain cases.—A Joint Board may in its discretion grant leave to amend or to file any pleadings, or to intervene, in a referred matter, upon application tendered either prior to or at the hearing, but in no event shall it grant such leave if thereby the issues would be unduly broadened, or if thereby the issues would be so narrowed as to make the referred matter one which should properly be referred to a different Joint Board or other referee.

10. Action on certain motions.—Action on motions the granting of which would have the effect of preventing consideration of the merits of a referred matter or a substantial part thereof may be reserved by a Joint Board for final disposition by the Commission.

11. Procedural rulings in case of disagreement.—If the members of a Joint Board or a majority thereof in actual attendance at a hearing shall be unable to agree upon the disposition of a procedural question arising therein, the chairman (or acting chairman) shall decide the question and rule or order accordingly.

12. Exhibits, number of copies to be furnished.—When exhibits of a documentary character are to be offered in evidence the Joint Board shall require that the original and one copy of each be furnished for the use of the Commission (to be delivered respectively to the official reporter and to the examiner); and, unless the Joint Board shall otherwise direct, that copies be furnished to each of the members of the Board for their use, and to opposing parties or their counsel. Whenever practicable, the parties should interchange copies of proposed exhibits before or at the commencement of the hearing.

13. Continuance; fixing date and place.—In case it is impossible to conclude a hearing within the time available, or for any reason a continuance is necessary or advisable, the Joint Board shall not set a date and place for the continued hearing without first consulting the Commission. If consulting the Commission is impracticable, the hearing shall be adjourned to such time and place as the Commission subsequently shall determine.

14. Briefs, time for filing; reply briefs not permitted.—If the Joint Board permits briefs to be filed in a referred matter, it shall fix for all parties the same period therefor. Reply briefs shall not be permitted. Parties shall be instructed to file twenty copies of any brief with the Commission at Washington and copies in number to be fixed by the Joint Board with the members of the Joint Board and the examiner.

15. Form of orders and reports; service.—For the sake of uniformity, Joint Boards shall conform their respective recommended orders and accompanying reports, as nearly as may be practicable, to the form of orders and reports issued by the Commission in similar cases. The reports shall contain a brief statement of the issues, a discussion of the pertinent evidence, and a recommendation of specific and sufficient findings, with the reasons therefor. Such orders and reports will be served by the Commission.

16. Termination of jurisdiction.—The jurisdiction of a Joint Board over a referred matter shall be terminated in the event of waiver of action by the appropriate authority of each State from which a member is entitled to be appointed, or in the event the Commission finds that a Joint Board has failed or refused to act, or in the event of inability of the members thereof to agree upon the referred matter, or upon recommendation by the Joint Board or a majority thereof of a report and order signed by the members concurring therein, but the matter may be again referred to the Joint Board if a further hearing as to facts shall become necessary.

17. Procedure in case of non-action by Joint Board.—If a Joint Board or a majority thereof is unable to agree upon a referred matter, it will be decided by the Commission or in its discretion be referred to a member or examiner thereof for recommendation of an appropriate order thereon and report including the reasons therefor, on the record theretofore made or after such hearing or further hearing as may be required.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

ECR—B-101—Delaware East Central Division, January 21, 1937

BULLETIN 101—DELAWARE

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, payments will be made, in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of said Act for 1937, in accordance with the provisions of this East Central Region Bulletin 101 for the State of Delaware and such modifications or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has been developed in accordance with the provisions of sections 8, 15, and 16 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, but the payment of any benefits pursuant to the provisions of this bulletin is contingent upon such appropriation, if any, as the Congress of the United States may hereafter make for such purpose, and the amounts of such payments will be finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of participation in the program. The rates of payment and the soil-building allowance set forth herein are computed upon the basis of an appropriation of $500,000,000 for the 1937 program for the Nation and 85 percent participation by farmers. The payments calculated in accordance with the provisions of Part I of this Bulletin 101 may be increased or decreased depending upon the extent of participation in the East Central Region, but any such variation will not be in excess of 10 percent.

Part I. Rates and Conditions of Payment

Payment will be made in connection with the utilization in 1937 of the land on any farm in the State of Delaware, in the amounts and subject to the conditions hereinafter set forth.

SECTION 1. Payment for Diversion from the General Soil-Depleting Base.—For each acre diverted from the general soil-depleting base for the farm, not in excess of 15 percent of such base, payment will be made at a rate which will average $9.00 per acre for the United States, varied among farms according to relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base; provided, that payment will not be made for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for a farm unless crops in such base are normally grown in excess of the home consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

SECTION 2. Allowance for Soil-Building Practices.—The soil-building allowance for the farm is the maximum amount for which payment may be made for carrying out soil-building practices. This allowance shall be the sum of such of the items set forth in subsections (a), (b), (c), and (d) below as are applicable to the farm; provided, that in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $10.00, and in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm not eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $20.00.

A farm shall be eligible to earn a diversion payment if crops in the general soil-depleting base normally are grown in excess of the home-consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base. Other farms shall not be eligible to earn a diversion payment. A farm for which the general soil-depleting base does not exceed 20 acres may be classified as not eligible to earn a diversion payment, if the operator elects not to make a diversion, even though food and feed crops normally are grown in excess of home-consumption needs on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

(a) (1) On Farms Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment (whether earned or not).—$1.00 for each acre in the minimum soil-conserving acreage for the farm.

(2) On Farms Not Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment.—$1.00 for each acre of cropland.

(b) Commercial Orchards.—$1.00 additional for each acre of commercial orchards on the farm on January 1, 1937.

(c) Commercial Vegetables (excluding sweet corn for canning and peas for canning).—$1.00 additional for each acre on which only one crop of commercial vegetables was grown in 1936.

$2.00 additional for each acre on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown in 1936.

(d) Non-Crop Pasture.—25 cents additional for each acre of fenced, non-crop, open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of cropland on the farm, which is capable of maintaining during the normal pasture season at least one animal unit for each 5 acres of such pasture land.

The acreage of commercial orchards, of commercial vegetables, and of non-crop pasture, respectively, used in establishing the soil-building allowance for farms in any county or other area, shall not exceed such acreage as shall be established for each county or other area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 3. Payment for Soil-Building Practices.—Payment will be made, within the limit of the soil-building allowance determined for the farm in accordance with section 2 above, for carrying out in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program not later than October 31, 1937, any of the soil-building practices listed herein, upon the conditions and at the rates herein specified; provided, that the practice is carried out by such methods and with such kinds and quantities of seeds, trees, and other materials as conform to good farming practice, and that no part of the labor, seed, trees, or other materials used in connection with such practice is furnished in whole or in part by any State or Federal agency.

(a) Seeding Legumes and Perennial Grasses.—For seeding approved seeds of any of the following crops, payment will be made at the rate per acre set forth below.

(1) Alfalfa, $2.50.

(2) Red clover; mammoth clover; sericea; or bluegrass; or any mixture containing 50 percent of more by weight of legumes listed in paragraphs (1) or (2) of this subsection (a): $2.00.

(3) Austrian winter peas; vetch; crimson clover; alsike clover; sweet clover; annual lespedeza; orchard grass; or any mixture containing 50 percent or more by weight of bluegrass or of legumes listed in paragraphs (1), (2), or (3) of this subsection (a): $1.50.

(4) White clover; bur clover; redtop; timothy; or any mixture of grasses or legumes listed in this subsection (a): $1.00.

(b) Growing Green Manure Crops and Cover Crops.—Plowing or discing under as green manure any of the crops named below after the crop has attained a normal growth of at least two months, or leaving on the land certain of these crops grown in 1937. Payment will be made at the rate per acre specified for each such crop; provided, however, that if any practice listed in (1) or (2) below is carried out on land normally used to produce commercial vegetables and the County Committee finds that as a result of the carrying out of such practice one less soil-depleting crop is grown in 1937 than the number of soil-depleting crops normally grown on such land, the rate of payment for such practice shall be twice the rate per acre specified for such practice.

(1) Soybeans, velvet beans, or cowpeas, plowed or disced under:[1] $2.00.

(2) Crimson clover, Austrian winter peas, or vetch, plowed or disced under; rye, barley, wheat, Italian ryegrass, oats, or mixtures of these, plowed or disced under; Sudan grass, millet, sorghum, or sowed corn, plowed or disced under; soybeans, or cowpeas not grazed or pastured and not harvested for grain when all of the forage is left on the land;[1] lespedeza not grazed or pastured, when all of the forage is left on the land: $1.00.

(3) Soybeans, cowpeas, sweet clover, or any combination of small grain and legumes, interplanted in commercial orchards, clipped or disced, and left on the land: $1.50.

(c) Mulching Orchards.—Applying in commercial orchards not less than 2 tons of air-dry mulching material per acre in addition to leaving in the orchard all materials produced therein during 1937 from grasses, legumes, or green manure or cover crops. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 5 tons per acre at the rate of $2.00 per ton.

(d) Planting Forest Trees.—Planting forest trees, including post-producing species. Payment will be made at the rate of $7.50 per acre when planted on cropland or at the rate of $5.00 per acre when planted on other land.

(e) Improving Stands of Forest Trees.—Upon prior approval by the County Committee, improving the stand of forest trees by thinning or pruning trees on woodland from which grazing is excluded, to develop approximately 100 potential timber trees of desirable species, well distributed over an acre of woodland. Payment will be made at the rate of $2.50 per acre.

(f) Improving Land by the Use of Ground Limestone.—Applying not less than 1,000 pounds per acre of ground limestone, or its equivalent[2], on cropland or non-crop pasture land or not less than 500 pounds per acre if the application is made by drilling with the seed of any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 3.

Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 2½ tons per acre at the rate of $3.00 per ton.

(g) Improving Land by the Use of Superphosphate.—Applying not less than 100 pounds per acre of 20 percent superphosphate, or its equivalent[3] on any permanent pasture, or in connection with seeding or maintaining any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 3, or in connection with any green manure crop plowed or disced under as provided in subsection (b) of this section 3. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 500 pounds per acre at the rate of 75 cents per 100 pounds; or, if the superphosphate is applied in connection with a legume or perennial grass, listed in subsection (a) of this section 3, seeded in connection with a soil-depleting crop, at the rate of 37½ cents per 100 pounds.

(h) Improving Land by the Use of Potash.—Applying not less than 30 pounds per acre of 50 percent muriate of potash or its equivalent[4] on land on which 20 percent superphosphate or its equivalent is applied in accordance with paragraph (g) above. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 250 pounds per acre, at the rate of $1.00 per 100 pounds; or, if the muriate of potash is applied as above in connection with a legume or perennial grass seeded in connection with a soil-depleting crop, at the rate of $0.50 per 100 pounds.

(i) Control of Erosion by Terracing.—Terracing cropland or non-crop pasture land which the County Committee finds is in need of terracing, with a sufficient amount of properly constructed terrace to give adequate protection against erosion. Payment will be made at the rate of 40 cents per one hundred feet.

SECTION 4. 1937 Acreage of Soil-Conserving Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm is less than the minimum acreage of soil-conserving crops (that is, the number of acres in the soil-conserving base plus the number of acres diverted from the general soil-depleting base in 1937 upon which payment will be made), a deduction will be made from any payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm at the rate of $3.00 per acre of such deficiency.

Diversion payment will in no event be made with respect to a greater number of acres than the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm.

SECTION 5. Increase in Acreage of Soil-Depleting Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of general soil-depleting crops on the farm is in excess of the general soil-depleting base, deduction will be made from any payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm at the rate of payment for diversion for such crops; provided, that no deduction will be made for general soil-depleting crops in excess of the base if such crops are required for home consumption on the farm or if the County Committee finds that such crops are grown in order to replace a shortage of feed crops on the farm caused by drouth or other unfavorable weather conditions in 1936 or 1937.

SECTION 6. Association Expenses.—There shall be deducted pro rata from the payments made to members of each County Agricultural Conservation Association all or such part, as the Secretary may prescribe, of the estimated administrative expenses incurred or to be incurred by such association in cooperating in carrying out the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act.

There shall be credited to each County Agricultural Conservation Association for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 per application for that number of applications submitted by members of such association under which it is estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 7. Applicability to Farms Under Special Programs.—On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration payment will be made only for such diversion and for carrying out such soil-building practices as are, prior to performance, approved for the farm by the County Committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 8. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person may be withheld if any practice is adopted by such person, which the Secretary determines tends to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

[1] If the soybeans or cowpeas are interplanted or grown in combination with a soil-depleting row crop only one-half of the acreage shall be counted for this practice.

[2] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for ground limestone; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of calcium or magnesium oxide contained in the quantities of ground limestone specified. For purposes of this section 3 (f) 100 pounds of ground oyster shell, 70 pounds of hydrated lime, or 50 pounds of burned lime, shall be considered, respectively, to be equivalent to 100 pounds of ground limestone.

[3] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for 20 percent superphosphate; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of phosphoric acid contained in 20 percent superphosphate, except that if ground rock phosphate is substituted the quantity of ground rock phosphate so substituted shall be not less than twice the quantity of 20 percent superphosphate.

[4] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for 50 percent muriate of potash; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of potash contained in the quantity specified of 50 percent muriate of potash.

Part II. Classification of Crops

Farm land, when devoted to the crops and uses indicated hereinafter, shall be classified in the manner set forth in this Part II.

SECTION 1. Soil-Depleting Crops.—Land on which any of the following crops is grown shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-depleting crop for the year in which such crop is normally harvested. The acreage of land which is devoted to two or more soil-depleting crops in the same year shall be counted as soil-depleting only once.

(a) Corn (field, sweet, and popcorn).

(b) Truck and vegetable crops, including also melons, strawberries, potatoes, and sweet potatoes.

(c) Sorghum, when harvested.

(d) Small grains: Wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, and grain mixtures; cut for hay or grain.

(e) Annual grasses: Sudan, millet, and Italian ryegrass, harvested for hay or seed.

(f) Summer legumes: Soybeans, field peas, and cowpeas; harvested for grain, hay, except that, for 1937, summer legumes grown as emergency hay crops on an acreage not in excess of that determined by the County Committee to be required to replace a shortage of feed on the farm caused by drouth in 1936 or 1937 may be disregarded in classifying the land on which such crops were grown.

(g) Bulbs and flowers.

SECTION 2. Soil-Conserving Crops.—Land devoted to any of the following crops and not used in the same year for the growing of any soil-depleting crop, as defined in section 1 of this Part II, shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-conserving crop, except as otherwise provided in section 3 below. Cropland from which no crop is harvested during 1937 and which is planted in 1937 not later than October 31 to any crop listed below (other than small grains seeded alone in the fall) shall be considered as soil-conserving. If two or more soil-conserving crops are grown on the same land during any year the acreage of such land counted as soil-conserving shall not exceed the acreage on which such crops are grown.

(a) Biennial and perennial legumes: Sweet, red, alsike, white, and mammoth clovers; alfalfa; and sericea.

(b) Miscellaneous legumes: Vetch, Austrian winter peas; bur clover and crimson clover; annual varieties of lespedeza.

(c) Summer legumes: Soybeans, field peas, and cowpeas, when not harvested for grain, hay, or forage.

(d) Annual grasses: Sudan, millet, and Italian ryegrass, not harvested for hay or seed.

(e) Perennial grasses: Bluegrass, Dallis, redtop, timothy, orchard grass, and mixtures of these.

(f) Small grains: Rye, oats, barley, wheat, buckwheat, and grain mixtures, when not cut for grain or hay, provided a good growth is not left on the land. (If plowed under or if a good growth is not left on the land the crop shall be disregarded in classifying the land on which grown except as otherwise provided.)

(g) Forest trees, planted on cropland since January 1, 1934.

(h) Sweet sorghum, not harvested.

SECTION 3. Soil-Conserving Crops Grown on Land Used for the Production of a Soil-Depleting Crop.—Land devoted to any of the combinations of soil-conserving and soil-depleting crops listed below shall be classified as follows:

(a) Acreage on which mixtures of legumes and soil-depleting crops (winter legumes and small grains) are harvested together. The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving provided not less than 50 percent of the total growth harvested consists of such legumes.

(b) Acreage of legumes classified as soil-conserving (including summer legumes not harvested for grain, hay or forage) or of such a legume and perennial grass following a soil-depleting crop harvested in the same year (whether seeded in or following such soil-depleting crop). The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving, except that if the legume is an annual winter legume (crimson clover, vetch, or Austrian winter peas) the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.

(c) Acreage of the crops listed in subsection (b) of section 3 of Part I plowed under as green manure after having attained at least two months' normal growth on land from which a commercial vegetable crop is harvested in the same year. The entire acreage of commercial vegetables shall be classified as soil-depleting and the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.

SECTION 4. Neutral Uses.—Land devoted to the following uses shall be regarded as not used for the production of a soil-depleting crop or a soil-conserving crop:

(a) Vineyards, tree fruits, small fruits, bush fruits, nut trees, and nursery stock not interplanted. Any portion of the area which is interplanted shall carry the classification and actual acreage of such interplanted crop.

(b) Idle cropland.

(c) Cultivated fallow land.

(d) Waste land, roads, lanes, lots, yards, and other similar non-crop land.

(e) Woodland, other than cropland planted to forest trees since January 1, 1934.

Part III. Establishment of Bases

The County Committee will recommend for approval by the Secretary a general soil-depleting base and a soil-conserving base for each farm participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such bases shall represent the acreage normally used for the production of general soil-depleting crops and soil-conserving crops, respectively, on such farm. The County Committee also will recommend for each farm a rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for the farm.

SECTION 1. Farms for Which a General Soil-Depleting Base Was Established Under the 1936 Program.—The soil-depleting bases established for farms under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, together with the accompanying rates of payment per acre, shall be used as a basis for determining the general soil-depleting bases and rates per acre for such farms in 1937, with adjustment as provided in section 3 of this Part III.

SECTION 2. Farms for Which a General Soil-Depleting Base Was Not Established Under the 1936 Program.—A general soil-depleting base may be established for any farm for which a base was not established under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program if soil-depleting crops were produced thereon in 1935 or 1936, and for such other farms as the County Committee determines, in accordance with instructions, are eligible upon the basis of the past production on the farm or by the operator.

The general soil-depleting base for a farm shall be determined upon the basis of the acreage of general soil-depleting crops grown on the farm in 1936 subject to adjustment as provided in section 3 of this Part III. The rate of payment per acre shall be determined upon the basis of the estimated yield per acre for the farm of the crop used under the 1936 program in determining the rate of payment per acre for other farms in the locality.

SECTION 3. Adjustment in General Soil-Depleting Bases.—(a) Inequitable Bases.—The general soil-depleting base and the rate of payment per acre determined for each farm in accordance with the provisions of this Part III shall be adjusted upward or downward whenever necessary so as to be equitable for such farm as compared with farms in the same locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(b) Unused Bases.—If the acreage of crops in the general soil-depleting base planted on a farm in the years 1935 and 1936 has been substantially less than the acreage which could have been planted on the farm in such years with maximum payments with respect to such crops, under the 1935 programs of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration or the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, and such deficiency was not caused by unusual weather conditions, the base shall be adjusted by the County Committee so as to reflect the plantings on the farm in 1935 and 1936 and so as to be equitable as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(c) Change in Crop Classification.—The acreage of small grains harvested for grain or hay, classified as soil conserving in establishing the general soil-depleting base for 1936 for any farm shall be added to such 1936 base in determining the general soil-depleting base for 1937.

(d) Rate of Payment per Acre.—The rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for each farm for which such a rate was established in 1936 shall be adjusted so as to conform to the adjustment in the average rate of such payment for the United States and shall in each case reflect the relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base.

SECTION 4. Limits of Soil-Depleting Bases.—The general soil-depleting bases established for all farms participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program in any county or other specified area, shall not exceed the acreage for the general soil-depleting base which is established for such farms in such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The weighted average of the rate of payment per acre for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for all farms for which a soil-depleting base is established in any county or other specified area shall not exceed the rate per acre established for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 5. Soil-Conserving Base.—The soil-conserving base for a farm will be determined upon the basis of the 1936 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm, with such adjustment as is necessary to correct abnormally small or large acreages caused by unusual weather conditions or any increase in the acreage of such crops under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such acreage shall, if necessary, be further adjusted for each farm so as to represent an acreage of soil-conserving crops which is fair and equitable for the farm as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, and farming practices, and shall in no event be less than the total acreage of cropland minus the sum of the soil-depleting base and the normal acreage of neutral cropland on the farm.

The total of the soil-conserving bases for farms in any county or other area shall not be greater than the maximum or less than the minimum acreage established for such bases in the county or other area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Part IV. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 1. Land To Be Included Under Application.—An application may be submitted with respect to any farm or with respect to any two or more farms operated by the same person.

SECTION 2. Application and Eligibility for Payment.—(a) Payment will be made only upon applications submitted through the county office. The Secretary reserves the right to withhold payment to any person who fails to file any form or furnish any information required with respect to any farm in which he is interested as owner or operator and to refuse to accept any application for payment if such application or any other form or information required is not submitted to the county office within the time fixed by the Director of the East Central Division.

(b) An application for payment may be made by any person who as owner, sharetenant or sharecropper is entitled to receive a share or all of the crops produced on the farm in 1937 or the proceeds therefrom or who rents the land to a producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment and who incurs any part or all of the expense of carrying out a soil-building practice on the farm.

(c) In the event of the death or legal incompetency of an applicant for payment, any payment which has not been received by such applicant prior to his death or incompetency and which otherwise would be made to such applicant, shall be made to the person who under rules prescribed by the Secretary, is determined to be eligible to receive such payment.

(d) In case a farm is located in two or more counties, the farm shall be regarded as being in the county in which the principal dwelling on such farm is located, or, if there is no dwelling on such farm, in the county in which the major portion of the farm is located.

(e) Any person who files an application for payment in a county shall file an application with respect to each farm owned or operated by such person in the county. Upon request by the State Committee such person also shall file an application with respect to any farm owned or operated by him in any other county.

SECTION 3. Membership in Association.—Any person having an interest in the crops produced on any farm, or the proceeds thereof, who is not a member of the County Agricultural Conservation Association for the county in which such farm is located shall become a member of such association whenever any form or information required in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program is submitted for such farm. An person shall cease to be a member of the association if an application for payment is not filed by him within the time specified by the Director of the East Central Division for the filing of applications.

SECTION 4. Division of Payments.—Payments with respect to any farm included under an application shall be divided as follows:

(a) Diversion Payment With Respect to General Soil-Depleting Crops.—The diversion payment will be divided among the producers who are parties to the lease or operating agreement in the proportion that such producers are entitled to share in the general soil-depleting crops grown on the farm in 1937, or the proceeds thereof.

(b) Payment With Respect to Soil-Building Practices.—The soil-building payment with respect to the acreage on which any approved soil-building practice is carried out on any farm shall be made to the producer or the person who rents the land to a producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment whom the County Committee determines, under instructions issued by the Secretary, has incurred the expense of carrying out such soil-building practice; if the County Committee determines that two or more such producers have incurred the expense of carrying out such practice on the farm, the soil-building payment shall be divided among such producers in the proportion that such producers are entitled under the terms of their lease or operating agreement to share in the soil-depleting crops grown on the farm in 1937, or the proceeds thereof.

(c) Computation of Shares of Payments.—Any share of payments shall be computed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deduction of claims for advances, and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of any creditor.

(d) Division of Payment Under Specified Conditions on Farms Where There Are Two or More Producers.—(1) If the 1937 acreage of the crop(s) in the general soil-depleting base is zero or, because of partial crop failure, is substantially smaller than the acreage which, but for such failure, would have been grown in 1937, the portion of the payments which is to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop shall be divided among the producers who remain entitled to share in any crop actually grown on the farm in 1937 in proportion to the share of each such producer in the soil-depleting crop intended to be grown.

(2) In cases where the County Committee finds that the share of one or more producers in the acreage diverted in 1937 from the general soil-depleting base differs materially from the share of such producer(s) in the 1937 acreage of the crops in such base, that portion of the payments to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop, shall be divided on the basis of the shares in the acreage diverted by such producers.

The acreage diverted by each producer may be determined by agreement of all producers on the farm by appearing before at least two members of the County Committee and indicating their agreement. In any such case there shall be submitted to the State Office at the time of submission of the application for the farm, a certification signed by each producer in the presence of and approved by at least two members of the County Committee that the agreement has been reached voluntarily in accordance with the foregoing provisions.

Where agreement of all producers is not obtained, the County Committee may recommend, subject to the approval of the State Committee and the Director of the East Central Division, their determination of the acreage diverted by each producer, such recommendation to be accompanied by a complete statement of all of the facts upon which the recommendation is based.

SECTION 5. Changes in Leasing or Cropping Agreement and Other Devices.—If it shall appear from an investigation made by the State Committee that any person who has made an application for a payment pursuant to the provisions of the 1936 or the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has made any change in the normal leasing or cropping agreement for the farm or has employed or participated in any other scheme or device whatsoever the effect of which would be or has been to deprive any other person of any payment or share therein to which such other person would normally be entitled, the Secretary may withhold from the person participating in or employing such a scheme or device, or require such person to refund, in whole or in part the amount of any payment which had been or would otherwise be made to such person for performance in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

SECTION 6. Multiple Farm Holdings.—If a person who has made application for a payment with respect to any farm or farms has an interest as owner or operator in another farm or farms in the county on which the acreage used for the production of crops included in the general soil-depleting base exceeds such base and such other farm or farms have not been included in an application under which a payment can be made, the payment to be made to such person shall be decreased by an amount equal to such person's share of the net deductions with respect to such other farm or farms.

The provisions of this section may be extended to include farms in two or more counties in the State in which any person as owner or share-tenant is entitled to receive a share of the crops produced thereon, or the proceeds thereof, if the acreage used for the production of crop(s) in the general soil-depleting base on any such farm has been increased to such an extent as to tend to defeat the purposes of the Agricultural Conservation Program.

BULLETIN 101—KENTUCKY

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, payments will be made, in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of said Act for 1937, in accordance with the provisions of this East Central Region Bulletin 101 for the State of Kentucky and such modifications or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has been developed in accordance with the provisions of sections 8, 15, and 16 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, but the payment of any benefits pursuant to the provisions of this bulletin is contingent upon such appropriation, if any, as the Congress of the United States may hereafter make for such purpose, and the amounts of such payments will be finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of participation in the program. The rates of payment and the soil-building allowance set forth herein are computed upon the basis of an appropriation of $500,000,000 for the 1937 program for the Nation and 85 percent participation by farmers. The payments calculated in accordance with the provisions of Part I of this Bulletin 101 may be increased or decreased depending upon the extent of participation in the East Central Region, but any such variation will not be in excess of 10 percent.

Part I. Rates and Conditions of Payment

Payment will be made in connection with the utilization in 1937 of the land on any farm in the State of Kentucky in the amounts and subject to the conditions hereinafter set forth.

SECTION 1. Payment for Diversion from Cotton and Tobacco Soil-Depleting Bases.—For each acre diverted from any cotton or tobacco soil-depleting base for the farm, payment will be made as follows:

(a) Cotton.—5 cents per pound of the base yield per acre of cotton for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 35 percent of the cotton soil-depleting base, except that, if such base is 5.7 acres or less, payment may be made for diverting all or any part of such base not to exceed 2 acres.

(b) Tobacco: Burley.—5 cents per pound of the base yield per acre of such tobacco for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 25 percent of the soil-depleting base for such kind of tobacco.

(c) Tobacco: Fire-cured and dark air-cured.—3½ cents per pound of the base yield per acre of such tobacco for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 30 percent of the soil-depleting base for such kind of tobacco.

SECTION 2. Payment for Diversion from the General Soil-Depleting Base.—For each acre diverted from the general soil-depleting base for the farm, not in excess of 15 percent of such base, payment will be made at a rate which will average $9.00 per acre for the United States, varied among farms according to relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base; provided, that payment will not be made for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for a farm unless crops in such base are normally grown in excess of the home consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

SECTION 3. Allowance for Soil-Building Practices.—The soil-building allowance for the farm in the maximum amount for which payment may be made for carrying out soil-building practices. This allowance shall be the sum of such of the items set forth in subsections (a), (b), (c), and (d) below as are applicable to the farm; provided, that in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $10.00, and in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm not eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $20.00.

A farm shall be eligible to earn a diversion payment if such farm has a cotton or tobacco soil-depleting base, or if crops in the general soil-depleting base normally are grown in excess of the home-consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base. Other farms shall not be eligible to earn a diversion payment. A farm for which the general soil-depleting base does not exceed 20 acres and for which there is no cotton or tobacco soil-depleting base may be classified as not eligible to earn a diversion payment, if the operator elects not to make a diversion, even though feed and food crops normally are grown in excess of home-consumption needs on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

(a) (1) On Farms Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment (whether earned or not).—$1.00 for each acre in the minimum soil-conserving acreage for the farm.

(2) On Farms Not Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment.—75 cents for each acre of cropland or $1.00 for each acre in the minimum soil-conserving acreage for the farm, whichever is larger.

(b) Commercial Orchards.—$1.00 additional for each acre of commercial orchards on the farm on January 1, 1937.

(c) Commercial Vegetables.—$1.00 additional for each acre on which only one crop of commercial vegetables was grown in 1936.

$2.00 additional for each acre on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown in 1936.

(d) Non-Crop Pasture.—25 cents additional for each acre of fenced, non-crop, open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of cropland on the farm, which is capable of maintaining during the normal pasture season at least one animal unit for each 5 acres of such pasture land.

The acreage of commercial orchards, of commercial vegetables, and of non-crop pasture, respectively, used in establishing the soil-building allowance for farms in any county or other area, shall not exceed such acreage as shall be established for such county or other area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 4. Payment for Soil-Building Practices.—Payment will be made, within the limit of the soil-building allowance determined for the farm in accordance with section 3 above, for carrying out in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program not later than October 31, 1937, any of the soil-building practices listed herein, upon the conditions and at the rates herein specified; provided, that the practice is carried out by such methods and with such kinds and quantities of seeds, trees, and other materials as conform to good farming practice, and that no part of the labor, seed, trees, or other materials used in connection with such practice is furnished in whole or in part by any State or Federal agency.

(a) Seeding Legumes and Perennial Grasses.—For seeding approved seeds of any of the following crops, payment will be made at the rate per acre set forth below.

(1) Alfalfa: $2.50.

(2) Red clover: mammouth clover; sericea; kudzu; or bluegrass; or any mixture containing 50 percent or more by weight of legumes listed in paragraphs (1) or (2) of this subsection (a): $2.00.

(3) Austrian winter peas; vetch; crimson clover; alsike clover; sweet clover; annual lespedeza; orchard grass; reed canary grass; or any mixture containing 50 percent or more by weight of bluegrass or of legumes listed in paragraphs (1), (2), or (3) of this subsection (a): $1.50.

(4) White clover; bur clover; crotalaria; redtop; timothy; or any mixture of grasses or legumes listed in this subsection (a): $1.00.

(b) Growing Green Manure Crops and Cover Crops.—Plowing or discing under as green manure any of the crops named below after the crop has attained a normal growth of at least two months, or leaving on the land certain of these crops grown in 1937. Payment will be made at the rate per acre specified for each such crop; provided, however, that if any practice listed in (1) or (2) below is carried out on land normally used to produce commercial vegetables and the County Committee finds that, as a result of the carrying-out of such practice one less soil-depleting crop is grown in 1937 than the number of soil-depleting crops normally grown on such land, the rate of payment for such practice shall be twice the rate per acre specified for such practice.

(1) Soybeans, velvet beans, or cowpeas, plowed or disced under[1]: $2.00.

(2) Crimson clover, Austrian winter peas, or vetch, plowed or disced under; rye, barley, wheat, Italian ryegrass, oats, buckwheat, or mixtures of these, plowed or disced under; Sudan grass, millet, sorghum, or rape, plowed or disced under; soybeans, velvet beans, cowpeas, not grazed or pastured and not harvested for grain when all of the forage is left on the land[1]; lespedeza not grazed or pastured when all of the forage is left on the land: $1.00.

(3) Soybeans, cowpeas, sweet clover, or any combination of small grain and legumes, interplanted in commercial orchards, clipped or disced, and left on the land: $1.50.

(c) Mulching Orchards.—Applying in commercial orchards not less than 2 tons of air-dry mulching material per acre in addition to leaving in the orchard all materials produced therein during 1937 from grasses, legumes, or green manure or cover crops. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 5 tons per acre at the rate of $2.00 per ton.

(d) Planting Forest Trees.—Planting forest trees, including post-producing species. Payment will be made at the rate of $7.50 per acre when planted on cropland, or at the rate of $5.00 per acre when planted on other land.

(e) Improving Stands of Forest Trees.—Upon prior approval by the County Committee, improving the stand of forest trees by thinning or pruning trees on woodland from which grazing is excluded, to develop approximately 100 potential timber trees of desirable species, well distributed over an acre of woodland. Payment will be made at the rate of $2.50 per acre.

(f) Improving Land by the Use of Ground Limestone.—Applying not less than 1,000 pound per acre of ground limestone, or its equivalent,[2] on cropland or non-crop pasture land or not less than 500 pounds per acre if the application is made by drilling with the seed of any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 2½ tons per acre at the rate of $2.50 per ton in Knott, Leslie, Letcher, Perry, and Pike Counties; at the rate of $2.00 per ton in Bell, Breathitt, Clay, Floyd, Harlan, Johnson, Knox, Magoffin, Martin and Whitley Counties; and at the rate of $1.50 per ton in all other counties.

(g) Improving Land by the Use of Superphosphate.—Applying not less than 100 pounds per acre of 20 percent superphosphate, or its equivalent[3] on any permanent pasture, or in connection with seeding or maintaining any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4, or in connection with any green manure crop plowed or disced under as provided in subsection (b) of this section 4. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 500 pounds per acre at the rate of 75 cents per 100 pounds; or, if the superphosphate is applied in connection with a legume or perennial grass, listed in subsection (a) of this section 4, seeded in connection with a soil-depleting crop, at the rate of 37½ cents per 100 pounds.

In connection with this practice, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration will make available at Sheffield, Alabama, a supply of triple superphosphate (approximately 43 percent superphosphate) which, within the limit of such supply, may, upon requests filed at the county office, be obtained for application on the farm in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this subsection (g). If triple superphosphate is so obtained, 75 cents for each 20 pounds of phosphoric acid contained therein shall, in accordance with instructions to be issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, be deducted from any payment (including payment for carrying out this practice) which otherwise would be made to any person(s) eligible to receive payments with respect to the farm; provided, however, that such deduction will first be made from payments with respect to the farm which otherwise would be made to the person(s) carrying out this practice.

(h) Control of Erosion by Terracing.—Terracing cropland or non-crop pasture land which the County Committee finds is in need of terracing, with a sufficient amount of properly constructed terrace to give adequate protection against erosion. Payment will be made at the rate of 40 cents per one hundred feet.

SECTION 5. 1937 Acreage of Soil-Conserving Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm is less than the minimum acreage of soil-conserving crops (that is, the number of acres in the soil-conserving base plus the number of acres diverted from soil-depleting bases in 1937 upon which payment will be made), a deduction will be made from any payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm at the rate of $3.00 per acre of such deficiency.

Diversion payment will in no event be made with respect to a greater number of acres than the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm.

SECTION 6. Increase in Acreage of Soil-Depleting Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of cotton, tobacco, or general soil-depleting crops, respectively, on a farm is in excess of the soil-depleting base therefor, deduction will be made from any payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm as provided below.

(a) For each acre of cotton or tobacco in excess of the soil-depleting base, a deduction at the rate of payment for diversion for such crop.

(b) For each acre of general soil-depleting crops in excess of the general soil-depleting base, a deduction at the rate of payment for diversion for such crops; provided, that no deduction will be made for general soil-depleting crops in excess of the base if such crops are required for home consumption on the farm or if the County Committee finds that such crops are grown in order to replace a shortage of feed crops on the farm caused by drouth or other unfavorable weather conditions in 1936 or 1937.

SECTION 7. Association Expenses.—There shall be deducted pro rata from the payments made to members of each County Agricultural Conservation Association all or such part, as the Secretary may prescribe, of the estimated administrative expenses incurred or to be incurred by such association in coop-

[1] If the soybeans, velvet beans or cowpeas are interplanted or grown in combination with a soil-depleting row crop, one-half the acreage shall be counted for this practice.

[2] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for ground limestone; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of calcium or magnesium oxide contained in the quantities of ground limestone specified. For purposes of this section 4 (f) 100 pounds of ground oyster shell, 70 pounds of hydrated lime, 50 pounds of burned lime, or 150 pounds of marl, shall be considered, respectively, to be equivalent to 100 pounds of ground limestone.

[3] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for 20 percent superphosphate; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of phosphoric acid contained in 20 percent superphosphate, except that if ground rock phosphate is substituted the quantity of ground rock phosphate so substituted shall be not less than twice the quantity of 20 percent superphosphate.

erating in carrying out the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act.

There shall be credited to each County Agricultural Conservation Association for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 per application for that number of applications submitted by members of such association under which it is estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 8. Applicability to Farms Under Special Programs.—On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration, payment will be made only for such diversion and for carrying out such soil-building practices as are, prior to performance, approved for the farm by the County Committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 9. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person may be withheld if any practice is adopted by such person, which the Secretary determines tends to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Part II. Classification of Crops

Farm land, when devoted to the crops and uses indicated hereinafter, shall be classified in the manner set forth in this Part II.

SECTION 1. Soil-Depleting Crops.—Land on which any of the following crops is grown shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-depleting crop for the year in which such crop is normally harvested. The acreage of land which is devoted to two or more soil-depleting crops in the same year shall be counted as soil-depleting only once.

(a) Corn (field, sweet, and popcorn).
(b) Cotton.
(c) Tobacco.
(d) Peanuts harvested for nuts.
(e) Broom corn.
(f) Truck and vegetable crops, including also melons, strawberries, potatoes, and sweetpotatoes.
(g) Sorghum, when harvested.
(h) Small grains: Wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, and grain mixtures; cut for hay or grain.
(i) Annual grasses: Sudan, millet, and Italian ryegrass, harvested for hay or seed.
(j) Summer legumes: Soybeans, velvet beans, field peas, and cowpeas; harvested for grain, hay or forage, except that, for 1937, summer legumes grown as emergency hay crops on an acreage not in excess of that determined by the County Committee to be required to replace a shortage of feed on the farm caused by drought or other unfavorable weather conditions in 1936 or 1937 may be disregarded in classifying the land on which such crops were grown.
(k) Bulbs and flowers.
(l) Hemp.

SECTION 2. Soil-Conserving Crops.—Land devoted to any of the following crops and not used in the same year for the growing of any soil-depleting crop, as defined in section 1 of this Part II, shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-conserving crop, except as otherwise provided in section 3 below. Cropland from which no crop is harvested during 1937 and which is planted in 1937 not later than October 31 to any crop listed below (other than small grains seeded alone in the Fall) shall be considered as soil-conserving. If two or more soil-conserving crops are grown on the same land during any year the acreage of such land counted as soil-conserving shall not exceed the acreage on which such crops are grown.

(a) Biennial and perennial legumes: Sweet, red, alsike, white, and mammoth clovers; alfalfa; kudzu; and sericea.
(b) Miscellaneous legumes: Vetch, Austrian winter peas; bur clover and crimson clover; annual varieties of lespedeza; crotalaria.
(c) Summer legumes: Soybeans, velvet beans, field peas, and cowpeas, when not harvested for grain, hay or forage.
(d) Peanuts, when pastured.
(e) Annual grasses: Sudan, millet, and Italian ryegrass, not harvested for hay or seed.
(f) Perennial grasses: Bluegrass, Dallis, redtop, timothy, orchard grass, Bermuda, carpet grass, reed canary grass, and mixtures of these.
(g) Small grains: Rye, oats, barley, wheat, buckwheat, and grain mixtures, when not cut for grain or hay, provided a good growth is left on the land. (If plowed under or if a good growth is not left on the land the crop shall be disregarded in classifying the land on which grown except as otherwise provided.)
(h) Forest trees, planted on cropland since January 1, 1934.
(i) Sweet sorghums, not harvested.

SECTION 3. Soil-Conserving Crops Grown on Land Used for the Production of a Soil Depleting Crop.—Land devoted to any of the combinations of soil-conserving and soil-depleting crops listed below shall be classified as follows:

(a) Acreage on which mixtures of legumes and soil-depleting crops (winter legumes and small grains) are harvested together. The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving provided not less than 50 percent of the total growth harvested consists of such legumes.
(b) Acreage of legumes classified as soil-conserving or of such a legume and perennial grass following a soil-depleting crop harvested in the same year (whether seeded in or following such soil-depleting crop). The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving, except that if the legume is an annual winter legume (crimson clover, vetch, or Austrian winter peas) the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.
(c) Acreage of the crops listed in subsection (b) of section 4 of part I plowed under as green manure after having attained at least two months' normal growth on land from which a commercial vegetable crop is harvested in the same year. The entire acreage of commercial vegetables shall be classified as soil-depleting and the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.

SECTION 4. Neutral Uses.—Land devoted to the following uses shall be regarded as not used for the production of a soil-depleting crop or a soil-conserving crop:

(a) Vineyards, tree fruits, small fruits, bush fruits, nut trees, and nursery stock not interplanted. Any portion of the area which is interplanted shall carry the classification and actual acreage of such interplanted crop.
(b) Idle cropland.
(c) Cultivated fallow land.
(d) Waste land, roads, lanes, lots, yards, and other similar non-crop land.
(e) Woodland, other than cropland planted to forest trees since January 1, 1934.

Part III. Establishment of Bases

The County Committee will recommend for approval by the Secretary a general soil-depleting base, a cotton soil-depleting base, a tobacco soil-depleting base, and a soil-conserving base for each farm participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such bases shall represent the acreage normally used for the production of general soil-depleting crops, cotton, tobacco, and soil-conserving crops, respectively, on such farm. The County Committee also will recommend for each farm a base yield per acre for cotton and tobacco, and a rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for the farm.

SECTION 1. Farms for Which Soil-Depleting Bases Were Established Under the 1936 Program.—The soil-depleting bases established for farms under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, together with the accompanying base yields or rates of payment per acre, shall be used as a basis for determining the soil-depleting bases, base yields, or rates per acre for such farms in 1937, with adjustment as provided in section 3 of this Part III.

SECTION 2. Farms for Which Soil-Depleting Bases Were Not Established Under the 1936 Program.—On farms for which bases were not established under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, the bases and yields or rates per acre shall, subject to adjustment as provided hereinafter, be determined as follows:

(a) Cotton Base and Yield.—A cotton soil-depleting base may be established for a farm:

(1) If one acre or more of cotton was planted on the farm in 1935 or 1936, or
(2) If the entire base cotton acreage for the farm was retired in 1936 under a cotton acreage reduction contract, or
(3) If the County Committee determines that cotton was not planted in either 1935 or 1936 because of unusual weather conditions.

The cotton soil-depleting base and base yield for a farm will be determined upon the basis of the base established under the 1935 cotton acreage reduction program, or, if no such base was established, upon the basis of the acreage grown and yield obtained on the farm in the year 1936.

(b) Tobacco Base and Yield.—A tobacco soil-depleting base may be established for any farm on which tobacco was grown in either 1935 or 1936, and for other farms on which the County Committee determines that tobacco was not planted in 1935 or 1936 because of unusual weather conditions.

The tobacco soil-depleting base and base yield for a farm shall be determined upon the basis of the base established for the farm under the 1936–39 tobacco production adjustment program, or, if no such base was established, upon the basis of the acreage grown and yield obtained on the farm in the year 1936.

(c) General Soil-Depleting Base and Rate per Acre.—A general soil-depleting base may be established for any farm if soil-depleting crops other than cotton or tobacco were produced thereon in the years 1935 or 1936, and for such other farms as the County Committee determines, in accordance with instructions, are eligible upon the basis of the past production on the farm or by the operator.

The general soil-depleting base for a farm shall be determined upon the basis of the acreage of general soil-depleting crops grown on the farm in 1936. The rate of payment per acre shall be determined upon the basis of the estimated yield per acre for the farm of the crop used under the 1936 program in determining the rate of payment per acre for other farms in the locality.

SECTION 3. Adjustment in Soil-Depleting Bases.—(a) Inequitable Bases.—The soil-depleting base, the base yield, or the rate of payment per acre determined for each farm in accordance with the provisions of this Part III shall be adjusted upward or downward whenever necessary so as to be equitable for such farm as compared with farms in the same locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(b) Unused Bases.—If the acreage of cotton, tobacco, or of crops in the general soil-depleting base planted on a farm in the years 1935 and 1936 has been substantially less than the acreage which could have been planted on the farm in such years with maximum payments with respect to such crops, under the 1935 programs of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, or under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, and such deficiency was not caused by unusual weather conditions, the base shall be adjusted by the County Committee so as to reflect the plantings on the farm in 1935 and 1936 and so as to be equitable as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(c) Changes in Crop Classification.—The acreage of small grains harvested for grain or hay, and the acreage of corn interplanted with legumes, classified as soil conserving in establishing the general soil-depleting base for 1936 for any farm shall be added to such 1936 base in determining the general soil-depleting base for 1937.

(d) Rate of Payment per Acre.—The rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for each farm for which such a rate was established in 1936 shall be adjusted so as to conform to the adjustment in the average rate of such payment for the United States and shall in each case reflect the relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base.

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of sections 1 and 2 of this Part III, the Secretary reserves the right to provide for the establishment of any base for a farm in conjunction with a decrease in any other base for the farm under such conditions and within such limits as he may prescribe.

SECTION 4. Limits of Soil-Depleting Bases.—The general soil-depleting bases, the cotton soil-depleting bases, and the tobacco soil-depleting bases, respectively, established for all farms participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program in any county or other specified area, shall not exceed the acreage for each such soil-depleting base which is established for such farms in such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The total of the cotton or tobacco soil-depleting bases, respectively, established in 1937 for farms on which such bases were not established in 1936, or on which no cotton or tobacco base acreage was established under a commodity adjustment program in 1935, shall not exceed such acreage in any county or other area as shall be obtained by downward adjustment of the respective soil-depleting bases or base acreages previously established for other farms in such county or other area, except as approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The weighted average of the rate per acre for diversion from the general soil-depleting base and the weighted average base yield of cotton and tobacco for all farms for which soil-depleting bases are established in any county or other specified area shall not exceed the respective rate per acre or base yield established for such crop(s) for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 5. Soil-Conserving Base.—The soil-conserving base for a farm will be determined upon the basis of the 1936 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm, with such adjustment as is necessary to correct abnormally small or large acreages caused by unusual weather conditions or any increase in the acreage of such crops under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such acreage shall, if necessary, be further adjusted for each farm so as to represent an acreage of soil-conserving crops which is fair and equitable for the farm as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, and farming practices, and shall in no event be less than the total acreage of cropland minus the sum of the soil-depleting bases and the normal acreage of neutral cropland on the farm.

The total of the soil-conserving bases for farms in any county or other area shall not be greater than the maximum or less than the minimum acreage established for such bases in the county or other area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Part IV. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 1. Land To Be Included Under Application.—An application may be submitted with respect to any farm or with respect to any two or more farms operated by the same person.

SECTION 2. Application and Eligibility for Payment.—(a) Payment will be made only upon applications submitted through the county office. The Secretary reserves the right to withhold payment to any person who fails to file any form or furnish any information required with respect to any farm in which he is interested as owner or operator and to refuse to accept any application for payment if such application or any other form or information required is not submitted to the county office within the time fixed by the Director of the East Central Division.

(b) An application for payment may be made by any person who as owner, share-tenant or sharecropper is entitled to receive a share or all of the crops produced on the farm in 1937 or the proceeds therefrom or who rents the land to a producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment and who incurs any part or all of the expense of carrying out a soil-building practice on the farm.

(c) In the event of the death or legal incompetency of an applicant for payment, any payment which has not been received by such applicant prior to his death or incompetency and which would otherwise be made to such applicant, shall be made to the person who under rules prescribed by the Secretary, is determined to be eligible to receive such payment.

(d) In case a farm is located in two or more counties, the farm shall be regarded as being in the county in which the principal dwelling on such farm is located, or, if there is no dwelling on such farm, in the county in which the major portion of the farm is located.

(e) Any person who files an application for payment in a county shall file an application with respect to each farm owned or operated by such person in the county. Upon request by the State Committee such person also shall file an application with respect to any farm owned or operated by him in any other county.

SECTION 3. Membership in Association.—Any person having an interest in the crops produced on any farm, or the proceeds thereof, who is not a member of the County Agricultural Conservation Association for the county in which such farm is located shall become a member of such association whenever any form or information required in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program is submitted for such farm. Any person shall cease to be a member of the association if an application for payment is not filed by him within the time specified by the Director of the East Central Division for the filing of applications.

SECTION 4. Division of Payments.—Payments with respect to any farm included under an application shall be divided as follows:

(a) Diversion Payment With Respect to Cotton.

(1) 37½ percent to the producer who furnished the land.

(2) 12½ percent to the producer who furnished the work stock and equipment, and

(3) 50 percent to be divided among the producers who are parties to the lease or operating agreement in the proportion that such producers are entitled to share in the cotton crop grown on the farm in 1937, or the proceeds thereof.

(b) Diversion Payment with Respect to Tobacco and General Soil-Depleting Crops.

(1) 15 percent to the producer who furnished the land.

(2) 15 percent to the producer who furnished the work stock and equipment, and

(3) 70 percent to be divided among the producers who are parties to the lease or operating agreement in the proportion that such producers are entitled to share in the tobacco or in the general soil-depleting crops, respectively, grown on the farm in 1937, or the proceeds thereof.

(c) Payment With Respect to Soil-Building Practices.—The soil-building payment with respect to the acreage on which any approved soil-building practice is carried out on any farm shall be made to the producer or the person who rents the land to the producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment whom the County Committee determines, under instructions issued by the Secretary, has incurred the expense of carrying out such soil-building practice; if the County Committee determines that two or more such persons have incurred the expense of carrying out such practice on the farm, the soil-building payment calculated for the particular acreage with respect to which such persons shared in such expense shall be divided equally among them.

(d) Computation of Shares of Payments.—Any share of payments shall be computed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deduction of claims for advances, and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of any creditor.

(e) Division of Diversion Payment Under Specified Conditions on Farms Where There Are Two or More Producers.—

(1) If the 1937 acreage of the crop(s) in any soil-depleting base is zero, or, because of partial crop failure is substantially smaller than the acreage which, but for such failure, would have been grown in 1937, the portion of the diversion payment with respect to the crop which is to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop shall be divided among the producers who remain entitled to share in any crop actually grown on the farm in 1937 in proportion to the share of each such producer in the crop as it was intended to be grown.

(2) In cases where the County Committee finds that the share of one or more producers in the acreage diverted in 1937 from any soil-depleting base differs materially from the share of such producer(s) in the 1937 acreage of the crops in such base, that portion of the diversion payment with respect to such base to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop, shall be divided on the basis of the shares in the acreage diverted by such producers. The acreage diverted by each producer may be determined by agreement of all producers on the farm by appearing before at least two members of the County Committee and indicating their agreement. In any such case there shall be submitted to the State Office at the time of submission of the application for the farm, a certification signed by each producer in the presence of and approved by at least two members of the County Committee that the agreement has been reached voluntarily in accordance with foregoing provisions.

Where agreement of all producers is not obtained, the County Committee may recommend, subject to the approval of the State Committee and the Director of the East Central Division, their determination of the acreage diverted by each producer, such recommendation to be accompanied by a complete statement of all of the facts upon which the recommendation is based.

SECTION 5. Changes in Leasing or Cropping Agreement and Other Devices.—If it shall appear from an investigation made by the State Committee that any person who has made an application for a payment pursuant to the provisions of the 1936 or the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has made any change in the normal leasing or cropping agreement for the farm or has employed or participated in any other scheme or device whatsoever the effect of which would be or has been to deprive any other person of any payment or share therein to which such other person would normally be entitled, the Secretary may withhold from the person participating in or employing such a scheme or device, or require such person to refund, in whole or in part the amount of any payment which had been or would otherwise be made to such person for performance in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

SECTION 6. Multiple Farm Holdings.—If a person who has made application for a payment with respect to any farm or farms has an interest as owner or operator in another farm or farms in the county on which the acreage used for the production of crops included in any soil-depleting base exceeds such base and such other farm or farms have not been included in an application under which a payment can be made, the payment to be made to such person shall be decreased by an amount equal to such person's share of the net deductions with respect to such other farm or farms.

The provisions of this section may be extended to include farms in two or more counties in the State in which any person as owner or operator is entitled to receive a share of the crops produced thereon, or the proceeds thereof, if the acreage used for the production of any soil-depleting crop(s) on any such farm has been increased to such an extent as to tend to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

ECR—B-101—Maryland East Central Division, January 21, 1937

BULLETIN 101—MARYLAND

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, payments will be made, in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of said Act for 1937, in accordance with the provisions of this East Central Region Bulletin 101 for the State of Maryland and such modifications or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has been developed in accordance with the provisions of sections 8, 15, and 16 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, but the payment of any benefits pursuant to the provisions of this bulletin is contingent upon such appropriation, if any, as the Congress of the United States may hereafter make for such purpose, and the amounts of such payments will be finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of participation in the program. The rates of payment and the soil-building allowance set forth herein are computed upon the basis of an appropriation of $500,000,000 for the 1937 program for the Nation and 85 percent participation by farmers. The payments calculated in accordance with the provisions of Part I of this Bulletin 101 may be increased or decreased depending upon the extent of participation in the East Central Region, but any such variation will not be in excess of 10 percent.

Part I. Rates and Conditions of Payment

Payment will be made in connection with the utilization in 1937 of the land on any farm in the State of Maryland, in the amounts and subject to the conditions hereinafter set forth.

SECTION 1. Payment for Diversion from the Tobacco Soil-Depleting Base.—For each acre diverted from the tobacco soil-depleting base for the farm, payment will be made at the rate of 5 cents per pound of the base yield per acre of tobacco for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 25 percent of the tobacco soil-depleting base.

SECTION 2. Payment for Diversion from the General Soil-Depleting Base.—For each acre diverted from the general soil-depleting base for the farm, not in excess of 15 percent of such base, payment will be made at a rate which will average $9.00 per acre for the United States, varied among farms according to relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base; Provided, That payment will not be made for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for a farm unless crops in such base are normally grown in excess of the home consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

SECTION 3. Allowance for Soil-Building Practices.—The soil-building allowances for the farm is the maximum amount for which payment may be made for carrying out soil-building practices. This allowance shall be the sum of such of the items set forth in subsections (a), (b), (c), and (d) below as are applicable to the farm; Provided, That in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $10.00, and in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm not eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $20.00.

A farm shall be eligible to earn a diversion payment if such farm has a tobacco soil-depleting base, or if crops in the general soil-depleting base normally are grown in excess of the home consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base. Other farms shall not be eligible to earn a diversion payment. A farm for which the general soil-depleting base does not exceed 20 acres and for which there is no tobacco soil-depleting base may be classified as not eligible to earn a diversion payment, if the operator elects not to make a diversion, even though food and food crops normally are grown in excess of home consumption needs on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

(a) (1) On Farms Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment (whether earned or not).—$1.00 for each acre in the minimum soil-conserving acreage for the farm.

(2) On Farms Not Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment.—$1.00 for each acre of cropland.

(b) Commercial Orchards.—$1.00 additional for each acre of commercial orchards on the farm on January 1, 1937.

(c) Commercial Vegetables (excluding sweet corn for canning and peas for canning).—$1.00 additional for each acre on which only one crop of commercial vegetables was grown in 1936.

$2.00 additional for each acre on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown in 1936.

(d) Non-Crop Pasture.—25 cents additional for each acre of fenced, non-crop, open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of cropland on the farm, which is capable of maintaining during the normal pasture season at least one animal unit for each 5 acres of such pasture land.

The acreage of commercial orchards, of commercial vegetables, and of non-crop pasture, respectively, used in establishing the soil-building allowance for farms in any county or other areas, shall not exceed such acreage as shall be established for such county or other area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 4. Payment for Soil-Building Practices.—Payment will be made, within the limit of the soil-building allowance determined for the farm in accordance with section 3 above, for carrying out in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program not later than October 31, 1937, any of the soil-building practices listed herein, upon the conditions and at the rates herein specified; provided, that the practice is carried out by such methods and with such kinds and quantities of seeds, trees, and other materials as conform to good farming practice, and that no part of the labor, seed, trees, or other materials used in connection with such practice is furnished in whole or in part by any State or Federal agency.

(a) Seeding Legumes and Perennial Grasses.—For seeding approved seeds of any of the following crops, payment will be made at the rate per acre set forth below.

(1) Alfalfa: $2.50.

(2) Red clover; mammoth clover; sericea; kudzu; or bluegrass; or any mixture containing 50 percent or more by weight of legumes listed in paragraphs (1) or (2) of this subsection (a): $2.00.

(3) Austrian winter peas; vetch; crimson clover; alsike clover; sweet clover; annual lespedeza; orchard grass; or any mixture containing 50 percent or more by weight of bluegrass or of legumes listed in paragraphs (1), (2), or (3) of this subsection (a): $1.50.

(4) White clover; bur clover; crotalaria; redtop; timothy; or any mixture of grasses or legumes listed in this subsection (a): $1.00.

(b) Growing Green Manure Crops and Cover Crops.—Plowing or discing under as green manure any of the crops named below after the crop has attained a normal growth of at least two months, or leaving on the land, as specified below, certain of these crops grown in 1937. Payment will be made at the rate per acre specified for each such crop; provided, however, that if any practice listed in (1) or (2) below is carried out on land normally used to produce commercial vegetables and the County Committee finds that as a result of the carrying-out of such practice one less soil-depleting crop is grown in 1937 than the number of soil-depleting crops normally grown on such land, the rate of payment for such practice shall be twice the rate per acre specified for such practice.

(1) Soybeans, velvet beans, or cowpeas, plowed or disced under:[1] $2.00.

(2) Crimson clover, Austrian winter peas, or vetch, plowed or disced under; rye, barley, wheat, buckwheat, Italian ryegrass, oats, or mixtures of these, plowed or disced under; Sudan grass, millet, sorghum, or sowed corn, plowed or disced under; soybeans, velvet beans, or cowpeas, not grazed or pastured, and not harvested for grain, when all of the forage is left on the land;[1] lespedeza not grazed or pastured when all of the forage is left on the land: $1.00.

Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 5 tons per acre at the rate of $2.00 per ton.

(d) Planting Forest Trees.—Planting forest trees, including post-producing species. Payment will be made at the rate of $7.50 per acre when planted on cropland or at the rate of $5.00 per acre when planted on other land.

(e) Improving Stands of Forest Trees.—Upon prior approval by the County Committee, improving the stand of forest trees by thinning or pruning trees on woodland from which grazing is excluded, to develop approximately 100 potential timber trees of desirable species, well distributed over an acre of woodland. Payment will be made at the rate of $2.50 per acre.

(f) Improving Land by the Use of Ground Limestone.—Applying not less than 1,000 pounds per acre of ground limestone, or its equivalent,[2] on cropland or non-crop pasture land or not less than 500 pounds per acre if the application is made by drilling with the seed of any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 2½ tons per acre at the rate of $2.50 per ton in Allegany, Baltimore, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett, Harford, Howard, Montgomery, and Washington Counties and at the rate of $3.00 per ton in all other counties.

[1] If the soybeans, velvet beans or cowpeas are interplanted or grown in combination with a soil-depleting row crop only one-half the acreage shall be counted for this practice.

[2] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for ground limestone; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of calcium or magnesium oxide contained in the quantities of ground limestone specified. For purposes of this section 4 (f) 100 pounds of ground oyster shell, 70 pounds of hydrated lime, or 50 pounds of burned lime, shall be considered, respectively, to be equivalent to 100 pounds of ground limestone.

(g) Improving Land by the Use of Superphosphate.—Applying not less than 100 pounds per acre of 16 percent superphosphate, or its equivalent,[3] on any permanent pasture, or in connection with seeding or maintaining any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4, or in connection with any green manure crop plowed or disced under as provided in subsection (b) of this section 4. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 300 pounds per acre at the rate of 60 cents per 100 pounds; or, if the superphosphate is applied in connection with a legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4 seeded in connection with a soil-depleting crop, at the rate of 30 cents per 100 pounds.

(h) Improving Land by the Use of Potash.—Applying not less than 30 pounds per acre of 50 percent muriate of potash or its equivalent,[4] on land on which 16 percent superphosphate or its equivalent is applied in accordance with paragraph (g) above. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 250 pounds per acre, at the rate of $1.00 per 100 pounds; or, if the muriate of potash is applied as above in connection with a legume or perennial grass seeded in connection with a soil-depleting crop, at the rate of $0.50 per 100 pounds.

(i) Control of Erosion by Terracing.—Terracing cropland or non-crop pasture land which the County Committee finds is in need of terracing, with a sufficient amount of properly constructed terrace to give adequate protection against erosion. Payment will be made at the rate of 40 cents per one hundred feet.

SECTION 5. 1937 Acreage of Soil-Conserving Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm is less than the minimum acreage of soil-conserving crops (that is, the number of acres in the soil-conserving base plus the number of acres diverted from soil-depleting bases in 1937 upon which payment will be made), a deduction will be made from any payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm at the rate of $3.00 per acre of such deficiency.

Diversion payment will in no event be made with respect to a greater number of acres than the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm.

SECTION 6. Increase in Acreage of Soil-Depleting Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of tobacco or general soil-depleting crops, respectively, on a farm is in excess of the soil-depleting base therefor, deduction will be made from any payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm as provided below.

(a) For each acre of tobacco in excess of the tobacco soil-depleting base, a deduction at the rate of payment for diversion from the tobacco soil-depleting base.

(b) For each acre of general soil-depleting crops in excess of the general soil-depleting base, a deduction at the rate of payment for diversion for such crops; provided, that no deduction will be made for general soil-depleting crops in excess of the base if such crops are required for home consumption on the farm or if the County Committee finds that such crops are grown in order to replace a shortage of feed crops on the farm caused by drouth or other unfavorable weather conditions in 1936 or 1937.

SECTION 7. Association Expenses.—There shall be deducted pro rata from the payments made to members of each County Agricultural Conservation Association all or such part, as the Secretary may prescribe, of the estimated administrative expenses incurred or to be incurred by such association in cooperating in carrying out the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act.

[3] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for 16 percent superphosphate; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of phosphoric acid contained in 16 percent superphosphate, except that if ground rock phosphate is substituted the quantity of ground rock phosphate so substituted shall be not less than 1½ times the quantity of 16 percent superphosphate.

[4] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for 50 percent muriate of potash; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of potash contained in the quantity specified of 50 percent muriate of potash.

There shall be credited to each County Agricultural Conservation Association for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 per application for that number of applications submitted by members of such association under which it is estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 8. Applicability to Farms under Special Programs.—On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration payment will be made only for such diversion and for carrying out such soil-building practices as are, prior to performance, approved for the farm by the County Committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 9. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person may be withheld if any practice is adopted by such person, which the Secretary determines tends to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Part II. Classification of Crops

Farmland, when devoted to the crops and uses indicated hereinafter, shall be classified in the manner set forth in this Part II.

SECTION 1. Soil-Depleting Crops.—Land on which any of the following crops is grown shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-depleting crop for the year in which such crop is normally harvested. The acreage of land which is devoted to two or more soil-depleting crops in the same year shall be counted as soil-depleting only once.

(a) Corn (field, sweet, and popcorn).

(b) Tobacco.

(c) Broom corn.

(d) Truck and vegetable crops, including also melons, strawberries, potatoes, and sweet potatoes.

(e) Sorghum, when harvested.

(f) Small grains: Wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, and grain mixtures; cut for hay or grain.

(g) Annual grasses: Sudan, millet, and Italian ryegrass, harvested for hay or seed.

(h) Summer legumes: Soybeans, velvet beans, field peas, and cowpeas; harvested for grain, hay or forage, except for the year 1937, summer legumes grown as emergency hay crops on an acreage not in excess of that determined by the County Committee to be required to replace a shortage of feed on the farm caused by drouth in 1936 or 1937 may be disregarded in classifying the land on which such crops were grown.

(i) Bulbs and flowers.

SECTION 2. Soil-Conserving Crops.—Land devoted to any of the following crops and not used in the same year for the growing of any soil-depleting crop, as defined in section 1 of this Part II, shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-conserving crop, except as otherwise provided in section 3 below. Cropland from which no crop is harvested during 1937 and which is planted in 1937 not later than October 31 to any crop listed below (other than small grains seeded alone in the fall) shall be considered as soil-conserving. If two or more soil-conserving crops are grown on the same land during any year the acreage of such land counted as soil-conserving shall not exceed the acreage on which such crops are grown.

(a) Biennial and perennial legumes: Sweet, red, alsike, white, and mammoth clovers; alfalfa; kudzu; and sericea.

(b) Miscellaneous legumes: Vetch, Austrian winter peas; bur clover and crimson clover; annual varieties of lespedeza; cretalaria.

(c) Summer legumes: Soybeans, velvet beans, field peas and cowpeas when not harvested for grain, hay or forage.

(d) Annual grasses: Sudan, millet, and Italian ryegrass, not harvested for hay or seed.

(e) Perennial grasses: Bluegrass, Dallis, redtop, timothy, orchard grass, Bermuda, carpet grass, and mixtures of these.

(f) Small grains: Rye, oats, barley, wheat, buckwheat, and grain mixtures, when not cut for grain or hay, provided a good growth is left on the land. (If plowed under or if a good growth is not left on the land the crop shall be disregarded in classifying the land on which grown except as otherwise provided.)

(g) Forest trees, planted on cropland since January 1, 1934.

(h) Sweet sorghums, not harvested.

SECTION 3. Soil-Conserving Crops Grown on Land Used for the Production of a Soil-Depleting Crop.—Land devoted to any of the combinations of soil-conserving and soil-depleting crops listed below shall be classified as follows:

(a) Acreage on which mixtures of legumes and soil-depleting crops (winter legumes and small grains) are harvested together. The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving provided not less than 50 percent of the total growth harvested consists of such legumes.

(b) Acreage of legumes classified as soil-conserving (including summer legumes not harvested for grain, hay or forage) or of such a legume and perennial grass following a soil-depleting crop harvested in the same year (whether seeded in or following such soil-depleting crop). The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving, except that if the legume is an annual winter legume (crimson clover, vetch, or Austrian winter peas) the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.

(c) Acreage of the crops listed in subsection (b) of section 4 of Part I plowed under as green manure after having attained at least two months' normal growth on land from which a commercial vegetable crop is harvested in the same year. The entire acreage of commercial vegetables shall be classified as soil-depleting and the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.

SECTION 4. Neutral Uses.—Land devoted to the following uses shall be regarded as not used for the production of a soil-depleting crop or a soil-conserving crop:

(a) Vineyards, tree fruits, small fruits, bush fruits, nut trees, and nursery stock not interplanted. Any portion of the area which is interplanted shall carry the classification and actual acreage of such interplanted crop.

(b) Idle cropland.

(c) Cultivated fallow land.

(d) Waste land, roads, lanes, lots, yards, and other similar non-crop land.

(e) Woodland, other than cropland planted to forest trees since January 1, 1934.

Part III. Establishment of Bases

The County Committee will recommend for approval by the Secretary a general soil-depleting base, a tobacco soil-depleting base, and a soil-conserving base for each farm participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such bases shall represent the acreage normally used for the production of general soil-depleting crops, tobacco, and soil-conserving crops, respectively, on such farm. The County Committee also will recommend for each farm a base yield per acre for tobacco and a rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for the farm.

SECTION 1. Farms for Which Soil-Depleting Bases Were Established Under the 1936 Program.—The soil-depleting bases established for farms under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, together with the accompanying base yields or rates of payment per acre, shall be used as a basis for determining the soil-depleting bases, base yields, or rates per acre for such farms in 1937, with adjustment as provided in section 3 of this Part III.

SECTION 2. Farms For Which Soil-Depleting Bases Were Not Established Under the 1936 Program.—On farms for which bases were not established under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, the bases and yields or rates per acre shall, subject to adjustment as provided in section 3 of this Part III, be determined as follows:

(a) Tobacco Base and Yield.—A tobacco soil-depleting base may be established for any farm on which tobacco was grown in either 1935 or 1936, and for other farms on which the County Committee determines that tobacco was not planted in 1935 or 1936 because of unusual weather conditions.

The tobacco soil-depleting base and base yield for a farm shall be determined upon the basis of the acreage grown and yield obtained on the farm in the year 1936 or if no tobacco was grown on the farm in 1936, upon the basis of the acreage grown and yield obtained in the year 1935.

(b) General Soil-Depleting Base and Rate Per Acre.—A general soil-depleting base may be established for any farm if soil-depleting crops other than tobacco were produced thereon in the year 1935 or 1936, and for such other farms as the County Committee determines, in accordance with instructions, are eligible upon the basis of the past production on the farm or by the operator.

The general soil-depleting base for a farm shall be determined upon the basis of the acreage of general soil-depleting crops grown on the farm in 1936. The rate of payment per acre shall be determined upon the basis of the estimated yield per acre for the farm of the crop used under the 1936 program in determining the rate of payment per acre for other farms in the locality.

SECTION 3. Adjustment in Soil-Depleting Bases.—(a) Inequitable Bases.—The soil-depleting base, the base yield, or the rate of payment per acre determined for each farm in accordance with the provisions of this Part III shall be adjusted upward or downward whenever necessary so as to be equitable for such farm as compared with farms in the same locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(b) Unused Bases.—If the acreage of tobacco, or of crops in the general soil-depleting base planted on a farm in the years 1935 and 1936 has been substantially less than the acreage which could have been planted on the farm in such years with maximum payments with respect to such crops, under the 1935 programs of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration or under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, and such deficiency was not caused by unusual weather conditions, the base shall be adjusted by the County Committee so as to reflect the plantings on the farm in 1935 and 1936 and so as to be equitable as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(c) Changes in Crop Classification.—The acreage of small grains harvested for grain or hay, classified as soil-conserving in establishing the general soil-depleting base for 1936 for any farm shall be added to such 1936 base in determining the general soil-depleting base for 1937.

(d) Rate of Payment per Acre.—The rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for each farm for which such a rate was established in 1936 shall be adjusted so as to conform to the adjustment in the average rate of such payment for the United States and shall in each case reflect the relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base.

SECTION 4. Limits of Soil-Depleting Bases.—The general soil-depleting bases and the tobacco soil-depleting bases, respectively, established for all farms participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program in any county or other specified area, shall not exceed the acreage for each such soil-depleting base which is established for such farms in such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The weighted average of the rate per acre for diversion from the general soil-depleting base and the weighted average base yield of tobacco for all farms for which soil-depleting bases are established in any county or other specified area shall not exceed the respective rate per acre or base yield established for such crop(s) for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 5. Soil-Conserving Base.—The soil-conserving base for a farm will be determined upon the basis of the 1936 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm, with such adjustment as is necessary to correct abnormally small or large acreages caused by unusual weather conditions or any increase in the acreage of such crops under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such acreage shall, if necessary, be further adjusted for each farm so as to represent an acreage of soil-conserving crops which is fair and equitable for the farm as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, and farming practices, and shall in no event be less than the total acreage of cropland minus the sum of the soil-depleting bases and the normal acreage of natural cropland on the farm.

The total of the soil-conserving bases for farms in any county or other area shall not be greater than the maximum or less than the minimum acreage established for such bases in the county or other area, by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Part IV. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 1. Land To Be Included Under Application.—An application may be submitted with respect to any farm or with respect to any two or more farms operated by the same person.

SECTION 2. Application and Eligibility for Payment.—(a) Payment will be made only upon applications submitted through the county office. The Secretary reserves the right to withhold payment to any person who fails to file any form or furnish any information required with respect to any farm in which he is interested as owner or operator and to refuse to accept any application for payment if such application or any other form or information required is not submitted to the county office within the time fixed by the Director of the East Central Division.

(b) An application for payment may be made by any person who as owner, share-tenant or sharecropper is entitled to receive a share or all of the crops produced on the farm in 1937 or the proceeds therefrom or who rents the land to a producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment and who incurs any part or all of the expense of carrying out a soil-building practice on the farm.

(c) In the event of the death or legal incompetency of an applicant for payment, any payment which has not been received by such applicant prior to his death or incompetency and which would otherwise be made to such applicant, shall be made to the person who under rules prescribed by the Secretary, is determined to be eligible to receive such payment.

(d) In case a farm is located in two or more counties, the farm shall be regarded as being in the county in which the principal dwelling on such farm is located, or, if there is no dwelling on such farm, in the county in which the major portion of the farm is located.

(e) Any person who files an application for payment in a county shall file an application with respect to each farm owned or operated by such person in the county. Upon request by the State Committee such person also shall file an application with respect to any farm owned or operated by him in any other county.

SECTION 3. Membership in Association.—Any person having an interest in the crops produced on any farm, or the proceeds thereof, who is not a member of the County Agricultural Conservation Association for the county in which such farm is located shall become a member of such association whenever any form or information required in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program is submitted for such farm. Any person shall cease to be a member of the association if an application for payment is not filed by him within the time specified by the Director of the East Central Division for the filing of applications.

SECTION 4. Division of Payments.—Payments with respect to any farm included under an application shall be divided as follows:

(a) Diversion Payment With Respect to Tobacco and General Soil-Depleting Crops.—The diversion payment will be divided among the producers who are parties to the lease or operating agreement in the proportion that such producers are entitled to share in the tobacco or in the general soil-depleting crops, respectively, grown on the farm in 1937, or the proceeds thereof.

(b) Payment With Respect to Soil-Building Practices.—The soil-building payment with respect to the acreage on which any approved soil-building practice is carried out on any farm shall be made to the producer or the person who rents the land to a producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment whom the County Committee determines, under instructions issued by the Secretary, has incurred the expense of carrying out such soil-building practice; if the county committee determines that two or more such producers have incurred the expense of carrying out such practice on the farm, the soil-building payment shall be divided among such producers in the proportion that such producers are entitled under the terms of their lease or operating agreement to share in the soil-depleting crops grown on the farm in 1937, or the proceeds thereof.

(c) Computation of Shares of Payments.—Any share of payments shall be computed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deduction of claims for advances, and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of any creditor.

(d) Division of Payments Under Specified Conditions on Farms Where There Are Two or More Producers.—

(1) If the 1937 acreage of the crop(s) in any soil-depleting base is zero, or, because of partial crop failure is substantially smaller than the acreage which, but for such failure, would have been grown in 1937, the portion of the payments to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop shall be divided among the producers who remain entitled to share in any crop actually grown on the farm in 1937 in proportion to the share of each such producer in the soil-depleting crop intended to be grown.

(2) In cases where the County Committee finds that the share of one or more producers in the acreage diverted in 1937 from any soil-depleting base differs materially from the share of such producer(s) in the 1937 acreage of the crops in such base, that portion of the payments to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop, shall be divided on the basis of the shares in the acreage diverted by such producers.

The acreage diverted by each producer may be determined by agreement of all producers on the farm by appearing before at least two members of the County Committee and indicating their agreement. In any such case there shall be submitted to the State Office at the time of submission of the application for the farm a certification signed by each producer in the presence of and approved by at least two members of the County Committee that the agreement has been reached voluntarily in accordance with the foregoing provisions.

Where agreement of all producers is not obtained, the County Committee may recommend, subject to the approval of the State Committee and the Director of the East Central Division, their determination of the acreage diverted by each producer, such recommendation to be accompanied by a complete statement of all of the facts upon which the recommendation is based.

SECTION 5. Changes in Leasing or Cropping Agreement and Other Devices.—If it shall appear from an investigation made by the State Committee that any person who has made an application for a payment pursuant to the provisions of the 1936 or the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has made any change in the normal leasing or cropping agreement for the farm or has employed or participated in any other scheme or device whatsoever the effect of which would be or has been to deprive any other person of any payment or share therein to which such other person would normally be entitled, the Secretary may withhold from the person participating in or employing such a scheme or device, or require such person to refund, in whole or in part the amount of any payment which had been or would otherwise be made to such person for performance in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

SECTION 6. Multiple Farm Holdings.—If a person who has made application for a payment with respect to any farm or farms has an interest as owner or operator in another farm or farms in the county on which the acreage used for the production of crops included in any soil-depleting base exceeds such base and such other farm or farms have not been included in an application under which a payment can be made, the payment to be made to such person shall be decreased by an amount equal to such person's share of the net deductions with respect to such other farm or farms.

The provisions of this section may be extended to include farms in two or more counties in the State in which any person as owner or operator is entitled to receive a share of the crops produced thereon, or the proceeds thereof, if the acreage used for the production of any soil-depleting crop(s) on any such farm has been increased to such an extent as to tend to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

FREE OR REDUCED RATES

JANUARY 26, 1937.

The Commission has received numerous applications from common carriers of property by motor vehicle requesting authority to transport property free or at reduced rates into areas affected by flood, for the purpose of relieving distress. Section 217 (b) of the Motor Carrier Act, 1935, makes the provisions of Section 22 (1) of Part I of the Interstate Commerce Act applicable to common carriers by motor vehicle. Section 22 (1) provides:

> That nothing in this Act shall prevent the carriage, * * * or handling of property free or at reduced rates * * * for charitable purposes.

It has been held that free or reduced rates may be made under this Section without the filing of tariffs and without authority or permission other than that extended by this provision of law. Accordingly, all common carriers by motor vehicle may transport property in interstate commerce for charitable purposes free or at reduced rates into areas affected by flood without the filing of tariffs to cover. Care should be taken that shipments so transported are actually for charaitable purposes, i. e., are food, clothing, medicines or other supplies for distribution to the needy.

[Service Order No. 61]

EMERGENCY ROUTING OF FREIGHT TRAFFIC

At a Session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 3, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 25th day of January A. D. 1937.

The subject of routing of freight traffic being under consideration, and it appearing to the Commission that an emergency exists upon the lines of all carriers by railroad reaching the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers and tributaries which requires immediate action; that each of such carriers by reason of interruption of traffic by reason of flood conditions in the states bordering along such rivers are unable to transport the traffic over them so as to properly serve the public.

Therefore, in order to best promote the service in the interest of the public and the commerce of the people, it is ordered and directed:

1. That effective at once and until the further order of the Commission that all such common carriers by railroad operating within the affected territory, and common carriers by railroad connecting therewith, be, and they are hereby directed to forward traffic having origin or destination in, or ordinarily moving through such territory via routes most available to expedite its movement and prevent congestion, without regard to the routing thereof made by shippers or by carriers from which the traffic is received, or to the ownership of the cars, and that all rules, regulations and practices of said carriers with respect to car service are hereby suspended and superseded in so far only as conflicting with the directions hereby made.

2. That in each instance where the traffic is routed or rerouted, by carriers by railroad under the authority of this order, the carriers responsible for such routing or rerouting, shall, within twenty-four hours thereafter, deposit in the United States mail, a notice addressed to the consignee of the traffic stating: the car numbers and initials, places and dates of shipment, the routing, and respective routes over which the traffic is moving, and that charges for the transportation of the traffic, including transportation and schedules of rates, fares, and charges, as those terms are defined in said Act, will be the same as they would have been if such routing, or rerouting had not taken place.

3. That in the case of shipments in private cars, which are subject to equalization of empty mileage, and also of fruits and vegetables, live poultry and other shipments customarily reconsigned upon instructions of the consignor, a telegraphic notice of the diversion shall be sent to the consignor by the carrier responsible therefor.

4. That in executing the directions of the Commission contained in this order, the common carriers involved shall proceed without reference to contracts, agreements, or arrangements now existing between them with reference to the divisions of the rates of transportation applicable to said traffic; that such divisions shall be, during the time this order remains in force, voluntarily agreed upon by and between said carriers, and that, upon failure of the carriers to so agree, said divisions shall be hereafter fixed by the Commission in accordance with pertinent authority conferred upon it by said Act.

5. That inasmuch as the necessity for such disregard of routing arises from circumstances beyond control of carriers, car hire payments covering both railroad and privately owned cars shall be made on the basis of the handling of cars as originally routed.

8. That copies of this order and the direction be served upon all common carriers by railroad subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, and that notice of this order be given to the general public by depositing a copy of this order in the office of the Secretary of the Commission in Washington, D. C.

By the Commission, division 3.

ORDER FIXING OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE CHARGES FOR TRIBAL AND TRUST PATENT INDIAN LANDS SAN CARLOS PROJECT, ARIZONA, CALENDAR YEAR 1937

NOVEMBER 18, 1936.

In compliance with the provisions of the Act of March 3, 1905 (33 Stat., 1081) as amended and supplemented by the Acts of August 24, 1912 (37 Stat., 522), August 1, 1914 (38 Stat., 583) and the Act of June 7, 1924 (43 Stat., 475-476) and the acts supplementary thereto and the Public Notice of December 1, 1932, issued pursuant to said act, operation and maintenance charges shall become assessable against tribal lands and trust patent Indian lands of the San Carlos Project within the boundaries of the Pima Indian Reservation for the calendar year 1937, and are hereby fixed as follows:

1. A fixed or basic charge of $1.80 per acre which shall entitled each acre to have delivered for use thereon two (2) acre feet of water per acre or its proportionate share of the available water supply. The fixed or basic charge shall become due January 1, 1937, and shall be payable on or before May 15, 1937, if water is to be delivered for the 1937 calendar year.

2. Fifty cents (50¢) per acre foot per acre or fraction thereof for the first acre foot of water delivered in excess of the two acre feet provided for by the basic charge and one dollar ($1) per acre foot or fraction thereof for water delivered in excess of the three (3) acre feet, except such free water as may be delivered in accordance with existing agreements and provisions. In no event shall there be any discrimination in the delivery of free water between Indian and non-Indian lands.

CONDITIONS

The fixed or basic charge of $1.80 per acre shall be paid for each assessable acre under the San Carlos Irrigation Project within the Gila River Indian Reservation on or before May 15, 1937.

Payments for excess water as herein provided for shall be made at the time of request for delivery thereof, or previous to the time of delivery.

Application for Water Service will be received by the Superintendent, and when approved a copy will be furnished the Project Engineer of the Irrigation Service which will be his authority for delivery of irrigation water to the land described thereon.

No deliveries of irrigation water shall be made after May 15, 1937, to lands for which the advance assessment for the calendar year 1937 has not been paid, except such lands not under lease as the Superintendent of the Pima Agency shall issue a written statement to the Project Engineer certifying that the Indian farming same is financially unable to pay the assessment.

LANDS TO BE ASSESSED DURING 1937

Lands which shall pay operation and maintenance assessments for the calendar year 1937 are those lands that were under constructed works and had been prepared for irrigation and were under cultivation and irrigation during the calendar year 1934 or previous years. The area actually under cultivation during 1934 shall be the basis of the per acre assessment for the year 1937 unless it is known that a larger area had been so used during previous years, in which case the larger area will be used for the assessment provided that area is still suitable for cultivation and irrigation during the calendar year 1937.

METHOD OF MAKING PAYMENTS

Payments of operation and maintenance assessments and charges for additional water delivered shall be made at the office of the Superintendent of the Gila River Reservation at Sacaton, Arizona.

APPLICATION FOR WATER SERVICE

Application for water service shall be made on an approved form provided by the Superintendent and signed by the applicant. The application shall be presented to the Superintendent and approved by him before the first delivery of water is made for the season of 1937. After this application is approved, water users will notify the Watermaster or Ditchriders when delivery of water is desired in the same manner as has been the practice heretofore.

DISTRIBUTION AND APPORTIONMENT OF WATER

The stored and pumped water of the project is deemed a common Project water supply in which all lands of the entire project are entitled to share equally and all such waters shall be distributed to the lands of the project as equitably as physical conditions permit. The portion of the common supply available for the Indian lands will be distributed in equal amounts per acre to each acre under cultivation and irrigation in so far as is possible and subject to beneficial use. Water users will be notified at the beginning of the season of the amount of stored and pumped water available and at later dates of additional apportionments as they are made. Waste of water by users must be avoided as far as is physically possible in order that the supply shall be sufficient for the entire area in crop. When floods produce a supply of water in excess of demands or available storage facilities, free water shall be declared available and all water users will be promptly notified thereof. Such water shall not be counted as a part of the proportionate share of lands on which it is used.

CARE OF FARM DITCHES

Water users will be required to keep their farm ditches in suitable condition to take water from project laterals and to carry it to the lands being irrigated. Failure to do this may result in refusal of delivery of water to lands on which the farm ditches are not in condition to take the water ordered if this condition prevents proper operation of project laterals and structures and causes waste of water.

BULLETIN 101—NORTH CAROLINA

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, payments will be made, in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of said Act for 1937, in accordance with the provisions of this East Central Region Bulletin 101 for the State of North Carolina and such modifications or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has been developed in accordance with the provisions of sections 8, 15, and 16 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, but the payment of any benefits pursuant to the provisions of this bulletin is contingent upon such appropriation, if any, as the Congress of the United States may hereafter make for such purpose, and the amounts of such payments will be finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of participation in the program. The rates of payment and the soil-building allowance set forth herein are computed upon the basis of an appropriation of $500,000,000 for the 1937 program for the Nation and 85 percent participation by farmers. The payments calculated in accordance with the provisions of Part I of this bulletin 101 may be increased or decreased depending upon the extent of participation in the East Central Region, but any such variation will not be in excess of 10 percent.

Part I. Rates and Conditions of Payment

Payment will be made in connection with the utilization in 1937 of the land on any farm in the State of North Carolina, in the amounts and subject to the conditions hereinafter set forth.

SECTION 1. Payment for Diversion from Cotton, Tobacco, and Peanut Soil-Depleting Bases.—For each acre diverted from any cotton, tobacco, or peanut soil-depleting base for the farm, payment will be made as follows:

(a) Cotton.—5 cents per pound of the base yield per acre of cotton for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 35 percent of the cotton soil-depleting base, except that, if such base is 5.7 acres or less, payment may be made for diverting all or any part of such base not to exceed 2 acres.

(b) Tobacco—Flue-Cured and Burley.—5 cents per pound of the base yield per acre of such tobacco for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 25 percent of the soil-depleting base for such kind of tobacco.

(c) Peanuts.—1¼ cents per pound of the base yield per acre of peanuts for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 15 percent of the peanut soil-depleting base.

SECTION 2. Payment for Diversion from the General Soil-Depleting Base.—For each acre diverted from the general soil-depleting base for the farm, not in excess of 15 percent of such base, payment will be made at a rate which will average $9.00 per acre for the United States, varied among farms according to relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base; provided, that payment will not be made for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for a farm unless crops in such base are normally grown in excess of the home-consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

SECTION 3. Allowance for Soil-Building Practices.—The soil-building allowance for the farm is the maximum amount for which payment may be made for carrying out soil-building practices. This allowance shall be the sum of such of the items set forth in subsections (a), (b), (c), and (d) below as are applicable to the farm; provided, that in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $10.00, and in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm not eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $20.00

A farm shall be eligible to earn a diversion payment if such farm has a cotton, tobacco, or peanut soil-depleting base, or if crops in the general soil-depleting base normally are grown in excess of the home-consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base. Other farms shall not be eligible to earn a diversion payment. A farm for which the general soil-depleting base does not exceed 20 acres and for which there is no cotton, tobacco, or peanut soil-depleting base may be classified as not eligible to earn a diversion payment, if the operator elects not to make a diversion, even though food and feed crops normally are grown in excess of home-consumption needs on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

(a) (1) On Farms Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment (whether earned or not).—$1.00 for each acre in the minimum soil-conserving acreage for the farm.

(2) On Farms Not Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment.—75 cents for each acre of cropland or $1.00 for each acre in the minimum soil-conserving acreage for the farm, whichever is larger.

(b) Commercial Orchards.—$1.00 additional for each acre of commercial orchards on the farm on January 1, 1937.

(c) Commercial Vegetables.—$1.00 additional for each acre on which only one crop of commercial vegetables was grown in 1936.

$2.00 additional for each acre on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown in 1936.

(d) Non-Crop Pasture.—25 cents additional for each acre of fenced, non-crop, open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of cropland on the farm, which is capable of maintaining during the normal pasture season at least one animal unit for each 5 acres of such pasture land.

The acreage of commercial orchards, of commercial vegetables, and of non-crop pasture, respectively, used in establishing the soil-building allowance for farms in any county or other area, shall not exceed such acreage as shall be established for such county or other area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 4. Payment for Soil-Building Practices.—Payment will be made, within the limit of the soil-building allowance determined for the farm in accordance with section 3 above, for carrying out in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program not later than October 31, 1937, any of the soil-building practices listed herein, upon the conditions and at the rates herein specified; Provided, that the practice is carried out by such methods and with such kinds and quantities of seeds, trees, and other materials as conform to good farming practice, and that no part of the labor, seed, trees, or other materials used in connection with such practice is furnished in whole or in part by any State or Federal agency.

(a) Seeding Legumes and Perennial Grasses.—For seeding approved seeds of any of the following crops, payment will be made at the rate per acre set forth below.

(1) Alfalfa: $2.50.

(2) Red clover; mammoth clover; sericea; kudzu; or bluegrass; or any mixture containing 50 percent or more by weight of legumes listed in paragraphs (1) or (2) of this subsection (a): $2.00.

(3) Austrian winter peas; vetch; crimson clover; alsike clover; sweet clover; annual lespedeza; orchard grass; or any mixture containing 50 percent or more by weight of bluegrass or of legumes listed in paragraphs (1), (2), or (3) of this subsection (a): $1.50.

(4) White clover; bur clover; crotalaria; redtop; timothy; Dallis grass; carpet grass; or any mixture of grasses or legumes listed in this subsection (a): $1.00.

(b) Growing Green Manure Crops and Cover Crops.—Plowing or discing under as green manure any of the crops named below after the crop has attained a normal growth of at least two months, or leaving on the land certain of these crops grown in 1937. Payment will be made at the rate per acre specified for each such crop; provided, however, that if any practice listed in (1) or (2) below is carried out on land normally used to produce commercial vegetables and the County Committee finds that as a result of the carrying-out of such practice one less soil-depleting crop is grown in 1937 than the number of soil-depleting crops normally grown on such land, the rate of payment for such practice shall be twice the rate per acre specified for such practice.

(1) Soybeans, velvet beans, or cowpeas, plowed or disced under:[1] $2.00.

(2) Crimson clover, Austrian winter peas, or vetch, plowed or disced under; rye, barley, wheat, buckwheat, Italian ryegrass, oats, or mixtures of these, plowed or disced under; Sudan grass, millet, sorghum, or sowed corn, plowed or disced under; soybeans, velvet beans, cowpeas, or lespedeza, not grazed or pastured when all of the forage is left on the land[1]: $1.00.

(3) Soybeans, velvet beans, cowpeas, crotolaria, sweet clover, or any combination of small grain and legumes, interplanted in commercial orchards, clipped or disced, and left on the land: $1.50.

(c) Mulching Orchards.—Applying in commercial orchards not less than 2 tons of air-dry mulching material per acre in addition to leaving in the orchard all materials produced therein during 1937 from grasses, legumes, or green manure or cover crops. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 5 tons per acre at the rate of $2.00 per ton.

(d) Planting Forest Trees.—Planting forest trees including post-producing species. Payment will be made at the rate of $7.50 per acre when planted on cropland, or at the rate of $5.00 per acre when planted on other land.

[1] If the soybeans, velvet beans or cowpeas are interplanted or grown in combination with a soil-depleting row crop, one-half the acreage shall be counted for this practice.

(e) Improving Stands of Forest Trees.—Upon prior approval by the County Committee, improving the stand of forest trees by thinning or pruning trees on woodland from which grazing is excluded, to develop approximately 100 potential timber trees of desirable species, well distributed over an acre of woodland. Payment will be made at the rate of $2.50 per acre.

(f) Improving Land by the Use of Ground Limestone.—Applying not less than 1,000 pounds per acre of ground limestone, or its equivalent,[2] on cropland or non-crop pasture land or not less than 500 pounds per acre if the application is made by drilling with the seed of any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 2½ tons per acre at the rate of $2.00 per ton. (Note: In designated counties where the cost of transportation is higher, rates higher than $2.00 per ton may be paid.)

(g) Improving Land by the Use of Superphosphate.—Applying not less than 100 pounds per acre of 16 percent superphosphate, or its equivalent,[3] on any permanent pasture, or in connection with seeding or maintaining any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4, or in connection with any green manure crop plowed or disced under as provided in subsection (b) of this section 4. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 500 pounds per acre at the rate of 60 cents per 100 pounds; or, if the superphosphate is applied in connection with a legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4 seeded in connection with a soil-depleting crop, at the rate of 30 cents per 100 pounds.

In connection with this practice, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration will make available at Sheffield, Alabama, a supply of triple superphosphate (approximately 43 percent superphosphate) which, within the limit of such supply, may, upon requests filed at the county office, be obtained for application on the farm in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this subsection (g). If triple superphosphate is so obtained, 60 cents for each 16 pounds of phosphoric acid contained therein shall, in accordance with instructions to be issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, be deducted from any payment (including payment for carrying out this practice) which otherwise would be made to any person(s) eligible to receive payments with respect to the farm; provided, however, that such deduction will first be made from payments with-respect to the farm which otherwise would be made to the person(s) carrying out this practice.

(h) Improving Land by the Use of Potash.—Applying not less than 30 pounds per acre of 50 percent muriate of potash or its equivalent,[4] on land on which 16 percent superphosphate or its equivalent is applied in accordance with paragraph (g) above. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 250 pounds per acre, at the rate of $1.00 per 100 pounds; or, if the muriate of potash is applied as above in connection with a legume or perennial grass seeded in connection with a soil-depleting crop, at the rate of $0.50 per 100 pounds.

[2] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for ground limestone; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of calcium or magnesium oxide contained in the quantities of ground limestone specified. For purposes of this section 4 (f) 100 pounds of ground oyster shell, 70 pounds of hydrated lime, or 50 pounds of burned lime, shall be considered, respectively, to be equivalent to 100 pounds of ground limestone.

[3] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for 16 percent superphosphate; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities by weight, of phosphoric acid contained in 16 percent superphosphate, except that if ground rock phosphate is substituted the quantity of ground rock phosphate so substituted shall be not less than 1½ times the quantity of 16 percent superphosphate.

[4] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for 50 percent muriate of potash; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of potash contained in the quantity specified of 50 percent muriate of potash.

(i) Control of Erosion by Terracing.—Terracing cropland or non-crop pasture land which the County Committee finds is in need of terracing, with a sufficient amount of properly constructed terrace to give adequate protection against erosion. Payment will be made at the rate of 40 cents per one hundred feet.

(j) Control of Erosion on Cropland by Subsoiling.—Subsoiling cropland, which the County Committee finds is in need of subsoiling, to a depth of at least 18 inches with furrows sufficiently close together to completely break the subsoil. Payment will be made at the rate of $2.00 per acre.

SECTION 5. 1937 Acreage of Soil-Conserving Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm is less than the minimum acreage of soil-conserving crops (that is, the number of acres in the soil-conserving base plus the number of acres diverted from soil-depleting bases in 1937 upon which payment will be made), a deduction will be made from any payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm at the rate of $3.00 per acre of such deficiency.

Diversion payment will in no event be made with respect to a greater number of acres than the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm.

SECTION 6. Increase in Acreage of Soil-Depleting Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of cotton, tobacco, peanuts, or general soil-depleting crops, respectively, on a farm is in excess of the soil-depleting base therefor, deduction will be made from any payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm as provided below.

(a) For each acre of cotton, tobacco, or peanuts in excess of the soil-depleting base, a deduction at the rate of payment for diversion for such crop.

(b) For each acre of general soil-depleting crops in excess of the general soil-depleting base, a deduction at the rate of payment for diversion for such crops; provided, that no deduction will be made for general soil-depleting crops in excess of the base if such crops are required for home consumption on the farm or if the County Committee finds that such crops are grown in order to replace a shortage of feed crops on the farm caused by drouth or other unfavorable weather conditions in 1936 or 1937.

SECTION 7. Association Expenses.—There shall be deducted pro rata from the payments made to members of each County Agricultural Conservation Association all or such part, as the Secretary may prescribe, of the estimated administrative expenses incurred or to be incurred by such association in cooperating in carrying out the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act.

There shall be credited to each County Agricultural Conservation Association for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 per application for that number of applications submitted by members of such association under which it is estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 8. Applicability to Farms under Special Programs.—The Secretary may designate one or more counties or other areas for which special programs for 1937 will be developed under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. In the event that any such county or other area is designated, the allowances, rates, and conditions of payment for such county or other area will be set forth in a special bulletin and the provisions of this bulletin 101 shall not be applicable in such county or other designated area.

On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration payment will be made only for such diversion and for carrying out such soil-building practices as are, prior to performance, approved for the farm by the County Committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 9. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person may be withheld if any practice is adopted by such person, which the Secretary determines tends to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Part II. Classification of Crops

Farm land, when devoted to the crops and uses indicated hereinafter, shall be classified in the manner set forth in this Part II.

SECTION 1. Soil-Depleting Crops.—Land on which any of the following crops is grown shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-depleting crop for the year in which such crop is normally harvested. The acreage of land which is devoted to two or more soil-depleting crops in the same year shall be counted as soil-depleting only once.

(a) Corn (field, sweet, and popcorn).
(b) Cotton.
(c) Tobacco.
(d) Peanuts harvested for nuts.
(e) Broom corn.
(f) Truck and vegetable crops, including also melons, strawberries, potatoes, and sweet potatoes.
(g) Sorghum, when harvested.
(h) Small grains: wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, and grain mixtures; cut for hay or grain.
(i) Annual grasses: Sudan, millet, and Italian ryegrass, harvested for hay or seed.
(j) Bulbs and flowers.

SECTION 2. Soil-Conserving Crops.—Land devoted to any of the following crops and not used in the same year for the growing of any soil-depleting crop, as defined in section 1 of this Part II, shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-conserving crop, except as otherwise provided in section 3 below. Cropland from which no crop is harvested during 1937 and which is planted in 1937 not later than October 31 to any crop listed below (other than small grains seeded alone in the fall) shall be considered as soil-conserving. If two or more soil-conserving crops are grown on the same land during any year the acreage of such land counted as soil-conserving shall not exceed the acreage on which such crops are grown.

(a) Biennial and perennial legumes: Sweet, red, alsike, white, and mamoth clovers; alfalfa; kudzu; and sericea.
(b) Miscellaneous legumes: Vetch, Austrian winter peas; bur clover and crimson clover; annual varieties of lespedeza; crotalaria.
(c) Summer legumes: Soybeans, velvet beans, field peas, and cowpeas.
(d) Peanuts, when pastured.
(e) Annual grasses: Sudan, millet, and Italian ryegrass, not harvested for hay or seed.
(f) Perennial grasses: Bluegrass, Dallis, redtop, timothy, orchard grass, Bermuda, carpet grass, and mixtures of these.
(g) Small grains: Rye, oats, barley, wheat, buckwheat, and grain mixtures, when not cut for grain or hay, provided a good growth is left on the land. (If plowed under or if a good growth is not left on the land the crop shall be disregarded in classifying the land on which grown, except as otherwise provided.)
(h) Forest trees, planted on cropland since January 1, 1934.
(i) Sweet sorghums, not harvested.

SECTION 3. Soil-Conserving Crops Grown on Land Used for the Production of a Soil-Depleting Crop.—Land devoted to any of the combinations of soil-conserving and soil-depleting crops listed below shall be classified as follows:

(a) Acreage on which summer legumes are interplanted or grown in combination with soil-depleting row crops. The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving provided the legume occupies at least one-half of the land and attains a good growth.

(b) Acreage on which mixtures of legumes and soil-depleting crops (winter legumes and small grains, or summer legumes and annual grasses) are harvested together. The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving provided not less than 50 percent of the total growth harvested consists of such legumes.

(c) Acreage of legumes classified as soil-conserving or of such a legume and perennial grass following a soil-depleting crop harvested in the same year (whether seeded in or following such soil-depleting crop). The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving, except that if the legume is an annual winter legume (crimson clover, vetch, or Austrian winter peas) the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.

(d) Acreage of the crops listed in subsection (b) of section 4 of Part I plowed under as green manure after having attained at least two months' normal growth on land from which a commercial vegetable crop is harvested in the same year. The entire acreage of commercial vegetables shall be classified as soil-depleting and the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.

SECTION 4. Neutral Uses.—Land devoted to the following uses shall be regarded as not used for the production of a soil-depleting crop or a soil-conserving crop:

(a) Vineyards, tree fruits, small fruits, bush fruits, nut trees, and nursery stock not interplanted. (Any portion of the area which is interplanted shall carry the classification and actual acreage of such interplanted crop.)
(b) Idle cropland.
(c) Cultivated fallow land.
(d) Waste land, roads, lanes, lots, yards, and other similar non-crop land.
(e) Woodland, other than cropland planted to forest trees since January 1, 1934.

Part III. Establishment of Bases

The County Committee will recommend for approval by the Secretary a general soil-depleting base, a cotton soil-depleting base, a tobacco soil-depleting base, a peanut soil-depleting base, and a soil-conserving base for each farm participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such bases shall represent the acreage normally used for the production of general soil-depleting crops, cotton, tobacco, peanuts, and soil-conserving crops, respectively, on such farm. The County Committee also will recommend for each farm a base yield per acre for cotton, tobacco, and peanuts, and a rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for the farm.

SECTION 1. Farms for Which Soil-Depleting Bases Were Established Under the 1936 Program.—The Soil-depleting bases established for farms under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, together with the accompanying base yields or rates of payment per acre, shall be used as a basis for determining the soil-depleting bases, base yields, or rates per acre for such farms in 1937, with adjustment as provided in section 3 of this Part III.

SECTION 2. Farms for Which Soil-Depleting Bases Were Not Established Under the 1936 Program.—On farms for which bases were not established under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, the bases and yields or rates per acre shall, subject to adjustment as provided hereinafter, be determined as follows:

(a) Cotton Base and Yield.—A cotton soil-depleting base may be established for a farm:

(1) If one acre or more of cotton was planted on the farm in 1935 or 1936, or
(2) If the entire base cotton acreage for the farm was retired in 1935 under a cotton acreage reduction contract, or
(3) If the County Committee determines that cotton was not planted in either 1935 or 1936 because of unusual weather conditions.

The cotton soil-depleting base and base yield for a farm will be determined upon the basis of the base established under the 1935 cotton acreage reduction program, or, if no such base was established, upon the basis of the acreage grown and yield obtained on the farm in the year 1936.

(b) Tobacco Base and Yield.—A tobacco soil-depleting base may be established for any farm on which tobacco was grown in either 1935 or 1936, and for other farms on which the County Committee determines that tobacco was not planted in 1935 or 1936 because of unusual weather conditions.

The tobacco soil-depleting base and base yield for a farm shall be determined upon the basis of the base established for the farm under the 1936–39 tobacco production adjustment program, or, if no such base was established, upon the basis of the acreage grown and yield obtained on the farm in the year 1936.

(c) Peanut Base and Yield.—A peanut soil-depleting base may be established for any farm on which peanuts were grown in 1935 or 1936, and for other farms on which the County Committee determines that peanuts were not planted in 1935 or 1936 because of unusual weather conditions.

The peanut soil-depleting base shall be determined upon the basis of the allotted acreage under the 1935 peanut production adjustment program, or, if there was no such allotted acreage, upon the basis of the acreage of peanuts harvested for nuts on the farm in 1936. The base yield of peanuts for the farm shall be that recommended by the County Committee on the basis of the yield per acre on the farm in 1936.

(d) General Soil-Depleting Base and Rate Per Acre.—A general soil-depleting base may be established for any farm if soil-depleting crops other than cotton, tobacco, or peanuts were produced thereon in the year 1935 or 1936, and for such other farms as the County Committee determines, in accordance with instructions, are eligible upon the basis of the past production on the farm or by the operator.

The general soil-depleting base for a farm shall be determined upon the basis of the acreage of general soil-depleting crops grown on the farm in 1936. The rate of payment per acre shall be determined upon the basis of the estimated yield per acre for the farm of the crop used under the 1936 program in determining the rate of payment per acre for other farms in the locality.

SECTION 3. Adjustment in Soil-Depleting Bases.—(a) Inequitable Bases.—The soil-depleting base, the base yield, or the rate of payment per acre determined for each farm in accordance with the provisions of this Part III shall be adjusted upward or downward whenever necessary so as to be equitable for such farm as compared with farms in the same locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(b) Unused Bases.—If the acreage of cotton, tobacco, peanuts, or of crops in the general soil-depleting base planted on a farm in the years 1935 and 1936 has been substantially less than the acreage which could have been planted on the farm in such years with maximum payments with respect to such crops, under the 1935 programs of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration or under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, and such deficiency was not caused by unusual weather conditions, the base shall be adjusted by the County Committee so as to reflect the plantings on the farm in 1935 and 1936 and so as to be equitable as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(c) Changes in Crop Classification.—The acreage of small grains harvested for grain or hay, and the acreage of corn interplanted with legumes, classified as soil-conserving in establishing the general soil-depleting base for 1936 for any farm shall be added to such 1936 base in determining the general soil-depleting base for 1937.

(d) Rate of Payment per Acre.—The rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for each farm for which such a rate was established in 1936 shall be adjusted so as to conform to the adjustment in the average rate of such payment for the United States and shall in each case reflect the relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base.

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of sections 1 and 2 of this Part III, the Secretary reserves the right to provide for the establishment of any base for a farm in conjunction with a decrease in any other base for the farm under such conditions and within such limits as he may prescribe.

SECTION 4. Limits of Soil-Depleting Bases.—The general soil-depleting bases, the cotton soil-depleting bases, the tobacco soil-depleting bases, and the peanut soil-depleting bases, respectively, established for all farms participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program in any county or other specified area, shall not exceed the acreage for each such soil-depleting base which is established for such farms in such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The total of the cotton, tobacco, or peanut soil-depleting bases, respectively, established in 1937 for farms on which such bases were not established in 1936, or on which no cotton or tobacco base acreage or allotted peanut acreage was established under a commodity adjustment program in 1935, shall not exceed such acreage in any county or other area as shall be obtained by downward adjustment of the respective soil-depleting bases, base acreages, or allotted acreage previously established for other farms in such county or other area, except as approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The weighted average of the rate per acre for diversion from the general soil-depleting base and the weighted average base yield of cotton, tobacco, and peanuts for all farms for which soil-depleting bases are established in any county or other specified area shall not exceed the respective rate per acre or base yield established for such crop(s) for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 5. Soil-Conserving Base.—The soil-conserving base for a farm will be determined upon the basis of the 1936 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm, with such adjustment as is necessary to correct abnormally small or large acreages caused by unusual weather conditions or any increase in the acreage of such crops under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such acreage shall, if necessary, be further adjusted for each farm so as to represent an acreage of soil-conserving crops which is fair and equitable for the farm as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, and farming practices, and shall in no event be less than the total acreage of cropland minus the sum of the soil-depleting bases and the normal acreage of neutral cropland on the farm.

The total of the soil-conserving bases for farms in any county or other area shall not be greater than the maximum or less than the minimum acreage established for such bases in the county or other area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Part IV. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 1. Land To Be Included Under Application.—An application may be submitted with respect to any farm or with respect to any two or more farms operated by the same person.

SECTION 2. Application and Eligibility for Payment.—(a) Payment will be made only upon applications submitted through the county office. The Secretary reserves the right to withhold payment to any person who fails to file any form or furnish any information required with respect to any farm in which he is interested as owner or operator and to refuse to accept any application for payment if such application or any other form or information required is not submitted to the county office within the time fixed by the Director of the East Central Division.

(b) An application for payment may be made by any person who as owner, share-tenant or sharecropper is entitled to receive a share or all of the crops produced on the farm in 1937 or the proceeds therefrom or who rents the land to a producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment and who incurs any part or all of the expense of carrying out a soil-building practice on the farm.

(c) In the event of the death or legal incompetency of an applicant for payment, any payment which has not been received by such applicant prior to his death or incompetency and which would otherwise be made to such applicant, shall be made to the person who under rules prescribed by the Secretary, is determined to be eligible to receive such payment.

(d) In case a farm is located in two or more counties, the farm shall be regarded as being in the county in which the principal dwelling on such farm is located, or, if there is no such dwelling on such farm, in the county in which the major portion of the farm is located.

(e) Any person who files an application for payment in a county shall file an application with respect to each farm owned or operated by such person in the county. Upon request by the State Committee such person also shall file an application with respect to any farm owned or operated by him in any other county.

SECTION 3. Membership in Association.—Any person having an interest in the crops produced on any farm, or the proceeds thereof, who is not a member of the County Agricultural Conservation Association for the county in which such farm is located shall become a member of such association whenever any form or information required in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program is submitted for such farm. Any person shall cease to be a member of the association if an application for payment is not filed by him within the time specified by the Director of the East Central Division for the filing of applications.

SECTION 4. Division of Payments.—Payments with respect to any farm included under an application shall be divided as follows:

(a) Diversion Payment With Respect to Cotton and Peanuts.—

(1) 37½ percent to the producer who furnished the land,

(2) 12½ percent to the producer who furnished the workstock and equipment, and

(3) 50 percent to be divided among the producers who are parties to the lease or operating agreement in the proportion that such producers are entitled to share in the cotton or peanut crops, respectively, grown on the farm in 1937, or the proceeds thereof.

(b) Diversion Payment With Respect to Tobacco and General Soil-Depleting Crops.—

(1) 15 percent to the producer who furnished the land,

(2) 15 percent to the producer who furnished the workstock and equipment, and

(3) 70 percent to be divided among the producers who are parties to the lease or operating agreement in the proportion that such producers are entitled to share in the tobacco or in the general soil-depleting crops, respectively, grown on the farm in 1937, or the proceeds thereof.

(c) Payment With Respect to Soil-Building Practices.—The soil-building payment with respect to the acreage on which any approved soil-building practice is carried out on any farm shall be made to the producer or the person who rents the land to the producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment whom the County Committee determines, under instructions issued by the Secretary, has incurred the expense of carrying out such soil-building practice; if the County Committee determines that two or more such persons have incurred the expense of carrying out such practice on the farm, the soil-building payment calculated for the particular acreage with respect to which such persons shared in such expense shall be divided equally among them.

(d) Computation of Shares of Payments.—Any share of payments shall be computed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deduction of claims for advances, and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of any creditor.

(e) Division of Diversion Payment Under Specified Conditions on Farms Where There Are Two or More Producers.—

(1) If the 1937 acreage of the crop(s) in any soil-depleting base is zero, or, because of partial crop failure is substantially smaller than the acreage which, but for such failure, would have been grown in 1937, the portion of the diversion payment with respect to the crop which is to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop shall be divided among the producers who remain entitled to share in any crop actually grown on the farm in 1937 in proportion to the share of each such producer in the crop as it was intended to be grown.

(2) In cases where the County Committee finds that the share of one or more producers in the acreage diverted in 1937 from any soil-depleting base differs materially from the share of such producer(s) in the 1937 acreage of the crops in such base, that portion of the diversion payment with respect to such base to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop, shall be divided on the basis of the shares in the acreage diverted by such producers.

The acreage diverted by each producer may be determined by agreement of all producers on the farm by appearing before at least two members of the County Committee and indicating their agreement. In any such case there shall be submitted to the State Office at the time of submission of the application for the farm a certification signed by each producer in the presence of and approved by at least two members of the County Committee that the agreement has been reached voluntarily in accordance with the foregoing provisions.

Where agreement of all producers is not obtained, the County Committee may recommend, subject to the approval of the State Committee and the Director of the East Central Division, their determination of the acreage diverted by each producer, such recommendation to be accompanied by a complete statement of all of the facts upon which the recommendation is based.

SECTION 5. Changes in Leasing or Cropping Agreement or Other Devices.—If it shall appear from an investigation made by the State Committee that any person who has made an application for a payment pursuant to the provisions of the 1936 or the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has made any change in the normal leasing or cropping agreement for the farm or has employed or participated in any other scheme or device whatsoever the effect of which would be or has been to deprive any other person of any payment or share therein to which such other person would normally be entitled, the Secretary may withhold from the person participating in or employing such a scheme or device, or require such person to refund, in whole or in part the amount of any payment which had been or would otherwise be made to such person for performance in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

SECTION 6. Multiple Farm Holdings.—If a person who has made application for a payment with respect to any farm or farms has an interest as owner or operator in another farm or farms in the county on which the acreage used for the production of crops included in any soil-depleting base exceeds such base and such other farm or farms have not been included in an application under which a payment can be made, the payment to be made to such person shall be decreased by an amount equal to such person's share of the net deductions with respect to such other farm or farms.

The provisions of this section may be extended to include farms in two or more counties in the State in which any person as owner or operator is entitled to receive a share of the crops produced thereon, or the proceeds thereof, if the acreage used for the production of any soil-depleting crop(s) on any such farm has been increased to such an extent as to tend to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

BULLETIN 101—TENNESSEE

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, payments will be made, in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of said Act for 1937, in accordance with the provisions of this East Central Region Bulletin 101 for the State of Tennessee and such modifications or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has been developed in accordance with the provisions of sections 8, 15, and 16 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, but the payment of any benefits pursuant to the provisions of this bulletin is contingent upon such appropriation, if any, as the Congress of the United States may hereafter make for such purpose, and the amounts of such payments will be finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of participation in the program. The rates of payment and the soil-building allowance set forth herein are computed upon the basis of an appropriation of $500,000,000 for the 1937 program for the Nation and 85 percent participation by farmers. The payments calculated in accordance with the provisions of Part I of this Bulletin 101 may be increased or decreased depending upon the extent of participation in the East Central Region, but any such variation will not be in excess of 10 percent.

Part I. Rates and Conditions of Payment

Payment will be made in connection with the utilization in 1937 of the land on any farm in the State of Tennessee, in the amounts and subject to the conditions hereinafter set forth.

SECTION 1. Payment for Diversion from Cotton, Tobacco, and Peanut Soil-Depleting Bases.—For each acre diverted from any cotton, tobacco, or peanut soil-depleting base for the farm, payment will be made as follows:

(a) Cotton.—5 cents per pound of the base yield per acre of cotton for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 35 percent of the cotton soil-depleting base, except that, if such base is 5.7 acres or less, payment may be made for diverting all or any part of such base not to exceed 2 acres.

(b) Tobacco—Burley.—5 cents per pound of the base yield per acre of such tobacco for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 25 percent of the soil-depleting base for such kind of tobacco.

(c) Tobacco—Fire-cured and dark air-cured.—3½ cents per pound of the base yield per acre of such tobacco for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 30 percent of the soil-depleting base for such kind of tobacco.

(d) Peanuts.—1¼ cents per pound of the base yield per acre of peanuts for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 15 percent of the peanut soil-depleting base.

SECTION 2. Payment for Diversion from the General Soil-Depleting Base.—For each acre diverted from the general soil-depleting base for the farm, not in excess of 15 percent of such base, payment will be made at a rate which will average $9.00 per acre for the United States, varied among farms according to relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base; provided, that payment will not be made for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for a farm unless crops in such base are normally grown in excess of the home consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

SECTION 3. Allowance for Soil-Building Practices.—The soil-building allowance for the farm is the maximum amount for which payment may be made for carrying out soil-building practices. This allowance shall be the sum of such of the items set forth in subsections (a), (b), (c), and (d) below as are applicable to the farm; provided, that in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $10.00, and in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm not eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $20.00.

A farm shall be eligible to earn a diversion payment if such farm has a cotton, tobacco, or peanut soil-depleting base, or if crops in the general soil-depleting base normally are grown in excess of the home consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base. Other farms shall not be eligible to earn a diversion payment. A farm for which the general soil-depleting base does not exceed 20 acres and for which there is no cotton, tobacco, or peanut soil-depleting base may be classified as not eligible to earn a diversion payment, if the operator elects not to make a diversion, even though food and feed crops normally are grown in excess of home consumption needs on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

(a) (1) On Farms Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment (whether earned or not).—$1.00 for each acre in the minimum soil-conserving acreage for the farm.

(2) On Farms Not Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment.—75 cents for each acre of cropland, or $1.00 for each acre in the minimum soil-conserving acreage for the farm, whichever is larger.

(b) Commercial Orchards.—$1.00 additional for each acre of commercial orchards on the farm on January 1, 1937.

(c) Commercial Vegetables.—$1.00 additional for each acre on which only one crop of commercial vegetables was grown in 1936.

$2.00 additional for each acre on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown in 1936.

(d) Non-Crop Pasture.—25 cents additional for each acre of fenced, non-crop, open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of cropland on the farm, which is capable of maintaining during the normal pasture season at least one animal unit for each 5 acres of such pasture land.

The acreage of commercial orchards, of commercial vegetables, and of non-crop pasture, respectively, used in establishing the soil-building allowance for farms in any county or other area, shall not exceed such acreage as shall be established for such county or other area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 4. Payment for Soil-Building Practices.—Payment will be made, within the limit of the soil-building allowance determined for the farm in accordance with section 3 above, for carrying out in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program not later than October 31, 1937, any of the soil-building practices listed herein, upon the conditions and at the rates herein specified; provided, that the practice is carried out by such methods and with such kinds and quantities of seeds, trees, and other materials as conform to good farming practice, and that no part of the labor, seed, trees, or other materials used in connection with such practice is furnished in whole or in part by any State or Federal agency.

(a) Seeding Legumes and Perennial Grasses.—For seeding approved seeds of any of the following crops, payment will be made at the rate per acre set forth below.

(1) Alfalfa: $2.50.

(2) Red clover; mammoth clover; sericea; kudzu; or bluegrass; or any mixture containing 50 percent or more by weight of legumes listed in paragraphs (1) or (2) of this subsection (a): $2.00.

(3) Austrian winter peas; vetch; crimson clover; alsike clover; sweet clover; annual lespedeza; orchard grass; or any mixture containing 50 percent or more by weight of bluegrass or of legumes listed in paragraphs (1), (2), or (3) of this subsection (a): $1.50.

(4) White clover; bur clover; crotalaria; redtop; timothy; or any mixture of grasses or legumes listed in this subsection (a): $1.00.

(b) Growing Green Manure Crops and Cover Crops.—Plowing or discing under as green manure any of the crops named below after the crop has attained a normal growth of at least two months, or leaving on the land certain of these crops grown in 1937. Payment will be made at the rate per acre specified for each such crop; provided, however, that if any practice listed in (1) or (2) below is carried out on land normally used to produce commercial vegetables and the County Committee finds that as a result of the carrying-out of such practice one less soil-depleting crop is grown in 1937 than the number of soil-depleting crops normally grown on such land, the rate of payment for such practice shall be twice the rate per acre specified for such practice.

(1) Soybeans, velvet beans, or cowpeas, plowed or disced under:[1] $2.00.

(2) Crimson clover, Austrian winter peas, or vetch, plowed or disced under; rye, barley, wheat, Italian ryegrass, oats, or mixtures of these, plowed or disced under; Sudan grass, millet, sorghum, plowed or disced under; lespedeza, soybeans, velvet beans, or cowpeas, not grazed or pastured when all of the forage is left on the land:[1] $1.00.

(3) Soybeans, cowpeas, velvet beans, sweet clover, or any combination of small grain and legumes, interplanted in commercial orchards, clipped or disced, and left on the land: $1.50.

(c) Mulching Orchards.—Applying in commercial orchards not less than 2 tons of air-dry mulching material per acre in addition to leaving in the orchard all materials produced therein during 1937 from grasses, legumes, or green manure or cover crops. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 5 tons per acre at the rate of $2.00 per ton.

(d) Planting Forest Trees.—Planting forest trees, including post-producing species. Payment will be made at the rate of $7.50 per acre when planted on cropland or at the rate of $5.00 per acre when planted on other land.

(e) Improving Stands of Forest Trees.—Upon prior approval by the County Committee, improving the stand of forest trees by thinning or pruning trees on woodland from which grazing is excluded, to develop approximately 100 potential timber trees of desirable species, well distributed over an acre of woodland. Payment will be made at the rate of $2.50 per acre.

(f) Improving Land by the Use of Ground Limestone.—Applying not less than 1,000 pounds per acre of ground limestone, or its equivalent,[2] on cropland or non-crop pasture land or not less than 500 pounds per acre if the application is made by drilling with the seed of any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 2½ tons per acre at the rate of $1.50 per ton.

(g) Improving Land by the Use of Superphosphate.—Applying not less than 100 pounds per acre of 16 percent superphosphate, or its equivalent,[3] on any permanent pasture, or in connection with seeding or maintaining any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4, or in connection with any green manure crop plowed or disced under as provided in subsection (b) of this section 4. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 500 pounds per acre at the rate of 60 cents per 100 pounds; or, if the superphosphate is applied in connection with a legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4 seeded in connection with a soil-depleting crop, at the rate of 30 cents per 100 pounds.

In connection with this practice, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration will make available at Sheffield, Alabama, a supply of triple superphosphate (approximately 43 percent superphosphate) which, within the limit of such supply, may, upon requests filed at the county office, be obtained for application on the farm in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this subsection (g). If triple superphosphate is so obtained, 60 cents for each 16 pounds of phosphoric acid contained therein shall, in accordance with instructions to be issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, be deducted from any payment (including payment for carrying out this practice) which otherwise would be made to any person(s) eligible to receive payments with respect to the farm; provided, however, that such deduction will first be made from payments with respect to the farm which otherwise would be made to the person(s) carrying out this practice.

(h) Control of Erosion by Terracing.—Terracing cropland or non-crop pasture land which the County Committee finds is in need of terracing, with a sufficient amount of properly constructed terrace to give adequate protection against erosion. Payments will be made at the rate of 40 cents per one hundred feet.

SECTION 5. 1937 Acreage of Soil-Conserving Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm is less than the minimum acreage of soil-conserving crops (that is, the number of acres in the soil-conserving base plus the number of acres diverted from soil-depleting bases in 1937 upon which payment will be made), a deduction will be made from the payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm at the rate of $3.00 per acre of such deficiency.

Diversion payment will in no event be made with respect to a greater number of acres than the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm.

SECTION 6. Increase in Acreage of Soil-Depleting Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of cotton, tobacco, peanuts or general soil-depleting crops, respectively, on a farm is in excess of the soil-depleting base therefor, deduction will be made from any payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm as provided below.

(a) For each acre of cotton, tobacco, or peanuts in excess of the soil-depleting base, a deduction at the rate of payment for diversion for such crop.

(b) For each acre of general soil-depleting crops in excess of the general soil-depleting base, a deduction at the rate of payment for diversion for such crops; provided, that no deduction will be made for general soil-depleting crops in excess of the base if such crops are required for home consumption on the farm or if the County Committee finds that such crops are grown in order to replace a shortage of feed crops on the farm caused by drouth or other unfavorable weather conditions in 1936 or 1937.

SECTION 7. Association Expenses.—There shall be deducted pro rata from the payments made to members of each County Agricultural Conservation Association all or such part, as the Secretary may prescribe, of the estimated administrative expenses incurred or to be incurred by such association in cooperating in carrying out the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act.

There shall be credited to each County Agricultural Conservation Association for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 per application for that number of applications submitted by members of such association under which it is estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 8. Applicability to Farms under Special Programs.—The Secretary may designate one or more counties or other areas for which special programs for 1937 will be developed under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. In the event that any such county or other area is designated, the allowances, rates, and conditions of payment for such county or other area will be set forth in a special bulletin and the provisions of this bulletin 101 shall not be applicable in such county or other designated area.

On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration payment will be made only for such diversion and for carrying out such soil-building practices as are, prior to performance, approved for the farm by the County Committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 9. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person may be withheld if any practice is adopted by such person, which the Secretary determines tends to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Part II. Classification of Crops

Farm land, when devoted to the crops and uses indicated hereinafter, shall be classified in the manner set forth in this Part II.

SECTION 1. Soil-Depleting Crops.—Land on which any of the following crops is grown shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-depleting crop for the year in which such crop is normally harvested. The acreage of land which is devoted to two or more soil-depleting crops in the same year shall be counted as soil-depleting only once.

(a) Corn (field, sweet, and popcorn).
(b) Cotton.
(c) Tobacco.
(d) Peanuts harvested for nuts.
(e) Broom corn.
(f) Truck and vegetable crops, including also melons, strawberries, potatoes, and sweet potatoes.
(g) Sorghum, when harvested.
(h) Small grains: wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, and grain mixtures; cut for hay or grain.
(i) Annual grasses: Sudan, millet, and Italian ryegrass, harvested for hay or seed.
(j) Bulbs and flowers.

SECTION 2. Soil-Conserving Crops.—Land devoted to any of the following crops and not used in the same year for the growing of any soil-depleting crop, as defined in section 1 of this Part II, shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-conserving crop, except as otherwise provided in

[1] If the soybeans, velvet beans, or cowpeas are interplanted or grown in combination with a soil-depleting row crop, one-half the acreage shall be counted for this practice.

[2] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for ground limestone; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of calcium or magnesium oxide contained in the quantities of ground limestone specified. For purposes of this section 4 (f) 100 pounds of ground oyster shell, 70 pounds of hydrated lime, or 50 pounds of burned lime, shall be considered, respectively, to be equivalent to 100 pounds of ground limestone.

[3] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for 16 percent superphosphate; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of phosphoric acid contained in 16 percent superphosphate, except that if ground rock phosphate is substituted the quantity of ground rock phosphate so substituted shall be not less than 1½ times the quantity of 16 percent superphosphate;

section 3 below. Cropland from which no crop is harvested during 1937 and which is planted in 1937 not later than October 31 to any crop listed below (other than small grains seeded alone in the fall) shall be considered as soil-conserving. If two or more soil-conserving crops are grown on the same land during any year the acreage of such land counted as soil-conserving shall not exceed the acreage on which such crops are grown.

(a) Biennial and perennial legumes: Sweet, red, alsike, white, and mammoth clovers; alfalfa; kudzu; and sericea.

(b) Miscellaneous legumes: Vetch, Austrian winter peas; bur clover and crimson clover; annual varieties of lespedeza; crotalaria.

(c) Summer legumes: Soybeans, velvet beans, field peas, and cowpeas.

(d) Peanuts, when pastured.

(e) Annual grasses: Sudan, millet, and Italian ryegrass, not harvested for hay or seed.

(f) Perennial grasses: Bluegrass, Dallis, redtop, timothy, orchard grass, Bermuda, carpet grass, and mixtures of these.

(g) Small grains: Rye, oats, barley, wheat, buckwheat, and grain mixtures, when not cut for grain or hay, provided a good growth is left on the land. (If plowed under or if a good growth is not left on the land the crop shall be disregarded in classifying the land on which grown except as otherwise provided.)

(h) Forest trees, planted on cropland since January 1, 1934.

(i) Sweet Sorghums, not harvested.

SECTION 3. Soil-Conserving Crops Grown on Land Used for the Production of a Soil-Depleting Crop.—Land devoted to any of the combinations of soil-conserving and soil-depleting crops listed below shall be classified as follows:

(a) Acreage on which summer legumes are interplanted or grown in combination with soil-depleting row crops. The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving provided the legume occupies at least one-half of the land and attains a good growth.

(b) Acreage on which mixtures of legumes and soil-depleting crops (winter legumes and small grains, or summer legumes and annual grasses) are harvested together. The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving provided not less than 50 percent of the total growth harvested consists of such legumes.

(c) Acreage of legumes classified as soil-conserving or of such a legume and perennial grass following a soil-depleting crop harvested in the same year (whether seeded in or following such soil-depleting crop). The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving, except that if the legume is an annual winter legume (crimson clover, vetch, or Austrian winter peas) the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.

(d) Acreage of the crops listed in subsection (b) of section 4 of Part I plowed under as green manure after having attained at least two months' normal growth on land from which a commercial vegetable crop is harvested in the same year. The entire acreage of commercial vegetables shall be classified as soil-depleting and the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.

SECTION 4. Neutral Uses.—Land devoted to the following uses shall be regarded as not used for the production of a soil-depleting crop or a soil-conserving crop:

(a) Vineyards, tree fruits, small fruits, bush fruits, nut trees, and nursery stock not interplanted. Any portion of the area which is interplanted shall carry the classification and actual acreage of such interplanted crop.

(b) Idle cropland.

(c) Cultivated fallow land.

(d) Waste land, roads, lanes, lots, yards, and other similar non-crop land.

(e) Woodland, other than cropland planted to forest trees since January 1, 1934.

Part III. Establishment of Bases

The County Committee will recommend for approval by the Secretary a general soil-depleting base, a cotton soil-depleting base, a tobacco soil-depleting base, a peanut soil-depleting base, and a soil-conserving base for each farm participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such bases shall represent the acreage normally used for the production of general soil-depleting crops, cotton, tobacco, peanuts, and soil-conserving crops, respectively, on such farm. The County Committee also will recommend for each farm a base yield per acre for cotton, tobacco, and peanuts, and a rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for the farm.

SECTION 1. Farms for Which Soil-Depleting Bases Were Established Under the 1936 Program.—The soil-depleting bases established for farms under the 1936 Agriculture Conservation Program, together with the accompanying base yields or rates of payment per acre, shall be used as a basis for determining the soil-depleting bases, base yields, or rates per acre for such farms in 1937, with adjustment as provided in section 3 of this Part III.

SECTION 2. Farms for Which Soil-Depleting Bases Were Not Established Under the 1936 Program.—On farms for which bases were not established under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, the bases and yields or rates per acre shall, subject to adjustment as provided hereinafter, be determined as follows:

(a) Cotton Base and Yield.—A cotton soil-depleting base may be established for a farm:

(1) If one acre or more of cotton was planted on the farm in 1935 or 1936, or

(2) If the entire base cotton acreage for the farm was retired in 1935 under a cotton acreage reduction contract, or

(3) If the County Committee determines that cotton was not planted in either 1935 or 1936 because of unusual weather conditions.

The cotton soil-depleting base and base yield for a farm will be determined upon the basis of the base established under the 1935 cotton acreage reduction program, or, if no such base was established, upon the basis of the acreage grown and yield obtained on the farm in the year 1936.

(b) Tobacco Base and Yield.—A tobacco soil-depleting base may be established for any farm on which tobacco was grown in either 1935 or 1936, and for other farms on which the County Committee determines that tobacco was not planted in 1935 or 1936 because of unusual weather conditions.

The tobacco soil-depleting base and base yield for a farm shall be determined upon the basis of the base established for the farm under the 1936–39 tobacco production adjustment program, or, if no such base was established, upon the basis of the acreage grown and yield obtained on the farm in the year 1936.

(c) Peanut Base and Yield.—A peanut soil-depleting base may be established for any farm on which peanuts were grown in 1935 or 1936, and for other farms on which the County Committee determines that peanuts were not planted in 1935 or 1936 because of unusual weather conditions.

The peanut soil-depleting base shall be determined upon the basis of the allotted acreage under the 1935 peanut production adjustment program, or, if there was no such allotted acreage, upon the basis of the acreage of peanuts harvested for nuts on the farm in 1936. The base yield of peanuts for the farm shall be that recommended by the County Committee on the basis of the yield per acre on the farm in 1936.

(d) General Soil-Depleting Base and Rate Per Acre.—A general soil-depleting base may be established for any farm if soil-depleting crops other than cotton, tobacco, or peanuts were produced thereon in the year 1935 or 1936, and for such other farms as the County Committee determines, in accordance with instructions, are eligible upon the basis of the past production on the farm or by the operator.

The general soil-depleting base for a farm shall be determined upon the basis of the acreage of general soil-depleting crops grown on the farm in 1936. The rate of payment per acre shall be determined upon the basis of the estimated yield per acre for the farm of the crop used under the 1936 program in determining the rate of payment per acre for other farms in the locality.

SECTION 3. Adjustment in Soil-Depleting Bases.—(a) Inequitable Bases.—The soil-depleting base, the base yield, or the rate of payment per acre determined for each farm in accordance with the provisions of this Part III shall be adjusted upward or downward whenever necessary so as to be equitable for such farm as compared with farms in the same locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(b) Unused Bases.—If the acreage of cotton, tobacco, peanuts, or of crops in the general soil-depleting base planted on a farm in the years 1935 and 1936 has been substantially less than the acreage which could have been planted on the farm in such years with maximum payments with respect to such crops, under the 1935 programs of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration or under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, and such deficiency was not caused by unusual weather conditions, the base shall be adjusted by the County Committee so as to reflect the plantings on the farm in 1935 and 1936 and so as to be equitable as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(c) Changes in Crop Classification.—The acreage of small grains harvested for grain or hay, and the acreage of corn interplanted with legumes, classified as soil-conserving in establishing the general soil-depleting base for 1936 for any farm shall be added to such 1936 base in determining the general soil-depleting base for 1937.

(d) Rate of Payment per Acre.—The rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for each farm for which such a rate was established in 1936 shall be adjusted so as to conform to the adjustment in the average rate of such payment for the United States and shall in each case reflect the relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base.

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of sections 1 and 2 of this Part III, the Secretary reserves the right to provide for the establishment of any base for a farm in conjunction with a decrease in any other base for the farm under such conditions and within such limits as he may prescribe.

SECTION 4. Limits of Soil-Depleting Bases.—The general soil-depleting bases, the cotton soil-depleting bases, the tobacco soil-depleting bases, and the peanut soil-depleting bases, respectively, established for all farms participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program in any county or other specified area, shall not exceed the acreage for each such soil-depleting base which is established for such farms in such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The total of the cotton, tobacco, or peanut soil-depleting bases, respectively, established in 1937 for farms on which such bases were not established in 1936, or on which no cotton or tobacco base acreage or allotted peanut acreage was established under a commodity adjustment program in 1935, shall not exceed such acreage in any county or other area as shall be obtained by downward adjustment of the respective soil-depleting bases, base acreages, or allotted acreage previously established for other farms in such county or other area, except as approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The weighted average of the rate per acre for diversion from the general soil-depleting base and the weighted average base yield of cotton, tobacco, and peanuts for all farms for which soil-depleting bases are established in any county or other specified area shall not exceed the respective rate per acre or base yield established for such crop(s) for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 5. Soil-Conserving Base.—The soil-conserving base for a farm will be determined upon the basis of the 1936 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm, with such adjustment as is necessary to correct abnormally small or large acreages caused by unusual weather conditions or any increase in the acreage of such crops under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such acreage shall, if necessary, be further adjusted for each farm so as to represent an acreage of soil-conserving crops which is fair and equitable for the farm as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, and farming practices, and shall in no event be less than the total acreage of cropland minus the sum of the soil-depleting bases and the normal acreage of neutral cropland on the farm.

The total of the soil-conserving bases for farms in any county or other area shall not be greater than the maximum or less than the minimum acreage established for such bases in the county or other area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Part IV. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 1. Land To Be Included Under Application.—An application may be submitted with respect to any farm or with respect to any two or more farms operated by the same person.

SECTION 2. Application and Eligibility for Payment.—(a) Payment will be made only upon applications submitted through the county office. The Secretary reserves the right to withhold payment to any person who fails to file any form or furnish any information required with respect to any farm in which he is interested as owner or operator and to refuse to accept any application for payment if such application or any other form or information required is not submitted to the county office within the time fixed by the Director of the East Central Division.

(b) An application for payment may be made by any person who as owner, share-tenant or share-cropper is entitled to receive a share or all of the crops produced on the farm in 1937 or the proceeds therefrom or who rents the land to a producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment and who incurs any part or all of the expense of carrying out a soil-building practice on the farm.

(c) In the event of the death or legal incompetency of an applicant for payment, any payment which has not been received by such applicant prior to his death or incompetency and which would otherwise be made to such applicant, shall be made to the person who, under rules prescribed by the Secretary, is determined to be eligible to receive such payment.

(d) In case a farm is located in two or more counties, the farm shall be regarded as being in the county in which the principal dwelling on such farm is located, or, if there is no dwelling on such farm, in the county in which the major portion of the farm is located.

(e) Any person who files an application for payment in a county shall file an application with respect to each farm owned or operated by such person in the county. Upon request by the State Committee such person also shall file an application with respect to any farm owned or operated by him in any other county.

SECTION 3. Membership in Association.—Any person having an interest in the crops produced on any farm, or the proceeds thereof, who is not a member of the County Agricultural Conservation Association for the county in which such farm is located shall become a member of such association whenever any form or information required in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program is submitted for such farm. Any person shall cease to be a member of the association if an application for payment is not filed by him within the time specified by the Director of the East Central Division for the filing of applications.

SECTION 4. Division of Payments.—Payments with respect to any farm included under an application shall be divided as follows:

(a) Diversion Payment With Respect to Cotton and Peanuts.

(1) 37½ percent to the producer who furnished the land,

(2) 12½ percent to the producer who furnished the workstock and equipment, and

(3) 50 percent to be divided among the producers who are parties to the lease or operating agreement in the proportion that such producers are entitled to share in the cotton or peanut crops, respectively, grown on the farm in 1937, or the proceeds thereof.

(b) Diversion Payment With Respect to Tobacco and General Soil-Depleting Crops.

(1) 15 percent to the producer who furnished the land,

(2) 15 percent to the producer who furnished the workstock and equipment, and

(3) 70 percent to be divided among the producers who are parties to the lease or operating agreement in the proportion that such producers are entitled to share in the tobacco or in the general soil-depleting crops, respectively, grown on the farm in 1937, or the proceeds thereof.

(c) Payment With Respect to Soil-Building Practices.—The soil-building payment with respect to the acreage on which any approved soil-building practice is carried out on any farm shall be made to the producer or the person who rents the land to the producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment whom the County Committee determines, under instructions issued by the Secretary, has incurred the expense of carrying out such soil-building practice; if the County Committee determines that two or more such persons have incurred the expense of carrying out such practice on the farm, the soil-building payment calculated for the particular acreage with respect to which such persons shared in such expense shall be divided equally among them.

(d) Computation of Shares of Payments.—Any share of payments shall be computed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deduction of claims for advances, and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of any creditor.

(e) Division of Diversion Payment Under Specified Conditions on Farms Where There Are Two or More Producers.—

(1) If the 1937 acreage of the crop(s) in any soil-depleting base is zero, or, because of partial crop failure is substantially smaller than the acreage which, but for such failure, would have been grown in 1937, the portion of the diversion payment with respect to the crop which is to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop shall be divided among the producers who remain entitled to share in any crop actually grown on the farm in 1937 in proportion to the share of each such producer in the crop as it was intended to be grown.

(2) In cases where the County Committee finds that the share of one or more producers in the acreage diverted in 1937 from any soil-depleting base differs materially from the share of such producer(s) in the 1937 acreage of the crops in such base, that portion of the diversion payment with respect to such base to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop, shall be divided on the basis of the shares in the acreage diverted by such producers. The acreage diverted by each producer may be determined by agreement of all producers on the farm by appearing before at least two members of the County Committee and indicating their agreement. In any such case there shall be submitted to the State Office at the time of submission of the application for the farm, a certification signed by each producer in the presence of and approved by at least two members of the County Committee that the agreement has been reached voluntarily in accordance with the foregoing provisions.

Where agreement of all producers is not obtained, the County Committee may recommend, subject to the approval of the State Committee and the Director of the East Central Division, their determination of the acreage diverted by each producer, such recommendation to be accompanied by a complete statement of all of the facts upon which the recommendation is based.

SECTION 5. Changes in Leasing or Cropping Agreement And Other Devices.—If it shall appear from an investigation made by the State Committee that any person who has made an application for a payment pursuant to the provisions of the 1936 or the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has made any change in the normal leasing or cropping agreement for the farm or has employed or participated in any other scheme or device whatsoever the effect of which would be or has been to deprive any other person of any payment or share therein to which such other person would normally be entitled, the Secretary may withhold from the person participating in or employing such a scheme or device, or require such person to refund, in whole or in part the amount of any payment which had been or would otherwise be made to such person for performance in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

SECTION 6. Multiple Farm Holdings.—If a person who has made application for a payment with respect to any farm or farms has an interest as owner or operator in another farm or farms in the county on which the acreage used for the production of crops included in any soil-depleting base exceeds such base and such other farm or farms have not been included in an application under which a payment can be made, the payment to be made to such person shall be decreased by an amount equal to such person's share of the net deductions with respect to such other farm or farms.

The provisions of this section may be extended to include farms in two or more counties in the State in which any person as owner or operator is entitled to receive a share of the crops produced thereon, or the proceeds thereof, if the acreage used for the production of any soil-depleting crop(s) on any such farm has been increased to such an extent as to tend to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

ECR—B-101—Virginia. East Central Division, January 21, 1937

BULLETIN 101—VIRGINIA

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, payments will be made, in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of said Act for 1937, in accordance with the provisions of this East Central Region Bulletin 101 for the State of Virginia and such modifications or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has been developed in accordance with the provisions of sections 8, 15, and 16 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, but the payment of any benefits pursuant to the provisions of this Bulletin is contingent upon such appropriation, if any, as the Congress of the United States may hereafter make for such purpose, and the amounts of such payments will be finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of participation in the program. The rates of payment and the soil-building allowance set forth herein are computed upon the basis of an appropriation of $500,000,000 for the 1937 program for the Nation and 85 percent participation by farmers. The payments calculated in accordance with the provisions of Part I of this Bulletin 101 may be increased or decreased depending upon the extent of participation in the East Central Region, but any such variation will not be in excess of 10 percent.

Part I. Rates and Conditions of Payment

Payment will be made in connection with the utilization in 1937 of the land on any farm in the State of Virginia, in the amounts and subject to the conditions hereinafter set forth.

SECTION 1. Payment for Diversion from Cotton, Tobacco, and Peanut Soil-Depleting Bases.—For each acre diverted from any cotton, tobacco, or peanut soil-depleting base for the farm, payment will be made as follows:

(a) Cotton.—5 cents per pound of the base yield per acre of cotton for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 35 percent of the cotton soil-depleting base, except that, if such base is 5.7 acres or less, payment may be made for diverting all or any part of such base not to exceed 2 acres.

(b) Tobacco—Flue-cured, Burley, and Maryland.—5 cents per pound of the base yield per acre of such tobacco for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 25 percent of the soil-depleting base for such kind of tobacco.

(c) Tobacco—Fire-cured and Dark Air-cured.—3½ cents per pound of the base yield per acre of such tobacco for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 30 percent of the soil-depleting base for such kind of tobacco.

(d) Peanuts.—1¼ cents per pound of the base yield per acre of peanuts for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 15 percent of the peanut soil-depleting base.

SECTION 2. Payment for Diversion from the General Soil-Depleting Base.—For each acre diverted from the general soil-depleting Base for the farm, not in excess of 15 percent of such base, payment will be made at a rate which will average $9.00 per acre for the United States, varied among farms according to relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base; provided, that payment will not be made for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for a farm unless crops in such base are normally grown in excess of the home consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

SECTION 3. Allowance for Soil-Building Practices.—The soil-building allowance for the farm is the maximum amount for which payment may be made for carrying out soil-building practices. This allowance shall be the sum of such of the items set forth in subsections (a), (b), (c), and (d) below as are applicable to the farm; provided, that in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $10.00, and in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm not eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $20.00.

A farm shall be eligible to earn a diversion payment if such farm has a cotton, tobacco, or peanut soil-depleting base, or if crops in the general soil-depleting base normally are grown in excess of the home consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base. Other farms shall not be eligible to earn a diversion payment. A farm for which the general soil-depleting base does not exceed 20 acres and for which there is no cotton, tobacco, or peanut soil-depleting base may be classified as not eligible to earn a diversion payment, if the operator elects not to make a diversion, even though food and feed crops normally are grown in excess of home consumption needs on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

(a) (1) On Farms Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment (whether earned or not).—$1.00 for each acre in the minimum soil-conserving acreage for the farm.

(2) On Farms Not Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment.—75 cents for each acre of cropland, or $1.00 for each acre in the minimum soil-conserving acreage for the farm, whichever is larger.

(b) Commercial Orchards.—$1.00 additional for each acre of commercial orchards on the farm on January 1, 1937.

(c) Commercial Vegetables.—$1.00 additional for each acre on which only one crop of commercial vegetables was grown in 1936.

$2.00 additional for each acre on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown in 1936.

(d) Non-Crop Pasture.—25 cents additional for each acre of fenced, non-crop, open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of cropland on the farm, which is capable of maintaining during the normal pasture season at least one animal unit for each 5 acres of such pasture land.

The acreage of commercial orchards, of commercial vegetables, and of non-crop pasture, respectively, used in establishing the soil-building allowance for farms in any county or other area, shall not exceed such acreage as shall be established for such county or other area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 4. Payment for Soil-Building Practices.—Payment will be made, within the limit of the soil-building allowance determined for the farm in accordance with section 3 above, for carrying out in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program not later than October 31, 1937, any of the soil-building practices listed herein, upon the conditions and at the rates herein specified; provided, that the practice is carried out by such methods and with such kinds and quantities of seeds, trees, and other materials as conform to good farming practice, and that no part of the labor, seed, trees, or other materials used in connection with such practice is furnished in whole or in part by any State or Federal agency.

(a) Seeding Legumes and Perennial Grasses.—For seeding approved seeds of any of the following crops, payment will be made at the rate per acre set forth below.

(1) Alfalfa: $2.50.

(2) Red clover; mammoth clover; sericea; kudzu; or bluegrass; or any mixture containing 50 percent or more by weight of legumes listed in paragraphs (1) or (2) of this subsection (a): $2.00.

(3) Austrian winter peas; vetch; crimson clover; alsike clover; sweet clover; annual lespedeza; orchard grass; reed canary grass; or any mixture containing 50 percent or more by weight of bluegrass or of legumes listed in paragraphs (1), (2), or (3) of this subsection (a): $1.50.

(4) White clover; bur clover; crotalaria; redtop; timothy; carpet grass; Dallis grass; or any mixture of grasses or legumes listed in this subsection (a): $1.00.

(b) Growing Green Manure Crops and Cover Crops.—Plowing or discing under as green manure any of the crops named below after the crop has attained a normal growth of at least two months, or leaving on the land certain of these crops grown in 1937. Payment will be made at the rate per acre specified for each such crop; provided, however, that if any practice listed in (1) or (2) below is carried out on land normally used to produce commercial vegetables and the County Committee finds that as a result of the carrying out of such practice one less soil-depleting crop is grown in 1937 than the number of soil-depleting crops normally grown on such land, the rate of payment for such practice shall be twice the rate per acre specified for such practice.

(1) Soybeans, velvet beans, or cowpeas, plowed or disced under:[1] $2.00.

(2) Crimson clover, Austrian winter peas, or vetch, plowed or disced under; rye, barley, wheat, Italian ryegrass, oats, buckwheat, or mixtures of these, plowed or disced under; Sudan grass, millet, sorghum, or sowed corn, plowed or disced under; soybeans, velvet beans, cowpeas, or lespedeza, not grazed or pastured when all of the forage is left on the land:[1] $1.00.

(3) Soybeans, cowpeas, velvet beans, crotalaria, sweet clover, or any combination of small grain and legumes, interplanted in commercial orchards, clipped or disced, and left on the land: $1.50.

(c) Mulching Orchards.—Applying in commercial orchards not less than 2 tons of air-dry mulching material per acre in addition to leaving in the orchard all material produced therein during 1937 from grasses, legumes, or green manure or cover crops. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 5 tons per acre at the rate of $2.00 per ton.

(d) Planting Forest Trees.—Planting forest trees, including post-producing species. Payment will be made at the rate of $7.50 per acre when planted on cropland or at the rate of $5.00 per acre when planted on other land.

(e) Improving Stands of Forest Trees.—Upon prior approval by the County Committee, improving the stand of forest trees by thinning or pruning trees on woodland from which grazing is excluded, to develop approximately 100 potential timber trees of desirable species, well distributed over an acre of woodland. Payment will be made at the rate of $2.50 per acre.

(f) Improving Land by the Use of Ground Limestone.—Applying not less than 1,000 pounds per acre of ground limestone, or its equivalent,[2] on cropland or noncrop pasture land or not less than 500 pounds per acre if the application is made by drilling with the seed of any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 2½ tons per acre at the rate of:

$1.50 per ton in the counties of—Albemarle, Alleghany Amherst, Augusta, Bath, Bedford, Bland, Botetourt, Buckingham, Carroll, Craig, Fluvanna, Franklin, Giles, Goochland, Grayson, Lee, Montgomery, Nelson, Orange, Pulaski, Roanoke, Rockbridge, Rockingham, Russell, Scott, Shenandoah, Smyth, Tazewell, Washington, Wythe.

[1] If the soybeans, velvet beans or cowpeas are interplanted or grown in combination with a soil-depleting row crop, one-half the acreage shall be counted for this practice.

[2] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for ground limestone; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of calcium or magnesium oxide contained in the quantities of ground limestone specified. For purposes of this section 4 (f) 100 pounds of ground oyster shell, 70 pounds of hydrated lime, or 50 pounds of burned lime, shall be considered, respectively, to be equivalent to 100 pounds of ground limestone.

$2.50 per ton in the counties of—Accomac, Essex, Gloucester, King and Queen, King William, Lancaster, Mathews, Middlesex, Northampton, Northumberland, Richmond, Westmoreland.

(g) Improving Land by the Use of Superphosphate.—Applying not less than 100 pounds per acre of 16 percent superphosphate, or its equivalent,[3] on any permanent pasture, or in connection with seeding or maintaining any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4, or in connection with any green manure crop plowed or disced under as provided in subsection (b) of this section 4. In connection with this practice, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration will make available at Sheffield, Alabama, a supply of triple superphosphate (approximately 43 percent superphosphate) which, within the limit of such supply, may, upon requests filed at the county office, be obtained for application on the farm in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this subsection (g). If triple superphosphate is so obtained, 60 cents for each 16 pounds of phosphoric acid contained therein shall, in accordance with instructions to be issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, be deducted from any payment (including payment for carrying out this practice) which otherwise would be made to any person(s) eligible to receive payments with respect to the farm; provided, however, that such deduction will first be made from payments with respect to the farm which otherwise would be made to the person(s) carrying out this practice.

(h) Improving Land by the Use of Potash.—Applying not less than 30 pounds per acre of 50 percent muriate of potash or its equivalent,[4] on land on which 16 percent superphosphate or its equivalent is applied in accordance with paragraph (g) above. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 250 pounds per acre, at the rate of $1.00 per 100 pounds; or, if the muriate of potash is applied as above in connection with a legume or perennial grass seeded in connection with a soil-depleting crop, at the rate of $0.50 per 100 pounds.

(i) Control of Erosion by Terracing.—Terracing cropland or non-crop pasture land which the County Committee finds is in need of terracing, with a sufficient amount of properly constructed terrace to give adequate protection against erosion. Payment will be made at the rate of 40 cents per one hundred feet.

(j) Control of Erosion on Cropland by Subsoiling.—Subsoiling cropland, which the County Committee finds is in need of subsoiling, to a depth of at least 18 inches with furrows sufficiently close together to completely break the subsoil. Payment will be made at the rate of $2.00 per acre.

SECTION 5. 1937 Acreage of Soil-Conserving Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm is less than the minimum acreage of soil-conserving crops (that is, the number of acres in the soil-conserving base plus the number of acres diverted from soil-depleting bases in 1937 upon which payment will be made), a deduction will be made from any payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm at the rate of $3.00 per acre of such deficiency.

[3] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for 16 percent superphosphate; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of phosphoric acid contained in 16 percent superphosphate, except that if ground rock prosphate is substituted the quantity of ground rock phosphate so substituted shall be not less than 1½ times the quantity of 16 percent superphosphate.

[4] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for 50 percent muriate of potash; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of potash contained in the quantity specified of 50 percent muriate of potash.

A diversion payment will in no event be made with respect to a greater number of acres than the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm.

SECTION 6. Increase in Acreage of Soil-Depleting Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of cotton, tobacco, peanuts or general soil-depleting crops, respectively, on a farm is in excess of the soil-depleting base therefor, deduction will be made from any payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm as provided below.

(a) For each acre of cotton, tobacco, or peanuts in excess of the soil-depleting base, a deduction at the rate of payment for diversion for such crop.

(b) For each acre of general soil-depleting crops in excess of the general soil-depleting base, a deduction at the rate of payment for diversion for such crops; provided, that no deduction will be made for general soil-depleting crops in excess of the base if such crops are required for home consumption on the farm or if the County Committee finds that such crops are grown in order to replace a shortage of feed crops on the farm caused by drouth or other unfavorable weather conditions in 1936 or 1937.

SECTION 7. Association Expenses.—There shall be deducted pro rata from the payments made to members of each County Agricultural Conservation Association all or such part, as the Secretary may prescribe, of the estimated administrative expenses incurred or to be incurred by such association in cooperating in carrying out the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act.

There shall be credited to each County Agricultural Conservation Association for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 per application for that number of applications submitted by members of such association under which it is estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 8. Applicability to Farms under Special Programs.—The Secretary may designate one or more counties or other areas for which special programs for 1937 will be developed under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. In the event that any such county or other area is designated, the allowances, rates, and conditions of payment for such county or other area will be set forth in a special bulletin and the provisions of this Bulletin 101 shall not be applicable in such county or other designated area.

On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration payment will be made only for such diversion and for carrying out such soil-building practices as are, prior to performance, approved for the farm by the County Committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 9. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person may be withheld if any practice is adopted by such person, which the Secretary determines tends to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Part II. Classification of Crops

Farm land, when devoted to the crops and uses indicated hereinafter, shall be classified in the manner set forth in this Part II.

SECTION 1. Soil-Depleting Crops.—Land on which any of the following crops is grown shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-depleting crop for the year in which such crop is normally harvested. The acreage of land which is devoted to two or more soil-depleting crops in the same year shall be counted as soil-depleting only once.

(a) Corn (field, sweet, and popcorn).
(b) Cotton.
(c) Tobacco.
(d) Peanuts harvested for nuts.
(e) Broom corn.
(f) Truck and vegetable crops, including also melons, strawberries, potatoes, and sweet potatoes.

(g) Sorghum, when harvested.
(h) Small grains: Wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, and grain mixtures; cut for hay or grain.
(i) Annual grasses: Sudan, millet, and Italian ryegrass, harvested for hay or seed.
(j) Bulbs and flowers.

SECTION 2. Soil-Conserving Crops.—Land devoted to any of the following crops and not used in the same year for the growing of any soil-depleting crop, as defined in section 1 of this Part II, shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-conserving crop, except as otherwise provided in section 3 below. Cropland from which no crop is harvested during 1937 and which is planted in 1937 not later than October 31 to any crop listed below (other than small grains seeded alone in the fall) shall be considered as soil-conserving. If two or more soil-conserving crops are grown on the same land during any year the acreage of such land counted as soil-conserving shall not exceed the acreage on which such crops are grown.

(a) Biennial and perennial legumes; sweet, red, alsike, white, and mammoth clovers; alfalfa; kudzu; and sericea.
(b) Miscellaneous legumes; Vetch, Austrian winter peas; bur clover and crimson clover; annual varieties of lespedeza; crotalaria.

(f) Perennial grasses: Bluegrass, Dallis, redtop, timothy, orchard grass, Bermuda, carpet grass, and mixtures of these.
(g) Small grains: Rye, oats, barley, wheat, buckwheat, and grain mixtures, when not cut for grain or hay, provided a good growth is left on the land. (If plowed under or if a good growth is not left on the land the crop shall be disregarded in classifying the land on which grown except as otherwise provided.)
(h) Forest trees, planted on cropland since January 1, 1934.
(i) Sweet sorghums, not harvested.

SECTION 3. Soil-Conserving Crops Grown on Land Used for the Production of a Soil-Depleting Crop.—Land devoted to any of the combinations of soil-conserving and soil-depleting crops listed below shall be classified as follows:

(a) Acreage on which summer legumes are interplanted or grown in combination with soil-depleting row crops. The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving provided the legume occupies at least one-half of the land and attains a good growth.

(b) Acreage on which mixtures of legumes and soil-depleting crops (winter legumes and small grains, or summer legumes and annual grasses) are harvested together. The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving provided not less than 50 percent of the total growth harvested consists of such legumes.

(c) Acreage of legumes classified as soil-conserving or of such a legume and perennial grass following a soil-depleting crop harvested in the same year (whether seeded in or following a soil-depleting crop). The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving, except that if the legume is an annual winter legume (crimson clover, vetch, or Austrian winter peas) the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.

(d) Acreage of the crops listed in sub-section (b) of section 4 of Part I plowed under as green manure after having attained at least two months' normal growth on land from which a commercial vegetable crop is harvested in the same year. The entire acreage of commercial vegetables shall be classified as soil-depleting and the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.

SECTION 4. Neutral Uses.—Land devoted to the following uses shall be regarded as not used for the production of a soil-depleting crop or a soil-conserving crop:

(a) Vineyards, tree fruits, small fruits, bush fruits, nut trees, and nursery stock not interplanted. Any portion of the area which is interplanted shall carry the classification and actual acreage of such interplanted crop.
(b) Idle cropland.
(c) Cultivated fallow land.
(d) Waste land, roads, lanes, lots, yards, and other similar non-crop land.
(e) Woodland, other than cropland planted to forest trees since January 1, 1934.

Part III. Establishment of Bases

The County Committee will recommend for approval by the Secretary a general soil-depleting base, a cotton soil-depleting base, a tobacco soil-depleting base, a peanut soil-depleting base, and a soil-conserving base for each farm participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such bases shall represent the acreage normally used for the production of general soil-depleting crops, cotton, tobacco, peanuts, and soil-conserving crops, respectively, on such farm. The County Committee also will recommend for each farm a base yield per acre for cotton, tobacco, and peanuts, and a rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for the farm.

SECTION 1. Farms for Which Soil-Depleting Bases Were Established Under the 1936 Program.—The soil-depleting bases established for farms under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, together with the accompanying base yields or rates of payment per acre, shall be used as a basis for determining the soil-depleting bases, base yields, or rates per acre for such farms in 1937, with adjustment as provided in section 3 of this Part III.

SECTION 2. Farms For Which Soil-Depleting Bases Were Not Established Under the 1936 Program.—On farms for which bases were not established under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, the bases and yields or rates per acre shall, subject to adjustment as provided hereinafter, be determined as follows:

(a) Cotton Base and Yield.—A cotton soil-depleting base may be established for a farm:

(1) If one acre or more of cotton was planted on the farm in 1935 or 1936, or

(2) If the entire base cotton acreage for the farm was retired in 1935 under a cotton acreage reduction contract, or

(3) If the County Committee determines that cotton was not planted in either 1935 or 1936 because of unusual weather conditions.

The cotton soil-depleting base and base yield for a farm will be determined upon the basis of the base established under the 1935 cotton acreage reduction program, or, if no such base was established, upon the basis of the acreage grown and yield obtained on the farm in the year 1936.

(b) Tobacco Base and Yield.—A tobacco soil-depleting base may be established for any farm on which tobacco was grown in either 1935 or 1936, and for other farms on which the County Committee determines that tobacco was not planted in 1935 or 1936 because of unusual weather conditions.

The tobacco soil-depleting base and base yield for a farm shall be determined upon the basis of the base established for the farm under the 1936–39 tobacco production adjustment program, or, if no such base was established, upon the basis of the acreage grown and yield obtained on the farm in the year 1936.

(c) Peanut Base and Yield.—A peanut soil-depleting base may be established for any farm on which peanuts were grown in 1935 or 1936, and for other farms on which the County Committee determines that peanuts were not planted in 1935 or 1936 because of unusual weather conditions. The peanut soil-depleting base shall be determined upon the basis of the allotted acreage under the 1935 peanut production adjustment program, or, if there was no such allotted acreage, upon the basis of the acreage of peanuts harvested for nuts on the farm in 1936 The base yield of peanuts for the farm shall be that recommended by the County Committee on the basis of the yield per acre on the farm in 1936.

(d) General Soil-Depleting Base and Rate Per Acre.—A general soil-depleting base may be established for any farm if soil depleting crops other than cotton, tobacco, or peanuts were produced thereon in the year 1935 or 1936, and for such other farms as the County Committee determines, in accordance with instructions, are eligible upon the basis of the past production on the farm or by the operator.

The general soil-depleting base for a farm shall be determined upon the basis of the acreage of general soil-depleting crops grown on the farm in 1936. The rate of payment per acre shall be determined upon the basis of the estimated yield per acre for the farm of the crop used under the 1936 program in determining the rate of payment per acre for other farms in the locality.

SECTION 3. Adjustment in Soil Depleting Bases.—(a) Inequitable Bases.—The soil-depleting base, the base yield, or the rate of payment per acre determined for each farm in accordance with the provisions of this Part III shall be adjusted upward or downward whenever necessary so as to be equitable for such farm as compared with farms in the same locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(b) Unused Bases.—If the acreage of cotton, tobacco, peanuts, or of crops in the general soil-depleting base planted on a farm in the years 1935 and 1936 has been substantially less than the acreage which could have been planted on the farm in such years with maximum payments with respect to such crops, under the 1935 programs of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration or under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, and such deficiency was not caused by unusual weather conditions, the base shall be adjusted by the County Committee so as to reflect the plantings on the farm in 1935 and 1936 and so as to be equitable as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(c) Changes in Crop Classification.—The acreage of small grains harvested for grain or hay and the acreage of corn interplanted with legumes, classified as soil-conserving in establishing the general soil-depleting base for 1936 for any farm shall be added to such 1936 base in determining the general soil-depleting base for 1937.

(d) Rate of Payment per Acre.—The rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for each farm for which such a rate was established in 1936 shall be adjusted so as to conform to the adjustment in the average rate of such payment for the United States and shall in each case reflect the relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base.

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of sections 1 and 2 of this Part III, the Secretary reserves the right to provide for the establishment of any base for a farm in conjunction with a decrease in any other base for the farm under such conditions and within such limits as he may prescribe.

SECTION 4. Limits of Soil Depleting Bases.—The general soil-depleting bases, the cotton soil-depleting bases, the tobacco soil-depleting bases, and the peanut soil-depleting bases, respectively, established for all farms participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program in any county or other specified area, shall not exceed the acreage for each such soil-depleting base which is established for such farm in such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The total of the cotton, tobacco, or peanut soil-depleting bases, respectively, established in 1937 for farms on which such bases were not established in 1936, or on which no cotton or tobacco base acreage or allotted peanut acreage was established under a commodity adjustment program in 1935, shall not exceed such acreage in any county or other area as shall be obtained by downward adjustment of the respective soil-depleting bases, base acreages, or allotted acreage previously established for other farms in such county or other area, except as approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The weighted average of the rate per acre for diversion from the general soil-depleting base and the weighted average base yield of cotton, tobacco, and peanuts for all farms for which soil-depleting bases are established in any county or other specified area shall not exceed the respective rate per acre or base yield established for such crop(s) for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 5. Soil-Conserving Base.—The soil-conserving base for a farm will be determined upon the basis of the 1936 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm, with such adjustment as is necessary to correct abnormally small or large acreages caused by unusual weather conditions or any increase in the acreage of such crops under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such acreage shall, if necessary, be further adjusted for each farm so as to represent an acreage of soil-conserving crops which is fair and equitable for the farm as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, and farming practices, and shall in no event be less than the total acreage of cropland minus the sum of the soil-depleting bases and the normal acreage of neutral cropland on the farm.

The total of the soil-conserving bases for farms in any county or other area shall not be greater than the maximum or less than the minimum acreage established for such bases in the county or other area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Part IV. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 1. Land To Be Included Under Application.—An application may be submitted with respect to any farm or with respect to any two or more farms operated by the same person.

SECTION 2. Application and Eligibility for Payment.—(a) Payment will be made only upon applications submitted through the county office. The Secretary reserves the right to withhold payment to any person who fails to file any form or furnish any information required with respect to any farm in which he is interested as owner or operator and to refuse to accept any application for payment if such application or any other form or information required is not submitted to the county office within the time fixed by the Director of the East Central Division.

(b) An application for payment may be made by any person who as owner, share-tenant or sharecropper is entitled to receive a share or all of the crops produced on the farm in 1937 or the proceeds therefrom or who rents the land to a producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment and who incurs any part or all of the expense of carrying out a soil-building practice on the farm.

(c) Any person who files an application for payment in a county shall file an application with respect to each farm owned or operated by such person, in the county. Upon request by the State Committee such person also shall file an application with respect to any farm owned or operated by him in any other county.

(d) In case a farm is located in two or more counties, the farm shall be regarded as being in the county in which the principal dwelling on such farm is located, or if there is no dwelling on such farm, in the county in which the major portion of the farm is located.

SECTION 3. Membership in Association.—Any person having an interest in the crops produced on any farm, or the proceeds thereof, who is not a member of the County Agricultural Conservation Association for the county in which such farm is located shall become a member of such association whenever any form or information required in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program is submitted for such farm. Any person shall cease to be a member of the association if an application for payment is not filed by him within the time specified by the Director of the East Central Division for the filing of applications.

SECTION 4. Division of Payments.—Payments with respect to any farm included under an application shall be divided as follows:

(a) Diversion Payment With Respect to Cotton and Peanuts.—

(1) 37½ percent to the producer who furnished the land.

(2) 12½ percent to the producer who furnished the workstock and equipment, and

(3) 50 percent to be divided among the producers who are parties to the lease or operating agreement in the proportion that such producers are entitled to share in the cotton or peanut crops, respectively, grown on the farm in 1937, or the proceeds thereof.

(b) Diversion Payment with Respect to Tobacco and General Soil-Depleting Crops.—

(1) 15 percent to the producer who furnished the land,

(2) 15 percent to the producer who furnished the workstock and equipment, and

(3) 70 percent to be divided among the producers who are parties to the lease or operating agreement in the proportion that such producers are entitled to share in the tobacco or in the general soil-depleting crops, respectively, grown on the farm in 1937, or the proceeds thereof.

(c) Payment With Respect to Soil-Building Practices.—The soil-building payment with respect to the acreage on which any approved soil-building practice is carried out on any farm shall be made to the producer or the person who rents the land to a producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment whom the County Committee determines, under instructions issued by the Secretary, has incurred the expense of carrying out such soil-building practice; if the County Committee determines that two or more such persons have incurred the expense of carrying out such practice on the farm, the soil-building payment calculated for the particular acreage with respect to which such persons shared in such expense shall be divided equally among them.

(d) Computation of Shares of Payments.—Any share of payments shall be computed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deduction of claims for advances, and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of any creditor.

(e) Division of Diversion Payment Under Specified Conditions on Farms Where There Are Two or More Producers.—

(1) If the 1937 acreage of the crop(s) in any soil-depleting base is zero, or, because of partial crop failure is substantially smaller than the acreage which, but for such failure, would have been grown in 1937, the portion of the diversion payment with respect to the crop which is to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop shall be divided among the producers who remain entitled to share in any crop actually grown on the farm in 1937 in proportion to the share of each such producer in the crop as it was intended to be grown.

(2) In cases where the County Committee finds that the share of one or more producers in the acreage diverted in 1937 from any soil-depleting base differs materially from the share of such producer(s) in the 1937 acreage of the crops in such base, that portion of the diversion payment with respect to such base to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop, shall be divided on the basis of the shares in the acreage diverted by such producers.

The acreage diverted by each producer may be determined by agreement of all producers on the farm by appearing before at least two members of the County Committee and indicating their agreement. In any such case there shall be submitted to the State office at the time of submission of the application for the farm, a certification signed by each producer in the presence of and approved by at least two members of the County Committee that the agreement has been reached voluntarily in accordance with the foregoing provisions.

Where agreement of all producers is not obtained, the County Committee may recommend, subject to the approval of the State Committee and the Director of the East Central Division, their determination of the acreage diverted by each producer, such recommendation to be accompanied by a complete statement of all of the facts upon which the recommendation is based.

SECTION 5. Changes in Leasing or Cropping Agreement and Other Devices.—If it shall appear from an investigation made by the State Committee that any person who has made an application for a payment pursuant to the provisions of the 1936 or the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has made any change in the normal leasing or cropping agreement for the farm or has employed or participated in any other scheme or device whatsoever the effect of which would be or has been to deprive any other person of any payment or share therein to which such other person would normally be entitled, the Secretary may withhold from the person participating in or employing such a scheme or device, or require such person to refund, in whole or in part the amount of any payment which had been or would otherwise be made to such person for performance in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

SECTION 6. Multiple Farm Holdings.—If a person who has made application for a payment with respect to any farm or farms has an interest as owner or operator in another farm or farms in the county on which the acreage used for the production of crops included in any soil-depleting base exceeds such base and such other farm or farms have not been included in an application under which a payment can be made, the payment to be made to such person shall be decreased by an amount equal to such person's share of the net deductions with respect to such farm or farms.

The provisions of this section may be extended to include farms in two or more counties in the State in which any person as owner or operator is entitled to receive a share of the crops produced thereon, or the proceeds thereof, if the acreage used for the production of any soil-depleting crop(s) on any such farm has been increased to such an extent as to tend to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

The Wheat and Grain Sorghum Area

Southern Region Bulletin 101 is hereby supplemented by adding thereto the following Part IX.

The provisions of this Part IX shall apply only to the wheat and grain sorghum area as defined under the heading "Definitions" below, and are based upon (1) a payment of $9.00 per acre average for the United States, varying according to productivity, for diversion from the general base, and payments for diversion from other bases as outlined in Part III, Southern Region Bulletin 101; and (2) a soil-building allowance based upon a rate of $1.00 for each acre in the soil-conserving base, $1.00 for each acre of soil-depleting crops diverted for payment in 1937, and the other provisions of sections 1 and 2. The provisions of said Bulletin 101, unless otherwise provided, will apply throughout said area with the exception of the substitutions contained in this Part IX. B. RATES AND CONDITIONS OF PAYMENT

SECTION 101. Soil-Building Practices.—The provisions of this section 101 shall apply in lieu of section 16.

A class II payment will be made for carrying out any one or more of the following soil-building practices in 1937 at the rates and upon the conditions listed in this section 101, provided (1) in no event will the total of the class II payments respecting any farm exceed the soil-building allowance for the farm; (2) none of the labor, seed, or materials for such practice is furnished or paid for by any Federal or State agency; and (3) the practice is carried out by such methods and with such kinds and quantities of adapted seed, trees, and other materials as conform to good farming practices.

A class II payment will not be made to any person for carrying out any of the following soil-building practices if the county committee finds that such person has been negligent and careless in his farming practices to the extent that his farm has become a wind erosion hazard to the community in which it is located or that such practices have not been carried out in accordance with standards adopted by the State Committee.

Practice Number, Practices and Conditions, and Rate

1. Alfalfa, planted on cropland in 1937: $2.50 per acre.

2. Sweet clover; annual lespedeza; Austrian winter peas, or other locally adapted winter legumes, planted on cropland in 1937: $1.50 per acre.

3. Cowpeas, soybeans, mung beans, or other locally adapted summer legumes, excluding lespedeza, grown on cropland in 1937, and the total forage plowed under, provided a reasonably good growth is obtained, $2.00 per acre.

4. Austrian winter peas, or other locally adapted winter legumes plowed under in 1937, or lespedeza left on the land in 1937 except that the seed may be harvested, provided a reasonably good growth is attained: $1.00 per acre.

9. Forest trees, including post-producing species, planted on cropland in 1937: $5.00 per acre.

10. Ground limestone or its equivalent[1] applied on soil-conserving crops or pastures in 1937, but payment will not be made on an amount in excess of 4,000 pounds per acre, or less than 1,000 pounds per acre if applied broadcast, or less than 500 pounds if applied in rows: $0.07 per 100 pounds.

11. Sixteen percent superphosphate or its equivalent[2] applied in 1937 on soil-conserving crops or pastures (excluding soybeans, cowpeas, velvet beans, and peanuts), but payment will not be made on an amount in excess of 400 pounds per acre or less than 100 pounds per acre: $0.50 per 100 pounds.

14. Terracing land, in accordance with good terracing practices: $0.40 per 100 linear feet.

21. Contour listing or furrowing, when done on cropland in 1937; provided, (1) that the furrows shall be made with a regular double mold-board lister or with a chisel of approved design according to the specifications given herein; (2) that the furrows shall be not more than 4 feet nor less than 2 feet apart and shall, if listed, be not less than 8 inches in width and 4 inches in depth, or if chiseled, be not less than 4 inches in width and 6 inches in depth; (3) that the furrowing shall be done with the contour of the land, following lines run with a surveyor's instrument or farm level, and (4) that the contours shall be maintained until preparation of the land for crop. On slopes greater than 3½ feet to the 100 feet, such contour listing must be in combination with terracing: $0.25 per acre.

22. Alternate strips of sorghums, or Sudan grass,[3] and fallow,[4] where such strips of sorghums or Sudan grass are planted on the contour in 1937 prior to August 15 on cropland contour listed or furrowed since October 31, 1936, provided that such strips of sorghums or Sudan grass are not less than approximately 2 rods in width and are not more than 12 rods nor less than 4 rods apart, that the strips of sorghums or Sudan grass are not wider than the fallow strips between such strips of sorghums or Sudan grass, and that the stalks are left standing on the land as a protection against wind erosion (in counties outside the wind erosion area if heads or seed are harvested from such strips of sorghums or Sudan grass, only the acreage of the fallow strips shall be considered in computing the acreage of this practice): $0.35 per acre.

[1] For example, 500 pounds of burnt lime or 700 pounds of hydrated lime is the equivalent of 1,000 pounds of grand limestone.

[2] For example, 100 pounds of 48 percent superphosphate is the equivalent of 300 pounds of 16 percent superphosphate.

[3] The term "Strips of sorghums or Sudan grass," wherever used in this Part IX, means strips that are seeded solid or broadcast or in rows not over 4 feet apart.

[4] Where strips of sorghums or Sudan grass, alternating with fallow, are over 12 rods in width or occupy more than one-half of the land, the actual acreage of such strips or rows if all the crop is left on the land, will be paid for in accordance with practice 24. If such strips (or rows) are not on the contour, occupy one-half or less of the land, and are 12 rods or less in width, no practice payment will be made.

23. Alternate rows of sorghums or Sudan grass and fallow,[4] where such rows of sorghums or Sudan grass are planted on the contour in 1937 prior to August 15 on cropland contour listed or furrowed since October 31, 1936, provided that such rows of sorghums or Sudan grass are planted as single or double rows not less than 10 nor more than 16 feet apart, and if the stalks are left standing on the land as a protection against wind erosion (in counties outside the wind erosion area if heads or seeds are harvested from such rows of sorghums or Sudan grass, only the acreage of the fallow strips shall be considered in computing the acreage of this practice, each row shall be considered to occupy a strip 3½ feet in width): $0.25 per acre.

24. Sorghums, millets, or Sudan grass, seeded solid or broadcast, or sweet sorghum or Sudan grass in rows not over 4 feet apart, grown in 1937, provided all the crop is left on the land (or either left on the land or plowed under in counties outside the wind erosion area) and a reasonably good growth is attained. (Payment will not be made for this practice in combination with practice 22 or 23): $1.00 per acre.

25. Green manure crops, including rye, barley, oats, wheat, Italian rye grass, or mixtures of two or more of these; plowed under as green manure, after making a reasonably good growth (not less than two months' growth) in the spring of 1937, provided that such crop shall not reach the dough stage, (provided that such practice shall not be applicable to the wind erosion area): $0.75 per acre.

26. Natural restoration of native pasture (a) on cropland contour listed or contour furrowed, in 1936, in accordance with practice 21, not grazed in 1936, and maintained by withholding all grazing in 1937, and allowing the natural coverage to remain as a protection against erosion, or (b) on cropland contour listed or contour furrowed before May 1, 1937, in accordance with practice 21, and maintained by withholding all grazing therefrom in 1937 and allowing the natural coverage to remain as a protection against erosion: $0.25 per acre.

27. Reestablishment of native grasses by seeding or sodding in 1937, or the establishment in 1937 of permanent pasture of perennial grasses or grass and legume mixtures on cropland, or non-crop open pasture land which if in the wind erosion area has been contour listed since October 1, 1936, in accordance with practice 21: $2.50 per acre.

28. Contour farming, consisting of the growing of crops on the contour in combination with terraces or contour listing or furrowing in accordance with subsection (j), section 104, not in combination with practice 22 or 23: $0.25 per acre.

29. Contour listing or furrowing pasture land, furrow channels to be not less than 8 inches in width and 4 inches in depth and not less than 3½ feet apart. (Payment will be made on the acreage occupied by the furrows computed on the basis of 3½ feet in width for each such furrow): $0.70 per acre.

30. Ridging pasture land on slopes of 2 percent or greater, such narrow terraces or ridges to be at least 6 feet wide from bottom of furrow to bottom of furrow on the opposite side, at least 10 inches in height, and at not to exceed one-third of the regular terrace interval: $0.10 per 100 linear feet.

SECTION 102. Minimum Acreage of Soil-Conserving Crops and Soil-Building Practices in Lieu of Soil-Conserving Crops.—The provisions of this section 102 shall apply in lieu of section 17.

(a) If the total acreage of soil-conserving crops on cropland on any farm in 1937, does not equal or exceed the sum of:

(1) The soil-conserving base established for the farm, which shall be that acreage which is determined to be the acreage of soil-conserving crops grown on the farm under normal conditions, and

(2) The sum of the acreages diverted for payment from the cotton, peanut, and general bases.

a deduction will be made in an amount obtained by multiplying $3.00 by the number of acres by which the total acreage of soil-conserving crops on cropland, and of soil-building practices in lieu of soil-conserving crops on cropland in 1937, is less than such sum.

C. CLASSIFICATION OF LAND USE AND CROPS

Farm land when devoted to the crops and uses indicated below shall, except for such additions or modifications as may be approved by the Secretary, be classified as follows:

SECTION 103. Crops or Practices Which Shall be Classed as Soil-Depleting.—The provisions of this section 103 shall apply in lieu of section 31.

Land devoted to any of the following crops or practices shall, except as provided in sections 105 and 106, be regarded as used for the production of a soil-depleting crop for the year in which such crop would normally be harvested or the practice is carried out. In establishing soil-depleting bases and in the checking of performance, the acreage of land devoted to two or more soil-depleting crops shall be counted only once.

(a) Corn, (field, sweet corn, or popcorn).

(b) Cotton.

(c) Potatoes (Irish or sweet).

(d) Truck and vegetable crops, including melons and strawberries.

(e) Peanuts, harvested for nuts.

(f) Grain sorghums, sweet sorghums, broomcorn, millets, or Sudan grass, harvested for grain, seed, or forage, or grain sorghums in rows if all the crop is left on the land (or left on the land or turned under in the wind erosion area), except as provided in paragraphs (f) and (g), section 104.

(g) Small grains, wheat, oats, barley, rye, or any mixture of these; Provided, however, That if the county committee, prior to a date prescribed by the State Committee and approved by the Director of the Southern Division has approved the use of wheat, rye, or barley, or a mixture of these on a designated area on the farm as a winter cover crop as being good farming practice for such area, such crops before reaching the dough stage are pastured or plowed under (cut for hay, pastured, or plowed under in the wind erosion area), and the land is protected, immediately thereafter, by a soil-conserving crop or a soil-building practice approved herein for use in lieu thereof, such land shall take the classification of such soil-conserving crop or practice.

(h) Summer fallowed land, which in the wind erosion area, is left unprotected and becomes a wind erosion hazard.

SECTION 104. Soil-Conserving Crops and Soil-Building Practices in Lieu of Soil-Conserving Crops.—The provisions of this section 104 shall apply in lieu of section 32.

Land devoted to any of the following crops or uses shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-conserving crop or for a soil-building practice in lieu thereof, except that any land which is devoted to a soil-depleting crop, in accordance with section 103, in the same year shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-depleting crop in such year, except as provided in sections 103 and 105. Any acre which is devoted to two or more soil-conserving crops and practices in lieu thereof in the same year shall be counted as not more than one acre of soil-conserving crops.

(a) Legumes, including Australian winter peas, sweetclover alfalfa, lespedeza, cowpeas, and mung beans.

(b) Peanuts, if pastured.

(c) Grasses, including native grasses planted in 1936 or 1937, Dallis, rye grass, Bermuda or grass mixtures.

(d) Sudan grass, seeded solid or broadcast or in rows not over 4 feet apart, not harvested for seed or hay.

(e) Any sorghum or millet seeded solid or broadcast, or sweet sorghum in rows not over 4 feet apart, grown in 1937 and all the crop left on the land (or either left on the land or plowed under in counties outside the wind erosion area), provided a reasonably good growth is attained.

(f) Alternate strips of sorghums, or Sudan grass, and fallow where such strips of sorghums or Sudan grass are planted in 1937 prior to August 15 on cropland if such strips of sorghums or Sudan grass are not less than approximately 2 rods in width, and are not more than 12 nor less than 4 rods apart, if the strips of sorghums or Sudan grass are not wider than the fallow strips between such strips of sorghums or Sudan grass, and if the stalks are left standing on the land as a protection against wind erosion. The acreage actually occupied by such strips shall be considered soil-depleting, and only the acreage of the fallow strips between such sorghum or Sudan strips shall be considered soil-conserving, except that strips of sorghums or Sudan grass, seeded solid or broadcast or of sweet sorghums or Sudan grass in rows, from which heads or seed are not removed shall be classified as soil-conserving.[1]

(g) Alternate rows of sorghums, or Sudan grass, and fallow, where such rows of sorghums or Sudan grass are planted in 1937 prior to August 15 on cropland if such rows of sorghums or Sudan grass are planted as single or double rows not less than 10 nor more than 16 feet part, and if the stalks are left standing on the land as a protection against wind erosion. The acreage actually occupied by such rows shall be considered soil-depleting and only the fallow strips between such rows shall be considered soil-conserving, except that rows of sweet sorghums or Sudan grass from which heads or seed are not removed shall be classified as soil-conserving; each row shall be considered to occupy a strip 3½ feet in width.[5]

(h) The acreage on which practice 26 is carried out.

(i) The acreage of cropland on which practice 27 is carried out.

(j) Two-thirds of the acreage of cropland on which controlled summer fallowing is practiced in 1937 and which in 1937 is kept free of vegetative cover to the extent that available soil moisture will be conserved, and provided that such land (1) is contour listed or furrowed, in accordance with practice 21, or (2) is otherwise contour furrowed where done with a furrowing device which accomplishes a creditable type of cultivation for conserving moisture and controlling wind erosion; furrows in no instance under (1) or (2) to be less than 14 inches apart.

(k) Two-thirds of the acreage of cropland on which protected summer fallow is practiced in 1937, which is kept free of vegetative cover to the extent that available moisture is conserved, and which is protected from erosion by listing or furrowing not on the contour, or by leaving the stubble or trash on or near the surface of the soil. (This classification shall not apply in the wind erosion area, except where a special recommendation is made by the county committee and approved by the State Committee, setting forth proof that wind erosion is not a problem in the particular community, and except as outlined in paragraph (m) below.)

(l) One-third of the acreage of cropland, in the wind erosion area; (1) on which protected fallow is practiced, in accordance with paragraph (k) above, if not terraced or contour listed or, if not in a community approved as not affected by wind erosion; or (2) on which the natural vegetation is allowed to grow as a protection against wind erosion.

(m) The acreage of cropland anywhere in the wheat and grain sorghum area terraced in 1937, in accordance with practice 14, in combination with controlled or protected fallow as outlined in paragraphs (j) and (k) above.

(n) Forest trees, planted on cropland since January 1, 1934.

SECTION 105. Soil-Conserving Crops or Soil-Building Practices in Lieu Thereof Grown or Used in Combination with or Following Soil-Depleting Crops.—The provisions of this section 105 shall apply in lieu of section 33.

Land devoted to soil-conserving crops or soil-building practices in lieu thereof, grown or used in combination with or following soil-depleting crops shall be classified as follows:

(a) All the acreage of soil-depleting row crops interplanted or grown in combination with summer legumes (classified in section 104 as soil-conserving) shall be classified as soil-depleting, and

(1) one-half of the acreage shall also be classified as soil-conserving, provided the legume occupies at least one-half of the land and attains a reasonably good growth, or

(2) one-third of the acreage shall also be classed as soil-conserving, provided that the legume occupies not less than one-third but less than one-half of the land, and attains a reasonably good growth.

(b) All the land from which a soil-depleting crop is harvested in 1937 and followed by legumes (classified in section 104 as soil-conserving) or perennial grasses (whether seeded in or following such crop) shall, in addition to being classified as soil-depleting, be classified as soil-conserving.

(c) All the acreage of soil-depleting crops on land which is terraced in 1937, in accordance with practice 14, shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-third of such acreage shall also be classified as soil-conserving.

[5] Where strips of sorghums or Sudan grass, alternating with fallow, are over 12 rods in width or occupy more than one-half of the land, the actual acreage of such strips shall be classified in accordance with paragraph (f), section 103, or paragraph (e), section 104, and the fallow strips shall be classified in accordance with paragraphs (j) or (k), section 104.

(d) All the acreage of soil-depleting crops on land which is contour listed in 1937, in accordance with practice 21, shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-tenth of such acreage shall also be classified as soil-conserving.

SECTION 106. Neutral Uses.—The provisions of this section 106 shall apply in lieu of section 34.

Land devoted to the following uses shall be regarded as not used for the production of a soil-depleting crop or a soil-conserving crop unless otherwise provided.

(a) Vineyards, tree fruits, bush fruits, and nut trees. (Any portion of such land which is interplanted shall carry the classification and actual acreage of such interplanted crop.)

(b) Idle cropland, unless otherwise specified.

(c) Waste land, roads, lanes, lots, yards, and other similar non-cropland.

(d) Woodland, other than cropland planted to forest trees since January 1, 1934.

In testimony whereof, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, has hereunto set his hand and caused the official seal of the Department of Agriculture to be affixed in the City of Washington, District of Columbia, this 26th day of January 1937.

CUSTOMS REGULATIONS AMENDED—IMPORTED MEATS

ARTICLE 555, CUSTOMS REGULATIONS OF 1931, RELATIVE TO THE HANDLING AND INSPECTION OF MEAT AND MEAT FOOD PRODUCTS, AMENDED

To Collectors of Customs and Others Concerned:

Pursuant to the authority contained in section 624 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (U. S. C., title 19, sec. 1624), article 555 of the Customs Regulations of 1931 is hereby amended to read as follows:

ART. 555. Inspection.—(a) All meat and meat food products must be inspected and passed by inspectors of the Bureau of Animal Industry.

(b) Inspection will be made while the merchandise is in actual customs custody when such inspection takes place at the port at which the merchandise is cleared from customs, unless upon application of the consignee or agent authority is given by the inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry for inspection at the importer's premises or other place not under customs supervision. In such cases a bond shall be given by the consignee or agent for the redelivery of the merchandise if demanded by the collector, on customs Form 7551 or 7553, and the cars, wagons, vehicles, or packages shall be sealed or corded and sealed by a customs officer or an inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry with import-meat seals furnished by the Department of Agriculture, unless bearing United States customs seals. When cording is necessary for proper sealing, the cords shall be furnished and affixed by the importer or his agent. Import-meat seals or cords and seals may be broken only by a customs officer or inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry. In all cases where the merchandise is not cleared from customs at the port of first arrival, the regular "in bond" procedure shall be followed.

(c) Shipments of foreign meat and meat food products arriving in the United States by water at a port where an inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry is stationed shall either be inspected on the wharf at the time of unloading or be shipped under import-meat or United States customs seals to destination. If the shipments are destined to a point where no inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry is stationed, inspection shall be made on the wharf at the time of unloading. Shipments arriving by water at a port where no inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry is stationed, destined to a point where an inspector is stationed, shall be shipped under import-meat or customs seals to destination for inspection.

(d) Large quantities of imported meat and meat food products arriving by water at a port where no inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry is stationed destined to a point where no inspector is stationed shall be inspected on the wharf at the time of unloading. In such cases the collector at the port of first arrival shall immediately telegraph the nearest Bureau of Animal Industry inspector in charge, stating the quantity, kind of products, import-meat seals numbers, place of origin, and names of consignor and consignee. Upon receipt of such telegraphic information, the inspector in charge will immediately detail an inspector to make the required inspection. Small quantities (less than carload lots) arriving by water at a port where no inspector is stationed, destined to a point where no inspector is stationed, shall be shipped under import-meat or customs seals to the nearest point where an inspector is stationed for inspection at that point.

(e) Carload lots of foreign meat and meat food products routed through border ports, destined to a point where an inspector is stationed, shall proceed to destination under import-meat or customs seals for inspection at destination. Carload lots routed through border ports destined to a point where no inspector is stationed shall proceed to destination under import-meat or customs seals for inspection at destination. In such cases the inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry or the collector at the border port shall immediately telegraph the information specified in paragraph (d) to the Bureau of Animal Industry inspector in charge at the nearest point to which the meats are destined. Upon receipt of such telegraphic information, the inspector in charge will immediately detail an inspector to the point where the shipment is destined, to make the required inspection. Carload lots of imported meat and meat food products routed through border ports destined to a point where an inspector is stationed shall proceed to destination under cord and import-meat or customs seals for inspection at destination. Less than carload lots routed through border ports where an inspector is stationed destined to a point where no inspector is stationed shall be inspected at the border port. If there is no inspector stationed at the border port, less than carload lots destined to a point where there is no inspector stationed shall proceed under cord and import-meat or customs seals to the nearest point where an inspector is stationed for inspection at that point.

(f) Less than carload lots of imported meat and meat food products routed through border ports destined to a point where an inspector is stationed shall proceed to destination under cord and import-meat or customs seals for inspection at destination. Less than carload lots routed through border ports where an inspector is stationed destined to a point where no inspector is stationed shall be inspected at the border port. If there is no inspector stationed at the border port, less than carload lots destined to a point where there is no inspector stationed shall proceed under cord and import-meat or customs seals to the nearest point where an inspector is stationed for inspection at that point.

(g) In the absence of an inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry at the port of first arrival, collectors of customs will prepare notices on M. I. Forms 109–FF and 109–FF (special), reporting to the inspector in charge at the point where inspection is to be made information regarding the sealing of railroad cars, trucks, and packages of foreign meat and meat food products. The Bureau of Animal Industry, Washington, D. C. will supply collectors with the M. I. Forms 109–FF and 109–FF (special) upon request.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

ECR—B–101—West Virginia East Central Division, January 21, 1937

BULLETIN 101—WEST VIRGINIA

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, payments will be made, in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of said Act for 1937, in accordance with the provisions of this East Central Region bulletin 101 for the State of West Virginia and such modifications or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has been developed in accordance with the provisions of sections 8, 15, and 16 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, but the payment of any benefits pursuant to the provisions of this bulletin is contingent upon such appropriation, if any, as the Congress of the United States may hereafter make for such purpose, and the amounts of such payments will be finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of participation in the program. The rates of payment and the soil-building allowance set forth herein are computed upon the basis of an appropriation of $500,000,000 for the 1937 program for the Nation and 85 percent participation by farmers. The payments calculated in accordance with the provisions of Part I of this bulletin 101 may be increased or decreased depending upon the extent of participation in the East Central Region, but any such variation will not be in excess of 10 percent.

Part I. Rates and Conditions of Payment

Payment will be made in connection with the utilization in 1937 of the land on any farm in the State of West Virginia, in the amounts and subject to the conditions hereinafter set forth.

SECTION 1. Payment for Diversion from the Tobacco Soil-Depleting Base.—For each acre diverted from the tobacco soil-depleting base for the farm, payment will be made at the rate of 5 cents per pound of the base yield per acre of tobacco for the farm, for each acre diverted not in excess of 25 percent of the tobacco soil-depleting base.

SECTION 2. Payment for Diversion from the General Soil-Depleting Base.—For each acre diverted from the general soil-depleting base for the farm, not in excess of 15 percent of such base, payment will be made at a rate which will average $9.00 per acre for the United States, varied among farms according to relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base; provided, that payment will not be made for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for a farm unless crops in such base are normally grown in excess of the home consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

SECTION 3. Allowance for Soil-Building Practices.—The soil-building allowance for the farm is the maximum amount for which payment may be made for carrying out soil-building practices. This allowance shall be the sum of such of the items set forth in subsections (a), (b), (c), and (d) below as are applicable to the farm; provided, that in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $10.00, and in no event will the soil-building allowance for any farm not eligible to earn a diversion payment be less than $20.00.

A farm shall be eligible to earn a diversion payment if such farm has a tobacco soil-depleting base, or if crops in the general soil-depleting base normally are grown in excess of the home consumption needs of the farm on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base. Other farms shall not be eligible to earn a diversion payment. A farm for which the general soil-depleting base does not exceed 20 acres and for which there is no tobacco soil-depleting base may be classified as not eligible to earn a diversion payment, if the operator elects not to make a diversion, even though food and feed crops normally are grown in excess of home consumption needs on an acreage not less than 15 percent of such base.

(a) (1) On Farms Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment (whether earned or not).—$1.00 for each acre in the minimum soil-conserving acreage for the farm.

(2) On Farms Not Eligible to Earn a Diversion Payment.—75 cents for each acre of cropland, or $1.00 for each acre in the minimum soil-conserving acreage for the farm, whichever is larger.

(b) Commercial Orchards.—$1.00 additional for each acre of commercial orchards on the farm on January 1, 1937.

(c) Commercial Vegetables.—$1.00 additional for each acre on which only one crop of commercial vegetables was grown in 1936.

$2.00 additional for each acre on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown in 1936.

(d) Non-Crop Pasture.—25 cents additional for each acre of fenced, non-crop, open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of cropland on the farm, which is capable of maintaining during the normal pasture season at least one animal unit for each 5 acres of such pasture land.

The acreage of commercial orchards, of commercial vegetables, and of non-crop pasture, respectively, used in establishing the soil-building allowance for farms in any county or other area, shall not exceed such acreage as shall be established for such county or other area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 4. Payment for Soil-Building Practices.—Payment will be made, within the limit of the soil-building allowance determined for the farm in accordance with section 3 above, for carrying out in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program not later than October 31, 1937, any of the soil-building practices listed herein, upon the conditions and at the rates herein specified; provided, that the practice is carried out by such methods and with such kinds and quantities of seeds, trees, and other materials as conform to good farming practice, and that no part of the labor, seed, trees, or other materials used in connection with such practice is furnished in whole or in part by any State or Federal agency.

(a) Seeding Legumes and Perennial Grasses.—For seeding approved seeds of any of the following crops, payment will be made at the rate per acre set forth below.

(1) Alfalfa: $2.50.

(2) Red clover; mammoth clover; sericea; or bluegrass; or any mixture containing 50 percent or more by weight of legumes listed in paragraphs (1) or (2) of this subsection (a): $2.00.

(3) Vetch; crimson clover; alsike clover; sweet clover; annual lespedeza; orchard grass; reed canary grass; or any mixture containing 50 percent or more by weight of bluegrass or of legumes listed in paragraphs (1), (2), or (3) of this subsection (a): $1.50.

(4) White clover; redtop; timothy; or any mixture of grasses or legumes listed in this subsection (a): $1.00.

(b) Growing Green Manure Crops and Cover Crops.—Plowing or discing under as green manure any of the crops named below after the crop has attained a normal growth of at least two months, or leaving on the land certain of these crops grown in 1937. Payment will be made at the rate per acre specified for each such crop; provided, however, that if any practice listed in (1) or (2) below is carried out on land normally used to produce commercial vegetables and the County Committee finds that as a result of the carrying-out of such practice one less soil-depleting crop is grown in 1937 than the number of soil-depleting crops normally grown on such land, the rate of payment for such practice shall be twice the rate per acre specified for such practice.

(1) Soybeans, or cowpeas, plowed or disced under:[1] $2.00.

(2) Crimson clover, or vetch, plowed or disced under; rye, barley, wheat, Italian ryegrass, or mixtures of these, plowed or disced under; Sudan grass, millet, sorghum, or sowed corn, plowed or disced under; soybeans, or cowpeas, not grazed or pastured and not harvested for grain when all of the forage is left on the land;[1] lespedeza not grazed or pastured when all of the forage is left on the land: $1.00.

(3) Soybeans, cowpeas, sweet clover, or any combination of small grain and legumes, interplanted in commercial orchards, clipped or disced, and left on the land: $1.50.

(c) Mulching Orchards.—Applying in commercial orchards not less than 2 tons of air-dry mulching material per acre in addition to leaving in the orchard all materials produced therein during 1937 from grasses, legumes, or green manure or cover crops. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 5 tons per acre at the rate of $2.00 per ton.

(d) Planting Forest Trees.—Planting forest trees, including post-producing species. Payment will be made at the rate of $7.50 per acre when planted on cropland, or at the rate of $5.00 per acre when planted on other land.

(e) Improving Stands of Forest Trees.—Upon prior approval by the County Committee, improving the stand of forest trees by thinning or pruning trees on woodland from which grazing is excluded, to develop approximately 100 potential timber trees of desirable species, well distributed over an acre of woodland. Payment will be made at the rate of $2.50 per acre.

(f) Improving Land by the Use of Ground Limestone.—Applying not less than 1,000 pounds per acre of ground limestone, or its equivalent,[2] on cropland or non-crop pasture land or not less than 500 pounds per acre if the application is made by drilling with the seed of any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 2½ tons per acre at the rate of $1.50 per ton.

(g) Improving Land by the Use of Superphosphate.—Applying not less than 100 pounds per acre of 20 percent superphosphate, or its equivalent,[3] on any permanent pasture, or in connection with seeding or maintaining any legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4, or in connection with any green manure crop plowed or disced under as provided in subsection (b) of this section 4. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 500 pounds per acre at the rate of 75 cents per 100 pounds; or, if the superphosphate is applied in connection with a legume or perennial grass listed in subsection (a) of this section 4 seeded in connection with a soil-depleting crop, at the rate of 37½ cents per 100 pounds.

(h) Improving Land by the Use of Potash.—Applying not less than 30 pounds per acre of 50 percent muriate of potash or its equivalent[4], on land on which 20 percent superphosphate or its equivalent is applied in accordance with paragraph (g) above. Payment will be made on a quantity not exceeding 250 pounds per acre, at the rate of $1.00 per

[1] If the soybeans, or cowpeas are interplanted or grown in combination with a soil-depleting row crop, one-half the acreage shall be counted for this practice.

[2] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for ground limestone; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of calcium or magnesium oxide contained in the quantities of ground limestone specified. For purposes of this section 4 (f) 100 pounds of ground oyster shell, 70 pounds of hydrated lime, or 50 pounds of burned lime, shall be considered, respectively, to be equivalent to 100 pounds of ground limestone.

[3] Equivalent quantities of other materials, except ground rock phosphate, may be substituted for 20 percent superphosphate; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of phosphoric acid contained in 20 percent superphosphate.

[4] Equivalent quantities of other materials may be substituted for 50 percent muriate of potash; provided, that the quantities of other materials so substituted contain not less than the quantities, by weight, of potash contained in the quantity specified of 50 percent muriate of potash.

100 pounds; or, if the muriate of potash is applied as above in connection with a legume or perennial grass seeded in connection with a soil-depleting crop, at the rate of $0.50 per 100 pounds.

SECTION 5. 1937 Acreage of Soil-Conserving Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm is less than the minimum acreage of soil-conserving crops (that is, the number of acres in the soil-conserving base plus the number of acres diverted from soil-depleting bases in 1937 upon which payment will be made), a deduction will be made from any payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm at the rate of $3.00 per acre of such deficiency.

Diversion payment will in no event be made with respect to a greater number of acres than the 1937 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm.

SECTION 6. Increase in Acreage of Soil-Depleting Crops.—If the 1937 acreage of tobacco or general soil-depleting crops, respectively, on a farm is in excess of the soil-depleting base therefor, deduction will be made from any payment which otherwise would be made with respect to the farm as provided below.

(a) For each acre of tobacco in excess of the soil-depleting base, a deduction at the rate of payment for diversion for tobacco.

(b) For each acre of general soil-depleting crops in excess of the general soil-depleting base, a deduction at the rate of payment for diversion for such crops; provided, that no deduction will be made for general soil-depleting crops in excess of the base if such crops are required for home consumption on the farm or if the County Committee finds that such crops are grown in order to replace a shortage of feed crops on the farm caused by drouth or other unfavorable weather conditions in 1936 or 1937.

SECTION 7. Association Expenses.—There shall be deducted pro rata from the payments made to members of each County Agricultural Conservation Association all or such part, as the Secretary may prescribe, of the estimated administrative expenses incurred or to be incurred by such association in cooperating in carrying out the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act.

There shall be credited to each County Agricultural Conservation Association for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 per application for that number of applications submitted by members of such association under which it is estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 8. Applicability to Farms under Special Programs.—On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration payment will be made only for such diversion and for carrying out such soil-building practices as are, prior to performance, approved for the farm by the County Committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 9. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person may be withheld if any practice is adopted by such person, which the Secretary determines tends to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Part II. Classification of Crops

Farm land, when devoted to the crops and uses indicated hereinafter, shall be classified in the manner set forth in this Part II.

SECTION 1. Soil-Depleting Crops.—Land on which any of the following crops is grown shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-depleting crop for the year in which such crop is normally harvested. The acreage of land which is devoted to two or more soil-depleting crops in the same year shall be counted as soil-depleting only once.

(a) Corn (field, sweet, and popcorn).

(b) Tobacco.

(c) Truck and vegetable crops, including also melons, strawberries, potatoes, and sweet potatoes.

(d) Sorghum and broom corn.

(e) Small grains: Wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, and grain mixtures; cut for hay or grain.

(f) Annual grasses: Sudan, millet, and Italian ryegrass; harvested for hay or seed.

(g) Summer legumes: Soybeans, field peas, and cowpeas; harvested for grain, hay, or forage, except that, for 1937, summer legumes grown as emergency hay crops on an acreage not in excess of that determined by the County Committee to be required to replace a shortage of feed on the farm caused by drouth or other unfavorable weather conditions in 1936 or 1937 may be disregarded in classifying the land on which such crops were grown.

(h) Bulbs and flowers.

SECTION 2. Soil-Conserving Crops.—Land devoted to any of the following crops and not used in the same year for the growing of any soil-depleting crop, as defined in section 1 of this Part II, shall be regarded as used for the production of a soil-conserving crop, except as otherwise provided in section 3 below. Cropland from which no crop is harvested during 1937 and which is planted in 1937 not later than October 31 to any crop listed below (other than small grains seeded alone in the fall) shall be considered as soil-conserving. If two or more soil-conserving crops are grown on the same land during any year the acreage of such land counted as soil-conserving shall not exceed the acreage on which such crops are grown.

(a) Biennial and perennial legumes: Sweet, red, alsike, white, and mammoth clovers; alfalfa; and sericea.

(b) Miscellaneous legumes: Vetch, and crimson clover; annual varieties of lespedeza.

(c) Summer legumes: Soybeans, field peas, and cowpeas; when not harvested for grain, hay, or forage.

(d) Annual grasses: Sudan, millet, and Italian ryegrass; not harvested for hay or seed.

(e) Perennial grasses: Bluegrass, redtop, timothy, orchard grass, reed canary grass, and mixtures of these.

(f) Small grains: Rye, oats, barley, wheat, buckwheat, and grain mixtures, when not cut for grain or hay, provided a good growth is left on the land. (If plowed under or if a good growth is not left on the land the crop shall be disregarded in classifying the land on which grown except as otherwise provided.)

(g) Forest trees, planted on cropland since January 1, 1934.

SECTION 3. Soil-Conserving Crops Grown on Land Used for the Production of a Soil-Depleting Crop.—Land devoted to any of the combinations of soil-conserving and soil-depleting crops listed below shall be classified as follows:

(a) Acreage on which mixtures of legumes and soil-depleting crops (winter legumes and small grains) are harvested together. The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving provided not less than 50 percent of the total growth harvested consists of such legumes.

(b) Acreage of legumes classified as soil-conserving or of such a legume and perennial grass following a soil-depleting crop harvested in the same year (whether seeded in or following such soil-depleting crop). The entire acreage shall be classified as soil-depleting, and one-half of the acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving, except that if the legume is an annual winter legume (crimson clover or vetch), the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.

(c) Acreage of the crops listed in subsection (b) of section 4 of Part I plowed under as green manure after having attained at least two months' normal growth on land from which a commercial vegetable crop is harvested in the same year. The entire acreage of commercial vegetables shall be classified as soil-depleting and the entire acreage also shall be classified as soil-conserving.

SECTION 4. Neutral Uses.—Land devoted to the following uses shall be regarded as not used for the production of a soil-depleting crop or a soil-conserving crop:

(a) Vineyards, tree fruits, small fruits, bush fruits, nut trees, and nursery stock not interplanted. Any portion of the area which is interplanted shall carry the classification and actual acreage of such interplanted crop.

(b) Idle cropland.

(c) Waste land, roads, lanes, lots, yards, and other similar non-crop land.

(d) Woodland, other than cropland planted to forest trees since January 1, 1934.

Part III. Establishment of Bases

The County Committee will recommend for approval by the Secretary a general soil-depleting base, a tobacco soil-depleting base, and a soil-conserving base for each farm participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such bases shall represent the acreage normally used for the production of general soil-depleting crops, tobacco, and soil-conserving crops, respectively, on such farm. The County Committee also will recommend for each farm a base yield per acre for tobacco and a rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for the farm.

SECTION 1. Farms for Which Soil-Depleting Bases Were Established Under the 1936 Program.—The soil-depleting bases established for farms under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, together with the accompanying base yields or rates of payment per acre, shall be used as a basis for determining the soil-depleting bases, base yields, or rates per acre for such farms in 1937, with adjustment as provided in section 3 of this Part III.

SECTION 2. Farms For Which Soil-Depleting Bases Were Not Established Under the 1936 Program.—On farms for which bases were not established under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, the bases and yields or rates per acre shall, subject to adjustment as provided hereinafter, be determined as follows:

(a) Tobacco Base and Yield.—A tobacco soil-depleting base may be established for any farm on which tobacco was grown in either 1935 or 1936, and for other farms on which the County Committee determines that tobacco was not planted in 1935 or 1936 because of unusual weather conditions.

The tobacco soil-depleting base and base yield for a farm shall be determined upon the basis of the base established for the farm under the 1936–39 tobacco production adjustment program, or, if no such base was established, upon the basis of the acreage grown and yield obtained on the farm in the year 1936.

(b) General Soil-Depleting Base and Rate Per Acre.—A general soil-depleting base may be established for any farm if soil-depleting crops other than tobacco were produced thereon in the year 1935 or 1936, and for such other farms as the County Committee determines, in accordance with instructions, are eligible upon the basis of the past production on the farm or by the operator.

The general soil-depleting base for a farm shall be determined upon the basis of the acreage of general soil-depleting crops grown on the farm in 1936. The rate of payment per acre shall be determined upon the basis of the estimated yield per acre for the farm of the crop used under the 1936 program in determining the rate of payment per acre for other farms in the locality.

SECTION 3. Adjustment in Soil-Depleting Bases.—(a) Inequitable Bases.—The soil-depleting base, the base yield, or the rate of payment per acre determined for each farm in accordance with the provisions of this Part III shall be adjusted upward or downward whenever necessary so as to be equitable for such farm as compared with farms in the same locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(b) Unused Bases.—If the acreage of tobacco, or of crops in the general soil-depleting base planted on a farm in the years 1935 and 1936 has been substantially less than the acreage which could have been planted on the farm in such years with maximum payments with respect to such crops, under the 1935 programs of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration or under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, and such deficiency was not caused by unusual weather conditions, the base shall be adjusted by the County Committee so as to reflect the plantings on the farm in 1935 and 1936 and so as to be equitable as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to past production of crops, size, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and farming practices.

(c) Changes in Crop Classification.—The acreage of small grains harvested for grain or hay, and the acreage of corn interplanted with legumes, classified as soil-conserving in establishing the general soil-depleting base for 1936 for any farm shall be added to such 1936 base in determining the general soil-depleting base for 1937.

(d) Rate of Payment per Acre.—The rate of payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for each farm for which such a rate was established in 1936 shall be adjusted so as to conform to the adjustment in the average rate of such payment for the United States and shall in each case reflect the relative productivity of cropland used for the production of crops in the general soil-depleting base.

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of sections 1 and 2 of this Part III, the Secretary reserves the right to provide for the establishment of any base for a farm in conjunction with a decrease in any other base for the farm under such conditions and within such limits as he may prescribe.

SECTION 4. Limits of Soil-Depleting Bases.—The general soil-depleting bases and the tobacco soil-depleting bases, respectively, established for all farms participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program in any county or other specified area, shall not exceed the acreage for each such soil-depleting base which is established for such farms in such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The total of the tobacco soil-depleting bases established in 1937 for farms on which such bases were not established in 1936, or on which no tobacco base acreage was established under a commodity adjustment program in 1935, shall not exceed such acreage in any county or other area as shall be obtained by downward adjustment of the respective soil-depleting bases, base acreages, previously established for other farms in such county or other area, except as approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The weighted average of the rate per acre for diversion from the general soil-depleting base and the weighted average base yield of tobacco for all farms for which soil-depleting bases are established in any county or other specified area shall not exceed the respective rate per acre or base yield established for such crop(s) for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 5. Soil-Conserving Base.—The soil-conserving base for a farm will be determined upon the basis of the 1936 acreage of soil-conserving crops on the farm, with such adjustment as is necessary to correct abnormally small or large acreages caused by unusual weather conditions or any increase in the acreage of such crops under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program. Such acreage shall, if necessary, be further adjusted for each farm so as to represent an acreage of soil-conserving crops which is fair and equitable for the farm as compared with other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to the past production of crops, size, and farming practices, and shall in no event be less than the total acreage of cropland minus the sum of the soil-depleting bases and the normal acreage of neutral cropland on the farm.

The total of the soil-conserving bases for farms in any county or other area shall not be greater than the maximum or less than the minimum acreage established for such bases in the county or other area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Part IV. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 1. Land To Be Included Under Application.—An application may be submitted with respect to any farm or with respect to any two or more farms operated by the same person.

SECTION 2. Application and Eligibility for Payment.—(a) Payment will be made only upon applications submitted through the county office. The Secretary reserves the right to withhold payment to any person who fails to file any form or furnish any information required with respect to any farm in which he is interested as owner or operator and to refuse to accept any application for payment if such application or any other form or information required is not submitted to the county office within the time fixed by the Director of the East Central Division.

(b) An application for payment may be made by any person who as owner, share-tenant or sharecropper is entitled to receive a share or all of the crops produced on the farm in 1937 or the proceeds therefrom or who rents land to a producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment and who incurs any part or all of the expense of carrying out a soil-building practice on the farm.

(c) In the event of the death or legal incompetency of an applicant for payment, any payment which has not been received by such applicant prior to his death or incompetency and which would otherwise be made to such applicant, shall be made to the person who under rules prescribed by the Secretary, is determined to be eligible to receive such payment.

(d) In case a farm is located in two or more counties, the farm shall be regarded as being in the county in which the principal dwelling on such farm is located, or, if there is no dwelling on such farm, in the county in which the major portion of the farm is located.

(e) Any person who files an application for payment in a county shall file an application with respect to each farm owned or operated by such person in the county. Upon request by the State Committee such person also shall file an application with respect to any farm owned or operated by him in any other county.

SECTION 3. Membership in Association.—Any person having an interest in the crops produced on any farm, or the proceeds thereof, who is not a member of the County Agricultural Conservation Association for the county in which such farm is located shall become a member of such association whenever any form or information required in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program is submitted for such farm. Any person shall cease to be a member of the association if an application for payment is not filed by him within the time specified by the Director of the East Central Division for the filing of applications.

SECTION 4. Division of Payments.—Payments with respect to any farm included under an application shall be divided as follows:

(a) Diversion Payment With Respect to Tobacco and General Soil-Depleting Crops.—

(1) 15 percent to the producer who furnished the land,

(2) 15 percent to the producer who furnished the work stock and equipment, and

(3) 70 percent to be divided among the producers who are parties to the lease or operating agreement in the proportion that such producers are entitled to share in the tobacco or in the general soil-depleting crops, respectively, grown on the farm in 1937, or the proceeds thereof.

(b) Payment With Respect to Soil-Building Practices.—The Soil-building payment with respect to the acreage on which any approved soil-building practice is carried out on any farm shall be made to the producer or the person who rents the land to a producer for cash or for a fixed commodity payment whom the County Committee determines, under instructions issued by the Secretary, has incurred the expenses of carrying out such soil-building practice; if the County Committee determines that two or more such persons have incurred the expense of carrying out such practice on the farm, the soil-building payment calculated for the particular acreage with respect to which such persons shared in such expense shall be divided equally among them.

(c) Computation of Shares of Payments.—Any share of payments shall be computed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deduction of claims for advances, and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of any creditor.

(d) Division of Diversion Payment Under Specified Conditions on Farms Where There Are Two or More Producers.—

(1) If the 1937 acreage of the crop(s) in any soil-depleting base is zero, or, because of partial crop failure is substantially smaller than the acreage which, but for such failure, would have been grown in 1937, the portion of the diversion payment with respect to the crop which is to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop shall be divided among the producers who remain entitled to share in any crop actually grown on the farm in 1937 in proportion to the share of each such producer in the crop as it was intended to be grown.

(2) In cases where the County Committee finds that the share of one or more producers in the acreage diverted in 1937 from any soil-depleting base differs materially from the share of such producer(s) in the 1937 acreage of the crops in such base, that portion of the diversion payment with respect to such base to be divided on the basis of the shares in the crop, shall be divided on the basis of the shares in the acreage diverted by such producers.

The acreage diverted by each producer may be determined by agreement of all producers on the farm by appearing before at least two members of the County Committee and indicating their agreement. In any such case there shall be submitted to the State Office at the time of submission of the application for the farm a certification signed by each producer in the presence of and approved by at least two members of the County Committee that the agreement has been reached voluntarily in accordance with the foregoing provisions.

Where agreement of all producers is not obtained, the County Committee may recommend, subject to the approval of the State Committee and the Director of the East Central Division, their determination of the acreage diverted by each producer, such recommendation to be accompanied by a complete statement of all of the facts upon which the recommendation is based.

SECTION 5. Changes in Leasing or Cropping Agreement and Other Devices.—If it shall appear from an investigation made by the State Committee that any person who has made an application for a payment pursuant to the provisions of the 1936 or the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has made any change in the normal leasing or cropping agreement for the farm or has employed or participated in any other scheme or device whatsoever the effect of which would be or has been to deprive any other person of any payment or share therein to which such other person would normally be entitled, the Secretary may withhold from the person participating in or employing such a scheme or device, or require such person to refund, in whole or in part the amount of any payment which had been or would otherwise be made to such person for performance in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

SECTION 6. Multiple Farm Holdings.—If a person who has made application for a payment with respect to any farm or farms has an interest as owner or operator in another farm or farms in the county on which the acreage used for the production of crops included in any soil-depleting base exceeds such base and such other farm or farms have not been included in an application under which a payment can be made, the payment to be made to such person shall be decreased by an amount equal to such person's share of the net deductions with respect to such other farm or farms.

The provisions of this section may be extended to include farms in two or more counties in the State in which any person as owner or operator is entitled to receive a share of the crops produced thereon, or the proceeds thereof, if the acreage used for the production of any soil-depleting crop(s) on any such farm has been increased to such an extent as to tend to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

NER—B-101—New Jersey Issued January 23, 1937

BULLETIN NO. 101—NEW JERSEY

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, payments will be made, in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of said Act for 1937, in accordance with the following provisions of this bulletin No. 101 for New Jersey, and such modifications or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has been developed in accordance with the provisions of sections 8, 15, and 16 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, but the payment of any benefits pursuant to the provisions of this bulletin is contingent upon such appropriation, if any, as the Congress of the United States may hereafter make for such purpose, and the amounts of such payments will be finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of participation in the program. The rates of payment and the allowances herein set forth are computed upon the basis of an appropriation of $500,000,000 and 85 percent participation by farmers in all regions. Such rates of payment and allowances may be increased or decreased, depending upon the extent of participation, but such variations will not be in excess of 10 percent.

Part I. Payment for Soil-Building Practices

Under the 1937 Conservation Program, New Jersey farmers who carry out soil-building practices that they select from the list below will be repaid a part of the cost. The amount of payment for performing each practice is stated with the description of practices in this section.

Payment will be dependent upon the practice being performed in accordance with the generally accepted standards of good farming practice with the use of the kinds and quantities of seeds and other materials which are normally employed to obtain good results. Each farmer contemplating applying for payment for carrying out any of the soil-building practices listed below should ascertain in advance, from instructions issued through his county committee, whether the intended practice can be certified as practical under the local conditions applicable to his farm. Such instructions will be applicable to particular areas or farms and will set forth which of such practices are economically justified in such areas or on such farms and the proper kinds and quantities of seeds or other materials or substitutes to be used in order properly to carry out the practice.

Payment under the 1937 Program will be restricted to practices carried out before December 1, 1937.

If a practice calls for the use of specific materials (such as limestone) a farmer may qualify for payment by substituting equivalent amounts of any other approved material which serves the same purpose.

No payment will be made for a practice carried out on any acreage if labor, seed, or other materials used in carrying out the practice are furnished free or paid for by a State or Federal Agency.

A farmer may earn soil-building payments up to the limit of his soil-building allowance. If the total of the payments qualified for is larger than his allowance, he will receive an amount equal to his allowance, which shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of part II of this bulletin.

Practice Number and Description of Practice and Rate of Payment

SEEDINGS

1. Seeding approved clover or mixtures containing at least 5 pounds of approved biennial or perennial legume seed on crop land or non-crop pasture land prepared for seeding by the application of approved amounts of lime and fertilizing materials.

Payment, $2.00 per acre.

2. Seeding approved alfalfa or mixtures containing at least 8 pounds of approved alfalfa seed on crop land or non-crop pasture land prepared for the seeding by the application of approved amounts of lime and fertilizing materials.

Payment, $3.00 per acre.

GREEN-MANURE CROPS

3. Plowing or disking under small grains or annual grasses or mixtures of these with legumes which have attained at least two months' or 12 inches' growth.

4. Plowing or disking under biennial or perennial legumes from which no crop has been harvested and for which no seeding payment will be, or has been, made under this or any previous program, and which have attained at least two months' or 12 inches growth, or annual legumes which have attained such growth.

Payment, $2.50 per acre.

The rate of payment will be doubled for practices (3) and (4) above when carried out on land normally devoted to commercial vegetables so that the green-manure crop replaces at least one crop of commercial vegetables in 1937.

When annual grains are clipped green and left on land normally devoted to commercial vegetables from which no crop is removed in 1937, and followed by legume crops specified in practice (4) which occupy such land throughout the remainder of the 1937 growing season, such clipping of the small grains may be substituted for the plowing or disking under in practice (3) and such leaving of legume crops on the land may be substituted for the plowing and disking under in practice (4), and the provisions of the preceding paragraph shall be applicable.

Leaving the entire crop on the land during the winter may be substituted for the plowing or disking under in practice (3) or (4) if the crop is one that is normally winter-killed.

WOODLANDS

5. Planting transplanted forest trees of approved varieties at the rate of at least 1,000 trees per acre, on suitable land in an approved manner.

Payment, $10.00 per acre.

FERTILIZING CONSERVING CROPS

Applying phosphoric acid, potash, or nitrogen or approved combinations of those materials in approved amounts, subject to such limitations as are stated herein or may be specified later, to established sod (in pastures, orchards, or hay lands) or in connection with the seeding of biennial or perennial legumes or green-manure crops. No payment will be made for nitrogen applied to hay land in excess of 24 pounds per acre. When phosphoric acid is applied in connection with a seeding made in a nurse crop which is harvested for grain, the payment will be made only for amounts of phosphoric acid in excess of 32 pounds per acre. Payments will also be made for phosphoric acid when added to farm manures as a preservative and reinforcement in approved amounts and when such farm manures are for use on established sod or in connection with the seeding of biennial or perennial legumes or green-manure crops.

Payment, $10.00, and also 5 cents for each acre of land mapped; the total payment, however, respecting any farm, not to exceed $25.00.

Part II. The Soil-Building Allowance

The soil-building allowance for any farm is the maximum amount that may be paid for carrying out soil-building practices on that farm. It shall be the sum of such of the following items as are applicable to that farm. The allowance, however, shall be at least $20.00.

1. Crop land.—$1.00 for each acre of crop land, excluding commercial orchards, on the farm on January 1, 1937.

2. Commercial orchards.—$2.00 for each acre of commercial orchards cultivated on the farm on January 1, 1937.

4. Non-crop pasture land.—$.40 for each acre of fenced non-crop open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of crop land on the farm.

Part III. Provisions Affecting Payments

SECTION 1. Association Expenses.—Under such rules as the Secretary may prescribe there shall be deducted from the payment to any person with respect to a farm or farms in a county all or such part as the Secretary may prescribe of such person's pro rata share of the estimated administrative expenses incurred and to be incurred by the County Agricultural Conservation Association of the county in which such farm or farms are located.

There shall be credited to each County Agricultural Conservation Association for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 per application for that number of applications submitted by members of such association under which it is estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 2. Increase in Acreage of General Soil-Depleting Crops.—The Secretary reserves the right in the case of any farm which in 1937 has an acreage of general soil-depleting crops in excess of 20 acres to make a deduction from any payment that would otherwise be made for such farm in the amount of $11.50 for each acre by which such 1937 acreage of general soil-depleting crops exceeds the general soil-depleting base which can be established for such farm. If in 1937 the Secretary exercises the right to make deductions reserved herein with respect to such farms, the procedure to be followed for the establishment of bases shall be in accordance with such instructions as may be issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 3. Applicability to Farms Under Special Programs.—The Secretary may designate one or more counties or other areas for which special programs for 1937 will be developed under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. In the event that any such county or other area is designated, the allowances, rates, and conditions of payment for such county or other area will be set forth in a special bulletin and the provisions of the State bulletin shall not be applicable in such county or other designated area.

On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration, payment will be made only for carrying out such soil-building practices as are, prior to performance, approved for the farm by the county committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 4. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person may be withheld if any rotation, cropping or other practice is adopted by such person which the Secretary determines tends to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Part IV. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 1. In order for a farmer to be eligible for participation in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program he must execute such forms and submit such information as may be prescribed. Such forms and information shall be filed with the county committee within time limits established by the State committee with the approval of the Director of the Northeast Division.

SECTION 2. Land to be Included under an Application.—An application for payment shall cover neither more nor less than a single farm as defined in part V of this bulletin.

SECTION 3. Application and Eligibility for Payment.—(a) Payment will be made only upon application on the prescribed form, filed with the county committee within the time fixed by the Secretary, supported by such information regarding farming operation as may be required.

(b) An application for payment may be made by any producer who is entitled to receive all or a share of the crops produced on the farm in 1937 or of the proceeds thereof or who incurs all or any part of the expense of soil-building practices carried out on the farm.

(c) For the purpose of determining the eligibility of a producer for a payment where the farm operated by him includes land located in two or more adjoining counties, such farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the principal dwelling on such farm is located, or, if there is no dwelling on such farm, such farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the major portion of such farm is located.

SECTION 4. Division of Payments.—(a) The soil-building payment with respect to the farm covered by an application for payment shall be divided among the producers concerned, in the proportion that the county committee determines that the expense incurred by each in carrying out the soil-building practices bears to the total expense incurred by all such producers in carrying out such practices.

(b) Any payment for a farm shall be computed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deductions of claims for advances, and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of any creditor.

SECTION 5. Membership in Association.—Any person having an interest in the crops or the proceeds thereof produced on any farm in the county in 1937 shall become a member of the County Agricultural Conservation Association of the county whenever any form or information required in connection with the Agricultural Conservation Program for 1937 is submitted for such farm, or whenever in 1937 he attends a meeting called for the purpose of electing committeemen. Any person shall cease to be a member of the association if in 1937 an application for payment is not filed by him within the time specified by the Secretary for the filing of applications.

SECTION 6. Limits.—The sum of the commercial fruit acreages, the commercial vegetable acreages, the commercial double-cropped vegetable acreages, the acreages of non-crop open pasture land, and the acreages of total crop land, respectively, established for farms in any county or other specified area, shall not exceed the acreage of such crops and uses which the Agricultural Adjustment Administration may establish for such county or other specified area.

NER—B-101—Rhode Island Issued January 23, 1937

BULLETIN NO. 101—RHODE ISLAND

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, payments will be made, in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of said Act for 1937, in accordance with the following provisions of this bulletin No. 101 for Rhode Island, and such modifications or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has been developed in accordance with the provisions of sections 8, 15, and 16 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, but the payment of any benefits pursuant to the provisions of this bulletin is contingent upon such appropriation, if any, as the Congress of the United States may hereafter make for such purpose, and the amounts of such payments will be finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of participation in the program. The rates of payment and the allowances herein set forth are computed upon the basis of an appropriation of $500,000,000 and 85 percent participation by farmers in all regions. Such rates of payment and allowances may be increased or decreased, depending upon the extent of participation, but such variations will not be in excess of 10 percent.

Part I. Payment for Soil-Building Practices

Under the 1937 Conservation Program, Rhode Island farmers who carry out soil-building practices that they select from the list below will be repaid a part of the cost. The amount of payment for performing each practice is stated with the description of practices in this section.

Payment will be dependent upon the practice being performed in accordance with the generally accepted standards of good farming practice with the use of the kinds and quantities of seeds and other materials which are normally employed to obtain good results. Each farmer contemplating applying for payment for carrying out any of the soil-building practices listed below should ascertain in advance, from instructions issued through his county committee, whether the intended practice can be certified as practical under the local conditions applicable to his farm. Such instructions will be applicable to particular areas or farms and will set forth which of such practices are economically justified in such areas or on such farms and the proper kinds and quantities of seeds or other materials or substitutes to be used in order properly to carry out the practice.

Payment under the 1937 Program will be restricted to practices carried out before December 1, 1937.

If a practice calls for the use of specific materials (such as limestone) a farmer may qualify for payment by substituting equivalent amounts of any other approved material which serves the same purpose.

No payment will be made for a practice carried out on any acreage if labor, seed, or other materials used in carrying out the practice are furnished free or paid for by a State or Federal Agency.

A farmer may earn soil-building payments up to the limit of his soil-building allowance. If the total of the payments qualified for is larger than his allowance, he will receive an amount equal to his allowance, which shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of part II of this bulletin.

Practice Number and Description of Practice and Rate of Payment

LIMING

1. Applying 500 to 4000 pounds of ground limestone, or its equivalent, per acre to crop or pasture land. Payment, $1.00 per 500 pounds.

FERTILIZING SOIL-CONSERVING CROPS

Applying superphosphate, muriate of potash, nitrate of soda, or basic slag, or approved combination of these materials in approved amounts, subject to such limitations as are stated herein or may be specified later, to established sod (in pasture, orchards, or hay lands) or in connection with the seeding of biennial or perennial legumes or green-manure crops. No payment will be made for 16% nitrate of soda in any use in excess of 200 pounds per acre or for 16% nitrate of soda applied to hay lands in excess of 150 pounds per acre. When superphosphate is applied in connection with a seeding made in a nurse crop which is harvested for grain, payment will be made only for amounts of 16% superphosphate in excess of 200 pounds per acre. Payment will also be made for 16% superphosphate when added to farm manures as a preservative and reinforcement in approved amounts and when such farm manures are for use on established sod or in connection with the seeding of biennial or perennial legumes or green-manure crops.

2. Payment for 16% superphosphate or basic slag, 64¢ per 100 lbs.

3. Payment for 50% muriate of potash, $1.50 per 100 lbs.

4. Payment for 16% nitrate of soda, 64¢ per 100 lbs.

SEEDING

5. Seeding approved medium red clover or mixtures containing at least five pounds per acre of approved medium red clover seed or its equivalent in other clover seed, on land prepared for seeding by the application of amounts of lime and fertilizer specified by the county committee, or on land without such application when soil tests or other evidence satisfactory to the committee indicate that the application is not needed. This seeding shall be made between the dates specified by the county committee.

Payment, $2.00 per acre.

6. Seeding approved alfalfa or mixtures containing at least 5 pounds of approved alfalfa seed per acre, on land prepared for the seeding by the application of amounts of lime and fertilizer specified by the county committee, or on land without such application when soil tests or other evidence satisfactory to the committee indicate that the application is not needed. This seeding shall be made between the dates specified by the county committee.

Payment, $3.00 per acre.

GREEN-MANURE AND COVER CROPS

7. Plowing or disking under small grains, annual grasses or mixtures of these with legumes after they have attained at least two months' or 12 inches' growth.

Payment, $1.50 per acre.

8. Plowing or disking under biennial or perennial legumes from which no crop has been harvested and for which no seeding payment will be, or has been, made under this or any previous program, and which have attained at least two months' or 12 inches' growth, or annual legumes which have attained such growth.

Payment, $2.50 per acre.

The rate of payment will be doubled for practices 7 and 8 above when carried out on land normally devoted to commercial vegetables so that the green-manure crop replaces at least one crop of commercial vegetables in 1937.

When annual grains are clipped green and left on land normally devoted to commercial vegetables from which no crop is removed in 1937, and followed by legume crops specified in practice 8 which occupy such land throughout the remainder of the 1937 growing season, such clipping of the small grains may be substituted for the plowing or disking under in practice 7 and such leaving of legume crops on the land may be substituted for the plowing and disking under in practice 8, and the provisions of the preceding paragraph shall be applicable.

Leaving the entire crop on the land during the winter may be substituted for the plowing or disking under in practice 7 or 8 if the crop is one that is normally winter-killed.

ORCHARDS

9. Applying to orchards not less than 2 tons per acre of mulching material in addition to leaving in the orchard all material produced therein during 1937 from grass, legume, green-manure or cover crops.

Payment, $2.00 per ton on an amount not in excess of 5 tons per acre.

Part II. The Soil-Building Allowance

The soil-building allowance for any farm is the maximum amount that may be paid for carrying out soil-building practices on that farm. It shall be the sum of such of the following items as are applicable to that farm. The allowance, however, shall be at least $20.00.

1. Crop land.—$1.00 for each acre of crop land, excluding commercial orchards, on the farm on January 1, 1937.

2. Commercial orchards.—$2.00 for each acre of commercial orchards cultivated on the farm on January 1, 1937.

3. Commercial vegetable land.—$1.00 for each acre of crop land on which only one crop of commercial vegetables was grown in 1936; $2.00 for each acre of crop land on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were grown on the same acreage in 1936.

4. Non-crop pasture land.—$.40 for each acre of fenced non-crop open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of crop land on the farm.

Part III. Provisions Affecting Payments

SECTION 1. Association Expenses.—Under such rules as the Secretary may prescribe there shall be deducted from the payment to any person with respect to a farm or farms in a county all or such part as the Secretary may prescribe of such person's pro rata share of the estimated administrative expenses incurred and to be incurred by the County Agricultural Conservation Association of the county in which such farm or farms are located.

There shall be credited to each County Agricultural Conservation Association for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 per application for that number of applications submitted by members of such association under which it is estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 2. Increase in Acreage of General Soil-Depleting Crops.—The Secretary reserves the right in the case of any farm which in 1937 has an acreage of general soil-depleting crops in excess of 20 acres to make a deduction from any payment that would otherwise be made for such farm in the amount of $11.50 for each acre by which such 1937 acreage of general soil-depleting crops exceeds the general soil-depleting base which can be established for such farm. If in 1937 the Secretary exercises the right to make deductions reserved herein with respect to such farms, the procedure to be followed for the establishment of bases shall be in accordance with such instructions as may be issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 3. Applicability to Farms under Special Programs.—The Secretary may designate one or more counties or other areas for which special programs for 1937 will be developed under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. In the event that any such county or other area is designated, the allowances, rates, and conditions of payment for such county or other area will be set forth in a special bulletin and the provisions of the State bulletin shall not be applicable in such county or other designated area.

On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration, payment will be made only for carrying out such soil-building practices as are, prior to performance, approved for the farm by the county committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 4. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person may be withheld if any rotation, cropping or other practice is adopted by such person which the Secretary determines tends to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Part IV. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 1. In order for a farmer to be eligible for participation in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program he must execute such forms and submit such information as may be prescribed. Such forms and information shall be filed with the county committee within time limits established by the State committee with the approval of the Director of the Northeast Division.

SECTION 2. Land to be Included under an Application.—An application for payment shall cover neither more nor less than a single farm as defined in part V of this bulletin.

SECTION 3. Application and Eligibility for Payment.—(a) Payment will be made only upon application on the prescribed form, filed with the county committee within the time fixed by the Secretary, supported by such information regarding farming operation as may be required.

(b) An application for payment may be made by any producer who is entitled to receive all or a share of the crops produced on the farm in 1937 or of the proceeds thereof or who incurs all or any part of the expense of soil-building practices carried out on the farm.

(c) For the purpose of determining the eligibility of a producer for a payment where the farm operated by him includes land located in two or more adjoining counties, such farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the principal dwelling on such farm is located, or if there is no dwelling on such farm, such farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the major portion of such farm is located.

SECTION 4. Division of Payments.—(a) The soil-building payment with respect to the farm covered by an application for payment shall be divided among the producers concerned, in the proportion that the county committee determines that the expense incurred by each in carrying out the soil-building practices bears to the total expense incurred by all such producers in carrying out such practices.

(b) Any payment for a farm shall be computed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deductions of claims for advances, and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of any creditor.

SECTION 5. Membership in Association.—Any person having an interest in the crops or the proceeds thereof produced on any farm in the county in 1937 shall become a member of the County Agricultural Conservation Association of the county whenever any form or information required in connection with the Agricultural Conservation Program for 1937 is submitted for such farm, or whenever in 1937 he attends a meeting called for the purpose of electing committeemen. Any person shall cease to be a member of the association if in 1937 an application for payment is not filed by him within the time specified by the Scretary for the filing of applications.

SECTION 6. Limits.—The sum of the commercial fruit acreages, the commercial vegetable acreages, the commercial double-cropped vegetable acreages, the acreages of non-crop open pasture land, and the acreages of total crop land, respectively, established for farms in any county or other specified area, shall not exceed the acreage of such crops and uses which the Agricultural Adjustment Administration may establish for such county or other specified area.

SECTION 2. Tobacco Soil-Depleting Base and Yield.—The 1937 tobacco soil-depleting base for any farm in a county shall be the tobacco soil-depleting base which was or could have been established for such farm under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, subject to any adjustment which will result in equitable bases for all farms in the county for which tobacco bases are established, taking into consideration production facilities and their use; provided,

(a) The tobacco soil-depleting base for any farm shall not be more than twice the acreage of tobacco grown in 1937.

(b) The sum of the tobacco soil-depleting bases for the farms in any county or other specified area shall not exceed an acreage for tobacco established for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

(c) The weighted average of the yield of tobacco per acre for all farms for which 1937 tobacco soil-depleting bases are established in any county or other specified area shall not exceed the average yield of tobacco per acre established for such county or other specified area by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

SECTION 3. Deductions for an Acreage of Tobacco in Excess of the 1937 Tobacco Soil-Depleting Base.—If the 1937 acreage of tobacco exceeds the 1937 tobacco soil-depleting base, a deduction will be made, from any payment which otherwise would be made respecting the farm, for each acre of such excess at the rate of 4¢ per pound based on the normal tobacco yield per acre.

Part IV. Provisions Affecting Payments

SECTION 1. Association Expenses.—Under such rules as the Secretary may prescribe there shall be deducted from the payment to any person with respect to a farm or farms in a county, all or such part as the Secretary may prescribe, of such person's pro rata share of the estimated administrative expenses incurred and to be incurred by the County Agricultural Conservation Association of the county in which such farm or farms are located.

There shall be credited to each County Agricultural Conservation Association for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 per application for that number of applications submitted by members of such association under which it is estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 2. Increase in Acreage of General Soil-Depleting Crops.—The Secretary reserves the right in the case of any farm which in 1937 has an acreage of general soil-depleting crops in excess of 20 acres to make a deduction from any payment that would otherwise be made for such farm in the amount of $12.50 for each acre by which such 1937 acreage of general soil-depleting crops exceeds the general soil-depleting base which can be established for such farm. If in 1937 the Secretary exercises the right reserved herein to make deductions with respect to such farms, the procedure to be followed for the establishment of bases shall be in accordance with such instructions as may be issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 3. Applicability to Farms under Special Programs.—The Secretary may designate one or more counties or other areas for which special programs for 1937 will be developed under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. In the event that any such county or other area is designated, the allowances, rates, and conditions of payment for such county or other area will be set forth in a special bulletin and the provisions of the State bulletin shall not be applicable in such county or other designated area.

On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration, payment will be made only for such diversion and for carrying out such soil-building practices as are, prior to performance, approved for the farm by the county committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 4. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person may be withheld if any rotation, cropping, or other practice is adopted by such person which the Secretary determines tends to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Part V. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 1. In order for a farmer to be eligible for participation in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program he must execute such forms and submit such information as may be prescribed. Such forms and information shall be filed with the county committee within time limits established by the State committee with the approval of the Director of the Northeast Division.

(c) For the purpose of determining the eligibility of a producer for a payment where the farm operated by him includes land located in two or more adjoining counties, such farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the principal dwelling on such farm is located, or, if there is no dwelling on such farm, such farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the major portion of such farm is located.

SECTION 4. Division of Payments.—(a) The soil-building payment with respect to the farm covered by an application for payment shall be divided among the producers concerned, in the proportion that the county committee determines that the expense incurred by each in carrying out the soil-building practices bears to the total expense incurred by all such producers in carrying out such practices.

(b) The payment for diversion from the 1937 tobacco soil-depleting base for a farm covered by an application for payment shall be divided between the producers concerned in the proportion that each shares in the tobacco grown on that farm or the proceeds thereof.

(c) Any payment for a farm shall be computed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deductions of claims for advances, and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of any creditor.

SECTION 5. Membership in Association.—Any person having an interest in the crops or the proceeds thereof produced on any farm in the county in 1937 shall become a member of the County Agricultural Conservation Association of the county whenever any form or information required in connection with the Agricultural Conservation Program for 1937 is submitted for such farm, or whenever in 1937 he attends a meeting called for the purpose of electing committeemen. NER—B-101—Massachusetts Issued January 27, 1937

BULLETIN NO. 101—MASSACHUSETTS

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, payments will be made, in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of said Act for 1937, in accordance with the following provisions of this bulletin No. 101 for Massachusetts, and such modifications or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has been developed in accordance with the provisions of sections 8, 15, and 16 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, but the payment of any benefits pursuant to the provisions of this bulletin is contingent upon such appropriation, if any, as the Congress of the United States may hereafter make for such purpose, and the amounts of such payments will be finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of participation in the program. The rates of payment and the allowances herein set forth are computed upon the basis of an appropriation of $500,000,000 and 85 percent participation by farmers in all regions. Such rates of payment and allowances may be increased or decreased, depending upon the extent of participation, but such variations will not be in excess of 10 percent.

Part I. Payment for Soil-Building Practices

Under the 1937 Conservation Program, Massachusetts farmers who carry out soil-building practices that they select from the list below will be repaid a part of the cost. The amount of payment for performing each practice is stated with the description of practices in this section.

Payment will be dependent upon the practice being performed in accordance with the generally accepted standards of good farming practice with the use of the kinds and quantities of seeds and other materials which are normally employed to obtain good results. Each farmer contemplating applying for payment for carrying out any of the soil-building practices listed below should ascertain in advance, from instructions issued through his county committee, whether the intended practice can be certified as practical under the local conditions applicable to his farm. Such instructions will be applicable to particular areas or farms and will set forth which of such practices are economically justified in such areas or on such farms and the proper kinds and quantities of seeds or other materials or substitutes to be used in order properly to carry out the practice.

Payment under the 1937 Program will be restricted to practices carried out before December 1, 1937.

If a practice calls for the use of specific materials (such as limestone) a farmer may qualify for payment by substituting equivalent amounts of any other approved material which serves the same purpose.

No payment will be made for a practice carried out on any acreage if labor, seed, or other materials used in carrying out the practice are furnished free or paid for by a State or Federal Agency.

A farmer may earn soil-building payments up to the limit of his soil-building allowance. If the total of the payments qualified for is larger than his allowance, he will receive an amount equal to his allowance, which shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of part II of this bulletin.

Payment, $2.50 per acre.

The rate of payment will be doubled for practices 7 and 8 above when carried out on land normally devoted to commercial vegetables so that the green-manure crop replaces at least one crop of commercial vegetables in 1937.

When annual grains are clipped green and left on land normally devoted to commercial vegetables from which no crop is removed in 1937, and followed by legume crops specified in practice 8 which occupy such land throughout the remainder of the 1937 growing season, such clipping of the small grains may be substituted for the plowing or disking under in practice 7 and such leaving of legume crops on the land may be substituted for the plowing and disking under in practice 8 and the provisions of the preceding paragraph shall be applicable.

NER—B-101—New Hampshire Issued January 27, 1937

BULLETIN NO. 101—NEW HAMPSHIRE

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, payments will be made, in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of said Act for 1937, in accordance with the following provisions of this bulletin No. 101 for New Hampshire, and such modifications or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program has been developed in accordance with the provisions of sections 8, 15, and 16 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, but the payment of any benefits pursuant to the provisions of this bulletin is contingent upon such appropriation, if any, as the Congress of the United States may hereafter make for such purpose, and the amounts of such payments will be finally determined by such appropriation and the extent of participation in the program. The rates of payment and the allowances herein set forth are computed upon the basis of an appropriation of $500,000,000 and 85 percent participation by farmers in all regions. Such rates of payment and allowances may be increased or decreased, depending upon the extent of participation, but such variations will not be in excess of 10 percent.

Part I. Payment for Soil-Building Practices

Under the 1937 Conservation Program, New Hampshire farmers who carry out soil-building practices that they select from the list below will be repaid a part of the cost. The amount of payment for performing each practice is stated with the description of practices in this section.

Payment will be dependent upon the practice being performed in accordance with the generally accepted standards of good farming practice with the use of the kinds and quantities of seeds and other materials which are normally employed to obtain good results. Each farmer contemplating applying for payment for carrying out any of the soil-building practices listed below should ascertain in advance, from instructions issued through his county committee, whether the intended practice can be certified as practical under the local conditions applicable to his farm. Such instructions will be applicable to particular areas or farms and will set forth which of such practices are economically justified in such areas or on such farms and the proper kinds and quantities of seeds or other materials or substitutes to be used in order properly to carry out the practice.

Payment under the 1937 Program will be restricted to practices carried out before December 1, 1937.

If a practice calls for the use of specific materials (such as limestone) a farmer may qualify for payment by substituting equivalent amounts of any other approved material which serves the same purpose.

No payment will be made for a practice carried out on any acreage if labor, seed, or other materials used in carrying out the practice are furnished free or paid for by a State or Federal Agency.

A farmer may earn soil-building payments up to the limit of his soil-building allowance. If the total of the payments qualified for is larger than his allowance, he will receive an amount equal to his allowance which shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of Part II of this bulletin.

Part III. Provisions Affecting Payments

SECTION 1. Association Expenses.—Under such rules as the Secretary may prescribe there shall be deducted from the payment to any person with respect to a farm or farms in a county all or such part as the Secretary may prescribe of such person's pro rata share of the estimated administrative expenses incurred and to be incurred by the County Agricultural Conservation Association of the county in which such farm or farms are located.

There shall be credited to each County Agricultural Conservation Association for the payment of administrative expenses the sum of $2.00 per application for that number of applications submitted by members of such associations under which it is estimated by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the total payment (prior to deduction of any administrative expenses) will be $20.00 or less.

SECTION 2. Increase in Acreage of General Soil-Depleting Crops.—The Secretary reserves the right in the case of any farm which in 1937 has an acreage of general soil-depleting crops in excess of 20 acres to make a deduction from any payment that would otherwise be made for such farm in the amount of $11.50 for each acre by which such 1937 acreage of general soil-depleting crops exceeds the general soil-depleting base which can be established for such farm. If in 1937 the Secretary exercises the right to make deductions reserved herein with respect to such farms, the procedure to be followed for the establishment of bases shall be in accordance with such instructions as may be issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 3. Applicability to Farms Under Special Programs.—The Secretary may designate one or more counties or other areas for which special programs for 1937 will be developed under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. In the event that any such county or other area is designated, the allowances, rates, and conditions of payment for such county or other area will be set forth in a special bulletin and the provisions of the State bulletin shall not be applicable in such county or other designated area.

On any farm where a program is carried out in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service or the Resettlement Administration payment will be made only for carrying out such soil-building practices as are, prior to performance, approved for the farm by the County Committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Secretary.

SECTION 4. Payments Restricted to Effectuation of Purposes.—All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person may be withheld if any rotation, cropping or other practice is adopted by such person which the Secretary determines tends to defeat the purposes of the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Part IV. Miscellaneous Provisions

SECTION 1. In order for a farmer to be eligible for participation in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program he must execute such forms and submit such information as may be prescribed. Such forms and information shall be filed with the county committee within time limits established by the State committee with the approval of the Director of the Northeast Division.

SECTION 2. Land to be Included Under an Application.—An application for payment shall cover neither more nor less than a single farm as defined in Part V of this bulletin.

SECTION 3. Application and Eligibility for Payment.—(a) Payment will be made only upon application on the prescribed form, filed with the county committee within the time fixed by the Secretary, supported by such information regarding farming operation as may be required.

(b) An application for payment may be made by any producer who is entitled to receive all or a share of the crops produced on the farm in 1937 or of the proceeds thereof or who incurs all or any part of the expense of soil-building practices carried out on the farm.

(c) For the purpose of determining the eligibility of a producer for a payment where the farm operated by him includes land located in two or more adjoining counties, such farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the principal dwelling on such farm is located, or, if there is no dwelling on such farm, such farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the major portion of such farm is located.

SECTION 4. Division of Payments.—(a) The soil-building payment with respect to the farm covered by an application for payment shall be divided among the producers concerned, in the proportion that the county committee determines that the expense incurred by each in carrying out the soil-building practices bears to the total expense incurred by all such producers in carrying out such practices.

(b) Any payment for a farm shall be computed without regard to questions of title under State law, without deductions of claims for advances, and without regard to any claim or lien against the crop or proceeds thereof in favor of any creditor.

SECTION 5. Membership in Association.—Any person having an interest in the crops or the proceeds thereof produced on any farm in the county in 1937 shall become a member of the County Agricultural Conservation Association of the county whenever any form or information required in connection with the Agricultural Conservation Program in 1937 is submitted for such farm, or whenever for 1937 he attends a meeting called for the purpose of electing committeemen. Any person shall cease to be a member of the association if in 1937 an application for payment is not filed by him within the time specified by the Secretary for the filing of applications.

SECTION 6. Limits.—The sum of the commercial fruit acreages, the commercial vegetable acreages, the commercial double-cropped vegetable acreages, the acreages of non-crop open-pasture land, and the acreages of total crop land, respectively, established for farms in any county or other specified area, shall not exceed the acreage of such crops and uses which the Agricultural Adjustment Administration may establish for such county or other specified area.

SECTION 7. Tobacco.—The statements in this bulletin apply to all farms in New Hampshire except those farms for which tobacco bases are established in 1937. Bulletin No. 101A for New Hampshire, to be issued separately, describes the program as it applies to those farms. ## PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

EXECUTIVE ORDER

AMENDMENT OF INSTRUCTIONS TO DIPLOMATIC OFFICERS AND OF CONSULAR REGULATIONS

By virtue of and pursuant to the authority vested in me by section 1752 of the Revised Statutes (22 U. S. C. § 132), it is ordered that the Instructions to Diplomatic Officers and the Consular Regulations be, and they are hereby, amended as follows:

Instructions to Diplomatic Officers

1. Section 4 of chapter III of the Instructions to Diplomatic Officers is amended by inserting the following paragraph between the paragraph entitled "Salary increases within classes" and that entitled "Additional compensation":

"Appointment or promotion during recess of Senate.—Foreign Service officers appointed or promoted during a recess of the Senate shall be paid the compensation of the position to which appointed or promoted from the date of such appointment or promotion until the end of the next session of the Senate, if they have not theretofore been confirmed by the Senate, or until their rejection by the Senate before the end of its next session. If the Senate should reject or fail to confirm the promotion of a Foreign Service officer during the session following the date of such promotion, the Foreign Service officer shall automatically be reinstated in the position from which he was promoted, such reinstatement to be effective, in the event of the rejection of the nomination, from the date of rejection; and in the event of failure of the Senate to act on the nomination during th session following the promotion, from the termination of that session. (49 Stat. 436.)"

2. The last sentence of section 6 of chapter IV of the Instructions to Diplomatic Officers is amended to read:

"He shall stand at salute, facing the ship, during the firing of the gun salute."

3. Section 1 of chapter XVII of the Instructions to Diplomatic Officers is amended to read:

"XVII–1. Office supplies

"In general, office supplies should be obtained only from the Department, although in emergencies diplomatic officers are permitted to make purchases locally.

"Requisitions for supplies should be made on the Department's printed form and should describe the articles called for by schedule number, as well as by name, and the quantities desired should be stated in figures, as prescribed by the schedule, and in the order indicated therein. The quantity of supplies on hand in the office at the time requisition is made should always be stated in the column and on the form provided for the purpose. If less than an original package is desired the quantity should be stated in fractions thereof.

"Requisitions should be carefully drawn with due regard to economy, and should cover so far as possible a supply for one year.

"Articles not mentioned on the schedule which may be considered necessary should be added at the end of the requisition."

Consular Regulations

4. Sections 48, 49, and 50 of the Consular Regulations are revoked and new sections 48, 49, and 50 are prescribed as follows:

"48. Exequatur.—Upon the assignment of a Foreign Service officer as a consul general, consul, or vice consul, or upon the assignment of a clerical vice consul, his assignment commission or commission to a post is forwarded to the American diplomatic representative accredited to the government within whose jurisdiction the office is situated. At the same time the diplomatic representative is instructed to comply with the procedure which is customary in the particular country with respect to obtaining official recognition. Certain governments prefer to be merely notified of the assignment when the officer assigned is not in charge of a consular office. The officer's commission, together with the exequatur, if one is issued, is forwarded to the officer at the post where he is assigned.

"49. Procuring exequatur when no diplomatic representative.—If there is no diplomatic representative of the United States stationed in the country, the commission of the consular officer may be sent in accordance with some prearranged plan to a diplomatic representative of the United States or a consular officer of the United States in another country with instructions to apply to the proper authorities for an exequatur.

"50. Entry upon duties without exequatur.—An officer shall, when so directed by the Department of State, enter upon the discharge of his duties without an exequatur on receiving permission from the proper authorities to act in his official capacity."

5. Sections 51 to 54, inclusive, are revoked.

6. Section 56 is amended to read:

"56. Notice of arrival at post.—After the arrival of an officer at his post, he will inform the mission of the United States, if there is one accredited to the government of the country in which the consular office is situated. An officer within the jurisdiction of a consulate general will give similar information to that office."

7. Sections 109, 110, and 111 are revoked and new sections 109 and 110 prescribed as follows:

"109. Classification of visits of American naval vessels to foreign ports.—The term 'visits of courtesy' is used to designate visits of a more or less formal nature of naval vessels to ports in foreign countries in which there is an exchange of official entertainment. 'Informal visits' are those in which formalities are restricted to the usual salutes and customary calls, with no official entertainment by the government concerned. Unless specifically designated as visits of courtesy, all visits of United States naval vessels are to be regarded as informal visits.

"110. Official calls between naval officers and consular officers.—If the commanding officer of a naval vessel of the United States which visits a foreign port where there is a consular officer is a flag officer or commodore, he receives the first visit from the consular officer regardless of the latter's rank; and if the commanding officer is of the rank of captain, he makes the first visit to a consul general and receives the first visit from other consular officers. A commanding officer below the rank of captain makes the first visit to a consul general or to a consular officer in charge of a consulate.

"When the consular officer is to make the first visit, the commanding officer sends a boat ashore with an officer on board to call on the consular officer and tender him a passage to the ship at such time as he may select. It is the duty of the consular officer to accept the invitation to visit the commander within 24 hours, and to tender to him his official services.

"When the commanding officer makes the first visit to a consular officer, it is the duty of the consular officer to return the visit within 24 hours."

8. Section 110A is renumbered 111.

9. The last sentence of section 182 is amended to read as follows:

"Vessels which are wholly owned by citizens of the United States but not regularly documented under the laws of the United States are not exempt from the payment of fees for services rendered by American consular officers."

10. The last three paragraphs of section 243 are revoked and new paragraphs prescribed as follows:

"(a) General.—Whenever a seaman is discharged by a consular officer, the master shall provide such seaman so discharged with employment on a vessel agreed to by the seaman, or shall provide him with one month's extra wages, if it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the consular officer that such seaman was not discharged on account of neglect of duty, incompetency, voluntary consent, or injury incurred on the vessel. (46 U. S. C. § 683.)

"(b) Voyage contrary to agreement, vessel unseaworthy or badly provisioned, or cruel treatment.—Whenever on the discharge of a seaman in a foreign country by a consular officer on his complaint that the voyage is continued contrary to agreement, or that the vessel is badly provisioned or unseaworthy, or against the officers for cruel treatment, and after proper inquiry into the matter the consular officer has satisfied himself of the truth and justice of such complaint, he shall require the master to pay such seaman one month's wages over and above the wages due at the time of discharge, and to provide him with adequate employment on board some other vessel, or to provide him with passage on some other vessel bound to the port from which the seaman was originally shipped, or to the most convenient port of entry in the United States, or to a port agreed to by the seaman. (46 U. S. C. § 685.)

"(c) Vessels sent to sea unsuitably provided.—When the report of inspectors appointed by the consular officer to make an examination as to whether a vessel is in a suitable condition to go to sea, contains the statement that in their opinion the vessel was sent to sea unsuitably provided in any important or essential particular, by neglect or design, and the consular officer approves of such finding, he shall discharge such of the seamen as request to be discharged, and shall require the payment by the master of one month's wages for each seaman over and above the wages then due, or sufficient money for the return of such of the crew as desire to be discharged to the nearest and most convenient port of the United States, or by furnishing the seamen who so desire to be discharged with employment on a ship agreed to by them. But if in the opinion of the inspectors the defects or deficiencies found to exist have been the result of mistake or accident, and could not, in the exercise of ordinary care, have been known and provided against before the sailing of the vessel, and the master shall in a reasonable time remove or remedy the causes of complaint, then the crew shall remain and discharge their duty. This section does not apply to fishing or whaling vessels or yachts. (46 U. S. C. § 658.)

"(d) Improper discharge within a month.—See section 232 (46 U. S. C. § 594).

"(e) With regard to the extra wages of seaman shipped 'by the lay', see section 244, and of seamen shipped on undocumented vessels, section 245."

11. Sections 244 to 248, inclusive, are amended to read:

"244. Shipment 'by the lay.'—When seamen have been shipped on board American vessels without the rate of their wages being specified on the shipping articles, as on board certain fishing or whaling vessels where they are shipped 'by the lay', upon their discharge at a foreign port under circumstances entitling them to extra wages, such wages shall be paid at the usual rate at the time and port of shipment for the voyage. (See also section 268.)

"245. Undocumented vessels.—Persons having the status of American seamen when shipped on undocumented American or foreign-built vessels which are wholly owned by citizens of the United States, are to be regarded in the same light, as regards the collection of extra wages, as seamen on regularly documented vessels. Consular officers will not, however, exact extra wages when such vessels are sold abroad. (See section 252, 46 U. S. C. § 684.)

"246. Restrictions in seamen's contracts.—A master of a vessel is forbidden to make a contract with a seaman which provides for the waiver or remission of the extra wages upon his discharge at a foreign port in cases in which he would be otherwise entitled to such wages. In all engagements of seamen the statutes of the United States regarding such wages must be deemed and taken to be a part of the seaman's contract. (46 U. S. C. § 600.)

"247. No waiver or remission of extra wages is legal.—Although ordinarily any person may waive a benefit to which he is entitled by law, he cannot by such waiver affect the rights of third persons or contravene the policy of a statute. Extra wages are allowed to a seaman to prevent him from becoming a public charge and to provide a means for his relief and for his return home. A seaman cannot, therefore, by his own act defeat the public policy upon which the statutes are based. As section 246 specifically provides that a seaman cannot expressly waive his right to extra wages in the shipping contract, consular officers are instructed to exact such wages in all cases where the law requires them to be paid, without any remission or deduction of the indebtedness of the seaman to the vessel, especially as the statute (46 U. S. C. § 683) makes consular officers accountable to the United States for the full amount if they neglect to require payment.

"248. Foreign seamen.—A seaman who is a foreigner and who is shipped in a foreign port and discharged in a foreign port is not entitled to extra wages upon discharge. (Fed. Case No. 16002.)"

12. Section 260, subdivision (1) is amended to read:

"(1) Merchant seamen who are citizens of the United States and who, at the time of applying for relief, are by habit and intent bona fide members of the American merchant marine, although their last service may not have been in an American vessel."

13. Section 270 is hereby amended to read:

"270. Express authorization essential prior to relief of naval seamen.—Seamen of the naval vessels of the United States left under the care of consular officers in consequence of sickness, injuries, or other causes, are not entitled to the relief provided by law for seamen of the merchant service; and a consular officer should not incur expenses in their behalf unless expressly requested or authorized to do so by a commanding officer. Such relief should be extended when the naval officer furnishes adequate funds at the time to meet necessary expenses or gives such written authorization as will secure to the consular officer reimbursement from the Navy Department for outlays made."

14. Sections 321 to 331, inclusive, are revoked and new sections prescribed as follows:

"321. Protection of wrecks and stranded vessels.—Consular officers, in cases where vessels of the United States are stranded on the coast in their consular districts, respectively, are required, so far as the laws of the country permit, to take proper measures as well for saving such vessels, their cargoes and appurtenances, as for storing and securing the effects and merchandise saved, and for taking inventories thereof; and the merchandise and effects saved, with the inventories, must, after deducting therefrom the expenses, be delivered to the owner or owners. No consular officer is permitted to take possession of any such goods, wares, merchandise, or other property when the master, owner, or consignee thereof is present or capable of taking possession. (46 U. S. C. § 721.)

"If in such a case salvage is claimed and is allowed by a competent tribunal, the consular officer may receive the remainder of the effects or the proceeds thereof if the tribunal shall permit them to be delivered to him. A full report with recommendations as to the disposition of the effects or proceeds should be submitted to the Department of State which will give necessary directions as to their disposition. No consular fees are chargeable for such services.

"322. Disposition of wrecks and their cargoes brought into consular district.—All vessels, parts of vessels, and any portion of their cargoes, belonging to citizens of the United States, saved and brought into the consular jurisdiction after being wrecked, or in consequence of any disaster at sea, are to be proceeded with in the same manner as if the vessel had stranded within the consular jurisdiction.

"323. Laws and regulations of foreign countries concerning wrecked property.—A consular officer at a seaport should ascertain the provisions of local laws or regulations with regard to property wrecked within his jurisdiction and should observe them. A consular officer should not interfere with the legal function of the proper magistrate or officer, but he may request permission as the consular representative of the absent master or owner, or, if the master or owner is present, as an official adviser, to assist at the taking of the inventory, and at the sale, and in all other proceedings in relation to the property. It is the duty of the consular officer to protect the interests of the American owner, and if his reasonable requests are not complied with, to take the necessary evidence of the facts in the case and transmit it to the Department of State. This section does not authorize or contemplate the surrender of any rights established by treaty. The provisions of section 337 concerning such rights should be followed.

"324. Wrecks to be reported.—When any American vessel is wrecked or lost within his jurisdiction, the consular officer should submit a report by telegraph to the Department of State stating briefly the name of the vessel, its owner and home port, the voyage on which it was bound, and the circumstances attending the disaster. This telegraphic report should also contain information concerning the safety of the passengers and crew, as required by section 458 of these regulations, and should be followed promptly by a full report by mail giving details. The report by mail should state whether the papers of the vessel have been saved. If there is an agent of the American underwriters in his jurisdiction the consular officer shall cooperate with him. (Sec. 336.)

"325. Disposition of unclaimed property.—So far as may be permitted by treaty, the laws of the country or established usage, or in the absence of any legal impediment, any effects, whether wrecked, abandoned, or otherwise unclaimed, belonging to a citizen of the United States and found within the jurisdiction of the consular officer are to be handled in accordance with the directions given in Article XXIII for the disposition of personal estates of deceased citizens.

"326. Proceedings may be instituted.—A consular officer may file a claim in admiralty proceedings for the recovery of property in behalf of American citizens when he has reasonable grounds to believe that the shipwrecked vessel or its cargo is American-owned. Before taking such action a telegraphic report should be made to the Department with a statement as to whether any expenditures will be involved in filing the claim or in its disallowance, and specific authority for filing the claim obtained. As restitution cannot be decreed without specific proof of the proprietary interest, immediate steps should be taken to obtain such evidence. (10 Wheaton 67; Fed. Case No. 8474.)

"327. Report of rescue of American seamen or citizens.—Whenever a consular officer shall receive authentic information that the master or crew of any vessel, American or foreign, has rescued seamen or citizens of the United States from shipwreck or other catastrophe at sea, he shall without delay transmit to the Department of State a full statement of the facts, including the name, flag, and home port of the rescuing vessel, and the name and address of its owner. The report should state the names of the passengers or crew who have died or are unaccounted for, and the names of the survivors and what action has been taken concerning them. (Secs. 324, 329, 458.) The consular officer should include in his report the names and addresses of officers or members of the crew of the rescuing vessel who have especially distinguished themselves and should give full and precise details regarding the rescue and their part in it so that the hazard incurred and the degree of merit shown may be evaluated.

"328. Rewards to masters or crews of foreign vessels.—Provision is made in the annual appropriation act of the Department of State for expenses incurred in the acknowledgment of the services of masters and crews of foreign vessels in rescuing American seamen or citizens from shipwreck or other catastrophe at sea. Such acknowledgments usually are made in the name of the President by the Department of State upon recommendations contained in the report (sec. 327) of the consular officer.

"However, if in the judgment of the consular officer after investigating the facts and circumstances of the rescue, the master and rescuing boat's crew of the foreign vessel, or any of them, are deserving of immediate reward, he is authorized to pay to such master and members of the crew, or any of them, without previous reference of the matter to the Department of State, a sum of money ranging from $5 to $25, according to the rank and merit of the recipient, and to include such payment in his monthly accounts supported by appropriate vouchers. (Form No. 170.) The consular officer should inform the Department immediately of his action in making such payments and copies of his reports transmitted in compliance with section 327 should accompany the accounts.

"In making the recommendations and rewards for saving of life, it is expected that consular officers will exercise due diligence and sound discretion. Humane action is deemed deserving of recognition as well as heroic action (although in a less degree), and sacrifice of business interests as well as disregard of personal peril. Volunteer efforts should be rated higher than compulsory action under the orders of a superior.

"329. Assistance to Americans from wrecked or lost vessels.—Consular officers will promptly render such assistance as may be in their power to their countrymen from wrecked or lost vessels, and institute whenever it is practicable energetic proceedings for the protection of their property, and, if necessary, will apply to local authorities for assistance; but they may not incur any expense therefor in the expectation that it will be defrayed by the Department of State. The appropriation for the relief and protection of American seamen in foreign countries is not available for any purpose except the relief of persons who are actually 'seamen'. However, in making the telegraphic reports required by sections 324 and 458, consular officers may indicate the nature and estimated cost of the emergency relief required under the special circumstances of serious cases, stating the name and address of any person or organization to which this information should be communicated for the benefit of distressed persons.

"330. Papers to be preserved.—In case a vessel registered under the laws of the United States is lost or taken by an enemy, burned, or broken up, or otherwise prevented from returning to the port to which it may belong, the certificate, if preserved, shall be delivered up within eight days after the arrival of the master or person having the charge or command of such vessel within any district of the United States, to the collector of such district. (46 U. S. C. § 23.)

"The master or person having charge or command of the vessel is primarily responsible for the care and surrender, where necessary, of the ship's papers. However, consular officers are responsible for aiding in the collection and preservation of papers and documents relating to the passengers or to the vessel or its cargo, and for the delivery thereof to the proper persons or to their representatives, or in the event of death or nonappearance of such persons, for transmission to the Department of State.

"Whenever the ship's papers or any part of them have been delivered to or otherwise come into the possession of a consular officer in circumstances not requiring their return to the vessel or its officers, a receipt therefor should be given the master and the documents sent to the Department of State for transmission to the Department of Commerce as soon as they are no longer required by the consular officer for the performance of consular functions.

"331. Sale of wreck.—A certificate of registry shall be solely used by the vessel for which it is granted, and shall not be sold, lent, or otherwise disposed of, to any person whomsoever; and if any foreigner or any person for the use and benefit of such foreigner, shall purchase or otherwise become entitled to the whole or any part or share of, or interest in a wrecked vessel registered under the laws of the United States when such vessel shall be at any foreign port or place, or at sea, then the master or person having the charge or command thereof shall, within eight days after his arrival within any district of the United States deliver up the certificate to the collector of such district. (46 U. S. C. § 23.)

"If the purchaser is a citizen of the United States the whole register should be delivered to the new master or to the person having the charge or command of such vessel and a new register obtained therefor, pursuant to section 35, title 46, Code of Laws of the United States."

15. Section 385 is amended by the addition of a new paragraph as follows:

"(f) The General Accounting Office shall act as conservator of such part of these estates as may be received at the Treasury, and for their protection the Secretary of the Treasury may order such effects to be sold as may consist of jewelry or other articles which have heretofore or may hereafter be received at the Treasury, and pay the expenses of such sale out of the proceeds, provided application for these effects shall not have been made by the legal claimant within two years after their receipt. The General Accounting Office is authorized to indorse all bills of exchange, promissory notes, and other evidences of indebtedness due to such estates, and to take such steps as may be necessary for their collection. The proceeds of such sales, together with such other moneys as may be collected by it, shall be deposited into the Treasury in trust for the legal claimant, and be reported to the Secretary of State. (22 U. S. C. § 75.)"

16. Section 390 is amended by the deletion of the last sentence thereof.

17. Section 395 is amended to read:

"395. What inventory includes.—The inventory should cover all the personal effects of the decedent that have come into the consular officer's hands, including account books, personal letters, all evidences of debt whether due or payable in the country of his decease or elsewhere, letters of credit, and other things which may or may not be assets in the consular officer's hands for the payment of debts. Nothing, on the other hand, should be included in the inventory which is not in the consular officer's possession. The correspondence files and record books of the deceased are to be listed on the inventory and carefully described, the number of pages in each book being mentioned; and the consular officer will place a certificate, signed by himself at the beginning and at the end of each record book, in such a manner as to prevent any addition being made thereto."

18. Section 398 is amended to read:

"398. Collection of debts.—In collecting debts due the decedent, the consular officer should collect those due from persons or concerns only in the country in which the decedent died. If necessary, he may request the assistance of other consular officers in making such collections. Debts so collected should, of course, be regarded as a part of the decedent's estate."

19. Section 399 is amended to read:

"399. Payment of debts.—The decedent's debts should be paid out of the cash resources of the estate in the consular officer's hands, namely: the money among the effects, the proceeds of the sale of perishable property, and the money paid by the decedent's debtors only in the country where the decedent died. If these funds are insufficient, the consular officer may sell at auction, after proper advertisement, as much of the remaining personal property as may be required to meet the demands, taking care to sell first the articles which are most marketable and at the same time least likely to be desired by the family of the deceased for preservation.

"A claim for damages for a wrongful act of the decedent is not a debt which the consular officer may pay unless it has been reduced to judgment. (18 Pick. 36.)"

20. Section 401 is amended to read:

"401. Remission of residue of estate.—One year after the death of the decedent or as soon thereafter as possible, the consular officer is required to convert into money the residue of the estate left after paying the local debts and to send such money to the Department of State for transmission through the General Accounting Office to the Treasury of the United States to be held in trust for the legal representative. The articles mentioned in the preceding section and remaining unsold should be sent along with the unused assets, to be delivered to the legal representative of the deceased. (Sec. 385d.)"

21. Section 402 is amended to read:

"402. Delivery to legal representative.—If at any time before transmission of the residue of the estate to the Department of State for delivery to the General Accounting Office, the legal representative of the deceased demands the effects in the hands of the consular officer, the latter shall deliver them up, the prescribed fees being paid, and shall cease his proceedings. The consular officer is required to be at all times ready to deliver the effects and papers of a deceased citizen of the United States to the person who presents satisfactory evidence of his legal right to receive them as representative of the deceased owner."

22. Sections 404, 405, and 406 are amended to read, respectively:

"404. Account of receipts and expenditures.—The consular officer is required to keep a regular account between himself and the estate of the deceased, in which he shall enter to his own debit all the moneys and effects that come into his hands, and to his credit all the payments he makes, and, finally, the remainder that he may deliver over to the legal representative or remit to the Department of State for delivery to the General Accounting Office so as to close the account. A copy of this account shall be delivered to the representative of the deceased and two copies transmitted to the Department.

"405. Final settlement and account.—As soon as an estate shall be finally settled so far as the consular officer is concerned, he shall give notice thereof to the Department of State, transmitting at the same time an itemized statement of the receipts and expenditures on account of the estate, and showing the amount in money or the effects which have been delivered to the representative of the deceased or are to be sent to the General Accounting Office, as the case may be.

"406. Outgoing officer to close account of effects.—In case of transfer of office, the effects of deceased citizens which have been in the consular officer's hands more than one year and which should have been remitted, shall be remitted and accounted for by the outgoing officer, and not turned over to his successor. (Sec. 68.)"

23. Section 410 is amended to read:

"410. Fees for taking into possession and settling estates.—A consular officer shall collect the appropriate fee (fee no. 12 of the Tariff of United States Consular Fees) for every personal estate of a deceased American (except an American seaman) coming into his possession, and shall account for the fee in his monthly return of fees next following the collection. This fee shall in all cases have priority over other obligations of the estate, and a consular officer who waives collection of the fee shall be liable to the Government for the amount thereof.

24. Section 452 is amended to read:

"452. Uniforms forbidden.—No person in the diplomatic service of the United States shall wear any uniform or official costume not previously authorized by Congress. (22 U. S. C. § 39.) Consular officers are not authorized by law to wear any uniform, and the prohibition imposed by statute on diplomatic officers is extended to consular officers."

25. Section 457A is prescribed as follows:

"457A. Consular officers are expected to protect in every way possible the interests of American citizens, but they are not expected to accept private property (other than estates of deceased Americans) for storage, safekeeping, or transmission, as they do not have facilities for storing and safeguarding such property and can assume no responsibility therefor. In any emergency in which an officer in his discretion considers it advisable to accede to a request that he accept private property, the owner should be required to sign a statement to the effect that the property is deposited at his own request, at his own risk, and without any responsibility therefor on the part of the Government of the United States or its officers."

26. The Tariff of United States Consular Fees prescribed by section 533 of the Consular Regulations is amended as follows:

(a) The first sentence of the second paragraph is amended to read:

"The fees in this tariff are not prescribed for vessels registered, enrolled, licensed, or provisionally registered under the laws of the United States, or for American seamen, because they are exempted by law from the payment of consular fees (22 U. S. C. § 89)."

(b) Item 14 of the tariff is amended to read:

"14. Bill of health, in duplicate (or in triplicate, if necessary) ..... $5.00."

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.

Division of Grazing.

WITHDRAWAL OF PROPOSED TAOS GRAZING DISTRICT VACATED

NEW MEXICO

JANUARY 26, 1937.

Under authority of Departmental order of October 15, 1934, pursuant to section 2 of the act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1269), notice was published on October 18, 1934, that a hearing would be held at Santa Fe, New Mexico, on February 11, 1935, or any subsequent date to which said hearing may be adjourned, for the purpose of considering a proposal for the establishment of a grazing district to include the following described lands:

NEW MEXICO

New Mexico Meridian

T. 23 N., R. 8 E., Secs. 1 and 12.
Ts. 23 to 26 N., incl., R. 9 E.
Ts. 24 to 26 N., incl., R. 10 E.
T. 27 N., R. 10 E., Secs. 31 to 36, incl.
Ts. 24 and 25 N., R. 11 E.

The publication of such notice had the effect, in accordance with the provisions of the aforesaid act, of withdrawing all public lands within the exterior boundaries of the proposed district from all forms of entry and settlement.

Hearing in accordance with the above order as published was not had, but at a hearing held at Albuquerque, New Mexico, on January 14, 1935, pursuant to Departmental order of December 1, 1934, giving notice of hearings to be held in several States, including New Mexico, for the purpose of considering the establishment of grazing districts in such States, this proposed district, among others, received consideration. The district has not been organized, however, and information furnished in subsequent reports of representatives of this Department discloses that the public lands within the withdrawn area are not appropriate for administration in a grazing district under the Taylor Grazing Act.

The withdrawal, therefore, is hereby vacated.

HAROLD L. ICKES,
Secretary of the Interior.
